The University of Colorado at Boulder is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution.

Founded in 1876 at the foot of the Flatirons, 136 years has transformed the University of Colorado from a lone building on a bleak, windswept hill to one of the nation's leading public research institutions. Established in 1861, the University was formally founded in 1876, the year Colorado became a state.

The Boulder campus encompasses almost 800 acres on the main campus, east campus (which includes a research park), Williams Village and the Mountain Research Station north of nearby Nederland (which supports ecology, chemistry and geology). In 1996 the Board of Regents purchased 308 acres of land in unincorporated Boulder County, now informally known as the south campus, in an effort to insure the growth of the University well into the 21st century.

While 30,000 students are educated on the main campus, another 13,000 study at the University of Colorado at Denver, the University of Colorado Anschutz Campus (Aurora) and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. Nine elected Regents and President Bruce Benson lead the four-campus system, while each campus has a Chancellor who serves as the chief academic and administrative officer. Dr. Phil DiStefano is in his fourth year as the chancellor of the Boulder campus.

Students can enter any of 10 schools and colleges offering more than 2,500 courses in 150 fields, representing a full range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, physical and biological sciences, the fine and performing arts, and the professions. CU-Boulder is regularly ranked among the best of the United States' public universities by the Fiske Guide to Colleges, and a 2010 USA Today/Princeton Review survey rated the University of Colorado as the fifth-best value among American public colleges.

CU-Boulder has played a major role in NASA space programs, designing and building many scientific instruments flown in outer space, and graduated 18 men and women who became astronauts, including the late Jack Swigert, one of the three astronauts in the crippled Apollo 13 mission who made it dock to Earth safely from the moon. When the Hubble Space Telescope was launched in 1990, it was carrying seven major instruments, including a high-resolution spectrograph to study the evolution of stars and designed and built by an international science team led by astronomer Jack Brandt of CU-Boulder. Since Hubble has been up, CU-Boulder faculty and students have been among the top users of Hubble of any institution in the world. CU-Boulder is the only university in the country where undergraduate students have operated a NASA satellite.

The University has produced 19 Rhodes Scholars, five of which were former football student-athletes at CU, with Jim Hansen the most recent recipient in 1992. Faculty member Thomas Cech, a distinguished professor of chemistry and biochemistry, won the 1989 Nobel Prize in chemistry. Other notable alumni include former United States Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, former big band leader Glenn Miller and actors Robert Redford and Chris Meloni, the latter starring for years on Law & Order: Special Victims Unit, and the creators of South Park, Trey Parker and Matt Stone.

If the aphorism, "Somewhere between the Rockies and reality," seems too good to believe, then come for a visit. Start with a walk on the historic Pearl Street Mall, a downtown pedestrian mall that is the ceremonial heart of the city actually that works despite the efforts of its street theatre.

Visitors may be so taken in by the scenery, the mall, Tudors and Victorians they may forget the University that put it all together. From Pearl, Broadway leads directly onto campus where the University of Colorado Museum and the CU Heritage Center, in the original Old Main building, which introduces the University's past and present. The recently completed ATLAS building is one of the most state-of-the-art structures on any college campus.

Take in the fresh mountain air on any part of 100 miles of trails and 30,000 acres of open space. Climb the Flatirons or in Eldorado Canyon State Park. Swim or board sail at the Boulder Reservoir while elite runners sprint around it. Take in a pro sporting event down the road in Denver, just one of 13 cities with teams in all four pro leagues.

Rest assured, like the prophesy of an Arapaho Indian Chief, "If you leave Boulder, you will return."

PRESIDENT BRUCE BENSON

Before he became president of the University of Colorado in March 2008, Bruce D. Benson had already made his mark in business, politics, philanthropy, education and civic endeavors.

He founded Benson Mineral Group in 1965, a year after earning a degree in geology from CU. Over his career, he has been involved in a variety of business ventures, including real estate, restaurants and banking.

Three different Colorado governors have named Benson to various education initiatives and governing boards, including the Colorado Commission on Higher Education and the Metro State College Board of Trustees, both of which he chaired. In addition, he co-chaired the P-20 Education Coordinating Council from 2007 until early 2008 and chaired the Governor's Blue Ribbon Panel for Higher Education for the 21st Century from 2001 to 2003.

He has been active in support of his alma mater. He was national chairman of CU's four-campus, $1 Billion Comprehensive Fund-Raising Campaign from 1997-2003. He served as a director on the Coleman Colorado Foundation – Institute for Cognitive Disabilities from 2001-08. He was a board member for CU- Boulder's Center for the American West from 2006-08. Benson also served on the board of directors of the CU Foundation from 1990-96, and was a member of the CU Foundation Development Cabinet from 1992-95. CU awarded him the University Medal in 1999 and the university's Ira C. Rothgerber Award in 2003 (one of two ever awarded). The CU Alumni Association honored him with its Recognition Award in 2001. He also has provided significant philanthropic support to CU.

Benson was also one of the leaders of the 2005 statewide campaign that successfully passed Referendum C, which provided additional funding for education and the state budget. He was elected chairman of the Colorado Republican Party four times, and was the Republican nominee for governor in 1994.

As CU president, Benson leads a system of four campuses: Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver and the Anschutz Medical Campus. CU serves some 56,000 students and has a $2.7 billion annual budget.

Benson has received many honors recognizing his leadership in a variety of activities, but two are particularly notable: CU in 2004 granted him an Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters, and in February 2009, he was named to the Colorado Business Hall of Fame.

A native of Chicago, Benson has called Colorado home for nearly five decades. He is married to Marcy Head Benson. He has three adult children and 10 grandchildren.

CHANCELLOR PHIL DISTEFANO

Dr. Philip P. DiStefano is in his fourth year as the Chancellor at the University of Colorado Boulder. Prior to his appointment on May 5, 2009, Dr. DiStefano was the top academic officer at CU-Boulder for eight years as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. He served as interim chancellor twice during pivotal times in the university's history.

Dr. DiStefano co-chaired the steering committee for CU-Boulder's visionary strategic plan, Flagship 2030, conceived with campus, community and statewide input, to guide the university for decades to come. Today, Dr. DiStefano is shepherding its implementation as Flagship 2030 moves from vision to reality.

Dr. DiStefano has served CU-Boulder for 37 years. He joined the University of Colorado in 1974 as an Assistant Professor of Curriculum and Instruction at the School of Education. His academic career flourished as he assumed a series of academic and administrative positions, including Professor, Associate Dean, Dean and Vice Chancellor. He was appointed Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs in 2001.

As Chancellor he works closely with students, faculty, staff, alumni, donors, governing officials, and business and community leaders in extending CU's legacy as a preeminent national comprehensive research university.

A first-generation college graduate, Dr. DiStefano earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State University and a Master of Arts degree in English Education from West Virginia University. He holds a Doctorate in Humanities Education from Ohio State University, where he served as a teaching and research associate.

He began his educational career as a high school English teacher in Ohio. He has authored and co-authored numerous books and articles on literacy education.

Dr. DiStefano and his wife, Yvonne, have been married for 42 years and are the parents of three grown daughters and a granddaughter.

PROVOST RUSSELL MOORE

Dr. Russell L. Moore has had a long and distinguished career at the University of Colorado Boulder, now serving in the capacity of Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, having assumed the position July 1, 2010.

Dr. Moore also previously served as interim vice chancellor for research from May 2009 to July 2010, and prior to that appointment, he was the associate vice chancellor for research since 2006. Dr. Moore served as chair of kinesiology and applied physiology (now integrative physiology) from 1994 to 2001, and was assistant professor (1984-86), associate professor (1993-96) and full professor (1996-present) in that department.

He holds an adjunct professorship in medicine (cardiology) at the University of Colorado's Anschutz Medical Campus at the University of Colorado Denver.

He was an assistant and associate professor (1986-91) in the departments of medicine, cellular and molecular physiology at the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine in Hershey, Pa. He did postdoctoral work at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas (1981-84).

Dr. Moore earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry from the University of California at Davis in 1976, and a master's degree (1978) and doctorate (1982) in physiology from Washington State University in Pullman, Wash.

FACULTY REP DAVID CLOUGH

Faculty Athletics Representative Dr. David Clough is a national leader in college athletic reforms and represents CU to the Pac-12 Conference and the NCAA. A professor of chemical and biological engineering, Dr. Clough enters his eighth year as the University of Colorado Boulder's Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR) in March 2012.

Professor Clough reports to Chancellor DiStefano and works closely with the Director of Athletics, Mike Bohn, and the coaches and staff of Athletics to support student-athletes, especially in their academic pursuits. The FAR's duties include oversight of the eligibility certification and compliance functions on the Boulder Campus. He strives to be well known to CU's student-athletes, and he and his wife Sydney are present at many home competitions of CU's sports teams. He also travels with many CU teams to away competitions.

Dr. Clough replaced Chancellor Phil DiStefano, who served as FAR from June 1, 2000 until just shortly after his appointment as interim chancellor for the Boulder campus in 2005. Clough is only the sixth FAR in CU history, joining a prestigious list: Walter Franklin (1947-1948), Warren Thompson (1949-1966), William Baughn (1967-1989), James Corbridge (1989-2000) and DiStefano (2000-2005).

Dr. Clough has had a significant impact on engineering education at CU-Boulder and beyond through career-long efforts to enhance the learning of engineering students. He has pioneered active- and cooperative-learning techniques in the College of Engineering and Applied Science, and in 1989 he originated the concept of the Integrated Teaching and Learning Laboratory. Clough's research has focused on the automated control of chemical and related processes.

He has been involved with student-athlete success for more than 30 years as his relationship with the CU athletic department dates to more than three decades. Throughout his career, Dr. Clough has taken a special interest in engineering student-athletes, long appreciating the combined academic and athletic challenges they face. He played an integral role in the Rhodes Scholarship candidacy of Buff football star Jim Hansen, an Academic All-American who was awarded the Rhodes in 1993.

Dr. Clough received his bachelor's degree from the Case Institute of Technology (now Case Western Reserve University) in 1968 and his master's from CU-Boulder in 1969, both in chemical engineering. He worked as an engineer for E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., from 1969 to 1972 before returning to CU-Boulder to earn his doctorate in 1975. He joined the faculty of the Department of Chemical Engineering at that time.

He served as the college's associate dean for academic affairs from 1986 to 1992, playing a role in a number of important initiatives, including the Gemmill Engineering Library, the Herbst Humanities Program, and the Integrated Teaching and Learning Laboratory. From 1993 through 1999, he was associate chair of the Department of Chemical Engineering and was responsible for significant improvements to the department's undergraduate advising program.

Known for his willingness to experiment with new educational concepts and technology, Dr. Clough has worked to reform traditional lecture classes into an interactive workshop format that greatly enhances the learning of students. Through these efforts, he has helped to reshape the way engineering is taught. The student-run Engineering Excellence Fund chose Dr. Clough as the first recipient of the Sullivan-Carlson Inspiration in Teaching Award in 1998. He has received numerous teaching and advising awards from nominations by his students over the years. He also has been given the college's Hutchinson Teaching Award and Peters Service Award. He received the first Boulder Faculty Assembly Teaching Award in 1980 and the Boulder Campus Outstanding Advisor Award in 1996. His merit as an educator also has been recognized outside CU. In 1995 the American Society for Engineering Education (Rocky Mountain Section) presented him with its first Outstanding Educator Award.

In April 2000, he received the college's Distinguished Engineering Alumnus Award in the Education category. It recognized his significant impact on engineering education through pioneering the active learning concept for the Integrated Teaching and Learning Laboratory, and in leading the college in changing traditional lecture courses to an active learning format.

In his role as Faculty Athletics Representative, Clough represents CU to the Pac-12 Conference and the NCAA. He provides a liaison between Athletics and the faculty and works to enhance the educational experience of 350 student-athletes. Clough has been active in the Faculty Athletics Representatives Association (FARA) and will become President of FARA in November. In his time as FAR, Dr. Clough has established a reputation for his expertise in the NCAA's Academic Performance Program and the program's statistics tracking the academic progress of student-athletes, the Academic Progress Rate (APR) and the Graduation Success Rate (GSR). He has developed tracking and predictive tools that have been shared with over 100 NCAA Division I institutions.

He and his wife, Sydney, have four grown children, Astrid, William, Rodney and Damon, and four grandchildren. Dr. Clough's father, John W. Clough, was a chemical engineer, and his two brothers are retired engineers. The Clough family established a scholarship endowment in engineering at CU in honor of John Clough, who died in 1994. The family holds a strong belief in giving back to the educational institutions that have benefited its members.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR MIKE BOHN

Mike Bohn is now in his eighth year as athletic director at University of Colorado, named just the fifth full-time director in school history on April 13, 2005. In accepting the position, he returned to the surroundings where he starred as a prep athlete before embarking on a journey that would take him all over the western half of the United States and finally back home.

Bohn, 51, came to Colorado from San Diego State University, where he left an indelible imprint in just 18 months as the Aztecs' director of athletics. He agreed to a 5-year contract with the Buffaloes and was rewarded quickly for his initial efforts, as in November 2007 he received an extension through the 2011-12 academic year. Then in August 2011, the Board of Regents and the Chancellor saw fit to extend him another five years into 2017.

He replaced Jack Lengyel, who served as interim athletic director for five months after Dick Tharp stepped down in November 2004 after holding the position since 1996. Tharp had followed three legendary men in CU athletic history, Harry Carlson (1927-65), Eddie Crowder (1965-84) and Bill Marolt (1984-96).

Bohn was the first of the five to be named CU athletic director without having previously worked within the CU system. Carlson and Crowder were coaches upon being named, Marolt returned to CU where he coached for 10 years before leaving for the U.S. Olympic ski team, and Tharp was a university attorney with strong CU-Boulder campus ties. But his ties to Boulder were extensive, growing up here with family and friends always in the area. And as a youth, he worked concessions at Folsom Field, selling soda in the stands while constantly sneaking a look at what was transpiring on the field.

He accomplished a lot in his first 100 days on the job, from branching out into the community with Chancellor Phil DiStefano at town meetings, to implementing the YOUR TEAM and SHOULDER to SHOULDER campaigns to raise significant funds for immediate scholarship and capital project needs. Several other creative ideas, especially in marketing including Ralphie's Kids Roundup and the Pearl Street Stampede the night before home football games, were established to create better ties with CU and area communities.

Those first 100 days were just the beginning, and now over seven years into his service to CU, he has made major improvements in fundraising, improving CU's facilities, most notably the addition of a $10 million practice facility for the basketball and volleyball teams, establishing the Buff Club Cabinet, making huge in-roads in community, media and campus relations, and has worked to balance a budget by making tough but necessary cuts, guaranteeing the future success of Colorado's 16 intercollegiate sports. That count will rise to 17 with the addition of women's lacrosse in 2014.

Perhaps his top "one shining moment" to date took place in the spring of 2010, when he led the university's charge for the Buffaloes to join the Pacific-10 Conference. A very tense period in college athletics, rumors swirling about concerning several schools, he had Colorado's ship steadied throughout and landed CU in a conference that conforms to a perfect fit with its students, alumni and fans on many levels, including academics as well as athletics. Colorado, along with Utah, joined the league on July 1, 2011, making it the Pac-12.

He has overseen the hiring of 10 head coaches, Jon Embree and Dan Hawkins (football), Tad Boyle and Jeff Bzdelik (men's basketball), Linda Lappe and Kathy McConnell-Miller (women's basketball), Roy Edwards (men's golf), Liz Kritza (volleyball), Danny Sanchez (soccer) and Ann Elliott (lacrosse).

Mile High Sports Magazine selected Bohn as its Sports Person of the Year for 2006, as the publication recognized his efforts in his first year on the job. The same publication cited him as the top athletic director in the state in its 2011 "Best Of" edition. In his time at CU, he has quickly grown into one of the top speakers on college athletics in the region, as he is a popular "get" for service clubs, media groups and others.

Bohn's brief tenure at San Diego State featured many remarkable accomplishments, including the instilling of energy, enthusiasm, accountability and determination into the Aztec staff. Officially named SDSU athletic director on October 6, 2003, his immediate task was to unify the athletic department, the campus and the community of San Diego.

Bohn strategically and steadily restructured the SDSU athletic department with emphasis on fund raising, fiscal responsibility, compliance and academics.

Under his watch, San Diego State set a new single-game attendance record in football when more than 57,000 fans watched the Aztecs' win over Idaho State in the 2004 season opener. The average football attendance of 35,995 in 2004 was the best at the school since 1993, with the increase of 14,369 fans per game marking the third largest attendance jump in the country. The SDSU baseball team also set attendance records under his watch.

He landed the San Diego State position after serving five years as athletic director at the University of Idaho (1999-2003), where he first made his mark as a lead administrator in the area of transportation.

At Idaho, he developed projects for new facilities, increased community and corporate support, and produced balanced budgets for the department after inheriting an operation that had accumulated a deficit of over $1 million.

Bohn with CU's 2010 College Football Hall of Fame inductee, Alfred Williams

During his five years in Moscow, he oversaw the transition of the Vandals to the Division I-A ranks from the Big Sky Conference. Under Bohn, Idaho began construction on the Vandal Athletics Center, the first facilities improvement for UI athletics in two decades. He was also the driving force behind a 20-percent increase in the Vandal Scholarship Fund and a $350,000 surge in annual corporate support.

Between Idaho and San Diego State, Bohn hired 12 head coaches in all as well as several administrators.

Bohn prepared for his career goal of becoming a Division I athletic director entirely in the state of Colorado, his adopted "native" state despite being born in Illinois; he moved to Colorado with his family when he was one year old.

His first job in athletic administration came at the Air Force Academy, where he worked for the better part of nine years (1984-92). During his tenure in Colorado Springs, Bohn advanced from an intern to assistant athletic director. He served as executive director of the Blue and Silver Club, as well as other external operations throughout his stay at the academy. He played a major role in the increase of football season ticket sales from 6,000 to 20,000 and implemented a fundraising campaign that generated $16 million for stadium improvements.

From 1992 to 1995, Bohn served as Director of Marketing for the College Football Association, where he worked for one of the most respected people in the history of college athletics, Chuck Neinas (the one-time Big Eight Conference commissioner). The CFA, the precursor to the current Bowl Championship Series, consisted of six major football conferences encompassing 67 universities. He created and developed the CFA "Good Works Team" which recognizes significant off-the-field accomplishments in the area of community relations of 11 football student-athletes nationally (a team that is still selected today by the American Football Coaches Association).

Bohn was involved in many facets of the organization's operations, including the administration of a $67 million television package involving ABC, ESPN and ESPN2. He also formulated a blueprint for the promotion and development of the image of college football as a whole.

He then moved on to Colorado State University, where he spent the next three years (1996-98) as an associate athletic director for the Rams. At CSU, he was responsible for all external revenue-producing operations, including ticket sales, fundraising through the Greater Ram Club, licensing, corporate sales, signage, capital campaigns and broadcasting rights fees and special events. He also helped escalate student interest in CSU athletics.

He earned his bachelor's of arts degree from the University of Kansas in 1983, where he was recruited as a quarterback and also played baseball (pitcher-first basemen-outfielder). He then graduated with a master's degree in Sports Administration from Ohio University in 1984. While earning his master's, he worked as a graduate assistant football coach for the Bobcats.

Bohn is a former member of the NCAA Championships Cabinet and the Division I-A Athletics Directors Association Executive Council. During his stay at Idaho, he was a member of the Big West Conference executive committee and served on the University of Idaho executive council.

Born November 16, 1960 in Hinsdale, Ill., he graduated from Boulder High School where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Kim Zeren, and the couple has two grown children, Michaelyn and Brandon.

DID YOU KNOW? ... Mike Bohn is the first athletic administrator to work at three of the state's Division I-A colleges (CU, Air Force, Colorado State and Denver). Only one coach is thought to have spent time at three schools: Terry Dunn served as assistant basketball coach at AFA (1991-94), CSU (1994-96) and CU (1996-2004). Several high profile people have logged time in at two of the schools; those who spent time at CU and one other include assistant football coaches Kay Dalton (CU/CSU), Chuck Heater (CU/CSU), Tom McMahon (CU/CSU) and Dan Stavely (CU/DU); track coaches Don Meyers (CU/CSU) and Jerry Quiller (CU/CSU); basketball coaches Jen Warden (CU/CSU) and Linda Lappe (CU/CSU); sports information directors Steve Hatchell (CU/CSU) and Tim Simmons (CU/CSU); gymnastics coach Dan Garcia (CU/DU), golf coaches Eric Hoos and Sammie Chergo (both assistants at CU and then head coaches at DU); assistant women's basketball coach Tanya Haave (CU/DU); trainers Eric Fry (DU/CU), Ed Lochrie (CU/DU) and Nicole Makris (DU/CU); and fundraiser Chris Kiser (CU/CSU).

Conference History

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back nearly a century to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland. The original membership consisted of four schools — the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin N. Atherton was commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt in 1944. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference, essentially replacing Colorado, which left for the Big 7 two years earlier. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed commissioner of the new league. The original AAWU membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968. In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as commissioner of the Pac-8.

On July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Thomas C. Hansen was named the commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009. Hansen was succeeded by current commissioner Larry Scott, who took on the new role in July 2009.

During the 2010-11 academic year, Scott helped deliver monumental changes that transformed the conference into a modern 12-team league by adding the University of Colorado and the University of Utah. The addition of CU and Utah led to an agreement to equal revenue sharing for the first time in conference history, created two divisions (North and South) for football only, established a football championship game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 11, 2010, as the Buffaloes were the first domino to fall in a change of the national landscape which, in just one week, saw Nebraska also leave the Big 12 and join the Big 10, Boise State depart the WAC for the Mountain West, TCU jump from the MWC for the Big East, and then on June 17, Utah agreeing to join CU to make it an even dozen in the Pac-12. Big-time rivals for the first half of the last century, the Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference on July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978. During the 33 years between expansions, Pac-10 teams claimed 258 NCAA titles (130 women's, 128 men's).

At present, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the conference schools are members of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and three women's sports. CU participates in the MPSF in indoor track and will in women's lacrosse come 2014, and already competes in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association (RMISA) in skiing, which is a coed sport.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, Calif.

Conference of Champions

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushers in a new era with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011.

The Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the "Conference of Champions"®, claiming an incredible 180 NCAA team titles over the past two decades, including nine in 2010-11, averaging nearly nine championships per academic year. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 27 different men's and women's sports. The Pac-12 has led the nation in NCAA Championships in 45 of the last 51 years and finished second five times.

Spanning nearly a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 400 championships in 2010-11. With the inclusion of CU and UU, league teams have captured 451 NCAA titles through the 2011-12 season (306 men's, 145 women's), outdistancing the next closest conference by nearly 200.

In each of the last two years (2010-11, 2011-12) the then-Pac-10 and now the Pac-12 has led the country with nine NCAA titles, with men's and women's programs sharing the wealth with five NCAA women's titles and four men's crowns in each of those years.

Including titles previously won by Colorado and Utah, Pac-12 members have won 306 NCAA team championships on the men's side, 89 more than the next closest conference. Men's NCAA crowns have come at a phenomenal rate for the Pac-12: 16 basketball titles by six schools (more than any other conference), 53 tennis titles, 45 outdoor track & field crowns and 27 baseball titles. Pac-12 members have won 25 of 43 NCAA titles in volleyball, 38 of 42 in water polo, 27 in skiing and 23 swimming & diving national championships.

Individually, the conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA men's individual champions, as well, boasting 2,073 individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is much the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 30 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 23 occasions, including 2011-12. Overall, the Pac-12 has captured 145 NCAA women's titles, easily outdistancing the SEC (second with 88). Pac-12 members have dominated a number of sports, winning 23 softball titles, 19 tennis crowns, 14 of the last 22 volleyball titles, 14 of the last 23 trophies in golf, and 13 in swimming and diving.

Pac-12 women student-athletes shine nationally on an individual basis, as well, having captured an unmatched 642 NCAA individual crowns, an average of nearly 21 championships per season.

Colorado and Utah have combined to win 15 coed skiing titles, one of three NCAA sports to score championships based on men's and women's results along with fencing and rifle. Combined, the newest Pac-12 entrants added 27 NCAA ski crowns and 148 individual champions to the league's coffers.

In the 2012 London Summer Olympics, athletes who hailed from Pac-12 schools won 45 medals; had the conference been a country, it would have finished fifth.

FOLSOM FIELD

Folsom Field, named after legendary University of Colorado Coach Frederick Folsom, opened for the 1924 season and has been the football team's home field ever since. The Buffaloes have played 88 seasons on the "hilltop," where CU could win its 300th game in the stadium this fall.

Colorado owns one of the nation's best all-time home records, as in the previous 87 seasons of play at Folsom, the Buffaloes are 297-150-10, a winning percentage of .661.

The stadium was dedicated on October 11, 1924, as Colorado defeated Regis College, 39-0. It actually was the second home game of the season, as CU closed out playing at Gamble Field the week before with a 31-0 win over Western State.

It originally was called Colorado Stadium, the name being changed to Folsom Field in 1944 following Folsom's death. In addition, old 24th Street was also changed to Folsom Street to honor the man who coached Colorado teams three different times totaling 15 years between 1895 and 1915. His 76.5 winning percentage (77-23-2) is still tops among all coaches ever at CU.

CU had played its games at Gamble Field for two decades, where seating was limited to temporary bleachers. In the winter of 1923-24, CU President George Norlin studied the possibility of a new stadium, as the approaching completion of a sparkling new gymnasium (Carlson Gym), the inadequate number of seats at Gamble Field (roughly 9,000) and the growing interest in physical education and intercollegiate athletics demanded that a remedy needed to take place soon.

Investigation of a natural ravine just east of the site of the gymnasium as a site for the new stadium, suggested by professor

Whitney Huntington, was not only a convenient location, but by using it a great expense could be avoided. After a financing plan was worked out, CU's own construction department began moving dirt with a steam shovel on January 14, 1924.

The new structure had an original capacity of 26,000, featuring wooden bleacher seating over cement, and quarter-mile running track. A California red wood, dipped in creosote, was selected as the initial material, as estimates at the time put a lifetime of around 13 years for the wood. There were 22 sections divided by radial aisles installed, the same set-up in the lower bowl that still exists today.

Accounts at the time put the cost of the stadium at around $2.60 per seat, instead of $10 had concrete been used; the total cost was $65,000. By comparison, the cost to construct Carlson Gym was $350,000.

With expansion in mind when originally built, it was by design rather easy to add an upper deck. In 1956, Folsom Field's capacity was upped to 45,000 when a second deck was erected around two-thirds of the stadium. Some 6,000 more seats were added in 1967 when the running track was removed and the team dressing facilities were constructed at the north end of the field.

Improvements continued, as the gigantic six-level press box facility was added on the west side for the start of the 1968 season. It also serves as the home for CU's Flatirons Club, a group of donors who financially support the athletic program.

In the summer of 1976, Folsom Field had another face-lift, as the wooden bleacher seats were removed and replaced with silver and gold aluminum bleachers, expanding the stadium to a capacity of 52,005.

The renovation of CU's team house in the summer of 1979 took away a few seats, changing the capacity to 51,463. The construction of the magnificent Dal Ward Center in 1991 added new bleacher seating in the north end zone and increased the capacity to 51,748. In 1992, the addition of a yellow concourse wall on the southeast side took away a few hundred seats, and corporate boxes (in 1995) lowered the capacity to 51,655.

The removal of a set of old rickety bleachers in 2001 and a few other changes placed the stadium capacity at 50,942, but that figure stood for just two seasons. The addition of suites and club seating on the east side (at a cost of $43 million) completed in August 2003 increased the capacity to 53,750, an all-time Folsom Field high.

Prior to the 1971 season, the playing surface at Folsom Field was natural grass. Monsanto of St. Louis, Mo., replaced the natural grass with Astro turf for the 1971 campaign, with the first game being played on the artificial surface against the University of Wyoming on September 18 (the Buffs won 56-13); it was a godsend, as that very morning, Boulder received a rare late summer snowstorm that blanketed the field with more than two feet of snow.

The original Astro turf surface was replaced with a "new rug" for the start of the 1978 season, and in the summer of 1989, "Astroturf-8" was installed, the third artificial surfacing in the school's history. Folsom was covered with artificial surfaces for 28 seasons (168 games), and it was fairly friendly for the Buffs, which posted a 110-56-2 record in those games.

In the spring of 1999, Folsom Field returned to natural grass, as "SportGrass" was installed on the stadium floor. The project, which included bio-thermal heating, drainage and a sub-air system, cost $1.2 million. Video display boards, known as "BuffVision" were also added in the summer of 1999 at a cost of $3.6 million; those were updated with state-of-the-art HD technology in 2012 at a cost of about $6.5 million.

In 2003, completion of a $42 million east side renovation added 1,903 club seats and 41 suites, increasing Folsom's capacity to an all-time high of 53,750. The state-of-the art complex is one of the best in college football, is not nearly as high as many clubs and suites at most stadiums, and offers a great view of the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and when clear, the Continental Divide.

The current capacity is 53,613, as the fourth rows from three different levels of the Flatirons Club were removed in 2007, seats that always had some kind of obstructed view.

MASCOT/NICKNAME

The University of Colorado has one of the more unique mascots in all of intercollegiate athletics, a real buffalo named Ralphie.

The live buffalo mascot leads the football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exist anywhere in college or professional sports, especially for opposing teams, who often stop in their tracks watching the massive buffalo round the end zone and head directly at their sideline.

The buffalo first appeared in 1934, three weeks after a contest to select an official school nickname by the Silver & Gold newspaper had come to an end and "Buffaloes" was the winning entry. For the final game of the '34 season, a group of students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf along with a real cowboy as his keeper. The calf was the son of Killer, a famed bison at Trails End Ranch in Fort Collins. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines, a 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. The student newspaper decided to sponsor a national contest in the summer of 1934, with a $5 prize to go to the author of the winning selection. Entries, over 1,000 in all, arrived from almost every state in the union. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy of the Silver and Gold were the judges.

Local articles first reported that Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted "Buffaloes" as their entry. But 10 days later, the newspaper declared Boulder resident Andrew Dickson the winner, after a follow-up revealed his submission of "Buffaloes" had actually arrived several days before those of the original winners. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Bufs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

Live buffaloes made appearances at CU games on and off through the years, usually in a pen on the field or sometimes driven around in a cage; in the 1940s, the school kept a baby buffalo in a special pen at the University Riding Academy. The first named buffalo was "Mr. Chips," who appeared for the first time at the 1957 CU Days kickoff rally, as supporter Mahlon White donated him to the school, and it was cared for by a men's honorary.

A few years passed between a live mascot on the sideline and the tradition Colorado fans have come to know so well. In 1966, John Lowery, the father of a CU freshman from Lubbock, Texas, donated to the school a six-month old buffalo calf from Sedgewick, Colo.

For a while, she was billed as "Rraalph," but the origin of the name is in some doubt. Some say it was given by the student body after sounds she allegedly made while running and snorting; others say it was named for Ralph Jay Wallace, the junior class president at the time; and the original handlers will tell a third version. Regardless, an astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

The initial tradition was for CU's five sophomore class officers to run the buffalo around the stadium in a full loop. They would pick her up from caretaker C.D. "Buddy" Hays, who kept her at the Green Mountain Riding Stables during the season at Hidden Valley Ranch in the off season. The officers would run her for two hours in the morning to tire her a bit to keep her under control by the time the game started. At the conclusion of the run, the fans would break into the "Buffalo Stomp," which would literally shake the stadium in deafening fashion as the team took the field. But CU officials soon had the tradition stopped because of the actual physical damage it was causing.

Around that same time, head coach Eddie Crowder was approached with the idea the charging buffalo running out on the field before the game with the team behind right her. Crowder thought it was a great idea, and the debut of this great tradition took place on Oct. 28, 1967, CU's homecoming game against Oklahoma State. Though OSU won the game, 10-7, the tradition was here to stay, though those who had some training in such an endeavor as working with a wild animal eventually replaced the sophomores. The five sophomores appointed themselves as the board of directors of a fundraising effort to bring Ralphie to the '67 Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, raising the necessary money through selling stock.

Ralphie attended every CU home football game for 13 years (including all bowls), and retired at the end of the 1978 season. CU's first Ralphie achieved nationally celebrity status, and was even kidnapped in 1970 by some Air Force Academy students as well as being named the school's 1971 Homecoming Queen at the height of the anti-establishment era.

In 1976, The Bank of Boulder and its president Steve Bosley, proposed to Crowder they would do a fundraiser to send Ralphie I to the Orange Bowl Game with Ohio State.

When a reporter asked Bosley how Ralphie would travel to Miami, he explained that the information was top secret since CU was concerned that Ohio State students would try to kidnap (or "buffalo-nap") Ralphie. The story of the potential "buffalo-napping" made newspapers nationwide, featuring a picture of Ralphie in full charge with her handlers. The story stimulated over $25,000 in donations. Ralphie's trip to the Orange Bowl cost $2,500, and the balance was put into a fund for Ralphie's future care.

In 1978, when Ralphie became ill, Bosley organized a search headed by Buddy Hays, who discovered a calf named Moon, short for Moonshine, which was owned by Boulder native Lyn Russell Holt. Holt grew up raising mainly domestic animals, but was an accomplished bull rider in area rodeos who loved buffalo. Bosley, The Bank of Boulder, and bank director Robert Confer bought Moonshine from Holt and donated her to CU. But the name Ralphie had become so popular that former athletic director Eddie Crowder made it permanent.

Ralphie II made her first appearance at CU's final home game of the 1978 season. At age 12, after serving the Buffs for 10 years, she passed away on Sept. 19, 1987, following a 31-17 CU win over Stanford.

Ralphie III, donated by the C-Club, was pressed into action earlier than anticipated, as she had been in training for the 1988 season. Originally named "Tequila," she made her debut on Nov. 7, 1987, when the Buffs beat Missouri, 27-10. After over 10 years of service, she passed away in January 1998, at the age of 13.

Ralphies IV and V together in November 2007

Ralphie IV was donated to the university by media and sports entrepreneur Ted Turner in 1998. Born in April 1997 on the Flying D Ranch in Gallatin Gateway, Montana, which is a part of Turner Ranches, she was named "Rowdy" by ranch hands. She was separated from her mother when she was about a month old and was literally found in the jaws of a coyote with bite marks around her neck. She survived the attack and was bottle-fed by the hands for four months. She was released back to the herd but wouldn't bond with them, so the ranch hands took her back in and fed her grasses and grain. It was then that she was donated to CU as a yearling early in the spring of 1998.

John Parker, who trained and housed both Ralphie II and III and supervised the early training of Ralphie IV, retired after 12 years of service as caretaker in May 2000. His assistant, Ted Davis, assumed the program duties for the next year, while long-time CU supporters Dale and Lynn Johnson housed Ralphie for the following season.

In 2001, two former Ralphie Handlers and CU graduates, Ben Frei and Kevin Priola, took over as volunteer directors of the program. Together they coordinate the selection and managing of up to 14 student handlers along with all aspects of training. The program has been managed since 1994 by Gail Pederson, the CU Athletic Department's Chief of Staff.

Ralphie IV made her debut against Colorado State at Mile High Stadium in Denver on September 5, 1998. She appeared at six bowl games and four Big 12 Championship games. In November 2007, "Ralphie's Salute To A New Era" was held, where Ralphie IV was semi-retired and a 14-month old Ralphie V was officially introduced to the public. Ralphie IV's last game was the 2008 season opener, as she led CU on to the field one last time, again versus CSU in Denver.

Ralphie V, known as "Blackout," also from a Ted Turner Ranch, the Ver mejo Park Ranch in New Mexico, was donated to the university in January 2007 as a 325-pound, four-month old calf. She made her debut on April 19, 2008 at CU's annual spring game (which drew a record 17,800 spectators) and her regular season debut five months later on Sept. 6 at Folsom Field. She will be six years old this September and now weighs in at 1,300 pounds and as with all buffalo, can reach speeds up to 25 miles per hour.

HEAD COACH JON EMBREE

Jon Embree is entering his second year as head football coach at the University of Colorado. He was named the school's 24th full-time head football coach (and the 26th overall including two interim) in program history on December 6, 2010, returning home to the state where he starred as a player in both high school and college as well as where he got his start in coaching.

Though this is his first head coaching position on any level, he brought 18 years of coaching experience to the CU program. That includes 10 seasons (1993-2002) as an assistant on the Colorado staff under three different head coaches, Bill McCartney (1993-94), Rick Neuheisel (1995-98) and Gary Barnett (1999-2002).

A stalwart tight end for the Buffaloes in the mid-1980s after an outstanding prep career at Cherry Creek High School, Embree returned to his alma mater from the National Football League's Washington Redskins, where he was in the process of completing his first season as tight ends coach under former Denver Bronco coach Mike Shanahan.

Embree, 46, is the first African-American ever named to the position at Colorado. He signed a five-year contract through the 2015 season, concluding his tenure as tight ends coach with the Redskins the day before he was introduced by athletic director Mike Bohn as CU's new head coach.

His first Buffalo team posted a 3-9 record, but had its moments, none bigger than the season finale when a 17-14 win at Utah snapped the longest road losing streak in program history (23 games) and kept the Utes from winning the inaugural Pac-12 South Division title. Embree's first win came against rival Colorado State in Denver, with the other verdict a 48-29 victory over Arizona in the final home game. The team suffered heart-breaking late losses to California (in overtime) and Washington State, and also endured the second-worst season in history in terms of games lost due to injury.

"This is a dream come true," Embree said. "When I stepped on the field for my first spring practice here as a volunteer coach (in 1991), I started to envision what it would be like to come back one day and be the head coach of this great university. It's truly a privilege when you have the opportunity to become head coach at your alma mater. Colorado has a great tradition and with the staff I've assembled, our aim is to restore the program to national prominence."

Embree, in fact, is just Colorado's third head football coach and the first in nearly 50 years who also graduated from the school, earning his degree in Communication in 1988. The last was Bud Davis ('51), who coached for one season (1962) to steady the waters after the Sonny Grandelius era, with the only other, Harry Heller, also coaching just one year, leading Colorado to an 8-1 record in 1894; Heller was an 1885 CU graduate.

"There is no question Jon is a great Buffalo, and we're all excited he's coming home," Bohn said. "He's a man of great character and vision who loves the University of Colorado. As a high school student-athlete, he could have went anywhere in the country and he chose CU at a time the program had been struggling for a number of years. He was a pivotal contributor in helping to turn the fortunes around some 25 years ago, and we are excited he's agreed to come back and lead us into the Pac-12 Conference."

"Jon Embree is a great hire for the University of Colorado at a great time in our history," said CU-Boulder Chancellor Phil DiStefano. "Jon was a legendary Buff who embodied the best of CU's values on and off the field. I believe his achievements as a student-athlete, a coach and a person will combine to lead our program into a new era of success. We are excited to welcome him home."

Embree became just the fourth African-American head coach in Pac-12 Conference football history when he was named to the CU position (with Stanford's David Shaw the fifth when he was promoted a month later): Dennis Green was the first when he coached Stanford (1989-91), followed by Ty Willingham, also at Stanford (1995-2001), and then former Colorado assistant Karl Dorrell at UCLA (2003-07); Willingham also was the head coach at Washington (2004-08). Nationally, Embree is one of seven African-American head coaches among the 66 BCS schools and one of the 17 at the 120 Football Bowl Subdivision programs.

After a stellar prep career at Cherry Creek High School in Englewood, he was a key member of the 1983 recruiting class, the first by McCartney, who had taken over as head coach just two months before the start of the '82 season. McCartney made a pitch to the top in-state recruits to pledge their allegiance to CU and to help turn around a program that had won just nine games over the previous four years. Embree and several others listened, and McCartney was on the money with what the group would accomplish.

Embree would become a four-year letterman for the Buffaloes, playing immediately as a true freshman in '83 when he earned the school's Lee Willard Award as the school's most outstanding freshman. The following year, he earned first-team All-Big 8 honors in setting school single-season records for receptions (51) and receiving yards (680). When CU moved to the wishbone on offense for his junior year, his receiving numbers naturally went down but he established himself as one of the premier blocking tight ends in the game. He ended his career in the top five in both catches (80) and yards (1,116), numbers which still have him in the school's top 20 today. After 4-7 and 1-10 records his first two years, the move to the wishbone helped the Buffs to 7-5 and 6-6 records Embree's last two seasons, including appearances in the Freedom and Bluebonnet bowls. The 13 wins over the '85 and '86 seasons were one fewer than Colorado had from 1979-84, the 14 being the fewest in college football; McCartney's plan to win with home grown talent had worked, and no one played a bigger role in that than Embree.

In 1989, fans selected CU's All-Century Team, with the 53-man team commemorating the school's first 100 years of intercollegiate football; no modern day tight ends made the first team, but Embree joined such Buffalo stalwarts as J.V. Cain, Don Hasselbeck and Jerry Hillebrand on the honorable mention squad, placing him among the best tight ends in school history.

A sixth round selection by the Los Angeles Rams in the 1987 NFL Draft, Embree played two seasons with the Rams before suffering a career-ending elbow injury in 1989 while a member of the Seattle Seahawks. He underwent "Tommy John" surgery, which requires at least a year of rehab, and he opted to turn his attention to a career outside of football. Having interned at two Denver television stations while a student at CU, he worked with his former colleagues at KCNC-TV in Denver to try and place him in a smaller market with the plan that he eventually could return to Denver.

In the midst of pursuing a television career, McCartney recruited him again, this time as a volunteer coach for the tight ends for the 1991 season. Embree had never really thought of coaching before that call, but after just one day on the field that spring, he knew it was his calling. He told Mac he loved it, but left out that he “wanted his job.” From that moment on, it was his goal to become the head coach at his alma mater.

So he began his coaching career in March 1991 as a volunteer coach under McCartney, and then worked as an assistant coach at Douglas County (Colo.) High School the following year before returning CU for his first full-time position in the profession, coaching the tight ends for the last two years of McCartney’s tenure. Under Neuheisel, he swapped sides of the football and tutored the defensive ends for those four seasons, before mentoring the tight ends once again in Barnett’s first two years. He then switched to coaching the receivers and placekickers the next two years (2001-02), helping CU win its only Big 12 Conference title in ‘01, while both those squads claimed North Division titles in going 14-2 in league play over two seasons, one of the best two-year marks in the now-defunct 12-team conference’s history.

As an assistant at Colorado, the Buffaloes posted an 81-39-1 record, 89-42-2 including his volunteer season; including that campaign, he coached in nine bowl games in the 11 seasons, including three New Year’s Day games (all Fiesta bowls).

Embree left Colorado to join Dorrell when he was named head coach at UCLA ahead of the 2003 season. Embree coached the receivers there his first season, and then was promoted to assistant head coach and passing game coordinator in addition to tight ends coach for the 2004 and 2005 seasons. He then made his move into the NFL, where he coached the tight ends for three seasons (2006-08) under Herm Edwards with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Embree greets Ed Reinhardt, his teammate who survived a serious brain injury suffered at Oregon in 1984.

In his career, Embree coached four of the best tight ends to ever play the game, including John Mackey Award winners Daniel Graham at Colorado and Mercedes Lewis at UCLA as well as CU's Christian Fauria, a 12-year professional, and perennial All-Pro Tony Gonzalez while with the Chiefs.

He was born October 15, 1965 in Los Angeles, and graduated in 1983 from Cherry Creek High School in Englewood (Colo.), where he lettered three times in football for legendary Colorado prep coach Fred Tesone. He also lettered three times in basketball (hitting a winning shot over Poudre in a state playoff game as a senior) and four times in track. He selected Colorado as his college of choice in the end over Ohio State, UCLA and Southern Cal.

Embree is married to the former Natalyn Grubb, and the couple still has one child at home, daughter Hannah (16). They have raised two football-playing sons, who, in keeping with the CU family theme, selected colleges under the tutelage of two former Buff coaches. The eldest, Taylor, lettered at wide receiver for UCLA, where Neuheisel was his head coach (he had 137 career receptions for 1,776 yards and four touchdowns). Connor, also a receiver, redshirted as a freshman at UNLV under head coach Bobby Hauck, who was an assistant at Colorado under Neuheisel; he has since transferred to Kansas. Jon Embree was on coaching staffs with both Neuheisel (five seasons) and Hauck (four).

And of course, as many older Coloradoans will remember that his father John played two seasons (1968-69) with the Denver Broncos. He had several big plays at receiver in catching 33 passes for 519 yards and five touchdowns, including a 79-yard score.

Embree posed with his former coach, Bill McCartney, for the cover of Avid Golfer in June 2011.

RIP SCHERER

Assistant Head Coach/Quarterbacks

Rip Scherer is in his second year as the assistant head coach and quarterbacks coach, joining CU on January 24, 2011 as the final hire by Jon Embree to complete his first staff. Scherer returned to the college ranks after spending six seasons in the National Football League with the Carolina Panthers and Cleveland Browns and in all has 33 years of full-time coaching experience, 27 at the college level.

In his first CU season, he tutored senior Tyler Hansen, who threw for 2,883 yards and had a 20-to-11 touchdown to interception ratio. He helped develop Hansen into a free agent signing with the Cincinnati Bengals.

Scherer, 60, worked the two seasons prior to joining the Buffs (2009-10) for the Carolina Panthers, where he was the quarterbacks coach after spending the previous four seasons (2005-08) with the Cleveland Browns. Prior to that, he had logged time at 11 different schools from coast to coast in just over three decades in the collegiate ranks.

At Carolina, Scherer was integral in the development of Matt Moore, who led the Panthers to a 4-1 record starting the last five games of the 2009 season and generating a 104.9 quarterback rating after veteran Jake Delhomme sustained an injury. With injuries taking their toll on the 2010 stable of quarterbacks, Scherer and the Panthers used four different quarterbacks under center throughout the season.

In Cleveland, he served as the quarterbacks coach all four seasons from 2005-08, the final two adding assistant head coaching duties to his responsibilities. In his time there, he helped develop Derek Anderson, who was selected to the 2007 Pro Bowl after throwing for 3,787 yards and 29 touchdowns as the Browns boasted the eighth-best offense in the NFL in terms of scoring and passing yards per game.

He entered the professional ranks after he had coaching stints in the ACC, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and SEC, including two stops as a head coach at James Madison and Memphis. Prior to joining the Browns, he was an assistant coach at Southern Mississippi in 2003-04 where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. He held the same title at Kansas for the 2001 season, when he coached a game in Boulder against several of his current colleagues including Embree, Eric Bieniemy, Brian Cabral and Steve Marshall during the Buffs' Big 12 Championship run (CU won that game, 27-16, in the first contest for both following the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks).

He went to Kansas from Memphis, where he served as head coach from 1995-2000, compiling a 22-44 record. He coached the Tigers to the school's first-ever (and still only) win over Tennessee, 21-17, with the Volunteers ranked No. 6 at the time in 1996, a victory that was tabbed the "Upset of the Year" in college football by several news organizations (Memphis had been 0-15 against the Vols in its history). Prior to coaching at Memphis, he was the head coach at James Madison from 1991-94, during a time when the Dukes set or tied over 140 school records and helped them to a 10-3 record in 1994 and 29-19 record in four years.

He was also the offensive coordinator at Arizona, Alabama and Georgia Tech. He was in Tucson from 1988-90, the first season as the director of football operations and then the offensive coordinator the final two years. Prior to that, he was the offensive coordinator at Alabama in 1987 and Georgia Tech in 1986, where he was on staff from 1980-86, first as the quarterbacks coach and passing game coordinator in 1980-81 and running backs coach and run game coordinator from 1982-84. He was also an assistant athletic director at Georgia Tech in 1985 before returning to the field the next season.

He started his coaching career at Penn State under legendary coach Joe Paterno as a graduate assistant in 1974-75 and then moved to North Carolina State, where he was the quarterbacks coach in 1976 before moving on to Hawai'i as the running backs coach in 1977-78. He coached the quarterbacks at Virginia in 1979 before going to Georgia Tech.

Scherer earned his bachelor's degree in Physical Education from William & Mary in 1974, where he lettered three times at quarterback under coach Lou Holtz from 1971-73.

He was born August 3, 1952 in Pittsburgh, Pa., and graduated from Toms River (N.J.) South High School, where he lettered in football. He is married to the former Michele Ragone, and the couple has three children, Scott, Melanie and Ryan (who played wide receiver at Penn State and is now a technical intern on the CU staff). His father, Rip Sr., was a long time high school football coach in Pittsburgh.

TOP PLAYERS COACHED (COLLEGE): Numerous; most notable: All-American TB Bobby Humphrey (1987, while offensive coordinator at Alabama).

RECORD: He has coached in 309 college football games as a full-time coach, 261 on the Division I-A/FBS level and 48 in Division I-AA. At nine previous FBS schools, he coached the most games, 66, at both Georgia Tech and Memphis. He has coached in five bowl games (all in different time zones: Hall of Fame, Copper, Aloha, Liberty, New Orleans), including one New Year's Day.

ERIC BIENIEMY

Offensive Coordinator/Running Backs

Eric Bieniemy is in his second year as offensive coordinator and running backs coach at Colorado, returning to the Buffalo program for the third time in his football career as he was the first staff hire by new head coach Jon Embree. His hiring was announced the same day as Embree's, on December 6, 2010.

Since coordinator roles came into vogue in the 1960s, he is the first Colorado alum to ever hold the title, either on offense or defense. In addition, he is just the second minority coach to serve in a coordinator capacity for CU, joining Karl Dorrell, who was the offensive coordinator under Rick Neuheisel from 1995-98.

In just his second game calling the plays, CU amassed 582 yards of offense, including tying the second-most passing yards in school history with 474. CU also had another 500-yard game later in the year, netting exactly that amount in a 48-29 win over Arizona, the Buffs' highest-scoring game of the season.

Bieniemy, 43, was an All-American tailback for the Buffs from 1987-90, finishing third in the voting for the 1990 Heisman Trophy, and then returned to begin his collegiate coaching career in 2001, the first of two seasons as running backs coach under then-head coach Gary Barnett. He is the first CU alum to ever serve in the capacity of a coordinator, offense or defense, and just the second minority to do so.

In Bieniemy's first six seasons as a player and coach in Boulder, the Buffaloes were the consensus 1990 national champions and won three conference titles (1989 and 1990 Big 8 and 2001 Big 12).

He returned to his alma mater after coaching the running backs for five seasons with the Minnesota Vikings (2006-10), overseeing one of the most productive rushing units in the National Football League in that span, helping the team win consecutive NFC North Division titles in 2008 and 2009. In those five seasons, the Vikings produced a 1,000-yard rusher each year while his stable of running backs broke the 100-yard mark 31 times in 80 regular season games.

In 2006, he coached Chester Taylor, who rushed for 1,216 yards; the next season, Taylor combined with four-time All-Pro selection Adrian Peterson to form one of the most dynamic duos in the NFL, as the two combined for 2,185 yards (1,341 by Peterson, who was All-Pro as a rookie). That season the Vikings led the NFL in rushing with 2,634 yards and set franchise marks of 5.3 yards per carry and 22 rushing touchdowns.

Peterson set a Vikings record with 1,760 yards in 2008, earning the Bert Bell Award as the Pro Football Player of the Year and was a runner-up in the Associated Press Offensive Player of the Year voting. Peterson then led the NFL with 18 rushing touchdowns in 2009, with 1,383 rushing yards and 1,819 yards from scrimmage. In 2010, Peterson galloped for 1,398 yards and 12 touchdowns, bringing his totals to 5,782 yards and 52 touchdowns under Bieniemy's tutelage.

Bieniemy made the move to the professional ranks after three seasons as the running backs coach at UCLA (2003-05), where he was also the Bruins' recruiting coordinator his last year there. Bieniemy and Embree both left CU for UCLA in January 2003 to join former CU assistant and new UCLA head coach Karl Dorrell's staff. Their best season came in 2005, when the Bruins posted a 10-2 record and finished No. 16 in the final AP poll.

While at UCLA, Bieniemy tutored Maurice Jones-Drew for three seasons, who selected the Bruins over CU after a long and hard recruiting battle. Jones-Drew earned Freshman All-America honors in 2003, rushed for 1,007 yards in 2004 (just the 10th UCLA player to rush for 1,000 yards in a season), and was a consensus All-America selection as a kick returner in 2005, when he averaged 28.5 yards per punt return, a school record and one of the top figures ever recorded nationally.

Bieniemy returned to Colorado in 2000 after his nine-year NFL career and got his first taste of coaching as an assistant at Thomas Jefferson High in Denver that fall while he began work to complete his degree at CU in sociology. He was hired by Barnett as CU's running backs coach on January 22, 2001, contingent on his graduating later that spring, which he achieved in May of 2001. Upon his return, he shined in the classroom, compiling a 3.5 grade point average in his remaining 11 courses he needed to graduate.

In 2001, his first season, CU ranked eighth in the nation in rushing, averaging 228.5 yards per game while CU's tailbacks and fullbacks rushed for 2,620 yards, the most yards out of all the running back positions in the country. Both Chris Brown (946 yards 16 touchdowns) and Bobby Purify (916, 5) flirted with 1,000-yard seasons while Cortlen Johnson added another 567 yards and four scores. Brown capped the regular season with 198 yards and a CU record six touchdowns in CU's 62-36 win over BCS No. 1 Nebraska, and followed it up with 182 yards and three scores in the 39-37 win over Texas in the Big 12 title game.

In 2002, the Buffs ranked sixth in the nation in rushing, and were first again with yards out of the running back positions. Brown was in the Heisman chase most of the year, finishing with 1,744 yards and 18 touchdowns before an ankle injury sidelined him for the final two regular season games, but still earned first-team All-America honors. He coached Brian Calhoun to a pair of 100-yard rushing games in Brown's place. Purify (3,016) and Brown (2,690) rank third and sixth, respectively, on CU's career rushing chart.

Bieniemy's footprints are still all over the CU record book, as he remains the school's all-time leader in rushing yards (3,940), all-purpose yards (4,351) and touchdowns (42), and is still second in scoring (254 points). He was the nation's second leading rusher in 1990 with 1,628 yards and 17 touchdowns, when he finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting behind BYU's Ty Detmer (the winner) and Notre Dame's Raghib Ismail. One of his most memorable games was at Nebraska his senior year, when he overcame five fumbles in the first three quarters to score four fourth quarter touchdowns in leading the Buffs to a 27-12 victory that put CU in the driver's seat for a second straight Big 8 title as well as on the road to the school's first national championship in football.

In 1990, he earned unanimous All-America honors along with guard Joe Garten and linebacker Alfred Williams, the first three players to be named as unanimous selections in CU history. He was a two-time first-team All-Big Eight performer, in 1988 and 1990, and earned the conference's offensive player of the year honor as a senior. As a junior, he was named to CU's prestigious 25-member "All-Century Football Team," the only active player at the time to be selected to the group honoring the first 100 years of Buffalo football.

He was a second-round draft pick of the San Diego Chargers in the 1991 NFL Draft (the 39th player selected overall). He enjoyed a nine-year pro career with three teams: San Diego (1991-94), Cincinnati (1995-98) and Philadelphia (1999). In 142 career games, he rushed for 1,589 yards and 11 touchdowns while catching 146 passes for 1,223 yards. He also returned kickoffs, including one for a touchdown against the New York Giants (at Giants Stadium) when he was with the Bengals. His final year with the Chargers, he played in Super Bowl XXIX as a member of San Diego's AFC champion team.

Bieniemy was born August 15, 1969 in New Orleans. He lettered in football and track at Bishop Amat High School in La Puente, Calif., earning second-team All-America honors in football as a senior when he rushed for 2,002 yards and 30 touchdowns. He is married to the former Mia Maxie and the couple has two sons, Eric III (16) and Elijah (12).

TOP PLAYERS COACHED—All-Americans (3): Chris Brown, Brian Calhoun, Maurice Jones-Drew. All-Big 12/Pac-10 (9): Brown, Calhoun, Brandon Drumm, Cortlen Johnson, Jones-Drew, Chris Markey, Michael Pitre, Bobby Purify, Lawrence Vickers. NFL Players/Draft Picks (5): Brown, Calhoun, Jones-Drew, Drumm, Vickers. NFL All-Pro Performers (3): Jones-Drew, Peterson, Tony Richardson, Vickers (alternate).

RECORD—He has coached in 77 Division I-A games as a full-time coach, owning a record of 44-33 (22-18 at Colorado and 22-15 at UCLA); he has coached in five bowl games (one New Year's Day) and two conference championship games, both at Colorado. Professionally, he coached in 83 National Football League games, including three playoff games, with the Vikings, owning a 43-40 record. The Vikings made two playoff appearances in 2008 (10-6) and 2009 (12-4) winning the NFC North Division both years.

GREG BROWN

Defensive Coordinator / Secondary

Greg Brown is in his second year as defensive coordinator, and in his third stint at the University of Colorado under as many head coaches, as Jon Embree brought him back as a member of his inaugural coaching staff on December 17, 2010. He had barely been gone from Boulder for a year before the call came for him to return.

He spent the 2010 season as the co-defensive coordinator at the University of Arizona, helping return the Wildcats to the nation's Top 25 for the first time in over a decade. At CU, he had most recently served as secondary coach for four seasons (2006-09), the last three as defensive passing game coordinator, after returning in 2006 to the state of Colorado for the fourth time in his professional career.

His first year as coordinator was a frustrating one, as due to injuries, at times he had a secondary consisting of converted receivers and walk-ons. While CU allowed 439.3 yards per game, it could have been a lot worse, and the Buffs did close with one of their better defensive efforts of the year, allowing just 274 yards in upending Utah, 17-14.

Brown, 54, had resurfaced at CU in January 2006, named to the staff of new Colorado head coach Dan Hawkins following the completion of the 2005 National Football League season. He wrapped up his fourth and final year as a defensive assistant with the NFL's New Orleans Saints under coach Jim Haslett. In that 2005 season, the Saints' pass defense ranked third in the entire NFL, allowing a paltry 178 yards per game.

A 15-year NFL coaching veteran, developing top notch defensive backs became his specialty as he was often sought after for new coaching staffs around the league, working with six different teams in his professional career.

In his four seasons during his second stint at Colorado, he helped tutor Terrence Wheatley, coaching him to first-team All-Big 12 honors and a second round NFL draft pick by the New England Patriots. He also tutored a pair of young cornerbacks in Jimmy Smith and Jalil Brown, the former a two-time All-Big 12 performer, as well as their coach for the 2010 season, Ashley Ambrose, who Brown recommended to Hawkins as a graduate assistant; he would replace Brown as secondary coach after his move to Arizona.

He coached the secondary for three years (1991-93) at Colorado under coach Bill McCartney, tutoring a pair of Jim Thorpe Award winners during his first days at CU: cornerbacks Deon Figures (the 1992 winner) and Chris Hudson (the '94 winner). Colorado led the nation in pass completion defense and the Big Eight in pass defense in 1992; he also coached the kickoff coverage unit on special teams for the Buffs. He joined the CU staff days after the Buffs won their first national championship (January 7, 1991), and returned to the NFL in 1994, joining the Atlanta staff as defensive backs coach; the Falcons finished second that season in the league with 23 interceptions.

He spent the 1995-96 seasons as the secondary coach for San Diego, with the Chargers finishing in the top five both years in fewest yards allowed per completion. He also coached Rodney Harrison, who eventually would become one of the league's top safeties. He moved on to the Tennessee Oilers, coaching the secondary in both 1997 and 1998; he again coached three of the top defensive backs in the game, cornerback Samari Rolle and safeties Blaine Bishop and All-Pro Marcus Robertson.

In 1999, he served as the defensive backs coach for the San Francisco 49ers; a twist with this was that had he not received an NFL offer, he was set to return to Colorado as a member of Gary Barnett's staff when he replaced Rick Neuheisel in January of that year. He rejoined the Atlanta Falcons as secondary coach for the 2000 and 2001 seasons before moving on to New Orleans, where he was a defensive assistant for quality control in 2002 before being promoted to defensive assistant/cornerbacks coach in 2003, a position he held for three seasons with the Saints.

He began his coaching career in 1981 as a graduate assistant at the University of Texas-El Paso, his alma mater, where he worked with the secondary. The following year, 1982, he came back to Colorado, working that fall as a defensive coach at Green Mountain High School in Lakewood.

He made his first move to the professional ranks the following spring, joining the staff of the Denver Gold of the United States Football League (USFL). He coached the secondary for the Gold for two seasons (1983, 1984) before moving on to the National Football League for the first time in the summer of 1984, joining the Tampa Bay Buccaneers staff. For the Bucs, he coached three different positions: defensive quality control (1984), offensive quality control (1985) and the U-backs/tight ends (1986).

Brown returned to the college game in 1987, coaching the defensive backs for two seasons at the University of Wyoming before doing the same at Purdue University for the 1989 and 1990 campaigns. He then returned home to Colorado for a second time in joining McCartney's staff in 1991.

He graduated from the UTEP in 1980 with a bachelor's degree in education (history/physical education). At UTEP, he lettered twice at cornerback under Bill Michael, and received the Coca-Cola Hold Helmet Award for his play against San Diego State in September 1979. He earned his A.A. degree from Glendale (Ariz.) Junior College in 1978.

He was born October 10, 1957 in Denver, and graduated from Arvada (Colo.) High School, where he lettered in both football and track. His father, Irv, is a long-time Denver radio personality and the former head baseball coach and one-time assistant football coach at the University of Colorado. He is married to the former Stacie Bible, and the couple has two daughters, Hannah (11) and Grace (9).

Professionally, he coached in 241 National Football League games, including one playoff game, with six different teams (Atlanta twice, New Orleans, San Diego, San Francisco, Tampa Bay, Tennessee), as well as in 36 United States Football League games with the Denver Gold.

J.D. BROOKHART Passing Game Coordinator / Tight Ends/ Special Teams

J.D. Brookhart is in his second year as the offensive passing game coordinator, tight ends coach and special teams coordinator at Colorado, having joined Jon Embree's original staff in the second wave of hires on December 14, 2010.

Overall, he is in his 17th season of coaching, his 15th on the collegiate level which includes six years as a head coach. He and Embree have a relationship that dates back to their high school days, despite attending rival colleges in the state.

In his first season at CU, helped Darragh O'Neill, a walk-on punter, develop into a scholarship-worthy player who posted the second best average by a freshman in the nation.

Brookhart, 47, has an extensive coaching resume which includes six years (2004-09) as head coach at Akron University. The Mid-America Conference Coach of the Year for 2004, he was 30-42 overall in those six seasons, highlighted by the school's first MAC championship in 2005, which also earned the Zips their first-ever postseason bowl invitation.

With Akron having only gained Division I-A (FBS) status in 1987, Brookhart led the Zips to many firsts in program history, including the team's first bowl trip in 2005 where they fell to Memphis in the Motor City Bowl. In 2006 and 2008, the Zips posted wins over a pair of BCS teams when they defeated North Carolina State and Syracuse, respectively. In that '08 season, Brookhart's squad was tied for the lead in the MAC East Division with Buffalo when the two squads battled into a four overtime before the Bulls pulled out a 43-40 victory.

At Akron, he oversaw staffs that assembled the best recruiting classes in the MAC as determined by various publications in the winters 2005, 2006 and 2007. He was known as an offensive innovator with offenses led by Charlie Frye and then Luke Gesty, who rank first and third on the Zips all-time passing list, with nearly every offensive record the Zips had fall during his tenure there. Domenik Hixon and Jabari Arthur, both of whom he helped make strategic moves from defense to wide receiver, rank first and third on the Zips career receptions chart as well.

Brookhart had one of his players drafted into the National Football League, all in the first four rounds, in his first four seasons as head coach with Frye, Hixon, Andy Alleman and Reggie Corner all being selected. That feat over four years was only matched by 23 other schools and the Zips were the only non-BCS automatic qualifier to do so.

He began his coaching career with the Denver Broncos as an assistant in 1995 under then first-year head coach Mike Shanahan. In that role, he coordinated the defensive scout team and breaking down the opponent offenses while also working with special teams, all the time studying the west coast offense.

After two seasons with the Broncos, Brookhart entered the collegiate ranks, joining Walt Harris' staff at the University of Pittsburgh as tight ends coach while assisting with special teams, serving in that capacity for the 1998 and 1999 seasons. He then took over the wide receivers in 1999, the position he would coach the next five seasons, including after he was named offensive coordinator the following year (2000). Among the players he coached were Antonio Bryant and Larry Fitzgerald, both Biletnikoff Award winners who went on to stardom in the NFL; Fitzgerald was also the runner-up to the 2003 Heisman Trophy.

By the time he left Pitt after the 2003 season for Akron, the Panthers had appeared in the postseason four straight years, and twice produced top 20 passing offenses under his tutelage (18th in 2000 and 14th in 2003) with his wide receiver units mainly responsible for the potent offense. He also coached three other NFL wide receivers in Latief Grim (Detroit Lions), Darcey Levy (Pittsburgh Steelers) and R.J. English (Atlanta Falcons) in his time with the Panthers.

Prior to getting into coaching, he had spent his first half dozen years after college as a salesman for The International at Castle Pines (PGA tournament) and Xerox in the Denver area before taking a job selling ultrasound equipment in Salt Lake City, eventually realizing he wanted to get into coaching.

He spent one year at BYU as a walk-on receiver before transferring to Colorado State, where started for three seasons and finished his career ranked sixth in both career receptions (111) and receiving yards (1,873), numbers that still has him the Rams' top 10. He graduated from CSU in 1988, earning his degree in Business (Finance); he was a first-team GTE Academic All-American as a senior in 1987.

Brookhart was born October 16, 1964 in Pueblo, Colo., and graduated from Englewood's Cherry Creek High School where he played high school football with Embree (and were coached by his father, Jack Brookhart). After college, he signed as a free agent with the Los Angeles Rams, where he was reunited in camp with Embree, who was drafted by the club the year before. Brookhart and his wife Jami have four sons, Joseph (13), Jamison (10), John (7) and Jake (4).

TOP PLAYERS COACHED: All-Americans (3): Jabari Arthur, Antonio Bryant (Biletnikoff Award Winner), Larry Fitzgerald (Biletnikoff Award Winner/Heisman Runner-Up). All-Big East/MAC Performers (27): Arthur, Brett Biggs, Deryn Bowser, Jalil Carter, Reggie Corner, Bryant, Fitzgerald, Charlie Frye, Luke Getsy, Kiki Gonzalez, Miguel Graham, Kevin Grant, Latief Grim, David Harvey, Domenik Hixon, Andre Jones, Chris Kemme, Dennis Kennedy, Greg Lee, John Mackey, Dashan Miller, Jay Rohr, Almondo Sewell, Brion Stokes, Bryan Wagner, Bryan Williams, Corey Woods. Big East Offensive Players of the Year (2): Bryant, Fitzgerald. NFL Players/Draft Picks (9): Andy Alleman, Bryant, Corner, Fitzgerald, Frye, Grim, Hixon, Darcey Levy, R.J. English.

RECORD: He has coached in 169 Division I-A games as a full-time coach, owning a record of 77-92, including 30-42 as the head coach at Akron and 44-40 as an assistant coach at Pittsburgh. He has coached in six bowl games, one as a head coach and five as an assistant.

BRIAN CABRAL

Defensive Run Game Coordinator / Linebackers

Brian Cabral is in his 24th season at the University of Colorado, his 23rd as a full time assistant coach, as he first joined the Buffalo staff as graduate assistant in 1989. When Jon Embree was hired as the program's head coach on December 6, 2010, one of the first things he did was to keep Cabral on staff, naming him defensive run game coordinator along with maintaining his coaching role with the linebackers.

In his tenure, Cabral has also held various other titles, including interim head coach, associate head coach and assistant head coach.

His 23 years as a full-time assistant rank as the most in CU history, not only for football but for all sports, as in 2008 he passed two legendary "Franks," Potts and Prentup, both of whom assisted Buff head football coaches for 18 seasons. Since he joined the staff, he has always coached the inside linebackers, and occasionally has had the outside 'backers under his direction as well as he does under Embree. From 1999 through 2005, he also coached the punt return unit on special teams, and served as the director of CU's summer football camps from 1995 through 2005 and for a brief time as recruiting coordinator.

Cabral, 56, has now worked under five head coaches during his tenure: Bill McCartney, Rick Neuheisel, Gary Barnett, Dan Hawkins and Embree. For all seven seasons under Barnett, Cabral also was the assistant head coach, which included a three-month period in 2004 as interim head coach when Barnett was on paid administrative leave. In that role, he continued to coach his position players but also took care of day-to-day operational details of the program.

Hawkins promoted him to associate head coach on February 7, 2008, citing his leadership in noting that "no one person has had more influence in the success of Colorado football than Brian Cabral." When Hawkins was relieved of his duties as head coach on November 8, 2010, Cabral was once again named interim head coach, this time having to finish out the season and pilot the Buffs in game situations. He led Colorado to a 2-1 record, with wins over Iowa State (34-14) and Kansas State (44-36) before a 45-17 loss at Nebraska ended CU's hopes for a bowl invitation as the Buffs finished the year with a 5-7 record.

You could also call him an ambassador for his native Hawai'i, as he has worked youth camps in the state as well as all-Polynesian camps in the states. He is a founding board member of the Polynesian Coaches Association, formed ahead of the 2007 season.

In the summer of 2002, he was one of 500 nationwide recipients of the AFLAC National Assistant Coach-of-the-Year Award. Coaches on all levels were honored, from youth to professional, and he was one of 10 selected regionally to receive the award. In 2008, CBSSportsline.com selected him to its "All-Coach" team at the linebacker position.

Cabral tutored the inside linebackers his first year in Boulder as a grad assistant, and assumed full-time duties in the same capacity in 1990 and has coached the position at CU to this day. He returned to Colorado, his alma mater, from Purdue, where he coached the inside linebackers for two seasons (1987-88).

Known as one of the top linebacker coaches in the nation, his students have included Matt Russell, the 1996 Butkus Award winner, all-Big Eight performers Greg Biekert, Chad Brown and Ted Johnson, all of whom went on to stardom in the National Football League, and all-Big 12 linebacker Jordon Dizon, a consensus All-American who was also the league defensive player of the year for 2007. He also recruited tailback Rashaan Salaam, the 1994 Heisman trophy winner, and Chris Naeole, a 1996 All-American guard.

His 2001 punt return team led the nation with a 17.4 average, and also boasted the nation's top individual return man in Roman Hollowell, who averaged 18.0 per return and scored two touchdowns. In 2002, Jeremy Bloom averaged 15.0 yards per return and was 13th in the nation as a freshman (ranking 21st as a sophomore in '03). Cabral prided himself on the team being composed largely of non-starters, drawing comparison to his roots when he was special teams captain of the Chicago Bears.

He is a 1978 CU graduate, as he earned a B.S. degree in therapeutic recreation. He lettered three seasons for the Buffs at linebacker from 1975 to 1977 under Coach Bill Mallory, as he was a captain and played a big role on CU's Big Eight champion team in 1976. He led CU with 13 tackles (12 solo) in the 1977 Orange Bowl against Ohio State. As a senior, he was honored as the Big Eight Conference's player of the week for a monster 25 tackles in a CU 27-21 win over Stanford and shared the team's Sure Tackler Award with Mark Haynes. That 25-tackle game included 13 solo stops and is still tied for the fourth most in a single game in CU history.

Cabral had 297 tackles in his CU career (120 solo, 177 assisted), a number that still has him tied for 16th on Colorado's all-time list. A unique fact is that he has coached 10 of the other 19 players in CU's all-time top 20, including eight players on the list ahead of him: Matt Russell, Greg Biekert, Ted Johnson, Chad Brown, Michael Jones, Jashon Sykes, Thaddaeus Washington and Jordon Dizon (seven rank in the top nine). His players through the years have registered over 6,000 tackles wearing the Black & Gold he once wore.

He was a nine-year NFL veteran, as Atlanta drafted him in the fourth round in 1978. He played two seasons with Atlanta, one with Green Bay and six with Chicago. As the captain of the Bears' special teams, he was a member of Chicago's Super Bowl XX champion team in 1985. He was selected as the Frito-Lay Unsung Hero in the Bears' win over New England, as he had two solo and two assisted tackles on special teams.

He was born June 23, 1956, in Fort Benning, Ga., but grew up in Kailua, Hawaii. He is married to the former Becky Lucas, and they have three grown children, son Kyle and daughters Maile and Mele. He is an active member in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He has authored a book ("Second String Champion"), and his hobbies include surfing, skateboarding and snowboarding.

All-Big Eight/12 Performers (7): Greg Biekert, Chad Brown, Dizon, Hollowell, Ted Johnson (Butkus Award runner-up), Michael Jones, Russell. Big 12 Defensive Players of the Year (1): Dizon. Big 12 Defensive Newcomers of the Year (1): Dizon. NFL Players/Draft Picks (10): Biekert, Brown, Dizon, Johnson, Ron Merckerson, Hannibal Navies, Russell, Jashon Sykes, Sean Tufts, Drew Wahlroos.

RECORD—He has coached in 292 Division I-A games as a full-time coach, owning a record of 153-113-4 at Colorado (164-114-4 including his graduate assistant year); Purdue was 7-14-1 when he was on the Boilermaker staff. He has coached in 14 bowl games (six New Year's Day).

BOBBY KENNEDY

Wide Receivers

Bobby Kennedy is in his second season as the wide receivers coach at Colorado, joining the staff of new coach Jon Embree on January 5, 2011. Overall, the Colorado native is in his 22nd season of coaching on the collegiate level.

Kennedy, 45, was born in Denver but raised in Boulder, thus this is a true homecoming for him. He came to CU from the University of Texas, where he spent seven seasons (2004-10) as wide receivers coach, the last six as the assistant recruiting coordinator. In his time at Texas, he coached in two BCS National Championship games, in the 2005 Rose Bowl thriller over USC when the Longhorns won the national championship, and in 2009 against Alabama.

In his first season at Colorado, he helped mold senior Toney Clemons into one of the nation's top receivers by the end of the year, with Clemons eventually behind selected by Pittsburgh in the 2012 NFL Draft.

His first season in Austin was immediately after the Longhorns had lost three wide receivers to the National Football League. He proceeded to build up a receiver corps that included three Biletnikoff Award candidates, including two semifinalists and one finalist. In 2008, Jordan Shipley and Quan Cosby both surpassed 85 receptions and 1,000 yards becoming the 11th duo in NCAA history to both go over 1,000 yards. Then in 2009, Shipley was a consensus All-American setting UT records for catches (116), receiving yards (1,485) and matched the school record for receiving touchdowns with 13.

His receivers amassed 142 catches in 2005, helping the Longhorns to the third-best single-season passing mark in school history. With the emergence of Colt McCoy at quarterback in 2006, the receivers upped those marks to 158 receptions for 2,180 yards and 25 touchdowns as McCoy broke the UT record for touchdown passes that season and then in 2007, the receivers caught 187 passes for 2,275 yards and 18 touchdowns before the emergence of Cosby and Shipley. At Texas, Shipley earned All-America honors in two seasons and he also coached five receivers to seven All-Big 12 honors in seven years.

Kennedy's other coaching stops include six major college programs and a pair of Pac-12 schools. He went to Texas from Washington, where he tutored Huskies wide receiver Reggie Williams to two All-America campaigns before he became the No. 9 overall pick in the 2004 NFL Draft. Williams set UW's single season mark for receptions (94) and receiving yards (1,454) in 2002 and then the next year was fourth in the NCAA in receptions (7.4 per game) and 16th in yardage (92.4). He finished his career as the Huskies all-time leading receiver with 238 receptions and 3,536 yards.

He joined the UW staff after one season at Arizona (2001), where he coached the running backs and helped Wildcat sophomore Clarence Farmer to a first-team All-Pac 10 honor leading the league in rushing (111.7 yards per game), a mark that was good for 21st nationally.

Prior to Arizona, he had a six-year tenure at Wake Forest, coaching the Demon Deacon running backs in 1999-2000 after four years (1995-98) as receivers coach. He mentored Desmond Clark, the ACC's leading receiver and Jammie Deese, who was second in the ACC in receiving in 1998. After moving to the running backs spot, he coached Morgan Kane, who would wind up the third leading rusher in school history and rushed for 1,161 yards and 10 touchdowns in 1999.

His first full time coaching job came at Wyoming, coaching the wide receivers in 1993-94. He coached two extremely talented receivers while in Laramie in Ryan Yarborough, who was second in the NCAA in receptions in 1993, and Marcus Harris, who led the nation in receiving yards in 1994. Both Harris and Yarborough earned All-America honors for the Cowboys.

Kennedy got his start in the college ranks in the Big 10 Conference with two graduate assistant positions, first for two years (1990-91) at Illinois and then in 1992 at Penn State under Joe Paterno. While at Illinois, he was on the Illini staff that dealt Colorado its only loss, 23-22, in CU's national championship season. At Penn State, he worked with the tight ends and helped coach two future All-Americans in Troy Drayton and Kyle Brady.

He graduated from the University of Northern Colorado with a degree in Political Science in 1989 after lettering at quarterback for four seasons from 1985-88. He began his coaching career at Boulder High School, his alma mater, where he graduated from in 1985 and lettered in football and track. He is married to the former LaShonda Lawrence.

TOP PLAYERS COACHED: All-Americans (4): Marcus Harris, Jordan Shipley, Reggie Williams, Ryan Yarborough. All-Big 12/Pac-10/ACC/MWC (9): Desmond Clark, Quan Cosby, Clarence Farmer, Marcus Harris, Morgan Kane, Billy Pittman, Shipley, Sweed, Yarborough. NFL-CU Draft Picks (1): Toney Clemons.

RECORD: He has coached in 230 Division I-A games as a full-time coach with a record of 131-99, (3-10 at Colorado, 75-15 at Texas, 13-12 at Washington, 5-6 at Arizona, 21-46 at Wake Forest and 14-10 at Wyoming). Including his time as a grad assistant at Illinois and Penn State, he has coached in 12 bowl games, including four BCS bowl games (two BCS title games at the Rose Bowl, one Rose and a Fiesta).

STEVE MARSHALL

Offensive Line

Steve Marshall is in the second season of his second coaching stint at Colorado, having joined new coach Jon Embree's staff as offensive line coach in his second wave of hires on December 14, 2010.

Overall, he is in his 33rd year of coaching in the collegiate and professional ranks. He returned to Colorado from California, where he was the offensive line coach for two seasons (2009-10). He coached three Bears to All-Pac 10 recognition, and in his second year, Cal dramatically reduced its number of sacks allowed, improving from ninth to fourth in the conference.

Marshall, 56, and Embree worked together on Gary Barnett's CU staff in 2000-01. Marshall coached the offensive line those two seasons when the Buffs had one of the most dominant rushing attacks in college football. CU won the 2001 Big 12 Conference title and earned a trip to the Fiesta Bowl. He also coached the offensive field goal/PAT and kickoff return units on special teams.

Over the course of those two seasons, Marshall helped groom five players who were drafted or played in the NFL, including five-time Pro Bowl selection Andre Gurode, a mainstay at center for the Dallas Cowboys. Gurode earned first-team All-America honors in 2001, and another one of his players, Wayne Lucier, did the same a year after he departed in 2002; Victor Rogers was a third-team All-American in 2001. Gurode (twice), Rogers, Lucier and Justin Bates were all first-team All-Big 12 performers, with Lucier and Rogers going on to have four-year careers in the NFL. A fifth player he tutored, Tom Ashworth, signed as a free agent in the NFL with New England and went on to play seven years for the Patriots (earning three Super Bowl rings) and Seattle.

Marshall has been a member of coaching staffs at 11 Division I schools and two NFL teams in his 32 years as an offensive line coach. He has coached in every BCS automatic qualifying conference except the Big Ten with CU now the third Pac-12 school he has coached at along with Cal and UCLA.

In-between his first stint at Colorado and resurfacing in the college ranks at Cal, Marshall coached in the NFL for six years, four with the Houston Texans (2002-05) and after one year out of coaching, returned to the pros for two seasons with the Cleveland Browns (2007-08). In Houston, he was on the Texans' inaugural coaching staff for the expansion franchise's first four years of its existence, first as the assistant offensive line coach for two seasons and then the offensive line coach the next two, the same position he would hold in Cleveland. In 2007, the Browns had the third-fewest sacks allowed in the NFL (only 19 in 16 games), while in 2008, Marshall's work helped pave the way for Jamal Lewis to have a 1,000 yard rushing season.

He came to Colorado the first time around from North Carolina, where he was both the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach for two seasons in 1998-99. The '98 Tar Heels made an appearance in the Las Vegas Bowl.

Marshall began his coaching career as offensive line coach at Plymouth State (N.H.) in 1979, and then moved on to Tennessee for two years (1980-81) as a part-time assistant coach, also working with the offensive line.

He spent the 1982 and 1983 seasons at Marshall University, coaching both the O-line and the kicking game, and accepted his first full time job on the Division I-A level at Louisville, his alma mater, coaching the line as well as the tight ends for the 1984 season. He was the offensive coordinator and line coach for head coach Frank Beamer at Murray State in 1985-86, and then went with Beamer as the line coach when he was named head coach at Virginia Tech in 1987.

He was promoted to offensive coordinator for the Hokies a year later and remained in Blacksburg through the 1992 season before returning to Tennessee coach the offensive line. His second stint in Knoxville was for three years (1993-95), the last also as the running game coordinator. He then spent the 1996 season as offensive line coach at UCLA and 1997 at Texas A&M, where he was both coordinator and line coach. The Aggies won the Big 12 South Division that season, but lost to Nebraska in the league's second annual title game.

Marshall joined the North Carolina staff under Carl Torbush in 1998 as offensive coordinator and line coach. The Tar Heels were beset by injuries, but still increased their scoring against six common opponents from the year before.

He is a 1979 graduate of the University of Louisville, earning a B.S. degree in both history and physical education. He lettered twice at Louisville in football, at both tight end and guard for coach Vince Gibson, and as a junior, played in the Independence Bowl.

He was born June 20, 1956, in Hartford, Conn., and graduated from Rockville High School (Vernon, Conn.), where he lettered in football. He is married to the former Karin Ross, and his hobbies include racquetball and traveling.

TOP PLAYERS COACHED: All-Americans (5): Kris Farris (won Outland Trophy), Andre Gurode, Ryan Miller, Jim Pyne, Victor Rogers. All-Big 12/Pac-10/South Independent/SEC (15): Bruce Armstrong, Justin Bates, Farris, Chris Guarnero, Gurode, Jason Layman, Wayne Lucier, Steve McKinney, Bubba Miller, Chad Overhauser, Rogers, Chris Rutman, Mitchell Schwartz, Jeff Smith, Mike Tepper. NFL Players/Draft Picks (18): Armstrong, Tom Ashworth, Bates, Eugene Chung, Farris, Brian Jones, Layman, Lucier, McKinney, B. Miller, R. Miller, Alan Mogridge, Overhauser, Pyne, Rogers, Smith, Tepper, Rex Tucker. NFL All-Pro/Pro Bowl (1): Gurode.

RECORD: He has coached in 385 games in his career, 221 at the Division I level as a full-time assistant coach (37 at Colorado), 244 counting his time at Tennessee as a part time coach, 45 in Division II or the FCS level and 96 in the NFL. He has coached in one collegiate playoff game and eight bowl games at the Division I level, including four traditional New Year's Day games.

KANAVIS MCGHEE

Defensive Line / Special Teams Assistant

Kanavis McGhee is in his second season as defensive line coach and assistant special teams coach at Colorado, as he was hired in the second wave of assistants on December 14, 2010 on new CU head coach Jon Embree's first staff.

This is McGhee's first major college coaching position. He did not coach in 2010, his first season not on the sidelines in 13 years, but instead taught college courses in business at Houston's Challenge Early College High School.

McGhee, 43, brought to the Buffaloes great recruiting and life-long connections to the talent-rich Houston area.

While McGhee's college coaching resume prior to returning to his alma mater was limited to one year at Gannon (Pa.) University, where he coached the linebackers in 2008, he spent two seasons in NFL Europe as a defensive assistant with the Amsterdam Admirals (2006-07). He was participating in a program that was a collaboration between the NFL Players Association and NFL Player Development. That followed 10 seasons coaching in the Houston-area high school ranks.

He began his coaching career at Wheatley High School, his prep alma mater, where he spent three years (1997-99) coaching the defensive line, including the last two as defensive coordinator. He then moved on to Madison High, where he coached for five seasons (2000-04), the first as defensive line coach and the last four as defensive coordinator. In 2005, he was the head coach at Ross Shaw Sterling High, and after being away for three years in Europe and at Gannon, he returned to the area in 2009 and was an assistant at Bellaire High.

He lettered four seasons at outside linebacker for the Buffaloes (1987-90), becoming just the fourth player at the time to earn first-team all-league honors three different years (only seven have now accomplished it). He also was an All-American three different seasons, highlighted by first-team recognition as a junior; he garnered second-team honors as a sophomore in 1988 and honorable mention accolades as a senior in 1990, when he helped lead Colorado to the consensus national championship. The Buffs also won two Big 8 Conference championships in his tenure (1989, 1990).

As a senior, he was a candidate for the Butkus and Lombardi awards after being one of four finalists for the Lombardi as a junior in 1989. In 41 career games, he was in on 297 tackles (179 solo) and recorded 15 quarterback sacks, sixth on CU's all-time lists for both at the time, along with 38 tackles for loss, the third-most at that juncture in school history. A broken right ankle kept him out of the better part of the last two games of his sophomore season, when he had a career-best 102 tackles, 11 for losses. He had 94 tackles, 14 for losses, with 17 quarterback pressures as a senior.

He played five seasons in the National Football League with three teams, the first three with the New York Giants, who drafted him in the second round of the 1991 NFL Draft (55th player selected overall). After sustaining an injury in his third season with the Giants, he went on to play with Cincinnati (1994) and Houston (1995) before retiring from the league after playing in 50 games over those five seasons.

Following his time in pro football, he returned to Boulder, earning his degree in Business Administration from CU in 1995.

He was born October 4, 1968 in Houston. He graduated from Houston's Wheatley High School in 1987, where he earned first-team all-district honors his senior year when he had 102 tackles, 16 quarterback sacks and six fumble recoveries. He had 88 tackles and 12 sacks as a junior and also played tight end, catching 23 passes for over 200 yards and eight touchdowns. He also played basketball and participated in track and field. He is single.

RECORD: He has coached in 13 Division I-A (FBS) games in his career, owing a 3-10 record (all at Colorado).

MIKE TUIASOSOPO

Defensive Line

Mike Tuiaosopo is in his second year as defensive line coach at Colorado, as he joined Jon Embree's new staff in his second wave of hires on December 14, 2010. He is in his 23rd year of coaching, including his 17th at the Division I level as a full-time assistant coach.

Tuiaosopo, 48, came to Colorado after having spent seven seasons (2004-10) as the defensive line coach at the University of Arizona. An original member of Mike Stoops' staff for the Wildcats, he coached the defensive tackles his four seasons in Tucson and the entire line for the last three.

At Arizona, the Wildcats ranked among the top schools in total defense the last three seasons (24th in 2008, 25th in 2009, 33rd in 2010), leading the Pac-10 in quarterback sacks all three years, largely due to the 'Cats defensive front.

Ricky Elmore (All-Pac 10 in 2010), Brooks Reed and De'Aundre Reed, all defensive ends, were selected in the 2011 NFL Draft (Brooks Reed was a second round pick, the 42nd overall), and he also coached two others that earned all-conference honors who were drafted into the league, Earl Mitchell (third rounder in 2010) and Lionel Dotson (2008). In 2010, he coached Justin Washington to several Freshman All-America honors.

He lettered four years as a defensive tackle at Pacific Lutheran University (1985-88), starting his sophomore through senior years. He was a two-time first-team All-Columbia Conference performer, and junior year, Pacific Lutheran won the NAIA Division II National Championship. PLU was 36-7-2 during his career.

After he graduated from Pacific Lutheran with a degree in Physical Education and Health in 1989, he soon entered coaching, working as the defensive line and special teams coach at Montclair Academy (Van Nuys, Calif.) in 1990, before joining the University of Pacific staff as a graduate assistant for the 1991 season. While coaching at Pacific as well as at nearby St. Mary's High School in Stockton in 1992, he earned his master's degree from Pacific in Education Administration Credentials in 1991.

He would serve as head coach the next three seasons (1993-95) at Berkeley High School. In his time there, he coached two future Buffs, Hannibal Navies and Rashidi Barnes, both of whom would also go on to play professional football. Embree was the primary recruiter of both Navies and Barnes to Colorado and thus the relationship between the two was formed.

In 1997, he entered the Division I-A coaching ranks for the first time, joining the Utah State staff where he coached the defensive line for the next four seasons (1996-99). With the Aggies, he coached three all-Big West defensive linemen, including the 1997 Big West Defensive Player of the Year Ben Crosland. Utah State played Colorado in Boulder in 1998 and Tuiaosopo's defensive line helped keep the Aggies in the game until the fourth quarter, registering eight sacks of CU quarterback Mike Moschetti (for 83 yards in losses) before CU eventually pulled away for a 25-6 win.

He then moved on and coached the D-line at the University of Nevada the next three years (2000-02). At Nevada, he coached WAC sack leader Jorge Cordova, who was a third round draft pick of the Jacksonville Jaguars in 2004.

From Nevada, he joined Urban Meyer's staff at the University of Utah where he coached the defensive tackles for the 2003 season. He was instrumental there in the recruitment and development of Sione Pouha, a third round selection by the New York Jets in the 2005 NFL Draft, and Jonathan Fanene, who was drafted that same year (7th round) by the Cincinnati Bengals. After one year in Salt Lake City, he headed south and joined Stoops' staff at Arizona.

He also served two of the prestigious NFL Minority Intern Fellowships, with the San Francisco 49ers (1997) and the Green Bay Packers (2002).

Tuiaosopo comes from a football rich family tradition. His uncle, Bob Apisa, was a two-time All-America fullback at Michigan State and was drafted by Green Bay in 1968. A cousin, Manu Tuiaosopo, was a two-time All-America defensive lineman at UCLA and was the No. 18 overall pick by Seattle in the 1979 NFL Draft and started for the Super Bowl XIX champion (1984 season) San Francisco 49ers.

A younger brother, Navy, lettered at Utah State from 1983-86 and played for both the Los Angeles Rams and St. Louis Cardinals, with a younger sibling, Titus, playing for Southern California from 1988-91. Two more cousins played collegiately and in the NFL, John Tautolo (offensive line, UCLA/N.Y. Giants, New England) and Terry Tautolo (linebacker, UCLA/Philadelphia, Detroit, San Francisco, Miami). His nephew, Marques Tuiaosopo, was a quarterback at Washington and was drafted by the Oakland Raiders and also played for the New York Jets. And a another nephew, Conan Amituanai, was an offensive lineman at Arizona.

He was born on September 10, 1963, in American Samoa and grew up in Carson, Calif. He graduated from Phineas Banning High School in Wilmington, Calif., where he lettered in football. He is married to the former Kathy Bowles, and the couple has four children, daughters Lanea (15) and Maya (14), and sons Titus (10) and Luke (3).

NFL Players/Draft Picks (8): Cordova, Dotson, Elmore, Mitchell, Hannibal Navies, Brooks Reed, De'Aundre Reed, Marcus Williams.

RECORD: He has coached in 189 Division I-A games as a full-time coach, owning a record of 83-106, including 3-10 at Colorado, 41-43 at Arizona in seven years, 10-2 at Utah in one season, 10-25 in three years at Nevada and 19-26 in four years at Utah State. Blacken, 46, came to Colorado from the National Football League's Washington Redskins, where he was the assistant strength and conditioning coach for the 2010 season, his second stint with the club; it's where he met Jon Embree, who lured him to Colorado after he was named CU's head football coach. Embree was in his first year as an assistant with the Redskins as well.

He worked 15 years as a strength coach in the NFL, serving as the head strength and conditioning coach for the Detroit Lions for nine years (2001-09) which followed his first run as an assistant with the Redskins that covered five seasons (1996-2000).

Prior to joining the NFL ranks, he served as an assistant strength coach for the University of Virginia in 1995, which followed three years as the head strength coach at George Mason University from 1992-94. At both Virginia and George Mason, he was responsible for all of each university's varsity sports. He began his coaching career at the University of South Carolina as an assistant strength and conditioning coach from 1990-91.

He graduated from Virginia Tech in 1989 with a degree in Physical Education, while also earning a minor in Fine Arts. His 37 career third down stops were the fourth most since the statistic began being tracked in the 1980s, and is the most ever by a Colorado defensive back.

During his senior season (2009), he was named second-team All-Big 12 by league coaches and was an honorable mention by the Associated Press. He was also selected by his teammates in 2009 as the team's Most Valuable Player. McCartney got his first taste of coaching at his alma mater as a graduate assistant. He had graduated from LSU in August 2011 with a bachelor's degree in Sports Administration and joined the staff for the 2011 season. His duties included assisting with the quarterbacks, special teams and the overall offense in general, as the Tigers spent much of the year ranked No. 1 before losing to SEC rival Alabama in the BCS national championship game.

He was born on April 24, 1989, graduating from Boulder's Fairview High School in 2007 where his uncle, Tom McCartney, was his football coach. His hobbies include playing basketball and golf. Throughout his playing career at Fairview and at LSU, McCartney wore No. 8, the same number as his father wore at Colorado. His younger brother, Derek, will join the Colorado football team in January 2013.

A team captain, he won the Dave Jones Award as his teammates selected him as the defensive most valuable player for the season.

As a junior, he was a second-team All-Big 12 performer (Associated Press), and was first-team All-Colorado; in racking up 118 tackles (80 solo), he became just the third former walk-on in school history to lead the team in tackles. He was placed on scholarship during the 2007 season, when he initiated a streak of what would become 33 straight games in the starting lineup. He joined the Buffs as an invited walk-on in August 2005.

ANTHONY PERKINS

Technical Intern

Anthony Perkins is in his first season as a technical intern, joining the CU football staff prior on August 1, 2012 (Note: at press time, Perkins was signed to a free agent contract by the Denver Broncos and delayed working with his alma mater until his professional fate is known.)

Plans call for Perkins to assist with the receivers, as well as having general overall duties with the entire offense.

Perkins, 23, is no stranger to the CU program, having just finished his career in the 2011 season, where he was one of four team captains during his senior campaign. He saw action as a defensive back in 37 career games, making 27 starts.

He finished his career with 236 tackles (140 solo), which ranked 41st on CU's all-time tackle list. He saw action in nine games (all starts) as a senior, but suffered a high ankle sprain after playing just nine snaps against Oregon, and would miss the next four games. He worked hard to get back and returned for the win at Utah in the season finale, going out on a high note with a career-high 17 tackles (11 of which were solo).

The coaches presented him with the Eddie Crowder Leadership

ALBERT YOUNG

Technical Intern

Albert Young is in his first season as a technical intern, joining the CU football staff on August 1, 2012. He will assist the offense and special teams and will help offensive coordinator Eric Bieniemy with the running backs.

Young, 27, comes to Colorado after four seasons as a running back in the NFL. He signed with Minnesota Vikings' practice squad in 2008 before being signed to the active roster for the 2009 and 2010 seasons; as a member of the Vikings his position coach was Bieniemy. He also signed practice squad contracts with Jacksonville (2011) and Pittsburgh (2012).

Young earned a bachelor's degree in Health and Sport Studies from the University of Iowa in 2008, following a football career as Hawkeye from 2003-07. He became the third player in Iowa history rush for over 3,000 yards, as he had 660 rushes for 3,173 yards and 23 touchdowns; he still stands third on the school's all-time rushing list. He had 12 games of 100 or more yards rushing, including in seven straight contests in 2005, which was an Iowa record. He rushed for 1,134 yards during his sophomore season in 2005, becoming just the fourth Iowa sophomore and the 11th Iowa player ever to run for over 1,000 yards in a season. He also had 79 receptions for 705 yards and two touchdowns.

In 2007, he was earned honorable mention All-Big Ten honors by league coaches and the Associated Press, and was named Iowa's Most Valuable Player on offense. In 2005, he was one of 10 semifinalists for the Doak Walker Award, was named second-team All-Big Ten by the AP and was an All-Big Ten honorable mention pick by league coaches.

He was born on February 25, 1985 and was raised in Moorestown Township, N.J., where he graduated from Moorestown High School. A four-year letterman in football, he was named New Jersey's Offensive Player of the Year as a senior, when he was a first-team All-State performer. A three-time All-Conference first-team selection, he was the South Jersey Offensive Player of the Year as a sophomore and as a senior, and was named second-team All-State his sophomore season. He finished his high school career as South Jersey's all-time leading rusher with 5,411 yards and was the first running back in the region to rush for over 2,000 yards in two seasons. He was named the South Jersey Offensive Player of the Decade by The Philadelphia Inquirer in 2009.

JASHON SYKES Director of Football Operations

Jashon Sykes is in his seventh year as a member of the football staff, his second as the director of football operations, as he was promoted to the position in January 2011. He is continuing his rise in administration, as he spent the previous two years (2009-10) as the assistant operations director and coordinator of football relations after working two years as the assistant director of on-campus recruiting. He returned to his alma mater in August 2006 as an administrative assistant, working in recruiting and operations, after retiring from professional football.

Sykes is responsible for overseeing all of the day-to-day operations duties for the Colorado football program, including scheduling, developing and monitoring the football program's budget, team events and activities and serving as the director of the one-day "Elite" high school summer camp.

Sykes, 32, spent the four years prior to his return in the National Football League, signing on as a free agent with the Denver Broncos after his CU career and was on the team's practice squad for the 2002 season. He was a member of the team the next two years, starting 11 games at linebacker in 2003 (including a playoff game at Indianapolis), as he had 65 tackles, two fumble recoveries and a blocked punt for the NFL's fourth-ranked defense. He ended his career with the Washington Redskins.

He interned with the Broncos during the 2007 and '08 training camps. In 2007, he worked with the linebackers as an intern; a year later, he worked with the operations department, helping out primarily with the defensive line.

At Colorado, he finished his career 10th all-time in tackles (330), tied for 16th in quarterback sacks (12½), tied for 12th in tackles for loss (33) and tied for fifth in forced fumbles (7). Interestingly, he has had 14 tackles each time out in three games versus Nebraska for 42 of those 330. As a senior in 2001, he started the first four games of the season, but a herniated disc and subsequent operation ended his season. He decided to forego pursuing a medical redshirt and declared for the NFL draft. He had been on the official watch lists for both the Butkus and Lombardi awards.

As a junior (2000), he earned honorable mention all-Big12 honors as he had 111 tackles (78 solo), 13 third down stops, three-and-a-half sacks, four hurries, two pass deflections and interception. He had at least seven tackles in all 11 games, and hit double figures eight times.

His sophomore season, he blossomed into one of the nation's top linebackers at CU's new defensive position, "hawk" linebacker, one of two inside positions in the CU scheme. He earned defensive MVP honors in the Insight.com Bowl, when he had nine tackled and returned an interception for a touchdown against Boston College. He earned second-team All-America honors from the Football News, with the Associated Press selecting him first-team All-Big 12. He was selected by his teammates as the Zack Jordan Award winner as CU's most valuable player, and he also won the Dave Jones Award for the most outstanding defensive player as presented by the coaching staff. He led the team and was second in the Big 12 in tackles with 134 (including 82 solo), just the fifth sophomore to lead the Buffs since tackles started being tracked in 1965. He forced seven fumbles, which not only set a school record, but led the nation as well.

He developed rapidly his true freshman year, as he played in all 12 games and started four of the last five, including the Aloha Bowl. He finished seventh on the team in tackles with 52 (31 solo), with 28 in the last four regular season games including 14 at Nebraska; the 52 tackles were the most ever by a true freshman at the time. He was a co-winner of the Lee Willard Award, presented by the coaching staff to the most outstanding freshmen, and The Sporting News selected him as a first-team freshman All-American.

As a high school senior at Serra (Los Angeles), he earned a host of All-America honors, and received the maximum 10 votes in being names to the prestigious Long Beach Press-Telegram's Best-In-West team. He also lettered three times in tracks (sprints) and once in basketball.

Born September 25, 1979 in Los Angeles, Calif., he graduated with a degree in Ethnic Studies from CU in 2002, and is taking graduate courses in Business Administration. He is married to his high school sweetheart, the former Qiana Turner, and the couple has two daughters, Joslyn (7) and Autumn (4), and one son Semion (2). As a player, he played with a small bible on the left side of his football pants. It was given to him from his grandmother on her deathbed before he watched her take her last breath, and he would think about her and that situation before every game.

DARIAN HAGAN Director of Player Personnel

Darian Hagan, one of the names synonymous with Colorado's rise to glory in the late 1980s, is in his eighth season overall on the CU staff, shifting from coach into the role of director of player personnel in January 2011.

Hagan, 42, spent the previous five seasons (2006-10) as running backs coach, as he was one of two assistant coaches retained by new CU head coach Dan Hawkins when he was named to the position in December 2005.

He was named an offensive assistant coach on Gary Barnett's staff on February 9, 2005, and worked with the skill position players on offense in the spring and fall in his first year as a full-time collegiate assistant.

A popular coach with his players yet with a stern touch, he was coaching true freshman Rodney Stewart on the way to a 1,000-yard season in 2008 until a season-ending injury sidelined him in the ninth game of the 2008 season. Stewart's 622 yards were the third most by a CU freshman in school history. In 2010, Stewart hit the plateau and then some, rushing for 1,318 yards and in position to threaten many of the school's all-time rushing marks. In 2007, Hagan tutored Hugh Charles to a 1,000-yard year including the Independence Bowl; he has since gone on to play successfully in Canada.

Hagan made a difference in his first season (2006) mentoring the running backs, as CU had three 500-plus yard rushers for just the 10th time in its history. He also played a role in the development of quarterback Bernard Jackson, as Hagan's own skills of blending the run and the pass rubbed off on the Buff junior in his first year as a starter.

He had a brief taste of coaching in the spring of 2004 as he subbed as secondary coach when the staff was minus a full-time assistant. Otherwise, he was the defensive technical intern for the '04 season, assuming that role in February of that year. It marked the third time he has made the University of Colorado his destination of choice.

He starred at quarterback for the Buffaloes between 1988 and 1991, leading the school to its first national championship, and following his professional playing career, returned in the mid-1990s to work as CU's Alumni C Club Director.

Hagan left CU in the spring of 1998 to work as an area sales manager for the Transit Marketing Group. Three months into his new position, he was promoted to Southeast Regional Sales Manager. He remained in that position for over five years until deciding to pursue his dream as a coach and return to his alma mater for the third time. By working as a technical intern, he learned the intricacies of the profession in a hands-on role in his desire to coach; when a temporary vacancy opened on the staff, he was "activated" as a coach to work with the defensive backs and it added to his penchant for the profession.

Arguably the best all-around athlete in the history of the CU football program, he was an integral part of CU's run at two national championships in 1989 and 1990. The Buffs were 11-1 in 1989, losing to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, but went 11-1-1 in 1990 with a win over the Irish in an Orange Bowl rematch to give CU its first national title in football. CU was 28-5-2 with him as the starting quarterback for three seasons, including a 20-0-1 mark in Big Eight Conference games as he led the Buffs to three straight league titles in 1989, 1990 and 1991. His 28-5-2 record as a starter (82.9 winning percentage) is the 37th best in college football history.

He is also an avid concert goer, having attended some 330-plus in his lifetime (led by 31 Jimmy Buffett performances). His younger brother (Mark) was nominated for two Grammy Awards with David Bowie in 1998 (he was a guitarist in Bowie's band for five years), and also engineered the Song-of-the-Year for 1997 (Shawn Colvin's "Sunny Came Home"). seeing all areas of the Fresno State Sports Medicine Program. He has similar duties at Colorado, as he coordinates the needs and staffing for CU's 16 intercollegiate varsity programs.

With CU's move to the Pac-12 Conference, he was named the Education Director for the Pac-12 annual sports medicine meeting, a role he performed in the 2011-12 academic year and will continue to serve in for at least the 2012-13 year as well.

Ironically, his first football game as Fresno State's head trainer was in Boulder, as the Bulldogs played the Buffaloes in the Jim Thorpe Association Classic on August 26, 2001; FSU won the game, 24-22, and went on to climb into the nation's top 10, until getting knocked off by Boise State, then coached by CU's future coach, Dan Hawkins.

Rueda previously had worked two years (1995-97) as a graduate assistant trainer for the Bulldogs while earning his master's degree in exercise physiology.

He had rejoined the Fresno State staff from Towson University, where he served as an assistant athletic trainer from 1998 to 2001; he was the head trainer for football. Prior to Towson, Rueda spent time with the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League in 1997-98 and with Holy Cross in 1994-95. He also has extensive teaching experience, instructing classes ranging from sports medicine administration to basic athletic training courses over the past 10 years.

He received his undergraduate degree in athletic training from Boston University in 1994, and his master's degree from Fresno State in 1997. Rueda is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, the College Athletic Trainers Society and has American Red Cross CPR and First Aid certification.

newly created role on Sept. 1, 2011, moving over from the CU Foundation, where he had been associate athletic director for development for five years after being named to that position in June 2006.

Senter, 50, oversees most aspects of the football program, with particular emphasis on human resource needs and coaches contracts, and continues to be the liaison to CU's development unit for the athletic department.

In his previous role, his responsibilities included all fundraising efforts, including the annual fund (student-athlete scholarships), major gifts and coordinating all donation-related activities and staff. He brought to CU an extensive background in college administration, coaching and fund development.

He also was very active with the National Association of Athletic Development Directors (NAADD), and served as the organization's second vice president and secretary for the 2011-12 academic year. In 2007, he was first named to the executive committee of NAADD, which is under the umbrella of NACDA (National Association of Collegiate Athletic Directors).

Senter came to CU from San Diego State University where he had worked in a similar capacity for 18 months. Working closely with the University foundation on development projects on campus, he was responsible for overseeing the athletic department's development, including major gifts.

As the athletic director at Idaho State from 2003-04, Senter helped increase football attendance by 19 percent and saw the school's advertising, marketing and corporate sales revenue jump $600,000 during his stay in Pocatello. Senter was part of the senior staff at the University of Idaho, serving as chief fundraiser and associate athletic director for three years.

At Idaho, Senter was responsible for the University's Capital Campaign for Athletics, helping raise money for the $13 million athletic facility expansion. He also ran the annual fund for Vandal Athletics, handling the work of 48 national directors and overseeing and planning a fiscal budget of $1.2 million. He first worked with current CU athletic director Mike Bohn at Idaho, when Bohn was the director there, with the two reunited a few years later after Bohn became the AD at San Diego State.

Before moving into administration and joining the development staff, Senter was an assistant football coach for the Vandals for nine seasons. He wrapped up his coaching days in 1997, when he was the assistant head coach and recruiting coordinator for a Vandals squad that compiled a 13-9 record over the '96 and '97 seasons. Senter coached the linebackers and defensive line from 1986-92, as Idaho went 52-21 and reached the NCAA I-AA playoffs six times in seven seasons.

Senter began his coaching career at Coffeyville Community College in Kansas, where he was a student assistant for the 1981 and 1982 seasons, a role he later held at his alma mater, Tulsa, between 1983 and 1985. He earned his Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Tulsa in 1985. His passion for coaching brought him to Idaho where he served as defensive line and linebackers coach at Idaho for six seasons before being promoted to assistant head coach. While coaching at Idaho, he earned a master's degree in recreation from the school in 1992.

He was born November 9, 1961 in Doylestown, Pa., and graduated from Jay (Okla.) High School, where he lettered in football. His hobbies include hunting, camping and gardening. He is married to the former Susan Beck, and the couple has four children, Shawna, Derick, Matthew and Samantha.

2012 OUTLOOK

Year one in the Jon Embree Era is in the books. As competitive as Embree is, he expected victories week-in and week-out, not that he predicted a 13-0 record ahead of a season where all 13 games were back-to-back, with Colorado competing in a new conference, and overall, the Buffaloes played one of the nation's toughest schedules. Coaches just believe they are going to win every week, and that's the way it should be.

But Embree did see red on a few occasions over the course of the 3-10 season, from a negative standpoint in losing games late at home against California (in overtime) and Washington State, to the season finale, where CU ended a 23-game road losing streak with a 17-14 win over Utah before a sea of red in Rice-Eccles Stadium.

The Buffs did win two of their last three games, besting Arizona 48-29 in the final home game on Senior Day, and with the win at Utah two weeks later, gave CU a 2-2 record in November. As Embree stated in his final press conference after his first season, when future opponents see CU on their November schedules, he would like them to recognize that the Buffaloes "are playing their best football."

For just the second time since 1988, the entire Buffalo coaching staff will return intact; the last time a first-time CU head coach's staff were all in tow for a second season it's been even longer—Bill Mallory's 1974 group. But with so many young players in the program, now more than ever is consistency in the coaching ranks a welcome non-change.

The win at Utah was big in the sense that it also set a tone for the future. After the win, Embree told the team that "They're spring-boarding us into 2012. When you sit there and look at Washington and some of these other programs, they've played well at the end . . . it shows the young guys how to fight and compete on the road and win, shows them how to play with passion, emotion and energy and with focus on the road. This does a lot for our program; this is a program win."

Thus Embree's first season ended on a positive note, after some typical bumpy moments expected in a coach's first season taking over a program that had endured three straight losing seasons since the school's last bowl appearance. "I knew it would be a learning experience on many levels, even though going in I had a pretty good idea of what to expect," Embree said. "You just have to live through it as a head coach because there's always the unexpected. But the number one goal was to end that road losing streak and we accomplished that; just would have been nicer to do it earlier."

The makeup of Embree's first team turned out to be one of the strangest in school history: it was comprised of 28 seniors

(the most since there were 30 on the 1987 roster), 22 of whom were two-deep regulars. Yet 15 true freshmen saw action, the most at Colorado since the NCAA allowed freshmen to play again back in 1972, including starts in 23 games, tied for the third-most in school history. Including redshirts, 25 freshmen saw the field in 2011.

David Bakhtiari

His second-team stands to be another unique one, as there are only eight seniors on the roster, the second-fewest in CU annals to the seven on the 1995 roster (all of whom, incidentally, were invited to play in the Hula Bowl, an NCAA first to have all of one school's seniors in the same postseason All-Star game). Only Indiana with seven has fewer. And Embree has stated that most of the recruits in his second class will get a shot at earning playing time, so it is quite possible another record for true freshman participation could be on the horizon.

There are 45 returning lettermen in 2012, including 10 starters and three specialists, seven others with significant starting experience (three or more games), and 15 others with extensive game experience; the Buffs lost 30 lettermen to graduation.

The key to the entire offense, or who will be handed the keys to it, won't be known until well into August camp. An expected battle for the starting quarterback spot in the spring never materialized, as Connor Wood (transfer from Texas) took most of the first-team snaps after Nick Hirschman missed all of spring ball after breaking a bone in his foot the week before drills were set to begin. Hirschman is the only player on the roster to have taken a college snap at the position for the Buffaloes, and not all that many at that, as he threw 35 passes in five games last fall. Hirschman is now healthy and will join in the fray, as will Jordan Webb (Kansas transfer, taking advantage of the NCAA rule that allows graduates to move on to finish their career at a school that offers graduate programs not in the curriculum of their undergraduate institution). Redshirt frosh John Shrock and incoming recruit Shane Dillon will figure into the mix as well.

The last battle for the starting quarterback spot with such little previous CU experience occurred in 2007, when Cody Hawkins beat out Nick Nelson and Matt Ballenger for the job. The last time as many as four players were in the preseason mix was 20 years ago, when it was a four-way battle between a hero off the bench in junior Vance Joseph, an unknown sophomore named Kordell Stewart, the younger brother of a Heisman winner, Koy Detmer, and a transfer from Illinois, Duke Tobin. Stewart emerged as the winner and held the reins for three years, with Detmer the heir in 1995.

Whoever wins the job will be handing the ball off the majority of the time to a player not named Rodney Stewart for the first time in four years, and will be throwing to a receiving corps that caught just 61 of CU's 250 completions in 2011, not including the 39 by Paul Richardson, the junior wide receiver who tore his ACL in the final week of spring practice; he's not expected back until next spring.

Sophomore Tony Jones emerged as the heir apparent to Stewart with a fine spring, while junior Josh Ford had a second straight solid spring camp and thrust himself into the mix for playing time. They'll get a battle from several talented incoming recruits, and with a decent amount of experience returning on the offensive line, the running game figures to eventually blossom once the unit gains chemistry.

Wide receiver was going to be fairly wide open, but is much more so now with Richardson out; returning players at the position caught just 30 passes in 2011, the same number for their careers: 14 by Keenan Canty and 10 by Tyler McCulloch, both sophomores, while tight end-turned-receiver DaVaughn Thornton caught six. Freshman redshirt Nelson Spruce now enters the fray, as will several of the incoming frosh recruits. The situation at tight end is similar, with Nick Kasa, a converted defensive end, emerging at the top of the depth after developing nicely during the spring; he moved to offense for the last five games of the 2011 season but caught just one pass in minimal time at the position.

Junior left tackle David Bakhtiari, who has received more preseason accolades than any other Buff, is the anchor of the offensive line that also returns starting junior center Gus Handler. Both Bakhtiari (Lombardi, Outland) and Handler (Rimington) are on the official watch lists for the national awards that honor their positions. Junior Jack Harris was keyed up for a breakout season last fall, but was sidelined much of the year with a leg injury; he'll contend for the right tackle spot with senior Ryan Dannewitz, who likely will see time at both tackle and guard. Sophomores Alexander Lewis and Daniel Munyer ended the spring atop the depth at the guard positions, both having some starting experience as freshman in 2011.

Six starters return on the defensive side of the ball, where entering the season linebacker appears to be the strongest area, led by returning senior starters Jon Major and Doug Rippy. Several others also have starting and/or game experience at the position.

Playing a 4-3 base defense, how the players up front develop will be the biggest factor on if the unit, which allowed 439.3 yards per game last year, will improve. Just five scholarship players across the four positions were healthy for spring practices, which limited how much the team could scrimmage. That's the reason the coaching staff recruited and signed nine true freshmen defensive linemen, hoping to bolster the group which has been shy on overall numbers for the better part of the last decade.

(Speaking of the player count for spring, Embree had just 83 for his first year coaching the team – considered a bit low – but had just 75 the second time around, 57 on scholarship, with 10 of those players injured for most or all of the sessions. Thus for the second straight year, there's more to be taught and learned in August than usual.)

The secondary could be the most intriguing unit on the team, with starting free safety Ray Polk the only senior defensive back on the team; he played with at least three assorted injuries last year and still was second on the team in tackles despite missing the better part of three full games. The Buffs suffered a blow last year in losing Jered Bell for the season to a knee injury in August camp, and shuffled offensive players over to cornerback throughout the season to shore up the depth. Sophomore Greg Henderson played more snaps than any true freshman in school history, surviving his "being thrown to the wolves" considering the quarterbacks CU faced in 2011 (the likes of Andrew Luck, Matt Barkley, Brock Osweiler, Nick Foles, Keith Price, Bryant Moniz and Zach Maynard among the 13).

Ray Polk

The position should be bolstered if Bell, Parker Orms, Will Harlos and Sherrard Harrington can rebound from injuries, the addition of transfer Harrison Hunter, and the arrival of five heavily recruited defensive backs including two of the top cornerbacks in the nation.

Key players return on special teams, including sophomores Darragh O'Neill (punter) and Will Oliver (placekicker) and junior snapper Ryan Iverson. O'Neill and Oliver had solid seasons in their true freshman campaigns, with O'Neill averaging 42.6 yards per punt and Oliver leading the team in scoring with 62 points (converting 11-of-16 field goals, with a long of 52). The coaches are looking to shore up the return units, as CU averaged just 4.3 yards per punt return and 18.6 per kickoff runback (and the latter was for 69 returns).

The schedule is a little more forgiving for Embree's second Buffalo team, with one less game overall, new head coaches at six of the schools, five road games instead of seven, and a bye week the first Saturday in October, allowing CU to play just one game in a 20-day span instead of 13 back-to-back weeks as it did a year ago.

THE PLAYERS

DONTA ABRON, TB

5-10, 190, Fr., HS

Upland, Calif.

18

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a tailback in his true freshman year in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, ESPN.com ranked him the No. 34 running back in the nation, as well as the No. 94 player overall in the West region and the No. 65 prospect out of California. After playing at Alta Loma as a sophomore, he transferred within the Baseline League to Upland. A three-time first-team All-Baseline League selection, he was the Offensive Most Valuable Player of the league as a senior when he was also a first-team All-CIF Inland Division selection (he was a third-team member as a junior and second-team performer as a sophomore). For his career, he racked up 4,242 rushing yards and 52 touchdowns on 627 attempts (6.8 yards per carry), with 23 receptions for 177 yards and one touchdown (he could even throw it, as he completed a pass for 30 yards while at Alta Loma). He also returned kicks at Upland, averaging well over 25 yards per kickoff return with a long of 70 yards. As a senior, he rushed for 1,754 yards on 252 carries (7.0 per), reaching the end zone 33 times with a long of 80. As a junior, he led the Highlanders with 1,132 rushing yards and 12 touchdowns on 149 carries. Top games as a senior included a second round playoff win over Charter Oak, when he rushed 32 times for 191 yards and four touchdowns to lead the Scots to a 51-13 victory. In a 49-21 win against Los Osos, he had 26 carries for 195 yards and five touchdowns, while in a 59-21 victory over Murrieta Valley, he tallied 14 carries for 123 yards and two touchdowns. Over a three-game stretch of his senior season (against Serrano, Norco, and Loyola), he produced 609 yards and 10 touchdowns on 73 rushing attempts. As a junior, his best performance came in a 40-35 win over Chaparral, when he rushed 18 times for 177 yards and two scores. In his one season on varsity at Alta Loma, he rushed for 1,356 yards and seven touchdowns on 226 attempts, with his top game coming in a 45-21 loss to Claremont, when he had 30 carries for 221 yards and two touchdowns. Upland was 12-1 (Baseline League champions) as a senior and 8-4 as a junior under coach Tim Salter; Alta Loma was 0-10 his sophomore season.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on a major, though has an interest in Finance.

PERSONAL—He was born February 20, 1993, in Los Angeles. He earned the nickname "A-Train" in high school because he was hard to bring down. He has volunteered as a security guard at his church, and enjoys playing Madden in his free time. His father, Donta, played cornerback at Northern Arizona. His high school teammate, Marques Mosley, is also a 2012 signee for CU. (Name is pronounced DON-TAY ABE-BRUN)

ISAAC ARCHULETA, DB

6-3, 205, Fr., HS

Highlands Ranch, Colo.
(Mountain Vista)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practices; he attended CU in the fall of 2011 but did not try out for the team at that time. Thus, he has "four to play four," or four years of eligibility remaining.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three times in football at quarterback and punter, and was a two-year starter at QB at Mountain Vista High School. As a senior, he was named second-team All-Continental Conference at quarterback and first-team at punter when he completed 67 percent of his passes and threw for 1,200 yards and 19 touchdowns, with 26 rushes for 480 yards and six touchdowns and averaged 41 yards per punt with a long of 66 yards. His junior season, he was honorable mention All-Continental League at quarterback, completing 61 percent of his passes for 980 yards and 12 touchdowns, while rushing 18 times for 320 yards and 12 TDs. He was the second-team All-Conference punter, averaging 39 yards per punt, with his long 61 yards. Mountain Vista was 4-6 his senior season and 7-4 his junior campaign. He also lettered three times in track, running in the 4x100- and 4x200 meter relays, where he helped break school records in both events as well as in the sprint medley. In 2011, he was on the Colorado state qualifier team in the 4 x 100 and 4 x 200. One of his track coaches was Gary Klatt, the father of former CU quarterback Joel Klatt.

ACADEMICS—He is intending to major in Business (Marketing), but is also interested in Public Relations or Advertising. In high school, he lettered his senior year in DECA and was on his school's honor roll as a junior and senior.

PERSONAL—He was born June 19, 1992, in Denver. His hobbies include fishing, hunting and boating, and he's worked as a landscaper for a summer job. He chose to come to Colorado because he was born and raised a Buff and his father went to school at CU. A high school teammate, Clay Norgard, is also on the CU team.

VINCENT ARVIA, OL

6-0, 285, Fr., HS

(Torrey Pines)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as an offensive lineman (guard or center) in his true freshman year in college; he joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August camp.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered twice at Torrey Pines High School as both an offensive and defensive lineman. As a senior, he was named second-team All-Palomar League on offense, when playing left guard he allowed only two quarterback sacks and was flagged for only two penalties. On defense (tackle), he had 20 total tackles and five quarterback sacks. He played right tackle as a junior but did not play on defense. Under coach Scott Ashby, Torrey Pines was 5-7 his senior season after posting a 10-2 mark his junior year (Palomar League and District champs). He lists his biggest moment of his prep career as picking up a fumble and running with it for 25 yards.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Journalism as his major at Colorado, but is also interested in Business.

PERSONAL—He was born June 8, 1994 in Chicago, Ill. His nickname is Vinny. His goals after college are to work for a sports team or be on ESPN; he reported on a high school football game as a prep and did the highlights on local television. A high school teammate, David Bagby, joined him as a recruited walk-on in the 2012 freshman class.

DAVID BAGBY, WR

(Torrey Pines)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a wide receiver in his true freshman year in college; he joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August camp.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was named second-team All-Palomar League when he led Torrey Pines High School in all-purpose yards (1,200-plus), touchdowns (9), receptions (36) and receiving yards (450) and was second in rushing yards (600). He had 36 catches for 450 yards (12.5 average) and one touchdown, with his longest being a 50 yard grab. He also had approximately 100 rushing attempts for 600 yards and eight touchdowns, with his longest run 60 yards. He lists his biggest moment of his prep career as making a diving fourth down sideline catch in the fourth quarter, followed by the game winning touchdown in a 16-11 playoff win over Morse his senior year. Under coach Scott Ashby, Torrey Pines was 5-7 his senior season after posting a 10-2 mark his junior year (Palomar League and District champs). He also lettered once as a midfielder in lacrosse under Johnno Zissi, where he helped win the 2012 district championship.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (undecided on his sequence) at Colorado. He was named to the San Diego All-Academic team his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born November 6, 1993 in San Diego. His hobbies include swimming, wakeboarding, hanging out with family and friends, and going to the beach. A high school teammate, Vincent Arvia, joined him as a recruited walk-on in the 2012 freshman class.

DAVID BAKHTIARI, OL

6-4, 295, Jr., 2L

Burlingame, Calif.

(Junipero Serra)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—Firmly entrenched as the starter at left offensive tackle. He is on the official watch lists for both the Outland Trophy (one of 18 offensive tackles and 71 players listed overall) and the Lombardi Award (one of 128 on its list). Phil Steele's College Football placed him on its preseason first-team All-Pac 12 squad and ranked him as the No. 29 tackle in the nation, while Athlon's, Blue Ribbon Yearbook and Lindy's Sports also selected him on their first-team All-Pac 12 units.

2011 (Soph.)—He earned second-team All-Pac 12 honors from the league coaches, Phil Steele's College Football and collegesportsmadness.com, was a second-team sophomore All-American by collegefootballnews.com and a first-team All-Colorado performer as selected by the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation. He started 11 games at left offensive tackle; he suffered a severe knee sprain on just the seventh offensive play of the game in the season opener at Hawai'i and missed the next two games (Cal, CSU). He graded out to 84.4 percent for the season, second highest of all the offensive linemen (532 plus plays out of 630 total snaps), he had 21 "great effort" blocks, two touchdown blocks and 12 downfield blocks while allowing just two quarterbacks sacks and three pressures; he was called for just one penalty all year. His top game grade was 90.4 percent at Ohio State, his first game back after the injury, and graded out to 80 percent or better in nine of his 11 games. He entered the fall atop the depth chart at left tackle, as he switched over from the right side where he played as a redshirt freshman; he basically was groomed to replace CU consensus All-American and Outland Trophy finalist Nate Solder on the left side.

2010 (Fr.-RS)—He played in all 12 games, starting 11; he did not start against Texas Tech, but did play 24 snaps. He earned honorable mention Freshman All-America honors from collegefootballnews.com, and was an honorable mention All-Big 12 performer by the Associated Press; the state's chapter of the NFF/College Hall of Fame selected him second-team All-Colorado. JUSTIN CASTOR, PK

Golden, Colo.
(Arvada West)

40

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He entered the fall atop the depth chart at the kickoff position and was second at placekicker. He has a strong leg, as evidenced by 60- and 58-yard field goals he drilled in spring scrimmage action (with a miss from 65); he was 10-of-18 in those scrums, but the average try came from just under 49 yards (4-of-8 from 50 or longer). He is likely to handle the kickoff chores again.

2011 (Soph.)—He saw action in 10 games, basically handling most of the kickoff duties for the year; he was 1-of-1 on PAT kicks, the make coming against USC. He kicked off 35 times on the year, seven going for touchbacks with 10 inside-the-25 and one inside-the-20 (five sailed through the end zone). He added two tackles (one solo) covering his own kicks.

He was the only player to attempt kicks in the three main spring scrimmages; in those scrums, he made good on both standard PAT kicks, with longer distance ones attempted after other scores that were logged in as field goal tries, of which he converted 15-of-26 tries. He was 9-of-12 from 30-39 yards, 5-of-13 from 40-49 yards and made his only 50-plus yard kick (a 51-yard kick that closed the scoring in the spring game; he was 6-of-10 in the game).

2010 (Fr.)—It appeared he would redshirt, but was called on to try a field goal at Missouri after Aric Goodman, CU's regular placekicker, missed wide left from 40 yards out; his attempt also was from 40 but was blocked. He would play in two other games, at Kansas and against Iowa State, kicking off five times: all were returned, but two times the opponent was stopped inside their 20; the average starting yardline for the five kicks was the opponent 30. He was one of just seven true freshmen to play for the Buffs in the 2010 season.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned All-Region honors from PrepStar and was ranked the No. 22 kicker in the country by both Rivals.com and Scout.com and the No. 43 kicker by ESPN. Already inducted into Arvada West's Hall of Fame, he was the Jefferson County 5A Athlete of the Year for all sports. He started for four years as a kicker and also as a wide receiver and punter his senior season. In his career, he hit 28-of-46 field goals with 10 from 40 yards or longer and two from 50-plus yards. He was first-team All-Colorado and first-team All-State by the Denver Post and first-team All-5A Big 8 Conference as a senior when he helped coach Casey Coons and AWHs to an 11-2 record and 5A state semifinal appearance. He hit 13-of-22 field goals his senior year, including connecting from 40 yards or longer five times. He also connected on 45-of-47 extra points for 84 total points. He punted 26 times for 1,130 yards, averaging 43.5 yards per punt with a long of 67 yards. Seven of his 26 punts went for more than 50 yards and one went over 60 yards. He also kicked off 64 times with 21 touchbacks. He would have had more touchbacks, but the plan of attack was to put a lot of air under the ball and kick it as deep as possible in play for the kickoff coverage unit. As a wide receiver, he led Arvada West in receiving with 30 catches for 607 yards and seven touchdowns. He lists one of his best games as a senior against Pomona when he hit his only field goal attempt and caught six passes for 158 yards and a touchdown in a 31-14 win. Against Regis, he hit two field goals longer than 40 yards in a 20-6 victory. As a junior, earned first-team All-5A Big 8 Conference when he hit 9-of-15 field goals, including two over 50 yards and five for 40 yards or longer. He connected on 35-of-36 extra points and had 62 kickoffs with 36 touchbacks. He lists his top game that season when Arvada West upset Pomona 30-24 and he had two field goals, including his career-best from 53 yards and another one from 43 yards out. As a sophomore, he connected on 3-of-5 field goals and 37-of-39 extra points while kicking off 59 times with 13 touchbacks. As a freshman, he hit 38-of-40 extra points and 3-of-4 field goals. He lettered in basketball, averaging 10.3 points and 3.5 rebounds per game as a junior. He also participated in the long and high jumps and on the 4x100-meter relay team.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado. He earned first-team Academic All-State four times in both football and basketball and twice in track & field. 2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall on the offensive line but was ineligible to play after transferring to Colorado from College of the Canyons via Ventura Community College. He signed his letter-of-intent in the summer and counted as a member of the 2011 recruiting class; he was the rare exception of his NCAA clock not starting because he attended junior college on a part-time basis, thus he had to sit out a year in residence but still would have four years of eligibility remaining.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned second-team All-Ventura County and first-team All-Marmonte League honors at center as a senior, helping to lead Westlake to the Division Northern 3 CIF Championship. In starting all 14 games, he did not allow a quarterback sack or get flagged for any penalties, and allowed his man to pressure the QB on just two occasions. Westlake was an offensive juggernaut, averaging 408 yards of offense (218 rushing) and outscoring the opponent 580-219, including nine games with 40-plus points; the team boasted a 2,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard rusher and a 1,000-yard receiver, the latter being fellow CU recruit Nelson Spruce. As a junior playing right tackle, he earned honorable mention All-League accolades, allowing just two sacks and three pressures with just one penalty. His biggest high school moment came in the CIF title game, when Westlake scored with under two minutes remaining to defeat Moorpark, 14-10; he helped his Warrior team rush for 151 yards and amass 371 yards of total offense in the win. WHS was 14-0 his senior year (also the Marmonte League champs) and 7-5 his junior season under coach Jim Benkert. He started all 26 games on the varsity between his junior and senior years, as he played on the junior varsity, on both the offensive and defensive lines, as a freshman and sophomore. He also played basketball on the junior varsity team as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided but is interested in Business (either Finance or Marketing) as his major at Colorado. He was a member of Westlake's Academic Honor Roll his junior and senior years.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was ranked as the top placekicker in the western region, and second overall in the nation, by Ray Guy's prokicker.com (which also pegged him as the No. 2 combo kicker/punter nationally). Scout.com ranked him as the No. 10 kicker in the nation, while Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 21 kicker in the USA (the top kicker from Colorado and the No. 18 player overall in the state). He earned first-team All-Colorado and All-State (5A) honors by the Denver Post (he was second-team All-State by the Rocky Mountain News) as a senior, when he also garnered first-team All-Central Metro League accolades (formerly known as the Denver Prep League for football; the league name did not change for other sports). As a senior, he made 12-of-13 field goals, his only miss from 58 yards that had the distance but was wide right; the 12 makes totaled exactly 500 yards (in order: 38, 37, 43, 53, 39, 44, 42, 35, 33, 47, 39, 50), or 41.7 yards per. His season long was 53 yards against Aurora Central (a Denver East school record, breaking the mark by a yard he had set as a junior) and was 10-of-10 inside of 50 yards. He connected on 35-of-37 PAT kicks, his only two misses being blocked, thus he scored 70 points for the year, second most by a 5A kicker in the state. He averaged 40 yards per punt (39 kicks), with 10 over 50 yards and nine inside-the-20, while 92 percent of his kickoffs went for touchbacks. As a junior, he made 5-of-7 field goals, a long of 52, and 23-of-24 PAT kicks (the miss was blocked), scoring 39 points overall; his 52-yard kick was East's only points in its second round playoff loss to Thomas Jefferson. He averaged 39 yards for 12 punts with a long of 56 (three inside-the-20), and 80 percent of his kickoffs were touchbacks. Top games his senior year included a 49-30 win over Highlands Ranch, when he made three field goals, saw nine of 10 kickoffs go for touchbacks, and punted twice for a 41.5 average; on one of those punts he made the tackle and forced a fumble in the process. When he kicked his 53-yard field goal against Aurora Central, it opened the scoring of an eventual 47-0 win after a scoreless first quarter, in which he had put both his punts inside-the-20. He was East's special teams most valuable player both years he lettered, and he never missed a field goal under 40 yards in his career. Under coach Ron Woolfork (the former Buff linebacker, 1990-93), East was 7-4 his senior year and 8-3 his junior season, advancing to the second round of the state playoffs both years. He also lettered twice in soccer, leading East to the state and DPL championships as a senior (in fact, football and soccer are both fall sports in Colorado, so he played the pair simultaneously). He scored 13 goals and had seven assists, ratcheting up his offense when it counted most, scoring three times each in East's first two playoff wins over Sand Creek and Liberty. He was a first-team All-DPL performer his junior and senior years, garnering second-team All-State honors in the latter. He was also a member of East's state champion team in Ultimate (flying disc) as a senior.

three surgeries between the two but was 100 percent come the beginning of August drills.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in five games, including one start (at Arizona State); in that one, he completed 4-of-7 passes for 52 yards (0 TD/0 INT) for an injured Tyler Hansen, but Hansen shook off the effects of a concussion and entered the game in the second quarter. AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall listed first at tight end, as he progressed very well at the position he started to learn to play last October. He has exhibited some speed (in the 4.55 range) and the ability to break away from the linebackers and could have a very nice future on offense after once looking to do so as a defensive end.

2011 (Jr.)—He appeared in 11 games (no starts), switching sides of the ball from defensive end to tight end late in the season; he moved over eight games into the year, practicing at tight end and appearing in a game on offense for the first time in the season finale at Utah, where he caught one pass for eight yards. He had seen action for 132 plays on defense in those eight games, recording seven tackles (five solo), two third down stops, a tackle for zero and a touchdown save (his two solo stops against Oregon include the pair of third down stops and the tackle for zero gain). He added two knockdown blocks on kickoff return unit duty on special teams. He missed the last three-fourths of spring ball after he went down with a severely sprained knee in the fourth practice session.

2010 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games, including one start (versus Texas Tech), and saw action for 286 snaps from scrimmage. He was in on 18 tackles for the year, 12 solo and two for losses, including one quarterback sack, and two tackles for zero. He had a career-high four tackles (three solo) at Oklahoma, with three against Missouri; he had two in four other games. He registered his first career sack and third down stop on the same play against Iowa State (a 9-yard loss). He was the recipient of the Dan Stavelly Award for being the most improved defensive lineman during spring drills as selected by the coaches. In the spring, he was the second fastest defensive lineman on the team with 4.67 speed in the 40-yard dash.

2009 (Fr.)—He suffered a knee injury in the first fall scrimmage (August 13), but it did not require surgery. He did miss the first three games of the season, but returned to play in the next four (West Virginia, Texas, Kansas, Kansas State), but was then sidelined for the final five due to mononucleosis. Despite the unique set of circumstances, because he played four games in the middle of the season, NCAA rules state that he would not qualify for a medical redshirt. He saw action for 47 snaps in the four games, recording two solo tackles (one each at West Virginia and Texas), with the one against the Longhorns for a 3-yard loss. Prior to the knee injury, the coaches felt that he would have competed for a starting job.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned All-American honors from PrepStar and SuperPrep as a senior, when he was a U.S. Army All-American and played in the all-star game in San Antonio. EA Sports selected him to its All-America second-team. SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 5 player overall from the Midlands region and the top player from Colorado, also placing him No. 41 on its Elite 50 list. He made the prestigious Long Beach Press-Telegram's Best-In-The-West team (the second of four defensive ends). The Orange County Register named him to its "Fab 15" second-team. One of 14 defensive linemen named to the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune's Western 100 list. He earned All-Colorado and All-State (5A) honors from both the Rocky Mountain News and The Denver Post as a junior and senior, with both papers selecting him as the state's defensive player of the year for 2008. He was also a three-time, first-team All-Front Range League performer his sophomore through senior years. He went straight to the varsity team upon entering high school, and would conclude his Legacy career as the Lightning's all-time leader in both tackles for loss (46) and quarterback sacks (31½) and as the second-leading tackler (207, which included the third most solo tackles, 130). He also set the marks for season (10) and single-game (3) sacks. A four-year starter at defensive end, as a senior he was in on 59 tackles (40 solo, 13 for losses including 10 sacks) and had one fumble recovery. He also started at offensive tackle on offense, where he did not allow a sack and did not receive a penalty while averaging three pancake blocks per game. Top games as a senior included a 6-0 win over Greeley West, when he was in on 11 tackles (eight solo), four for losses including three sacks, and a 21-14 win at Poudre, another 11-tackle game (six solo) and a sack. As a junior, top contests came in a 19-6 win versus Fort Collins (seven tackles, two sacks and an interception) and in a 38-21 win over Rocky Mountain (five tackles, all solo, with three sacks). Under coach Wayne Voorhees, Legacy was 31-13 in his four seasons (9-2 his senior year, 9-3 as a junior, 7-3 as a sophomore and 6-5 as a freshman). He also has lettered three times in track and will go for a fourth this spring, and despite his size, he is a sprinter with career bests of 11.1 in the 100-meter dash and 23.7 in the 200-meter. AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall atop the depth chart at punter for the second straight year, except this time he has a full year under his belt practicing his trade, whereas a year ago he had a single spring practice. He is one of 25 players on the official preseason watch list for the Ray Guy Award (one of 44 on a similar list for the College Football Performance Awards punter of the year). A former walk-on, he was placed on scholarship permanently beginning in the 2012 spring semester.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He became just the fifth player in CU history to serve as the team's regular punter as a freshman, joining Stan Koleski ('73), Andy Mitchell ('94), Matt DiLallo ('06) and teammate Zach Grossnickle ('10); his 74 punts were the most ever by a Buff frosh, breaking Grossnickle's record of 60. He played in all 13 games, and by the end of the season, he had become just the seventh walk-on to play as a true freshman since 1986, and would be rewarded by earning a scholarship. He earned second-team Freshman All-American honors from both collegefootballnews.com and Phil Steele's College Football and was a rivals.com first-team Freshman All-Pac 12 performer. Phil Steele's also tabbed him mid-season third-team All-Pac 12. He was a three-time honorable mention Intersport Performer of the Week selection for his efforts against Colorado State (43.7 average on seven punts), Oregon (43.2, 12) and UCLA (44.0, 6). He averaged 42.6 yards per punt, with a 38.8 net figure; 21 of his 74 kicks placed inside-the-20 (eight inside-the-10, three inside-the-5) and 17 traveling 50 yards or longer with 57 his longest. His 21-to-2 ratio of inside-the-20 punts to touchbacks was fourth best in the nation and only 29 were returned, the longest for 31 yards; 20 were fair caught. He averaged 43.5 yards for 19 punts inside the CU 25, and 43.4 on 65 boots from the 50 or further out. His 42.6 average was the second-best by a freshman in the nation, trailing only LSU's Brad Wing (44.4 on 59 punts); it was the second highest ever by a CU frosh, behind a 43.7 figure in 2006 by DiLallo. The 74 punts were the second most for a single-season in school history, well over the previous most by a freshman, 47, also by DiLallo; his net average of 38.8 set a CU freshman record, besting DiLallo's 38.5 mark. Against Oregon, he placed six punts inside-the-20, setting a CU single-game record as it topped the five that Mitch Berger had against Texas in 1993; four of those were inside-the-10, also a school best as several had done it three times. He joined the team as a walk-on in spring practices, trying out as a punter; it was the first time he had ever played organized football.

2010 (Fr.)—He attended Colorado as a student, but was not a member of the football team; however, his NCAA "clock" started once he enrolled and started taking classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three times in both basketball and soccer for Boulder's Fairview High. He was the Max Preps Player of the Year as a senior in basketball, earning first-team All-Colorado, All-State (5A) and All-Front Range League honors in leading Fairview to a 22-6 record and to the state championship game (where the Knights lost to Regis, 68-58). He averaged 23.4 points per game (609 total in 28 games), with a career-high of 42 against Chatfield, a game in which he went 21-of-23 from the free throw line. He had nine games with 30 or more points, eclipsing 40 on two occasions. In fact, he made 191 of 213 free throws on the year (89.7 percent), shot 49 percent from the field (30-of-85 three pointers, 35 percent) and also averaged 3.9 rebounds, 3.0 steals and 2.2 assists per game. As a junior, he averaged 10.5 points, 2.1 assists, 2.0 rebounds and 1.2 steals per game as Fairview was 26-1, not losing until the state semifinal game against George Washington (76-74). FHS was 62-18 in his three varsity seasons under coach Frank Lee, which included back-to-back 11-0 records in Front Range League play his junior and senior years. In soccer, playing forward for coach Stan Jozwiak, he scored 35 goals in his three-year career, including 13 his senior season when he earned honorable mention All-State honors. He had 12 goals as a junior and 10 as a sophomore.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Accounting) at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born December 21, 1991 in Cork, Ireland (the southernmost major city in the country, about 10 miles inland from the Celtic Sea). His family moved to the United States when he was three, but all their relatives are still in Ireland and they visit there every summer. His father, Colm, is the owner and proprietor of Boulder's popular restaurant, Conor O'Neill's, located on 13th Street just off Boulder's famous Pearl Street Mall. A younger brother, Shane, was a high school soccer All-American and signed with the Colorado Rapids organization in the summer of 2012. The University of Denver recruited him as a basketball player. AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—Enters the fall atop the depth chart at placekicker; he missed the last portion of spring practice due to a chronic shoulder issue, but was deadly before he was sidelined. He made good of 9-of-10 kicks in three main spring scrimmages (he sat out the spring game), with a long of 58 and the average distance of his makes covering 48.6 yards — his miss was from 60 and it was wide left, not short.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in 12 games, setting a school record for the most points scored (62) by a freshman in CU history, besting the old mark by 10 points (Mason Crosby scored 52 in 2003). He also set frosh school marks for field goals made (11) and attempted (16) while making good on 29-of-31 PAT kicks. In just his second game, Oliver was named one of the three "Stars of the Week" by the Lou Groza Award, as he kicked four field goals and three extra points in CU's 36-33 overtime loss to California. He nailed a 32-yarder to send the game into overtime in the final minute, made a 22-yarder to account for CU's OT scoring, and in the first half, made good on a 52-yard kick that was the longest by a freshman in CU history and the longest in the nation by a true freshman in 2011 (the second-longest by any freshman and just one of three of 50 yards or longer by all frosh; it tied for the 22nd longest in the nation and the third longest in the Pac-12 in 2011). He opened 6-of-6 in field goal attempts, the first player at Colorado to make his first six field goals in a career in a single season (old mark was five by Crosby in 2003). He missed out tying the record for the most consecutive made field goals to start a Buff career (7, by Jeremy Flores, over two seasons, 2000-01); his seventh try was blocked by Washington State as the right side of the FG/PAT unit was overrun on the attempt. He bounced back to make two 48-yard efforts, however, and the average distance of his 11 makes were 37.2 yards. He also made his first 22 career PAT tries before missing wide left against Arizona, though that miss was aided by winds gusting to 60 miles per hour. While just 6-of-10 on field goals inside 40 yards as the four misses were all blocked, he was a very impressive 5-of-6 outside of 40 yards. He became just the seventh true freshman to attempt a placekick in Colorado history, joining Tim Mangnall (1976), Tom Field (1979), Ken Culbertson (1986), Eric Hannah (1987), Mason Crosby (2003) and Justin Castor (2010); he joined Field and Crosby as the only ones to play in the season opener.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 31 kicker in the nation by ESPN, No. 5 from California; kicking "guru" Chris Sailer ranked him as the No. 12 kicking prospect in the country when he was named first-team All-Mission League as a kicker and first-team All-Area as a punter. As a junior, he was a first-team All-Del Ray League performer before his school switched league affiliations. In his prep career, he connected on 18-of-23 field goals and 50-of-50 PAT kicks for 104 total points; his senior season he made 6-of-9 field goals and all 25 extra-point kicks for 43 points. Two of his field goals came from 40-plus yards and his kickoffs resulted in touchdowns 85 percent of the time. He punted for the first time as a senior, averaging 38.0 yards per punt, pinning nine inside-the-20 (with a long of 59). As a junior, he hit 6-of-8 field goals with four makes from 43 yards or longer, including kicks from 51 and 50 yards. He made good on all 10 point after touchdown tries, with 80 percent of his kickoffs resulting in touchdowns. As a sophomore, he was perfect: 6-of-6 on field goals and 15-of-15 PAT's, for 33 points. He was the National Kicking Event Prep Camp Champion in the summer of 2010, and the year before, he was a two-time finalist in the field goal kicking events at two separate Chris Sailer camps. He also lettered in lacrosse and soccer, the only student at H-W in each of his sophomore, junior and senior seasons to be a three-sport varsity athlete; he was presented with the prestigious Schumacher Award as a senior which is given to the outstanding three-sport performer who contributes the most to the athletic program. In lacrosse, as a crease attack man, he scored a school and a Mission League record 56 goals as a senior (the old mark had been 45), which also included a record nine goals in one game (old mark was six); he was the league MVP leading his team to a 13-1 record, including an 8-0 mark in conference play. As a junior he tallied 31 goals and one assist and was named the team's offensive most valuable player; as a sophomore, he injured his thumb after just three games but had already scored eight goals. His 95 career goals shattered the old mark of 80 for both H-W and the league. He also lettered in hockey, but for Venice High School because there weren't enough kids to compose a hockey team at Harvard-Westlake. Prior to settling on those four sports, in middle school he also played water polo, baseball, tennis and ran track.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (sequence undecided) at Colorado and is interested in sports management or sports marketing as a career choice. He was a member of the Honor Roll in high school maintaining above a 3.2 grade point average at Harvard-Westlake, which in April 2010 was ranked the No. 12 prep school in the country by Forbes and the top one of its kind west of the Mississippi River.

PERSONAL—He was born November 23, 1992 in Santa Monica, Calif. His hobbies include playing the viola in his school's symphony orchestra and playing most other sports. His family owned a house until he was 10 years old in Aspen, where he learned to both play hockey and ski. He worked for two years as an usher at the Hollywood Bowl, the famous amphitheater set against the backdrop of the famous Hollywood sign and hills. He also dedicated some of his spare time to the Riviera Foundation and volunteers teaching kids how to play tennis. He requested a switch from No. 91 he wore as a freshman to No. 28 because he is a devout Los Angeles Kings fan; Luc Robitaille, former player and currently in the Kings' front office, introduced him to Adam Deadmarsh, the one-time Avalanche and former Kings player who wore... No. 28.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—Enters the fall healthy and could figure in anywhere in the secondary, cornerback, safety or most likely, nickel back. He suffered a severe hamstring strain in the third practice of the spring and sat out the remainder of the sessions.

2011 (Soph.)—He saw action in six games, all starts, as he missed seven games due to a combination of injury and suspension. When he was in the lineup, his presence was felt (CU was 3-3 in games he played in); he finished the year with 39 tackles (25 solo) in 265 snaps from scrimmage. He had five third down stops, four touchdown saves, three pass deflections, two tackles for loss (which included a quarterback sack against California) and a quarterback hurry. He had a career-high 11 tackles against Colorado State (seven solo), and added 10 against Cal (five solo), seven at Hawai'i (four solo) and six at Arizona (five solo). He missed four games while fulfilling requirements to be reinstated to the team after being suspended for not adhering to obligations to be an active member of the program, though he was injured for what turned out to be three of those games. He did not participate in spring practices as he completed rehabilitation following knee surgery six months earlier.

2010 (Fr.-RS)—He had entered the fall third at free safety, but had a great camp and zoomed into the starting nickel back role. He did start the opener against Colorado State, but on the third play from scrimmage, he went down with a torn ACL and had season-ending surgery three weeks later on Sept. 24. Before he suffered the tear, which was non-contact (he was making cut), he did manage to record a quarterback pressure. He was also in the mix to return kicks. He won the Hale Irwin Award for being the most improved defensive back in spring practice. He led the team with 24 tackles (10 solo) in the three main spring scrimmages, along with team-bests of six tackles for loss (two quarterback sacks), five tackles for zero, four third down stops and three hurries (and tied for the team lead with two pass deflections). After arriving at CU just a tad over 160 pounds, he bulked up in the weight room and put 30 pounds of muscle on his frame.

2009 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced at safety the entire fall.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was selected as the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame High School Athlete of the Year for 2008. An All-Midlands performer by both SuperPrep and PrepStar as a senior, ranked as the No. 79 player in the region (the ninth defensive back) by SP with Rivals.com ranking him as the No. 87 safety in the nation (the second in Colorado, where he was pegged as the No. 10 ranked player in the state). He earned All-Colorado honors from both the Rocky Mountain News (as an athlete) and the Denver Post (at defensive back). Both newspapers also selected him first-team All-State (4A), the News at running back and the Post at safety; the News also tabbed him as the state's offensive player of the year. He was a three-time All-State performer on defense, and earned All-West Metro League honors at both running back and safety as a senior (the league MVP on both sides of the ball) and All-Mountain Plains Conference honors as a junior on both offense and defense and as a sophomore (on defense). As a senior, he led the state in rushing with 2,813 yards on 274 carries (10.3 average per), scoring 32 touchdowns with a long run of 80 yards. Add to those numbers 15 receptions for 260 yards and three more scores (and a long of 70) and eight touchdowns on kick returns (five punt, three kickoff) with gaudy averages for each. He gained 100 or more yards in 12 games, 200-plus eight times and 300-plus once (his two sub-100 games came against very weak opponents and he was pulled from the game quickly; in one of those games, he carried twice for 81 yards and two TDs). On defense, he was in on 102 tackles (66 solo), with 12 passes broken up, four interceptions, four forced fumbles, three quarterback sacks and two recoveries. He returned two of the picks for touchdowns, giving him an overall total of 45 on the season. He did not allow any completions in man coverage. His junior year, he ranked 37th in the state with 1,290 rushing yards on 176 attempts (7.3) with 17 touchdowns, with 13 receptions for 102 yards and a score. He had nine games over 100 yards and one 200-yard effort. On defense, he racked up 75 tackles (50 solo) with four interceptions, one for a touchdown. He had 37 carries for 269 yards and a five touchdowns as a sophomore, with seven receptions for 123 yards and a score, along with 57 tackles and five interceptions on defense. He finished his career with a school record 4,372 yards and 54 touchdowns rushing, with 21 games over 100 yards (and nine over 200). He was a three-year starter on offense (tailback, wide receiver) and defense (safety) and was the team's punter his last two seasons. Top games as a senior included several in Wheat Ridge's run for the state title, including the 35-31 win over Greeley West in the championship game when he was named the game's most valuable player. He had 412 all-purpose yards, rushing 38 times for 275 yards, including the game winning 56-yard TD run on fourth-and-2 with 19 seconds left in the game. He scored all five of his team's touchdowns and logged 137 kick return yards in earning ESPN/Rise National Player of the Week honors. In a 21-16 win the previous week over Dakota Ridge in the semifinals, he rushed 38 times for 210 yards and all three scores, including the game winner in the fourth quarter that snapped a 14-14 tie (thus, he scored all eight Wheat Ridge touchdowns in the semifinal and title games). In a first round win over Rock Canyon (59-27), he had 28 carries for a prep career best 350 yards and two scores, caught one pass for 30 yards and a score, and had another 77 yards on kick returns for 457 all-purpose. Top game as a junior was an overtime win over Standley Lake, when he rushed for 257 yards and four TD and had an interception in overtime to set up his team's win. Under coach Reid Kahl, Wheat Ridge was 14-0 his senior year, 6-4 his junior season and 13-1 his sophomore campaign, winning the 4A state and West Metro League titles his senior year and the state crown and the Mountain Plains Conference championship his sophomore year. He also lettered three times each in basketball and baseball: playing point guard in hoops, he averaged 6.4 points, 4.8 assists and 3.9 steals per game as a senior, after owning marks of 5.4, 4.3 and 2.6, respectively, his junior year. The Farmers' centerfielder in baseball, he batted .325 as a junior all-league performer, with eight home runs, 24 runs batted in and 10 stolen bases; he repeated as an all-conference performer his senior year (.366, 6 HR, 12 SB). WRHS won league titles his sophomore and senior years and was the state runner-up in 2007 and third place finisher for 2009.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He earned Honor Roll status his sophomore through senior years, and was recognized as a Denver Post Student-Athlete of the Week and an 850 KOA/Denver Broncos IBM High School Hero of the Week.

PERSONAL—He was born April 12, 1991 in Denver. Hobbies include playing most sports and spending time with his local Christian youth group. An older brother, Dylan, will be a senior quarterback this fall at Northern Colorado, where his mother, Katherine, lettered in softball in the mid-1970s. Two uncles played college football, Bill Korosec at Eastern Illinois (running back, EIU's leading rusher in 1992) and Joe Korosec at Fort Lewis (linebacker, played for former CU head coach Gary Barnett in 1983-84).

One of his top games as a senior came against Iolani, when he posted 11 tackles, two sacks, at least eight pressures and a forced fumble in an all-around dominant performance. St. Louis was 11-1 and the ILH and state champions under coach John Hao. AT COLORADO: Career Notes—He enters his junior season already ranked 21st in career receiving yards (1,069), 25th in career receptions (73) and tied for ninth in touchdown receptions (11) at Colorado. His 11 touchdowns have covered 371 yards, or 33.7 per score. He has six career plays over 50 yards, all receptions and five for touchdowns (62t, 60t, 55, 50t in 2010; 78t, 66t in 2011).

This Season (Jr.)—He suffered a torn ACL in the final week of spring practice (April 9) and underwent surgery on April 16; it was first thought that he would miss the 2012 season for certain, but he's healing quicker than most and there is a slight chance he can return at some point during the year. A determination won't be known until after the season is underway and many circumstances will be considered.

2011 (Soph.)—He earned honorable mention sophomore All-American honors from collegefootballnews.com; he made Phil Steele's Mid-Season All-Pac 12 third-team, but a knee injury suffered in practice (Oct. 5) caused him to miss four games during the middle portion of the year derailed him from completing a breakout season. He was one of 95 players on the official watch list for the Biletnikoff Award, as he was added three weeks into the season. He played in nine games (all starts), and despite missing four games and the better part of a fifth, he was third on the team in both receptions (39) and yards (555), while being second in touchdown catches (5). He had six catches of 20 yards or longer, 20 of 10 or more, and earned 27 first downs (26 receiving, 1 rushing and nine on third/fourth down plays out of 14 receptions). He also ran two reverses for 24 yards and had a punt return for four yards. He earned Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Week honors (along with CU Athlete of the Week and the Colorado NFF Chapter overall honor) for his record-setting game against California. He set a school record for the most receiving yards in a game with 284, doing so on 11 receptions, which tied CU's single-game mark. Two of the catches went for touchdowns, the pair covering 78 and 66 yards, and with 13 other yards (nine rushing, four punt return), he had 297 all-purpose yards, the eighth-most for a single game at Colorado. The 284 yards were the second-most in the NCAA for the season, topped only by Houston's Patrick Edwards, who had 318 against Rice. He earned 10 first downs in the game, a good chunk of the 27 he earned on the season. He had two receiving touchdowns in the third quarter at Hawai'i in the season opener, which tied CU's record for the most in a single quarter (it also matched the most for a half, which he also did in the Cal game). The coaches selected him as the Hale Irwin Award winner following spring practice, the honor going to the top sophomore-to-be.

2010 (Fr.)—He earned second-team Freshman All-American honors from collegefootballnews.com and garnered third-team honors from Phil Steele's College Football. In the coaches voting for the Big 12 Offensive Freshman of the Year, he received a few votes to earn honorable mention honors in that category. He was named CU's Co-Male Freshman Athlete of the Year Award for all sports (sharing with basketball's Andre Roberson at the school's annual CUSPY's to end the school year), after having won the team's Lee Willard Award as the most outstanding freshman. He also earned second-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation. In playing in all 12 games (four starts), he finished third on the team in receptions with 34 as a true freshman in 2010, but was second in both yards (514) and touchdowns (6) in averaging a team-best 15.1 yards per catch. He had a hand in four of CU's top seven longest plays of the season (three of the top five), all passes caught from Cody Hawkins that covered 62, 60, 55 and 50 yards. He set CU freshman single-game records for the most catches (11) and yards (141) at Kansas, also tying the overall mark for most receptions, and established the mark for frosh single-season yardage and TDs. He posted two of the five all-time 100-yard games by Buff freshmen (the other was 121 versus Iowa State). He had first tied the record for freshman receiving touchdowns with two against Texas Tech, when he caught four passes for 79 yards; he was CU's Male Athlete of the Week for both that game and the Kansas contest. One of just seven true freshmen to play for the Buffs in 2010, he joined the team on the second day of practices as a scholarship receiver after originally signing with UCLA.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned Prep Star and SuperPrep All-America honors, the latter of which ranked him as the No. 26 receiver in the nation and No. 20 player in the Far West region, while Scout.com tabbed him as the No. 141 national prospect (the No. 22 receiver overall) and the No. 20 player in California. Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 44 player in the state and the No. 38 receiver nationally, with ESPN.com ranking him as the No. 66 receiver in the country. He was a member of the Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100, and received votes but fell just shy of honorable mention on the Long Beach Press-Telegram's Best-In-West squad. He caught 31 passes for 552 yards and seven touchdowns, averaging 17.8 yards per catch, with a pair of 100-yard games (3 catches for 128 yards, 2 TDs vs. St. Bernard and 3-100, 2 TDs versus Carson). AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He had entered the fall second at defensive tackle, but moved back to his old spot (guard) on offense the second day of August camp. In spring conditioning tests, he did 51 reps at 225 pounds (also did four reps of 440 and six at 405); those stats enabled him to make Bruce Feldman's (CBSSports.com) annual spring list of the Top 10 freaks (strongest in a good way), coming in at 10b.

(Jr.)—He saw brief action in one game (at Stanford), and dressed for six others; he was in for seven plays against the Cardinal. He moved to defensive tackle from offensive guard the first week of spring practices, and he adapted well to his new position. In the three main spring scrimmages, he recorded 12 tackles (nine solo, including one quarterback sack and two stops for zero gain) along with two hurries and a third down stop. Bruce Feldman (then with ESPN.com) ranked him as the fourth strongest player in college football on his annual Top 10 list, citing his sets of 6-to-8 reps of 405 pounds in the bench press, along with 41 reps at 225 pounds (and has done 500 pounds for 3 reps).

2010 (Jr.-RS)—Redshirted; he practiced all fall on the offensive line and also on the scout team. He was one of the strongest players on the team, as evidenced by his 505-pound bench press, the team best in spring conditioning drills. He enrolled at Colorado for the spring semester with three years to play two in eligibility.

AT SADDLEBACK COLLEGE (2008-09/Fr.-Soph.)—He was named the No. 56 on the SuperPrep JuCo 100 list and is the eighth offensive lineman on the list. He earned All-State and All-National Division Southern Conference honors as a sophomore in 2009 at Saddleback College under coach Mark McElroy. Saddleback earned a 16-6 record in his two years there, including 9-2 his sophomore season as he started at offensive guard in all 11 games and helped anchor one of the most prolific offenses in school history. Saddleback led the Southern Conference of the Southern California Football Association, scoring 37.5 points per game and racking up 370.9 yards of total offense per game, 142.0 on the ground and 228.9 through the air. Saddleback did not make the playoffs in 2009, but did host the Western States Bowl and defeated College of the Canyons, 31-20. He went head-to-head with Canyons' linebacker Evan Harrington, who also signed with the Buffs. Saddleback was 7-4 his freshman season and saw action in six games. The Gauchos advanced to the Southern California Football Association playoffs, losing in the first round that season.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned first-team All-South Coast League mention as both a junior and senior at Capistrano Valley High School in Mission Viejo, Calif., in 2006 and '07, lettering twice under coach Chichi Biehn. He was also named the team's most valuable player as a senior. He started all 20 games his junior and senior seasons at Capistrano Valley.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Sociology at Colorado as he is interested in law enforcement as a career after college. He was an Honor Roll member every semester at Capistrano Valley.

PERSONAL—He was born July 19, 1990 in Huntington Beach, Calif. His older sister, Amber, played volleyball at Saddleback and earned the college's top female student-athlete award during the 2008-09 school year and is currently playing volleyball at Cal State-Fullerton. His younger sister, Crystal, plans to enroll at Saddleback and play volleyball next year. His cousin, Ian Kennedy, played baseball at Southern California and was recently traded to the Arizona Diamondbacks from the New York Yankees, where he was the 21st overall selection in the 2006 Major League Baseball draft and made his major league debut on September 1, 2007.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—Enters the fall atop the depth chart at the "mike" inside linebacker position, but was to be limited in what he could do early on in August camp as he continued rehabilitation following knee surgery last November. He is on the official watch list for the Dick Butkus Award (one of 51 players to earn the mention). He was presented with the Clancy A. Herbst Jr. Student-Athlete Achievement Award at the school's annual Academic Recognition banquet in April, as the honor is presented to athletes who overcome personal, academic or emotional difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically. In-between two knee surgeries, Rippy lost a longtime childhood friend, Damiko Russell, in a drive-by shooting in Columbus.

2011 (Jr.)—He started the first seven games at inside linebacker (the "mike" spot), before being sidelined the remainder of season after being felled by a knee injury and subsequent surgery. He still earned honorable mention All-Pac 12 honors from the league coaches (Phil Steele's College Football had tabbed him mid-season third-team All-Conference). He was the team's leading tackler through six games (52 at the time) and had added 10 more against Washington until he suffered torn ligaments (ACL and MCL) in the game in Seattle on Oct. 15; he underwent surgery on Nov. 15. He still finished fifth on the Buffs in tackles for the year with 62, 43 of which were solo that included five fore losses and three quarterback sacks. He added three tackles for zero (giving him eight at or behind the line of scrimmage), two third stops, three quarterback hurries, a caused interception and a touchdown save. He had three games with double-digit tackle numbers, including a career-high 14 against California (nine solo, two for losses with a sack); he had 12 at Stanford (nine solo) and 10 against Washington (seven solo with one for a loss). His other sacks came against Colorado State and at Ohio State. He earned eight special teams points on the strength of three tackles (one solo), three knockdown blocks and two forced fair catches. The coaches selected him as the Fred Casotti Award winner following spring practice, the honor going to the top junior-to-be.

2010 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 12 games (no starts), in each on special teams and in six on defense as a backup inside linebacker. He was in for 27 snaps from scrimmage, recording four tackles (one solo); three of those came against California, otherwise he had an assist versus Colorado State. He was a key performer on special teams, finishing third on the team in special team points with 23; those included a team season-high seven against Kansas State. He earned the points via six tackles (four solo, one inside-the-20), eight knockdown blocks, six first downfield credits that altered the opponents' return path and two wedge breaks. He moved to inside linebacker from the outside during the spring, when he had 10 tackles in the three main spring scrimmages. In spring conditioning tests, his 35-inch vertical leap tied for sixth-best on the team, showing he was fully recovered from postseason arthroscopic knee surgery by mid-January.

2009 (Fr.-RS)—Saw action in the first six games of the season, including one start at outside linebacker (at Toledo). He was hobbled by a sprained knee the second half of the year and underwent arthroscopic surgery in early December. He was in for 67 snaps from scrimmage in five of those six games before he got hurt, registering six tackles (one solo, a quarterback sack versus Wyoming). He also had a hurry, and tied the school record for the most blocked kicks in a game when he got his hands on two punts at Toledo (when he was in on a season-high three tackles, all assists). He earned eight special teams points on the strength of three tackles (two solo, one inside-the-20), the two punt blocks, a knockdown block and wedge break. FoxSports.com (Scout.com) named him to its preseason Redshirt Freshman All-America team.

2008 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced at both inside and outside linebacker over the course of the fall. He dressed for 10 games overall but was never pressed into duty.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned All-Midwest Region honors from both PrepStar and SuperPrep as a senior team captain, when he was named first-team All-Greater Western Ohio Conference and All-District. SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 59 overall player in the Midwest (and the 11th best linebacker). Scout.com ranked him as the No. 20 player in Ohio and as the No. 16 linebacker in the nation, while Rivals.com pegged him as the 31st best player in the state and as the No. 59 linebacker in the country. He played just the one year at Trotwood-Madison, recording 80 tackles, with 12 tackles for loss including five quarterback sacks, three forced fumbles, three recoveries and eight passes broken up from the linebacker position. He attended Linden-McKinley High School in Columbus prior to relocating to Trotwood, and as a junior, he was named honorable mention All-State and first-team All-Conference, All-District and All-City at linebacker. He registered 180 tackles (148 solo), including 22 tackles for loss with nine quarterback sacks, 10 passes broken up, three forced fumbles, two recoveries and an interception. He enjoys playing basketball, video games, listening to music and reading; he also knows how to play the clarinet. He names his mother (Nadene), his stepfather (David Blackwell) and his football coach his junior year (Timothy McKinley) as the most influential people in his life. Three cousins are or have played college basketball at Division I programs: Chris Wright played at Dayton (leading scorer as a senior in 2010-11) and Greg Moore played at Cincinnati; first cousin A.J. Davis played two seasons of basketball (guard) at Wyoming, and then transferred to James Madison where he will be a senior this fall. His second cousin is CU teammate Rodney Stewart, as both were members of CU's 2008 recruiting class. It was Rippy who told the coaches about his nearby relative.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—Enters the fall atop the depth at the right defensive end spot, a position CU coaches also refer to as the “jack” outside linebacker position. He enters his junior year with nine career quarterback sacks, tied for 38th all-time at Colorado. He really got after it in the weight room after his sophomore season, coming in twice a day, three days a week and strength coach Malcolm Blacken said he had a focus that was clear and contagious throughout the team. He has only 10 percent body fat, and in spring testing, owned a vertical jump just over 36 inches, benched 225 pounds 22 times and ran a 4.5 40-yard dash.

2011 (Soph.)—He played in all 13 games, including six starts, the first three of the year at right defensive end and three on the left side (middle of the year, game seven through nine). In playing 405 snaps for the season, he had 18 tackles – all solo stops, which proved to be a school best for the most solo tackles without an assist, topping cornerback Gardner McKay’s 16 solo stops and no assists in 2007. He recorded the second most sacks – 5½, for 37 yards in losses, and had eight tackles at or behind the line of scrimmage (seven for losses, one for zero). He had two third down stops, three caused fumbles, three hurries and a quarterback chasedown (near sack); the three forced fumbles were the most by a CU player since 2003, when Clyde Surrell also had three. He had a career-high five tackles (obviously all unassisted) at Washington, which included a quarterback sack; he had three twice, at Hawai’i (with one-and-a-half sacks and a forced fumble) and at Arizona State (which included a sack). He suffered a fractured toe in winter conditioning that required surgery to insert a pin; it was removed a week into spring drills, thus he saw limited action. He recorded six tackles, one for a third down stop, in spring scrimmage action.

2010 (Fr.)—He played in all 12 games, including one start, which came on the road at Kansas. He was in for 148 snaps from scrimmage, recording 11 tackles; eight of those were of the solo variety including three-and-a-half sacks, tied for the fourth-most on the team. He was often in the right place at the right time, with almost half of his tackles (5) going for third down stops, tying for sixth-most on the team, but everyone ahead and/or tied with him played at least 183 more snaps. He also had two other stops for zero gain, giving him seven tackles at or behind the line of scrimmage. He also had a quarterback chasedown (near-sack) and a forced fumble, the latter coming at Missouri. His first career tackle was for a sack against Colorado State in the season opener, with his season-high in tackles being two at Missouri and at Kansas. He was one of just seven true freshmen to play for the Buffs in the 2010 season.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned All-Region honors from PrepStar and is ranked the No. 37 weak side defensive end by Rivals.com, the No. 102 defensive end by Scout.com and No. 114 defensive end by ESPN. He earned second-team All-Big VIII league and was named his team’s most valuable linebacker his senior year when he had 69 tackles, 7½ sacks, two forced fumbles and three pass break-ups. He also saw action at tight end and caught eight passes for 120 yards and two touchdowns. Defensively, he had four games with double-figure tackle totals with a high of 11 coming in the season’s last game against Centennial with nine of those 11 solo tackles. Against Santiago, he had eight tackles and two sacks and against Roosevelt he had 13 tackles, a sack and a forced fumble. As a junior, he totaled 20 tackles, including 12 against Roosevelt in his first-ever start. Corona was 2-8 his senior year and 4-6 his junior season under coach John Brandon. He lettered three times in basketball and was the team’s MVP; he won a team award for taking the most charges his junior season. He also participated in track and field (high jump, discus).

HAWAI'I 34 COLORADO 17

September 3, 2011

Aloha Stadium, Honolulu

HONOLULU — Turns out, the big question of whether Colorado's rebuilt secondary could hold up to Hawai'i's passing game wasn't the biggest one for the Buffaloes.

Instead, as they prepared for Jon Embree's CU coaching debut, the Buffs should have been asking themselves this: Can UH quarterback Bryant Moniz beat us with his feet rather than his arm?

Moniz led the Warriors to a 34-17 win Saturday in Aloha Stadium and extending the Buffs' road losing streak to 18. Whereas last season Moniz threw for 330 yards and a touchdown with minus-5 yards on the ground, including sacks, this time he ran for 121 yards and 3 TDs and added 178 through the air and a fourth score.

A fumbled snap on the first play from scrimmage set an ugly tone for the first half, and the loss of left tackle David Bakhtiari on CU's seventh play of the game further disrupted the offense.

Trailing 17-0 at the half, CU finally shook its offense awake and would pull to within seven early in the fourth quarter. But the Warriors, set on avenging last season's 31-13 loss in Boulder, put away their mainland visitors with a touchdown and a field goal in the game's final 6:17.

Tyler Hansen completed 16-of-30 for 223 yards and two scores, both impressive grabs by Paul Richardson; he was also intercepted once and sacked seven times for 44 yards in losses.

The Buffs were attempting a second-half rejuvenation like they fashioned last season in Boulder, when they trailed 10-0 at intermission. Colorado opened the half with a six-play, 73-yard drive that was highlighted by a Hansen-to-Rodney-Stewart run-and-catch on a screen for 52 yards to the Warriors' 15. On the very next play, Hansen hit Richardson for their first touchdown and after freshman Will Oliver's PAT — the first of his college career — the Buffs had pulled within 17-7.

UH promptly responded, returning the ensuing kickoff to the Buffs' 48-yard line. From there, Moniz needed 10 plays to score his third rushing TD of the game and pushed the Warriors ahead 24-7 with 5:53 left in the third quarter.

But two series later, the Buffs — primarily Hansen and Richardson with another assist from Stewart — made some more noise. After another successful Hansen-to-Stewart screen for 26 yards, Hansen and Richardson again teamed for a TD strike — this one covering 21 yards, and with Oliver's extra point, drawing CU to within 24-14 with 1:51 left in the third quarter.

On the first play of the Warriors' next possession, Chidera Uzo-Diribe blasted Moniz from the blind side, forcing a fumble that was recovered by Conrad Obi at the UH 34-yard line. CU moved to the 15 on a Hansen-to-Tyler McCulloch pass, but that's where the drive stalled and Oliver kicked a clutch 34-yard field goal on fourth down, pulling the Buffs within a touchdown at 24-17, only 9 seconds into the last quarter.

The Warriors pushed to the Buffs' 24, where on fourth-and-one Moniz sneaked over left guard for 2 yards and a monstrous first down. Two plays later the Buffs had what would prove to be their final shot when Travis Sandersfeld couldn't hold on to a potential interception in which he would've had a hefty lead in a sprint to tie the game at 24-24 going the other way. Instead, Moniz flipped an unlikely shovel pass to running back Joey Iosefa, who ran 22 yards for his first career TD and UH was up 31-17 with 6:17 left.

Now the Buffs needed something big but on fourth down, Hansen was intercepted by Art Laurel, giving the Warriors a first down at the Buffs' 11-yard line. Four plays later, Tyler Hadden kicked a 22-yard field goal, the game's final points to seal the 34-17 win for the Warriors.

Since 1967, CU is 23-1 when scoring first in a season opener and 4-16-1 when the opponent scores first ... With 24 freshmen on the trip, several were scheduled to make their debuts; 11 did ... CU has now lost 18 straight road games (19 out-of-state), though this is only the second one that did not take place in the central/eastern time zones (other: at Cal in 2010) ... Longtime assistant coach Brian Cabral wore his trademark black and gold floral print lava lava ... QB Tyler Hansen had a string of 63 straight passes without an interception come to an end with a fourth quarter pick; he was sacked a career high seven times, the most since Texas A&M recorded eight against the Buffs in 2009 ... Hansen did become the 11th player to throw for 3,000 yards in a CU career, finishing the game with 3,045; he passed Gale Weidner (1959-61, 3,033) into 10th all-time on the overall list ... WR Paul Richardson had his third career two-TD reception game, tying him for the third most in school history ... In the last six season openers, the Buffaloes are perfect in scoring percentage inside-the-20, as they are 17-of-17 in the red zone (11 TDs, 6 FGs).

Folsom Field, Boulder

BOULDER — California quarterback Zach Maynard hit receiver Keenan Allen with a 5-yard touchdown pass in overtime Saturday at Folsom Field, giving the Bears a 36-33 victory over Colorado in the Buffs' home opener.

CU got a record setting passing performance from senior quarterback Tyler Hansen, who completed 28-of-49 passes for a school-record 474 yards and three touchdowns, while tying the mark for the most total offense with 500 yards. Two of the scoring tosses went to sophomore Paul Richardson, who finished with 11 catches for 282 yards — also a single-game school record.

The contest matched Pac-12 Conference teams did not count in the league standings as it completed a previously arranged home-and-home series. Cal remained unbeaten at 2-0, while CU fell to 0-2.

Freshman kicker Will Oliver was perfect on four field goal attempts, the first set up by a Jon Major interception that gave the Buffs a first down at their own 40-yard line. Six plays later, Oliver made his first kick, giving Colorado its only lead of the half.

After holding Cal to a three-and-out on the game's first series, CU used a methodical 13-play march and ended up at the Bears' 9-yard line. Facing fourth-and-one there, CU elected to go for the first down but Rodney Stewart was stuffed for no gain.

The Bears responded by driving 81 yards in 10 plays, and aided by a pair of CU pass interference penalties, scored on a 2-yard Maynard-to-Nico Dumont pass and after the PAT attempt was blocked by defensive tackle Will Pericak, the Bears led, 6-3.

Two series later, a 39-yard Georgio Tavecchio field goal pushed Cal ahead 9-3, but CU responded with an Oliver 52-yard kick — the longest field goal by a freshman in CU history — and pulled to 9-6 with 4:18 left before halftime.

That was enough time for the Bears to drive 62 yards in seven plays, scoring on a 7-yard Maynard-to-Anthony Miller pass to take a 16-6 lead just before intermission.

Opening the second half, Hansen immediately directed a 10-play, 80-yard scoring drive, hitting senior tight end Ryan Deehan with a 37-yard scoring pass on third-and-eight and cut the deficit to three at 16-13.

After CU's defense held, Cal returned the favor and then blocked a Darragh O'Neill punt that traveled just 15 yards and gave the Bears possession at the Buffs' 35-yard line. Four plays later, Maynard and Miller connected for a TD, the pass this time covering 20 yards to put the Bears back up 10 at, 23-13.

Hansen and Richardson then teamed up for a 66-yard scoring play to close the third quarter with Cal leading 23-20. Then to open the fourth quarter, the two teamed up again for a 78-yard score and the Buffs took their first lead since 3-0 at 27-23.

Cal responded quickly, driving 80 yards in 11 plays and scoring on a 19-yard burst up the middle by tailback C.J. Anderson to get its lead back at 30-27 with 9:55 left.

Later in the fourth, the Buffs got the ball back at their own 15-yard line with 7:10 to play. Hansen drove the Buffs into field goal range and with: 30 left, Oliver nailed a 32-yarder to tie the game at 30-30.

Cal won the coin toss to start overtime and chose to play defense as most always do; the Buffs looked good early in the possession earning a first-and-goal but settled for a 22-yard field goal from Oliver to take a 33-30 lead.

Cal earned a quick first down at the 15-yard line but then had consecutive penalties and found themselves at first-and-30 at the 35. A 32-yard pass from Maynard to Allen gave the Bears a first down inside the 5-yard line and then that same duo won it on a 5-yard pass play two plays later, giving Cal the 36-33 victory.

GAME NOTES

Colorado dropped to 5-5 in overtime games, 5-4 in single OT affairs and 3-3 when the opponent plays defense first ... CU's last OT game was on Sept. 18, 2008 in Boulder, a 17-14 win over No. 21 West Virginia ... Colorado went from allowing seven sacks in the season opener (on 37 called pass plays) to zero today on 50; the downside of that this marked the first time the Buffs have ever lost a game when not committing a turnover or allowing a sack; CU is 14-1 since 1972 in such situations ... CU had three sacks, giving the Buffs at least one in 32 of the last 33 games ... Colorado's 582 yards of offense was its first game with 500 since recording 518 against Nebraska in a 65-51 win on Nov. 23, 2007 and its most since Sept. 22, 2007 when it rolled up 634 against Miami-OH ... CU had 474 yards passing, its first 400-yard game since throwing for 401 against Texas A&M in Boulder on Oct. 8, 2005; it tied for the second most passing yards in CU history, matching the number against San Jose State in 1999 and behind only 533 against NE Louisiana in 1995 ... DT Will Pericak became the first player to block an extra point since DE James Garee batted one away against Clemson in the 2005 Champs Sports Bowl (opponents had made 154 in a row, the last miss in 2007; but the enemy had tried 195 PAT kicks without a Buff breaking through to reject one.

GAME NOTES

Jon Embree recorded his first win as CU's head coach, as the third time proved to be the proverbial charm; he joined Dal Ward (1948, 19-6 over Nebraska), Eddie Crowder (1963; 21-7 at Kansas State) and Bill Mallory (1974; 24-21 vs. Wisconsin) to win their first game in their third try since World War II ... OC/RB Coach Eric Bieniemy presented Embree with the game ball in the lockerroom postgame ... No doubt 28-14 is a very common football score; but the last time CU won a game by this score was on Nov. 6, 1948, over Utah State in Boulder, some 63 years ago ... The 57,186 in attendance was the lowest of the 11 games in Denver; CU sold 37,914 of its allotment of about 38,300 tickets ... Colorado now leads the series with the Rams by a 61-20-2 count, including by a 7-4 margin in Denver ... CU has outscored the Rams 52-17 in the last two games, limiting CSU to 488 total yards (243 today) ... CU had four sacks today (including one for zero the school recognizes that the NCAA does not), giving CU at least one in 34 of its last 35 games ... WR Kyle Cefalo had his first career touchdown reception; the last time he scored a TD in a game was as a senior in high school in 2006 (Bishop Kelly in Boise), and it was by rushing. Cefalo confirmed that it was the first receiving TD in his life (in a game) ... OT Alexander Lewis made history, becoming just the second true freshman in CU history to start a game at offensive tackle; he the only other to do was playing on the same line — OG Ryan Miller, who started six games at right tackle in 2007; Lewis is the first to start at left tackle.

DENVER — Senior quarterback Tyler Hansen marched CU on an 85-yard, 10:03 fourth-quarter drive, capping it with a 2-yard sneak to help push the Buffs past Colorado State 28-14 at Sports Authority Field at Mile High.

The drive was second-longest time-wise in CU history, enabling the Buffs to win their first game in the CU coaching career of former Buffs tight end Jon Embree.

Senior Rodney Stewart nearly was a one-man show for CU, rushing 19 times for 98 yards and catching seven passes for 93, or 191 yards of total offense. Hansen completed 17-of-32 passes for 215 yards and was in on all four touchdowns, running for two and throwing the other two.

Stewart helped the Buffs to a season best 145 yards on the ground while holding the Rams to 67. CU limited CSU quarterback Pete Thomas to 18-of-28 passing for 157 yards.

CU had its third different starting lineup on the offensive line with Sione Tau, Alex Lewis and Ryan Dannewitz all splitting the duties at tackle. The Buffs were also short-handed in the secondary with Travis Sandersfeld out and shifted Parker Orms from nickel to corner alongside Greg Henderson.

CU led 14-7 at intermission, but it took a bounce-back second-quarter from the Buffs to establish that advantage. CSU took the opening kickoff and methodically marched 80 yards in nine plays to take a 7-0 lead on Thomas' first career rushing touchdown — a 4-yard scramble up the middle. The Buffs, meanwhile, managed just 10 yards of offense in the first quarter.

The Buffs were a different team in the next 15 minutes. After the teams traded punts to open the quarter, CU finally got untracked, fashioning a nine-play, 80-yard scoring drive of its own and getting the TD on a 2-yard option run left by Hansen.

After forcing a CSU punt, CU took over on its own 25 with 2:04 before intermission. Darragh O'Neill's punt was partially blocked by CSU's Joe McKay. But in the scramble that ensued about 15 yards downfield, the ball was inadvertently touched by CSU's Derek Good — and CU's Ryan Deehan was there to recover it.

The Buffs had a welcome reprieve at their 40-yard line, and Hansen quickly took them to the Rams 24. On third-and-10 there, with 19 seconds left in the half, Hansen scrambled right and found senior receiver Kyle Cefalo crossing the back of the end zone to accommodate his quarterback.

The 24-yard strike from Hansen was the first receiving TD of Cefalo's life and after Oliver's PAT gave the Buffs their first lead (14-7), 12 seconds later the half ended that way.

Offensively, the second quarter was a major turnaround for CU, which finished the half with 171 yards in total offense to CSU's 121.

After intermission, CU scored on its third possession of the third quarter. Hansen capped a five-play, 68-yard with a 44-yard TD pass to a wide open Toney Clemons. It was only the senior receiver's fourth reception of the season and first for a score.

After Oliver kicked the Buffs ahead 21-7, they were penalized 15 yards on the kickoff for the touchdown celebration, enabling the Rams to take over at their 36-yard line. Eight plays later — two plays into the fourth quarter — Thomas lateraled to Charles Lovett, who found tight end Crockett Gilmore alone on the left sideline.

The trick play covered 23 yards, and after DeLine's extra point, the Rams had pulled to within a touchdown (21-14) with 14:20 to play.

After trading punts, Hansen directed CU's ground- and time-consuming winning drive to put the game away.

OHIO STATE 37 COLORADO 17

Ohio Stadium, Columbus

COLUMBUS — Behind yet another slow start for the Colorado Buffaloes, the Ohio State Buckeyes never let the Buffs recover and won, 37-17, at Ohio Stadium in front of 105,096.

CU fell to 1-3 and dropped its 19th straight road game (20th outside of Colorado), while Ohio State improved to 3-1.

After forcing the Buckeyes to punt on the game's opening series, the Buffs also went three-and-out. Whether called or done impromptu, CU's Darragh O'Neill attempted a left-footed rugby style punt that traveled 20 yards before it appeared to hit an Ohio State player, but no Buff made a move for it.

The Buckeyes took possession at the Buffs' 43-yard line and quickly used seven plays to take a 7-0 lead. Tailback Jordan Hall scored on a 1-yard run and pushed the Buckeyes in front 7-0. Hall finished with 84 yards rushing.

It was the first of seven possessions OSU would start inside Colorado territory in the game; in fact, the Buckeyes averaged starting at CU's 47 for its 12 drives and ran 44 of their 62 plays from a CU yardline.

On CU's next series, Hansen and Stewart botched a handoff and OSU tackle Adam Bellamy pounced on it at the Buffs' 22. The Buffs' defense held and a 28-yard field goal gave Ohio State a 10-0 lead that held up through the rest of the first quarter.

Midway through the second quarter, the Buckeyes pulled ahead 17-0 after Stewart signaled for a fair catch at his 5-yard line and put the Buffs offense in another precarious position.

Three plays later, O'Neill had to punt out of his end zone. Hall returned the punt 12 yards to the CU 46, and from there Miller capped a six-play scoring drive with a 32-yard TD pass to freshman Devin Smith, who got behind Buffs corner Ayodeji Olatoye.

CU showed its only offensive spark of the first half on the following possession, with Hansen driving the Buffs 83 yards and hitting receiver Toney Clemons with an 11-yard scoring pass. It was Clemons' second TD reception in as many games.

After Will Oliver's extra point, CU trailed by 10 (17-7) and appeared to possibly be finding itself. Then came Justin Castor's kickoff, which sailed out of bounds and gave Ohio State possession at its own 40. The Buffs defense looked like it had worked out of that jam, forcing the Buckeyes to punt.

But Stewart, signaling for a fair catch, had teammate Terrel Smith blocked into his leg, causing him to fumble; OSU recovered at the CU 10 with 15 seconds left in the half. After one play, Basil's 18-yard field goal gave OSU a 20-7 halftime lead.

CU started the second half as unsteadily as the first, getting whistled for holding on the kickoff and taking possession at its own 9-yard line. After punting, Hall carried five times and moved Ohio State to the CU 17. On Play No. 6, with the Buffs possibly expecting another dose of Hall, Miller and Smith hooked up for their second TD — this one a 17-yarder and CU was looking at a 27-7 deficit with 9:04 left in the third.

Hansen and his offense strung together a 60-yard drive, positioning Oliver for his sixth field goal of his freshman season — this one a 47-yarder that brought the Buffs to within 27-10. But CU's momentum was short-lived, as Hall returned the ensuing kickoff 90 yards to the Buffs' 5-yard line, and on the next play tailback Carlos Hyde scored, putting the Buckeyes up 34-10 at the end of three quarters.

OSU built on its lead as Basil booted a 47-yard field goal with 11:42 to play, increasing the Buckeyes' advantage to 37-10. The Buffs made one last attempt at it and scored on a 14-yard Hansen-to-Tyler McCulloch pass with 3:31 remaining, which proved to be the final points of the game, 37-17.

GAME NOTES

Ohioans and Columbus area products ILB Douglas Rippy and TB Rodney Stewart were added as captains for the game ... Ohio State won for the fourth straight time in the series to take a 4-1 edge over the Buffs ... CU dropped to 1-3 in the state of Ohio and 7-22 all-time in games played in the Eastern Time Zone, dropping its last nine; the last win was at Michigan in 1994 (yes, "The Catch"), 17 years ago to the day ... This was the third largest crowd (105,096) that a CU team has ever played before (the other two were 106,000+ at Michigan in 1997 and 1994) ... CU had three sacks, giving the Buffs at least one in 35 of their last 36 games ... Colorado has now lost 19 straight road games (20 straight out-of-state including one neutral site—the '07 Independence Bowl) ... The 16 rushing attempts by Colorado tied the second-fewest in school history; the Buffs had 14 against Iowa State in Boulder in 1992 and previously had 16 twice (the last in the 2004 Big 12 Championship game versus Oklahoma) ... WR Tyler McCulloch had his first career touchdown reception (14 yards from Tyler Hansen in the fourth quarter). It came on his fifth career catch ... OT Alexander Lewis has been practicing some at tight end and saw his first game action at the position (three snaps) ... CU came into the game one of just eight schools to have committed a single turnover in the first three weeks of the season, but that run ended on the fumbled exchange in the first quarter between Hansen and Stewart. The Buffs were gunning for three turnover-free games in a row for the first time ever; CU went 133:09 between turnovers.

WASHINGTON STATE 31 COLORADO 27

October 1, 2011

Folsom Field, Boulder

BOULDER — Washington State quarterback Marshall Lobbestael had his favorite, and the nation's leading receiver, Marquess Wilson held under wraps until the pair connected on a 63-yard touchdown pass with 1:10 remaining in the game to rally the Cougars to a 31-27 win over host Colorado in the Buffaloes' Pac-12 Conference debut.

The Buffs appeared to have put the game away with a 78-yard scoring drive that gave them a 10-point lead (27-17) with 5:11 to play. But Lobbestael, who completed 32-of-49 passes for 376 yards, brought WSU back by throwing two of his three TD passes in the final 2:35.

The scoring pass to Wilson, who entered the game averaging 143 receiving yards per game, came after a mix-up in the injury-riddled CU secondary. Wilson almost stopped and then used his speed to get wide open behind freshman cornerback Greg Henderson and senior safety Anthony Perkins.

CU rediscovered its running game, but that timely find was futile. Rodney Stewart rushed 26 times for 132 yards, breaking the 100-yard barrier for the 15th time in his career. Buffs quarterback Tyler Hansen completed 15-of-23 passes for 175 yards and two TDs, with one interception.

The Buffs (1-4 overall, 0-1 Pac-12) led 13-10 at halftime on the strength of Will Oliver's 48-yard field goal on the final play. He also kicked a 48-yarder late in the first quarter for CU's first points and had an earlier 29-yard attempt blocked.

After the field goal block, WSU (3-1, 1-0) responded immediately, driving 81 yards in 15 plays. Carl Winston scored on a 2-yard run to put the Cougars up 7-0 with 3:57 left in the first quarter.

After Oliver's 48-yarder trimmed the deficit to 7-3, the Buffs stopped the Cougars on fourth-and-one at the CU 40. Hansen and his offense then took advantage of a pair of major penalties and cruised 56 yards for the Buffs' go-ahead touchdown — a 9-yard pass from Hansen to Paul Richardson.

Lobbestael and his group then capitalized on a rare Hansen interception — his pass was tipped by tight end Ryan Deehan and picked by safety Deonne Buchanan, who returned it 29 yards to the CU 38.

With 21 seconds left in the half, the Cougars had to settle for a 28-yard Furney field goal that tied the score (10-10). After a short kickoff returned to the CU 48 by Evan Harrington, Hansen and Deehan teamed for a 21-yard completion, bringing on Oliver with 5 seconds before intermission, where he gave the Buffs their 13-10 halftime lead.

To open the second half, Hansen engineered a nine-play, 79-yard drive. CU had first-and-goal at the WSU 8-yard line, and two plays later Hansen tossed another fade to the left corner — this time to Toney Clemons for a 4-yard score to give the Buffs a 10-point (20-10) cushion.

Lobbestael responded again and drove his team 80 yards in five minutes, completing the journey with an 11-yard scoring pass to fullback Jared Byers to pull WSU to within three (20-17).

That score held until the Buffs took over with 11:18 remaining in the game. CU drove 78 yards for the TD that gave them a 10-point lead at 27-17.

Lobbestael then engineered a 77-yard drive, capped with an 18-yard touchdown pass to Isaiah Barton to bring WSU back to within three points (27-24).

The Buffs did pick up one first down trying to run the final 2:30 off the clock, but then were forced to punt and pinned WSU at its 9-yard line. Lobbestael proved to be too much, completing 4-of-5 passes on the final drive, the last of which was the 63-yarder that proved to be the game winner.

The Buffs did have one final shot, but on the first play of their final drive, Richardson fumbled at the WSU 38 after Hansen hit him over the middle. It was the sophomore's first career fumble after 70 touches.

STANFORD 48 COLORADO 7

October 8, 2011

GAME 6

Stanford Stadium, Palo Alto

PALO ALTO, Calif. — Behind Heisman Trophy hopeful Andrew Luck's 370 yards passing and the Pac-12's top defense, No. 7 Stanford stormed past undermanned Colorado, 48-7, in CU's first conference road game as a member of the league.

Luck, who finished second in last season's Heisman voting, played barely over three quarters in completing 26-of-33 passes for the Cardinal (5-0, 2-0 Pac-12), three for touchdowns with one interception. The Buffs fall to 1-5 and 0-2, respectively.

CU's secondary has been ravaged by injuries and last week lost four players to indefinite suspensions. Also, the Buffs lined up Saturday without their top receiver, sophomore Paul Richardson, who is out with a knee injury suffered last week in practice. Redshirt freshman Keenan Canty took Richardson's place, making three catches for 23 yards.

The Buffs, who rushed for a season-high 161 yards last week, were limited to 60 by a Cardinal defense that entered the game yielding a league-low 62.2 yards per game.

CU starting quarterback Tyler Hansen was 15-of-29 for 202 yards and accounted for the Buffs' lone TD — a 5-yard shovel pass to tailback Tony Jones.

The Buffs trailed 27-7 at halftime, yet they got the start they wanted after linebacker Jon Major recovered the opening kickoff at the Stanford 36-yard line. CU drove to the 12 where the drive stalled and Will Oliver was summoned to attempt a 29-yard field goal attempt.

Inside linebacker Max Bergen burst through the Buffs O-line, blocked Oliver's attempt — it was his second blocked kick in as many weeks — and scooped up the ball, returning it 75 yards for a touchdown. Just like that, the Buffs trailed 7-0 instead of potentially having the lead.

After that, it was all Luck — every bit of it of the Andrew variety.

The Stanford senior didn't throw an incompleteness in the first quarter (6-for-6, 109 yards) and had his team up 13-0 by quarter's end. On the Cardinal's 78-yard scoring drive, Luck accounted for 72 of the yards on four completions, then handed off to tailback Stepfan Taylor for a 1-yard TD dive. The extra point attempt caromed off the right upright, but Stanford still led, 13-0.

The Buffs pulled to within 13-7 after Williamson sailed a 47-yard field goal attempt wide right early in the second quarter. Following his miss, CU capitalized on a 76-yard Hansen-to-Rodney Stewart screen pass to the Stanford 5, then Hansen and Jones connected on the short shovel pass for Jones' first career score.

Oliver's PAT pulled the Buffs to 13-7, and after safety-turned-corner Terrell Smith intercepted Luck on a deflection at the Buffs' 19-yard line, it appeared CU might still be in the fight. But it was short lived.

CU went three-and-out, and the Cardinal went 53 yards — converting a third-and-26 — with a 1-yard Jeremy Stewart TD dive and PAT kick giving Stanford a 20-7 lead.

By halftime, Luck had completed 14-of-18 passes for 219 yards, with a 1-yard TD toss to Ryan Hewitt that gave Stanford its 27-7 lead when first-half play ended. A potential beat-down was brewing, and on its first second-half possession the Cardinal worked toward making it happen.

Luck and Hewitt teamed for a 10-yard scoring completion and Williamson's PAT pushed Stanford comfortably ahead 34-7 with 11:03 left in the third quarter. Later in the third, tailback Tyler Gaffney capped an 84-yard drive with a 1-yard plunge to make it 41-7.

The fourth quarter began with Luck still throwing. Just under 4 minutes in, he teamed with Griff Whalen for a 30-yard score, 48-7, and then both teams surrendered to their second team players and the game ended with that score.

GAME NOTES

Bergen's blocked field goal return for a touchdown was the first ever in a Colorado game, either by a Buff or an opponent ... Stanford's first six rushes of the game all were for 2 yards or less (2, 1, 2, 0, 1, 2) ... Stanford's miss on a 47-yard field goal attempt in the first quarter was the opponents first miss in 2011 and snapped a streak of 16 straight field goals made by the opponent dating back to last year's Baylor game ... Stanford's conversion of a 3rd-&-26 in the second quarter snapped an 0-of-11 run on 3rd-&-20 or more by CU opponents, who are now just 5-of-102 in such situations dating back to 1993 ... Colorado had season lows in penalties (6) and penalty yards (47) ... Stanford's 553 total yards are the most in the series, topping the 551 that Colorado amassed here in the 1993 game ... WR Keenan Canty made his first career start, and on the play, caught his first career pass (5 yards from Tyler Hansen) ... QB Tyler Hansen moved into a tie for seventh in career touchdown passes (27), pulling even with Steve Vogel and Darian Hagan ... TB Rodney Stewart's 76-yard reception was the longest play of his career, and tied for the 27th longest pass play in CU history and was the seventh longest pass reception by a running back ... OLB Woodson Greer III saw his first career action, the 13th true freshman to play for CU in 2011.

WASHINGTON 52 COLORADO 24

Husky Stadium, Seattle

SEATTLE – Jon Embree observed his 46th birthday here Saturday, but it was anything but a celebration for Colorado, who fell 52-24 to Washington, the Buffaloes' 21st consecutive road loss and fourth straight defeat this season.

UW won for the eighth time in nine games dating to last year and improved to 5-1 overall and remained unbeaten (3-0) in the Pac-12 Conference. CU, meanwhile, slipped to 1-6 overall and still winless (0-3) in its new league.

The Huskies scored on all six of their first-half possessions (five touchdowns, one field goal) to lead 38-10 by intermission. Their first-half point total was the schools most since scoring 45 against Oregon State in 1999.

None of UW's first-half touchdown drives – marches of 65, 74, 70, 70 and 56 yards – required more than 3:44 on the clock. The Huskies were denied the end zone only by the clock: Taking possession for a sixth time with 1:08 left before the half ended, they simply ran out of time and settled for a 41-yard Erik Folk field on the half's final play.

The banged up Buffs, who have allowed an average of 42 points in their current four game losing streak, and 550-plus yards in total offense in the past two, played most of Saturday's final three quarters minus leading rusher and receiver Rodney Stewart (sprained knee). Starting inside linebacker Doug Rippy (knee) also left early and starting jack linebacker Josh Hartigan (stinger) didn't dress for the game. Receiver Paul Richardson (knee) did not make the trip.

CU matched UW's 65-yard opening scoring drive with a 70-yard march to tie the score at 7-7 on Tyler Hansen's 5-yard TD pass to Kyle Cefalo and Will Oliver's PAT. It was the Buffs' first score on an opening drive this season.

That happened at the 9:42 mark of the first quarter – and from that point forward, the first half (and ultimately the afternoon) was under the Huskies' control. When Oliver kicked his 46-yard field goal – CU's only other first-half scoring – UW was comfortably ahead 21-10.

In the first half, the Huskies totaled 42 plays for 379 yards in total offense, including 230 passing by quarterback Keith Price. Aided by CU's depleted secondary, Price completed four of his 18 first-half completions (23 attempts) in the end zone.

UW tailback Chris Polk, the Pac-12's second-leading rusher, ran 18 times for 117 yards – five below his average. The Huskies totaled 562 yards in total offense, topping the 553 Stanford hung on the Buffs in their previous game. CU managed 269 yards in total offense with 62 rushing.

Finding a spark at intermission, the Buffs scored on their first series of the second half. Tailback Tony Jones' 2-yard plunge capped a 74-yard drive, and Oliver's extra point made the count 38-17. But two series later, UW matched it with a 26-yard TD run by Jesse Callier – the first of his career – that shot the Huskies' advantage back to 28 points (45-17).

When Price's departure brought on Nick Montana, the Buffs got an immediate break. On his first play, Montana fumbled after being sacked from the blind side by Chidera Udo-Diribe. Following defensive end David Goldberg's recovery at the UW 36, CU scored six plays later on a 1-yard Jones run off right tackle. Oliver's extra point kick made the score 45-24 with 13:34 remaining.

The Huskies punched it in one more time, their final TD coming on a 3-yard run by Bishop Sankey with 2:32 to play.

OREGON 45 COLORADO 2

October 22, 2011

Folsom Field, Boulder

BOULDER – Scoring on its first four possessions and rolling up 206 of its 371 yards rushing in the opening quarter, No. 9 Oregon overpowered Colorado 45-2, dropping the Buffaloes to 1-7 overall and 0-4 in their Pac-12 Conference debut season.

Oregon, improving to 6-1, 4-0, has won 16 consecutive Pac-12 games, including eight straight on the road. For what it was worth, Oregon's 45 points were 3.7 under its scoring average, and with 527 total yards, the Ducks finished 12 yards below their total offense average. But those below-average numbers were of little solace to the Buffs.

CU avoided being shut out on a safety when Oregon returner Cliff Harris, who attempted to return a Darragh O'Neill punt after running back into his own end zone. He was engulfed by Terrel Smith and Derrick Webb for the safety.

Due to new injuries, previous ones and suspensions in the secondary, CU's starting corners were senior Jonathan Hawkins and freshman Greg Henderson (a seven-game starter), with senior Anthony Perkins (seven-game starter) and freshman Kyle Washington (first career start) opening at safety.

Freshman D.D. Goodson got a crash course on defense and was the Buffs' starting nickel back. The injury bug in the secondary didn't stay away as both Goodson and Perkins were unable to finish the game. Perkins went down at 8:32 of the first quarter with an ankle injury and Goodson suffered a concussion. Perkins was replaced by K.T. Tu'umalo, normally a linebacker.

Just past the midway point of the second quarter, CU lost starting quarterback Tyler Hansen, who got up woozy after being hit in the head on a 9-yard run and was replaced on the Buffs' final series of the half by freshman Nick Hirschman.

In addition to the other freshmen who have filtered into CU's lineup, tailback Malcolm Creer was added to the list. He carried 11 times for 37 yards, with redshirt freshman Tony Jones CU's leading rusher (19 carries, 71 yards).

By the end of the first quarter, Oregon had scored on its first four possessions and led 29-0 after creasing CU for more than half of its final rushing total. Oregon's first-quarter scoring drives covered 80, 58, 87 and 80 yards, with the longest march requiring 2:11 and the shortest 50 seconds – that one featured an 84-yard TD sprint by De'Anthony Thomas. It tied for the third-longest run ever against CU.

Meanwhile, the Buffs crossed midfield three times in the first half, moving only as far as the Ducks' 36 on their deepest march.

The Ducks got their final first-half TD on a 32-yard interception return by linebacker Michael Clay, who picked off Hansen and scored to up the Oregon lead to 35-0 by halftime. Alejandro Maldonado missed the extra point, but that mistake already had been accounted for; the Ducks were successful on a two-point conversion run by Maldonado's holder, Jackson Rice, after their first TD.

The Buffs' anemic starts continued. The previous weekend, CU allowed Washington six scores on its first six drives (5 TDs/1 FG) and trailed 38-10 at halftime.

Hirschman, playing in just his second game, opened at quarterback for CU in the second half, but the Buffs went three-and-out. The Ducks answered with a six-play, 48-yard scoring drive and went up 42-0 only 3:09 into the third quarter.

Maldonado added a 36-yard field goal with 6:25 left in the third quarter (45-0), and just under 5 minutes later Harris' brain lock in the end zone put the Buffs on the board (45-2) and end the game's scoring.

ARIZONA STATE 48 COLORADO 14

GAME 9

Sun Devil Stadium, Tempe

TEMPE, Ariz. – A 21-point first quarter was cushion enough to allow No. 23 Arizona State to hit cruise control and ultimately coast to a 48-14 victory here over Colorado at Sun Devil Stadium.

It was the 22nd consecutive road game for CU (1-8 overall, 0-5 Pac-12), while ASU improved to 6-2 and 4-1, strengthening its hold on the South Division lead.

ASU quarterback Brock Osweiler completed 18-of-28 passes for 307 yards and two touchdowns, with tailback Cameron Marshall adding 114 yards rushing and three TDs on his 15 carries. CU quarterback Tyler Hansen finished 23-of-36 for 321 yards and one TD (two interceptions). Tailback Josh Ford was the Buffs' leading rusher, gaining 73 yards on 10 carries.

Nick Hirschman opened at quarterback, but Hansen, recovering from a concussion, replaced him on CU's third possession. Neither could help generate any early offense; the Buffs managed 54 total first-quarter yards to ASU's 222.

The Sun Devils scored on three of their first four possessions, two of the touchdowns coming on Osweiler passes (26, 33 yards) and the third on a 19-yard run by Marshall.

ASU, the third CU opponent this month to have an open week before playing the Buffs, fattened its margin to 24-0 on a 38-yard Alex Garoutte field goal with 7:56 left in the second quarter.

The Buffs' deepest penetration of the first half came on the following series, when they marched to the Sun Devils' 16-yard line. But at that point, Hansen was intercepted by safety Clint Floyd, killing the threat.

The defense accounted for CU's only first half points. After Sandersfeld batted an Osweiler backward pass, Josh Moten - making his first start in the secondary - snatched the ball off the ground and ran 16 yards for a touchdown. Will Oliver's PAT brought the Buffs to within 24-7, but that might have aroused the Devils after they appeared to be nodding off.

ASU needed just three plays and 43 seconds to cover 62 yards and get its final first-half TD. Marshall got it on an 11-yard run and the halftime score was 31-7.

The Buffs accepted the second half kickoff but didn't do anything with it. Hansen's second interception led to another Garoutte field goal - this one a 46-yarder - and ASU padded its lead to 34-7 with 9:58 left in the third quarter.

On the ensuing possession, CU drove to the ASU 1-yard line, where three runs - two by Tony Jones sandwiched around one by Hansen, - were all stuffed. The Buffs then forced a punt, then fumbled it and the Sun Devils recovered at the CU 13. Three plays later, Marshall scored his third TD on a 4-yard run.

The third quarter was 28 seconds from ending, and the fourth quarter once again presented little hope for CU. But on the brighter side, the Buffs offense scored for the first time since the fourth quarter of the Washington game (Oct. 15).

With 12:45 remaining, Hansen and Toney Clemons hooked up for a 21-yard TD, a catch that topped SportsCenter's top college plays of the day. Oliver's extra point made the score 41-14. ASU responded by changing quarterbacks, pulling Osweiler and letting backup Mike Bercovici and No. 3 Taylor Kelly close this one out.

Kelly led a five-play, 51-yard march for the Sun Devils' final TD, handing off to No. 3 tailback James Morrison for an 8-yard run that put the score at 48-14.

The Buffs kept battling, driving to the Sun Devils 2-yard line in the final 3 minutes. But a lost fumble by Ford snuffed that scoring opportunity and sent CU home with its 34-point loss.

GAME NOTES

Arizona State now leads the series 3-0 (all games since 2006) ... Opponents scored a touchdown on its first possession for the fourth straight games ... CU's conversion on 3rd-&-17 at the end of the first quarter (18 yard pass from Tyler Hansen to Keenan Canty) was the longest conversion made by CU in 2011 (coming in, CU was 1-of-17 on 3rd-&-15 or longer) Colorado committed a season-high five turnovers (after having just seven in the first eight games this year) ... The Sun Devils averaged 9.8 yards on first down and had 10 plays of 20 yards or longer (22 of 10 or more); Colorado had six and 17, respectively ... ASU gained 27 yards on its last possession to finish with 522 for the game, thus CU allowed 500-plus yards in four straight games for the first time in its history ... Two more players made their first career starts, QB Nick Hirschman and DB Josh Moten, upping the total to 21 players making their first career starts for CU in 2011 ... QB Tyler Hansen became just the seventh player in CU history to attain 5,000 yards of total offense (finishing the game with 5,231) ... Hirschman played the first two series before Hansen, who had suffered a concussion the previous game against Oregon, replaced him ... WR Toney Clemons matched his CU career best with the eight catches and was one yard shy of his yardage high with 97 ... Earlier in the day in Tempe, Colorado's men's and women's cross country teams won the inaugural Pac-12 championship titles.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 42 GAME 10 COLORADO 17

Folsom Field, Boulder

BOULDER – Southern California quarterback Matt Barkley took advantage of Colorado's injury-riddled secondary under the lights in the first Friday night game in Folsom Field history, as the No. 21 Trojans defeated the Buffaloes, 42-17.

Completing 25-of-39 passing attempts, Barkley threw for 318 yards and a USC record six touchdowns as the Trojans improve to 7-2 overall and 4-2 in the Pac-12, while the Buffs fell to 1-9 and 0-6, respectively. CU lost its eighth straight game to a ranked opponent and stayed winless (0-6) in its series with USC.

The Buffs welcomed back Rodney Stewart and Paul Richardson, and got a career performance from Toney Clemons, but it wasn't enough. Stewart did rack up 155 yards from scrimmage (88 rushing, 67 receiving) and passed his position coach Eric Bieniemy on CU's career all-purpose yardage list.

Clemons caught five of quarterback Tyler Hansen's passes for 112 yards and two touchdowns, recording the first 100-yard receiving and multiple-touchdown game and of his career.

But the night belonged to Barkley, who saw two of his receivers – Robert Woods and Marqise Lee – each catch nine passes for 100-plus yards and two touchdowns; Woods' catches netted 130 yards, Lee's 124. The Trojans' ground game also prospered, gaining 243 yards, giving USC 561 yards in total offense to the Buffs' 384.

The Buffs did open the game on a high note, scoring on a 69-yard drive to open this game. Hansen hit Clemons with a 37-yard touchdown pass to cap the six-play march and pushed CU ahead, 7-0, much to the delight of over 50,000 in attendance, most dressed in all black as were the Buffs, including just the second time ever CU donned black helmets.

Barkley responded quickly by driving USC 80 yards in seven plays, teaming with Lee for a 33-yard score that tied the score at 7-7 and the first quarter ended that way.

After punts were exchanged, the Buffs opened their next series with an 18-yard Hansen-to-Stewart pass. But a personal foul penalty cost CU 15 of those yards and severely damaged that drive.

Barkley took immediate advantage, pushing USC 85 yards and capping the six-play march with a 5-yard TD pass to tight end Xavier Grimble. The Trojans were up 14-7 and wouldn't trail again.

The teams traded punts again, and USC began to pull away. Barkley threw two more TD passes – a 15-yarder to Woods, a 25-yarder to Lee – and the Trojans were cruising, 28-7, just before halftime.

Following senior corner Jason Espinoza's first career interception and 26-yard return in the first half's final minute, the Buffs had first-and-goal at the Trojans' 8-yard line and Will Oliver kicked a 30-yard field goal to make the halftime score 28-10. The field goal was Oliver's 10th of the season, tying a CU freshman record set in 1979 by Tom Field.

Oliver's first field goal attempt – a 31-yarder – was blocked, and after the Buffs' first drive of the second half faltered at the Trojans' 21, Oliver had a 37-yard try batted down at the line of scrimmage.

Just over 5 minutes later, Barkley rewarded the USC defense by throwing his fifth TD pass, this time buying time with a scramble and allowing Woods to free himself. The hook-up covered 45 yards and put the Trojans in command 35-10 with 2:23 left in the third quarter – and that's how the period ended.

The Buffs pulled to 35-17 on a 7-yard Hansen-to-Clemons scoring pass and Justin Castor's PAT – the first of his career – at the 11:19 mark of the fourth quarter. But Barkley responded with a short toss that Amir Carlisle turned into a 19-yard score that put his QB atop the school's legends and was the game's final points.

GAME NOTES

Colorado donned all black garb (jersey/pant) for the first time since 2009, and wore black helmets for just the second time (the lone other occasion was against Baylor in 1998) ... USC extended its lead in the series to 6-0 ... Colorado dropped to 23-11-2 all-time in Folsom Field night games (2-2-1 in November; this was first-ever Friday night one) ... Colorado's first quarter touchdown was the first TD the Buffs scored against USC in three games in Boulder (lost 14-0 in 1963, 40-3 in 2002) ... That score gave CU its first lead since late in the Washington State game (Oct. 1), with a span of 244:10 in-between leads for the Buffs ... It was just the second time in 10 games that CU was on offense first; the only other time was at Stanford when CU recovered a fumble after kicking to the Cardinal ... Colorado went from committing five turnovers at Arizona State to having none versus USC ... USC finished with 561 total yards; that's five straight games CU has allowed 500 or more (a school first; it had never happened more than three times) ... CU has also allowed over 30 points in seven straight games and 40-plus five straight games, the latter for the first time since 1980 ... WR Toney Clemons (5-112, 2 TD) recorded his first career 100-yard game ... PK Will Oliver tied the school freshman record for the most field goals made in a season with his 10th ... TB Rodney Stewart had 155 all-purpose yards to give him 4,466 for his career, as he passed his position coach, Eric Bieniemy (4,351, 1987-90) for CU's all-time record.

Folsom Field, Boulder

BOULDER – On a gusty Saturday afternoon, the Colorado Buffaloes made the Arizona Wildcats their first Pac-12 victim, snapping a seven-game losing streak in the process with a 48-29 victory at Folsom Field.

Celebrating Senior Day with their highest point total since scoring 65 on Nebraska in 2007, the Buffs avoided becoming the first CU team to go winless at Folsom, which opened in 1924. The Buffs improved to 2-9 overall and 1-6 in the Pac-12 with a pair of road trips remaining, while Arizona stands at 2-8 overall and 1-7 in the Pac-12.

Tailback Rodney Stewart, one of 28 Buffs' seniors, recorded the 16th 100-yard rushing game of his career and second this season with 24 carries for 181 yards and three touchdowns. For good measure, he also threw a 14-yard TD pass to senior quarterback Tyler Hansen.

Senior Toney Clemons also made his final Folsom appearance count, catching five of Hansen's passes for 115 yards and a touchdown.

Aided by wind gusts that went from 59 miles per hour in the first half to 71 in the third quarter, CU's defense did a commendable job on Arizona quarterback Nick Foles, who entered the game leading the Pac-12 in passing yards per game (361.7) and total offense (349.8). He did complete 35-of-53 passes for 352 yards and one score, but he was intercepted three times and sacked twice.

CU scored on its first possession, a Stewart 5-yard run, but also allowed Arizona three points via John Bonano's 25-yard field goal on its opening series. The Buffs increased their lead to 13-3, answering with a 12-play, 80-yard drive featuring a pair of Hansen-to-Clemons passes that covered 56 yards and ended with a Hansen to Tony Jones 5-yard scoring strike. The wind aided Will Oliver's PAT kick to sail wide.

After an Arizona turnover and CU three-and-out, the Wildcats drove 65 yards in seven plays and got their lone first-half TD on a 1-yard plunge by tailback Ka'Deem Carey, bringing Arizona to within three points at 13-10.

After Arizona punter Kyle Dugandzic fielded a low snap and was ruled down before he punted, CU took possession at the Arizona 28-yard line and the Buffs capitalized with Josh Ford scoring his first collegiate touchdown from 17 yards out, giving the Buffs a 20-10 halftime advantage.

Stewart sat out much of the first half, needing a new tape job on the knee he sprained last month, but returned in the second half as the Buffs strung together their third 80-yard drive and took their biggest lead of the season, 27-10, as Hansen connected with Clemons from 15 yards out.

Later in the quarter, Hansen and Stewart teamed for the play-of-the-day – a Hansen lateral to Stewart, who threw back to Hansen for a 14-yard TD. It was Hansen's first career reception and Stewart's second career TD pass and put CU up 34-10.

Hansen was intercepted by linebacker Tra'Mayne Bondurant, who scored on a 29-yard return to bring Arizona within 34-17 to close out the third quarter, and Arizona closed the gap to 34-23 in the fourth quarter, scoring on an 11-yard Foles-to-David Douglas pass with 10:33 to play.

CU responded with its fourth 80-yard scoring drive, this one capped by Stewart's 11-yard run and CU went back up 41-23. Arizona responded themselves scoring with just over 4 minutes left to make it 41-29 on a Carey 2-yard plunge.

Arizona then recovered the on-sides kick after a failed 2-point conversion, but Foles' first pass attempt was picked off by senior Jason Espinoza – and the Buffs marched 53 yards and Stewart scored again, this time on a 9-yard run, ending the scoring with CU ahead 48-29. For good measure, senior Travis Sandersfeld intercepted Foles with 20 seconds remaining.

UCLA 45 COLORADO 6

GAME 12

Rose Bowl, Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. —Kevin Prince completed 15-of-19 passes for 225 yards and four touchdowns and added another 83 on the ground to lead UCLA to a 45-6 win over Colorado at the Rose Bowl.

The loss — the Buffs' 23rd consecutive on the road — dropped CU to 2-10 overall and 1-7 in the Pac-12. The Bruins, meanwhile, improved to 6-5 and 5-3, remaining in control of their fate in the South Division and can wrap it up with a win over USC.

Saturday's game also matched father and son: CU coach Jon Embree and his oldest son, Taylor, a Bruins senior receiver. Saturday was UCLA's Senior Day, but Jon Embree remained with his players and left the pre-game duties to his wife, Natalyn, and other family members, some of whom were wearing half UCLA/half CU jerseys.

CU trailed 21-6 at the half, but the way the game opened that 15-point deficit looked pretty good, considering the first half was a statistical wasteland for CU, which managed only 19 yards rushing, six first downs and 117 yards in total offense.

Still, senior tailback Rodney Stewart did eclipse another record: In catching a 1-yard pass from Hansen late in the second quarter, Stewart made his 87th career reception and set a school mark for career catches by a running back. He finished with a team-best seven catches for 36 yards and his 77 yards rushing on 21 carries accounting for the bulk of the Buffs 87 yards rushing.

Running the pistol offense, the Bruins scored on their second offensive play, with Prince and junior receiver Shaq Evans teaming for a 54-yard touchdown pass that sailed over Buffs defensive backs Jason Espinoza and Terrel Smith.

On its ensuing possession, CU began the drive with a false start and then when Tyler Hansen tried to hit Ryan Deehan in the flat, Deehan bobbled it and UCLA linebacker Sean Westgate came up with the football. Deehan inadvertently grabbed Westgate's facemask and UCLA started its second drive at the CU 14-yard line.

Tailback Jonathan Franklin covered that distance in one play, and in a mere 46 seconds of possession time, the Bruins had a 14-0 lead. They got their third touchdown on their third first-quarter possession, this time driving 80 yards in 12 plays and scoring on a 5-yard Prince-to-Joseph Fauria pass.

Down 21-0, CU finally responded when Hansen found Toney Clemons on a perfect pitch-and-catch from 20-yards out. It took a review to overturn the initial call of an incomplete pass, but in the end Clemons recorded a TD for the fourth straight game, one away from Rae Carruth's school record.

Will Oliver missed his PAT try and CU took a 21-6 deficit into halftime.

After accepting the second-half kickoff, UCLA marched 73 yards and positioned Gonzalez for a 22-yard field that increased CU's deficit to 24-6 in a play that turned out to be the only scoring of the third quarter.

The Bruins opened the fourth quarter with a six-play, 62-yard scoring drive that was capped by Prince's 15-yard TD pass to the 6-8 Fauria, the nephew of former Buffs tight end Christian Fauria. That TD shot UCLA ahead 31-6. Prince then teamed with Nelson Rosario 5 minutes later for an 11-yard scoring pass that gave the Prince his fourth TD pass — a career high — and the Bruins a 38-6 lead before UCLA's second teamers entered the game.

After Hansen suffered his third interception, giving UCLA possession at the CU 13, Malcolm Jones scored on a 1-yard run with 3:52 to play to account for the last score of the game and the 45-6 final score.

GAME NOTES

The Buffs dropped to 2-13-1 all-time in the state of California, dropping both appearances this year (also lost 48-7 at Stanford on Oct. 8), the first time CU played in the state twice in the same season; Colorado will travel to California twice in 2012, with games at Fresno State and USC ... The Buffs dropped to 50-11 dating back to 1985 against unranked opponents in November ... Colorado wore black helmets for just the third time in its history, the first time on the road, thus the inaugural black-white-black look from head-to-toe ... With the Goodyear Blimp overhead, the last time CU played in a game with a blimp overhead was in 2002 (also against UCLA at the Rose Bowl) ... UCLA gained 160 of its 260 first half yards on second down, when it converted 7-of-11 times for first downs (including 6-of-9 times on 2nd-&-5 or longer) ... UCLA's 339 rushing yards marked the second time the opponent topped 300 this season (Oregon, 371) ... CU coach Jon Embree arranged for the In & Out Burger Cookout Trailer to be at the team hotel (Hilton Glendale) upon the Buffs' arrival after a quick walk through at the Rose Bowl Friday afternoon; the entire CU contingent were treated to the trendy burgers ... Embree posed pregame with son Taylor, a UCLA senior wide receiver, for a senior day portrait since the elder Embree couldn't be present at the pregame ceremonies; spied by UCLA coach Rick Neuheisel during the shot, Neuheisel yelled toward Taylor, "Hey... no talking to the enemy!" forcing both to laugh. Many in Embree's family attending the game wore half-jerseys: half Colorado, half UCLA ... TB Rodney Stewart took over the all-time lead at Colorado in receptions by a running back, with his seven against the Bruins giving him 91 overall, passing Lee Rouson, who had 86 from 1980-84.

COLORADO 17 UTAH 14

SALT LAKE CITY – Revenge is sweet. Even if it takes 50 years.

In his final game, senior Tyler Hansen threw for 264 yards and a touchdown while running for another to lead Colorado to a 17-14 over host and 21-point favorite Utah, a victory that snapped CU's school record 23-game road losing streak.

The Utes had won the last two games in the series, including a 21-12 verdict in Boulder in 1961, CU's only regular season loss that season and one that eliminated the Buffaloes from any discussion for the national championship. Utah then won the '62 game before the series went dormant until both schools joined the Pac-12 Conference on July 1 of this year.

Notorious for slow starts all season, Colorado came out as if it was possessed, or at least motivated to send 28 seniors out with a win and get the monkey off its back by winning a road game for the first time since midway through the 2007 season.

The Buffaloes took the opening kickoff and drove 80 yards in 12 plays, converting twice on third down in the process, with Hansen slicing through the line from 1-yard out to give CU a 7-0 lead. After holding Utah to three plays and out, CU took over at its own 11 and Hansen completed a 52-yard bomb to DaVaughn Thornton to the Utah 37 and the Buffs appeared to be in business again.

Four plays later, on a 4th-and-6 at the Ute 33, Hansen found Toney Clemons along the left sideline where he raced to the 4-yard line but fumbled through the end zone as he was being tackled. Despite the turnover, when the quarter ended, the Buffs had a 185-17 edge in total offense and led 7-0 in first downs.

Those numbers increased to 254-39 and 13-1 respectively, at halftime with a Will Oliver 23-yard field goal midway into the second quarter giving the Buffs a 10-0 lead. It was his 11th field goal of the season, setting a CU freshman record.

Utah cut the lead to 10-7 after Tauni Vakapuna capped a 68-yard drive with a 3-yard run to open the second half. But the Buffs answered right away, marching 82 yards in 11 plays, with Hansen hitting fullback Evan Harrington with a 1-yard pass for a touchdown and a 17-7 advantage.

Late in the quarter, Jon Hays and Shawn Asiata hooked up on a 6-yard touchdown pass, trimming the CU lead back down to three entering the fourth quarter.

With 15 minutes left in their season, the Buffs dug in defensively, bending a bit but never breaking. Colem Petersen missed a 26-yard field goal with 8:55 to play, and the Buffs worked 3-plus minutes off the clock on their next possession, Utah's next drive ended when Ray Polk forced Vakapuna to fumble at midfield, with Curtis Cunningham recovering. But the Buffs went three-and-out in their next possession.

Utah, in need of a win to remain in the hunt for the Pac-12 South title, had one last gasp at either victory or sending the game into overtime. Taking over at its 29 with 3:14 to play, the Utes drove to the Buff 22, the last 15 yards coming on a controversial personal foul call on CU's Parker Orms (replays showed it was clean, well-timed hit). That penalty served to anger the Buffs, who responded with back-to-back sacks of Hays by David Goldberg and Jon Major. An offside penalty nullified a Travis Sandersfeld interception that would have ended the game, but Major came back with a 2-yard tackle for loss of Vakapuna, setting the stage for a 48-yard field goal try by Petersen, which was wide right with two seconds remaining.

As it turned out, the other two things Utah needed to happen, losses by UCLA and Arizona State, did occur and thus the Buffs prevented its fellow new colleague from claiming the inaugural South title, perhaps payback to what transpired in 1961.

GAME NOTES

The win snapped Colorado's 23-game road losing streak, including 17 conference games (13 Big 12, four Pac-12), which dated back to 2007 at Texas Tech (also CU's last win on artificial turf) ... The Buffs improved to 21-20-4 all-time in the state of Utah, as this was CU's first appearance in the state since the last Utah game in 1962 ... The win enabled CU to finish tied for fifth in the Pac-12 South; the Buffs have not finished last outright in any conference or division standings since 1915 ... CU improved to 51-11 dating back to 1985 against unranked opponents in November ... Utah's 274 yards were the second lowest allowed by CU, which included just two plays over 20 yards, an opponent season low ... This was just CU's 23rd win when held to two touchdowns or less dating back to 1989 (23-71-2) ... CU had a dominant first quarter, as Utah was just the second team that did not score in the quarter this year (Cal being the other); CU outgained Utah 185-17 in the period, the 185 yards the most in a quarter in 2011 (eclipsing 171 in the fourth versus Cal) ... Colorado's 10-0 halftime lead marked the first time CU held an opponent scoreless at intermission since leading Colorado State 17-0 in the 2010 season opener (in Denver); the last time CU shutout an opponent on the road in the first half was Nov. 10, 2007, leading Iowa State in Ames, 21-0 (eventually a controversial 31-28 loss) ... CU held a 254-39 advantage in total offense at halftime; that's the fewest yards CU has allowed since Baylor had 39 in the second half in a 37-0 Colorado win in Waco in 1999; you have to go back to a 54-7 win over Kansas State in Boulder to find where the opponent had fewer (32 first/minus-16 second).

COLORADO'S CONFERENCE HISTORY

The Pac-12 Conference is technically the seventh conference in which the University of Colorado has been a member.

There were no organized leagues in the Rocky Mountain region when CU started playing football in 1890. In 1893, Colorado was a charter member of the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA; also known as the Colorado Football Association), joined by Denver, Colorado College, Colorado Mines and Colorado A & M. CU remained a member through 1908 (except 1905, when it withdrew from the state conference prior to the season).

In 1909, a new alignment called the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference came into existence, with CU, CC, A & M and Mines the charter members. One year later in 1910, the name was changed to the Rocky Mountain Faculty Athletic Conference, as the league expanded geographically to include Utah and Denver, and later, Utah State (1914), Montana State (1917), Brigham Young (1918), Wyoming (1921), and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) and Western State (1924). This new league, built on a foundation of faculty control, lasted through the 1936-37 school year.

On Dec. 4, 1937, after a serious gap that had developed between the elite of the RMAC and the smaller schools, seven schools split to form the Mountain States Conference. This new league consisted of CU, DU, A & M, Wyoming, Utah, Utah State and BYU. The remaining five schools continued on as the RMAC, which today remains one of the oldest conferences in the nation.

A decade later, CU athletics would change forever, as the Buffaloes were accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association (also known as the Big Six) on Dec. 1, 1947. Colorado started competition in this league in the 1948-49 school year, thus changing the group's name to the Big Seven. Other schools in the league were Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma. When Oklahoma State rejoined the group after a three decade absence in 1958, the conference became known as the Big Eight.

On Feb. 25, 1994, the Big Eight announced expansion plans to include Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech from the Southwest Conference, a league plagued with NCAA violations and probations over the previous decade; the merger of the four gave those schools a new start in the new Big 12. Later that year, Colorado was invited to join the Pacific-10 Conference, but because the Buffaloes had played a major role in helping form the Big 12, CU's Board of Regents voted 6-3 to remain in the Big 12, which assumed operations on July 1, 1996.

Then on June 11, 2010, Colorado was the first of several "dominoes" to fall nationally in conference realignment. The Buffaloes accepted an invitation to join the Pac-10, along with Utah to form the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011. CU and Utah, old rivals from the first half of the 20th Century, joined Arizona, Arizona State, California, Oregon, Oregon State, USC, Stanford, UCLA, Washington and Washington State in what is known as the "conference of champions," the 12 schools owning 451 NCAA championships, over 200 more than any other conference.

Folsom has played host to many top national recording acts, including The Rolling Stones, The Who, Paul McCartney, The Eagles, Van Halen, REO Speedwagon, The Beach Boys, The Grateful Dead, The Doobie Brothers, Journey, Jethro Tull, John Mellencamp and the Dave Matthews Band.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Single-wing), Defense (5-3)—LE Lamar Meyer/Frank Clarke, LT Dick Stapp/Tom Giek, LG Bill Kucera, C Don Karnoscak/Jim Uhler, RG Harlan Branby/Dave Jones, RT Sam Salerno, RE Wally Merz, QB Sam Maphis, LH Homer Jenkins/Bob Stransky, RH Emerson Wilson, FB John Bayuk/Jack Becker.
Specialists—P/PK Jenkins.
Note: The 56-21 loss to Oklahoma was deceiving, as CU led the eventual national champions 14-0 with 10 minutes left in the first half before the Sooners scored three quick TDs before intermission, and added three others in the final 10 minutes of the game.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Single-wing/Wing-T), Defense (5-3)—LE Jerry Leahy/Frank Clarke, LT Dick Stapp/Bob Salerno, LG John Wooten, C Jim Uhlih, RG Dave Jones/Bill Mondt, RT Ken Schlagel, RE Wally Merz, QB Boyd Dowler, LH Bob Stransky/Howard Cook, RH Eddie Dove/Gene Worden, FB John Bayuk/Leroy Clark. Specialists—PK Ellwyn Indorf/Stransky, P Dowler.

Note: No. 1 Oklahoma rallied with 21 unanswered second half points to beat CU, 27-19, but CU's second place league finish sends the Buffaloes to the Orange Bowl, where a 27-21 win over Clemson is the first bowl victory in school history.

Notes: Artificial surfacing makes its debut in Boulder, as an AstroTurf carpet blanketed Folsom Field. CU's stunning road upsets of Louisiana State and Ohio State pave the way for a 10-2 season, as the Big Eight owned the top three spots in the final Associated Press poll after the bowls. With Nebraska (#1), Oklahoma (#2) and Colorado (#3), it was the first and to date only time in history one conference has occupied all top three positions at the end of the year.

Note: CU almost knocked off No. 1 Oklahoma, but did knock the Sooners from No. 1 to No. 2 in the polls. CU pulled to within the eventual final score of 21-20 with 1:19 left, but elected to go for the tie against OU, which was riding a 32-game unbeaten streak at the time, but the extra point kick sailed off to the left. Mallory went for the tie on the belief that a tie could give CU the conference championship later in the year.

Notes: A young team, tough schedule and early-season injuries to three key seniors (DE Marques Harris, TB Bobby Purify and TE Quinn Sypniewski) were all major factors in CU's missing a bowl berth for only the fourth time since the 1984 season. Freshmen and sophomores accounted for 110 starts, while for only the eighth time in history sophomores led the Buffs in both rushing (Brian Calhoun) and in passing (Joel Klatt). Senior receiver D.J. Hackett set a school record for receptions (78), and teamed with fellow senior wideout Derek McCoy and Klatt to establish over two dozen records in the passing game.

Notes: Entering November with a 1-4 record in league play, most had written off the Buffaloes' chances for the Big 12 North title... except nobody told CU. Six specific things needed to happen for CU to reach the title game, first and foremost a Colorado sweep of its turkey-month games. CU did just that and the other things all fell into place and the Buffs won their third division title in four years. TB Bobby Purify enjoyed a 1,000-yard season and finished his career third on CU's all-time rushing charts. CU rallied for a 33-28 win in the Houston Bowl to snap a 2-game bowl losing streak.

CU still won the Big 12 North Division and appear in the league championship game for the fourth time in five years (a feat matched by no other team in either division); but Gary Barnett was relieved of his duties as head coach after losing to Texas in the Big 12 title game, replaced for the bowl by Mike Hankwitz. PK Mason Crosby was the runner-up for the Lou Groza Award, becoming CU's first-ever first-team All-American placekicker, and P John Torp second in the balloting for the Ray Guy Award.

Notes: Colorado suffered just its second 10-loss season in history, though it was nothing like the first time in 1980. There were a long list of positives, including a plus-8 in turnover margin, CU's best since 1993, as were the 16 turnovers committed; the Buffs had a school record four games without a turnover over the course of the season. CU allowed its fewest points (22.3) per game since 1998, and allowed only six plays of 40 yards or longer, tied for the fewest over the last 20 seasons. For just the 10th time in school history, three players rushed for 500 or more yards. PK Mason Crosby repeated as a first-team All-American, and was joined by DE Abraham Wright and CB Terrence Wheatley as first-team All-Big 12 performers.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Scotty McKnight, WR Dusty Sprague, WR Patrick Williams/Josh Smith, LT Tyler Polumbus, LG Wes Palazzi/Kai Maiava, C Daniel Sanders, RG Devin Head/Edwin Harrison, RT Edwin Harrison/Ryan Miller, TE Riar Geer/Tyson DeVree, QB Cody Hawkins, TB Hugh Charles/Demetrius Sumler. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Maurice Lucas, DT George Hypolite, NT Brandon Nicolas, RE Alonzo Barrett, ILB Jordon Dizon, ILB Jeff Smart, OLB Brad Jones, LC Terrence Wheatley, SS D.J. Dykes, FS Ryan Walters, RC Benjamin Burney, N Cha'pelle Brown. Specialists—P Matt DiLallo, PK Kevin Eberhart, KR Chase McBride/Terrence Wheatley/Hugh Charles.

Notes: Kevin Eberhart's 45-yard field goal as time expired gave CU a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma, snapping a 14-game losing streak to ranked teams; coupled with the 65-51 win over Nebraska, it marked just the fifth time Colorado defeated both OU and NU in the same season. CU's three-and-a-half game improvement over 2006 under Dan Hawkins (2-10 to 6-7) tied for the ninth best in the nation and matched the best in school history from the first to second year under a new head coach (Bill Mallory, 5-6 to 9-3, 1974-75). ILB Jordon Dizon earned consensus first-team All-America honors, was the Big 12 Defensive Player-of-the-Year and finished as the runner-up for the Butkus Award; he was joined by George Hypolite and Terrence Wheatley as first-team All-Big 12 selections.

Notes: What started out as a promising season with a 3-0 beginning, capped by a 17-14 overtime win over No. 21 West Virginia, turned into a near-nightmare with a 2-7 finish after the team was besieged by injuries. CU lost 122 games by players in the two-deep, and being a young team to begin with, could never fully recover. There were some good moments, though, as in a 14-13 win over Kansas State, CU held that 1-point lead for the final 25:49, the longest any Buff team had to hang on to a 1- or 2-point lead in 72 years and the longest any team, pro or college, had to do so in 2008. The Buffs appeared bowl-bound until a Nebraska school-record 57-yard field goal in the final two minutes paved the way for a 40-31 Husker win, eliminating CU from bowl eligibility.

Notes: Four losses by eight or fewer points sent the Buffs to a 3-9 record, as CU missed the postseason for the second straight year, which had not happened since a six-year bowl dry spell from 1978-84. The Buffs did defeat No. 17 Kansas in a thriller, 34-30, and battled No. 2 Texas deep into the second half as the Longhorns needed three return touchdowns to pull away (only Alabama in the BCS title game held the lead longer against the 13-1 'Horns than Colorado). CU also had No. 13 Oklahoma State on the ropes most of the game before succumbing, 31-28. The defense shined at times, holding Big 12 division champs Nebraska (217) and Texas (313) to just 530 combined yards, but on the year, surrendered 70 percent of the opponents' total yards on just 18 percent of their plays. WR Scotty McKnight ended the season with a school-record 36 straight games with at least one reception.

Notes: Despite a one-sided loss at California, the Buffs got off to a 3-1 start after a thrilling 29-27 win over Georgia at Folsom Field, honoring the 1990 national championship team that was being honored that weekend. But a five-game losing streak, culminated with a 52-45 loss at Kansas after CU held 45-17 lead with 11 minutes to play, led to the early dismissal of coach Dan Hawkins on Nov. 9. Long-time assistant coach Brian Cabral assumed the reins on an interim basis and led the team to a 2-1 record in the final three games, but a loss at Nebraska (combined with bad officiating that helped Kansas' comeback) kept the Buffs from winning the required minimum of six games to qualify for a bowl. It was CU's final season in the Big 12 as on June 11, CU accepted an invitation to join the Pac-12 beginning in 2012. OT Nate Solder was a consensus All-American and finalist for the Outland Trophy; WR Scotty McKnight ended his career as CU's all-time leading receiver (receptions), catching a pass in all 48 career games, while QB Cody Hawkins set most of the school's major passing marks.

Notes: For the first time since 1948, the Buffaloes played in a new league as Colorado officially joined the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011. CU lost 10 games in a season for just the fourth time in its history, playing 13 games in a year for just the seventh time; the opener at Hawaii marked CU's first regular season game outside the continental United States since Jan. 1, 1925. TB Rodney Stewart became the first player in school history to lead the team in rushing four times, with PK Will Oliver setting the school record for most points scored by a freshman with 62. WR Paul Richardson shattered CU's single-game receiving yards record with 284 against California, with QB Tyler Hansen matching the school mark with 474 passing yards in the game. In the first meeting between the two schools in 49 years, CU closed the year with a 17-14 upset win at Utah, which prevented its long-lost rival an opportunity to play in the inaugural Pac-12 Championship game.

MEMORABLE CU OPENERS

Quite often, the first career start, or coming out party, is intertwined with making a season opener a memorable one. Perhaps the biggest example of this in Colorado history came in 1989, when sophomore Darian Hagan made his debut as CU's starting quarterback; he may or may not have won the job, but with senior Sal Aunese stricken with stomach cancer the previous March, Hagan was handed the keys to the CU offense. On the second play of the game, Hagan raced 75 yards on the option to the Texas 2, starting the Buffaloes on their way to a 27-6 win, the first triumph en route to an 11-0 record in the regular season. Hagan rushed for 116 yards and a touchdown, and passed for 95 yards and another score. Other memorable CU openers and/or game one performances include:

1937 Colorado 14, Missouri 6 Boulder

Erv Cheney scores both CU touchdowns, Byron White boots a still-CU record 83 yard punt, and for the first time in school history, there is a charge for parking on the Boulder campus (15 cents a game).

1953 Colorado 21, Washington 20 Seattle

The Buffs, a two-touchdown underdog, win in Seattle as Homer Jenkins, in his first collegiate game, did it all in CU's single-wing offense to often fill in for an injured Carroll Hardy. Jenkins threw two TD passes to Gary Knafelc, while Emerson Wilson added 87 yards on the ground and a score.

1965 Colorado 0, Wisconsin 0 Madison

The Buffs and Badgers battle to a 0-0 tie in Madison, the third-to-last scoreless tie in Division I-A history as the two combine in "hot and sticky" conditions for just 496 yards of total offense.

1971 Colorado 31, LSU 21 Baton Rouge

Charlie Davis rushes for 174 yards and two TDs in win at No. 9 LSU, the catapult to a 10-2 season and No. 3 rank.

1977 Colorado 27, Stanford 21 Boulder

Current assistant head coach Brian Cabral goes nuts as he racks up 25 tackles in CU's win.

1979 Oregon 33, Colorado 19 Boulder

The Buffs fall in the much ballyhooed first game for new head coach Chuck Fairbanks; it's also the first game televised by a fledgling sports network named ESPN that went on the air one day earlier.

1981 Colorado 45, Texas Tech 27 Boulder

Walter Stanley hauled down five catches for a CU record 222 (it still stands today), as CU's first game after a 1-10 season in 1980 exorcises some demons. Randy Essington throws for 345 yards in the win.

1989 Colorado 27, Texas 6 Boulder

In addition to Hagan's effort (see above) the CU defense stifled Texas in limiting the Longhorns to 268 yards.

1990 Colorado 31, Tennessee 31 Anaheim

Mike Pritchard subs for Eric Bieniemy at tailback and rushes for a CU season opener record of 217 yards as the Buffs open what would be their national championship season with a tie against Tennessee in Anaheim in the inaugural Disneyland Pigskin Classic.

1992 Colorado 37, Colorado State 17 Boulder

Kordell Stewart takes over from Darian Hagan and passes for 409 and 4 TDs in the win over the Rams.

1995 Colorado 43, Wisconsin 7 Madison

The NFL plucked off 10 CU starters in the draft in April, but new CU head coach Rick Neuheisel readied the Buffaloes in fine fashion as CU drilled Wisconsin in Madison. Koy Detmer threw for 267 yards and three TDs as CU scored 23 second quarter points to build a 26-7 halftime lead on the way to the win.

1998 Colorado 42, Colorado State 14 Denver

Mike Moschetti throws for 257 yards and 3 TDs in his first CU game and the first contest between the two in-state rivals in Denver at the old Mile High Stadium.

2003 Colorado 42, Colorado State 35 Denver

Joel Klatt comes in unsung and exits as the national player-of-the-week as he threw for 402 yards and 4 TDs in a 42-35 thriller over the Rams. CSU pulls even late, but Bobby Purify's 9-yard TD run wins it with :40 left.

2004 Colorado 27, Colorado State 24 Boulder

CU led the entire way, but CSU had a chance to steal it at the end; the Rams had a first-and-goal at the CU 1 with just under a minute left, but the Buffalo defense rose to the occasion and stuffed two plays, the last as time ran out, to seal the win. The Rams had fought back from 17-0 and 27-17 deficits.

2005 Colorado 31, Colorado State 28 Boulder

Mason Crosby drilled a 47-yard field goal with four seconds left to rally CU to the win. The Buffs trailed 21-10 entering the fourth quarter, having tied the game at 21 on a 48-yard Crosby kick with 2:32 left. CU turned an interception into the go-ahead touchdown, a 23-yard run by Hugh Charles, with 1:30 remaining, but CSU rallied with an 80-yard TD drive to tie the game with 36 ticks to go on the clock. Stephone Robinson returned the kickoff to the 40 and three plays later, the Buffs were in position for Crosby's winning kick, as the teams scored 20 points in just 152 seconds.

2007 Colorado 31, Colorado State 28 (OT) Denver

Kevin Eberhart dutifully waited for his chance playing behind two-time All-American Mason Crosby for three years, but when the fifth-year senior had his chance in the spotlight, he connected on field goals to force overtime and then to win the game as the Buffaloes defeated CSU, 31-28. Crosby was the hero in 2005, and this time around Eberhart made clutch kicks from 22 yards out with 13 seconds left in regulation, and then the game winner in overtime from 35 yards after Terrence Wheatley snuffed out CSU's overtime chance with an interception in the end zone. The Rams worked to a 28-17 lead early in the third quarter but were shut down after that point by a staunch Buff defense, as CU rallied from 11 down for the second time in three years against their in-state rivals.

DID YOU KNOW... Several University of Colorado graduates have made their careers in the field of sports broadcasting. The first was also a football letterman, Tom Brookshier, who did NFL color commentary for several years on CBS. Another has made his niche in broadcasting, as Dave Logan is the play-by-play voice for the Denver Broncos, following up a stellar career as an NFL receiver. One of the most visible people on the national college football beat is ESPN's Chris Fowler, a 1985 CU graduate who worked three years in CU's sports information office. Another '80s grad and SID office veteran, Jim Gray, as a reporter with NBC, made a name for himself in breaking several stories and is now with ESPN/ABC. Solomon Wilcotts, who lettered two years at cornerback and played several seasons in the NFL, worked for CBS and ESPN and is now with the NFL Network. Kevin Corke, another CU journalism grad, is now an anchor on ESPN after a long career at Denver's KUSA-TV. Behind the scenes, Peter Lasser was a top producer for TNT's NFL football coverage, and Jay Rothman is one of ABC's and ESPN's most respected producers, working college football and several other events.

Kevin Eberhart celebrating after his 45-yard field goal rallied CU to a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma in 2007

Steve Vogel

NOTE: The largest deficit CU has ever overcome to tie or take the lead in a game is 24 points. On Nov. 26, 1999, the Buffs trailed Nebraska, 27-3, early in the fourth quarter but rallied to tie the game with 2:59 remaining. A game winning field goal sailed just wide at the final gun, but the Buffs did take a 30-27 lead in over-time before succumbing to the Cornhuskers, 33-30.

TELEVISION APPEARANCES

Colorado has appeared on either national or regional television 240 times since the 1951 season, posting a 110-127-3 record in these games (53-44-2 in Boulder). The Buffaloes have been on national TV a total of 140 times, owning a 64-83-3 record (34-26-2 in Boulder). Since 1990, the Buffaloes have been one of the most televised teams in the nation, as 191 of their 270 games (71 percent) have been broadcast either nationally or regionally. The first appearance on TV by Colorado was in 1951, as the Nebraska game in Lincoln on Nov. 17 was broadcast to 19 states in the central part of the nation as part of the NCAA television testing program; an estimated 8-to-10 million people watched the Buffs win in impressive fashion. An interesting fact is that the first college football game ever televised on ESPN involved Colorado, as the fledgling cable network broadcast the Oregon-CU game on Sept. 8, 1979. A detailed look at Colorado's all-time national and regional televised games (with announcers, if known):

COLORADO VS. NO. 1 TEAMS

The Buffs are 0-10 in their history when they have come up against the number one ranked team. Colorado has played only three teams with number one rankings—Nebraska (0-3); Oklahoma (0-6) and Southern Cal (0-1). In eight of these games, the Buffs have given the nation's best a solid run for their money. Here's a look at each CU No. 1 matchup (both AP & UPI/Coaches unless otherwise noted):

NOTE: Colorado is 1-1 as the nation's No. 1 team, losing 21-6 to Notre Dame in the 1990 Orange Bowl and defeating Notre Dame 10-9 in the 1991 Orange Bowl.

DID YOU KNOW . . . That despite not having beaten a No. 1 team, Colorado has twice knocked Oklahoma out of the No. 1 slot? CU's efforts in 1957 and 1975 knocked the Sooners from No. 1 to No. 2 in the AP poll.

THE BUFFS AND THE WEATHER

Colorado's wacky weather, for the most part, has not played too much havoc with the Buffaloes through the years. Here are the last times the elements affected games in Boulder.

Snow: There has seldom been snowfall during a game in Boulder. In fact, only six times since 1949 has any real snowfall of note occurred during a game. It last happened on Nov. 11, 2000, when it snowed the entire game in a 35-27 loss to Iowa State. It marked the first time snow had fallen during a game in Boulder since 1996 (light snowfall throughout the first half in a 12-0 win over Kansas State on Nov. 16, and just the second time since 1991, when it started snowing lightly late in a 30-24 win over Kansas, also on Nov. 16. There was light snowfall in a 21-6 win over Kansas State in 1979, but nothing major. In 1971, about two feet of snow fell the morning of a 56-13 win over Wyoming; what made that day unique is that it was Sept. 18, and was CU's first home game on artificial turf. The two most famous snow games came in 1969 (a 30-7 win over Indiana where it snowed all game, and in 1949, when it was sunny at kickoff prior to a 14-7 win over Utah. But the clouds rolled in and by halftime, there were snow flurries. By game's end, there was six inches of snow on the ground. There have been major snowstorms on Fridays but the weather cleared prior to game time (in 1986 before Kansas, in 1987 and 1991 before Nebraska, and in 1992 and 1994 before Iowa State).

Rainfall: Rain during a game in Boulder is about as rare as snowfall; light rain or annoying drizzle have happened on occasion. Light rain fell sporadically during the second half of the Texas Tech game on Oct. 14, 2006. The last time there was heavy rain during a game in Boulder was in the fourth quarter in a 20-13 loss to Michigan in 1996; otherwise you have to go back to Sept. 11, 1982, in a 31-17 loss to California (Bill McCartney's first game).

'82 CU-California

'91 CU-Nebraska

Bitter Cold: There have been only three occasions where the temperature was below 20 degrees at kickoff at Folsom Field in the last 30 years. The last time was the Iowa State game in 2000 mentioned under "snow" above. On Nov. 16, 1996, it was 16 degrees at the start of both halves in a 12-0 win over Kansas State, and the mercury reached 12 degrees with a wind-chill of minus-8 in a 19-19 tie against Nebraska on Nov. 2, 1991.

Wind: Despite the Midwest and Boulder being known to experience high winds on occasion, only four times since 1985 have winds really affected a CU game. The last time was on Nov. 12, 2011, when winds gusted from 32 to 62 miles per hour in CU's 48-29 win over Arizona; the time before that was on Nov. 11, 1995, when winds gusting from 30 to 67 mph were prevalent during most of Colorado's 21-0 victory over Missouri (winds gusted from 18-35 mph in the first half of the Sept. 18, 2018 West Virginia game but subsided for the second half). On the road, the Great Plains winds were quite common, especially later in the fall; on Nov. 12, 2005, a tornado warning/sighting delayed the start of the CU-Iowa State game in Ames; winds would gust 20-45 mph throughout after a nearly two hour delay. On Nov. 9, 1991 in Stillwater, a 16-12 CU win became known for one of the gutsiest play calls in CU history—a fake field goal with 12 seconds left in the game that produced the winning points; the call was because of the wind, blowing upward of 30 mph at the end of the game.

CU'S 242-GAME SCORING STREAK

Colorado's 242-game scoring streak from 1988 to 2008 stands as the 10th longest in Division I-A college history. In the 242-game run, CU scored on its first possession 95 times, plus another three occasions where it scored on returns on its first touch of the game. The Buffs scored in the first quarter 166 times during the streak, and had it extended by halftime 219 times. Here's that list: (#—329 games including I-AA games prior to joining I-A in 1992; *—includes score on a kickoff return to start the 1998 Aloha Bowl; an interception return prior to the first offensive possession in the 2002 Alamo Bowl; and an interception return for a score on the first touch against Arizona State in 2007):

Colorado had a 154-84-4 record during the scoring streak, averaging 35.4 points in the wins and 16.4 points in the losses (and 23.5 the four tied games). The Buffs had only nine occasions where they were delayed extending the streak until the fourth quarter. The last came in 2007 in a 16-6 loss to Florida State, where it marked the latest in a game CU scored to maintain the streak; it was also the only fourth quarter touchdown in the streak that took place on fourth down. Here's a look at those occasions (*—denotes in Denver):

CU'S 1990 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1990 edition of the University of Colorado football team accomplished two of the biggest “firsts” in its storied history. The Buffaloes played the nation’s toughest schedule and posted an 11-1-1 record overall, with the win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl cementing the school’s first national championship. For the second straight year, CU logged a 7-0 record in league play, marking the first time that the Buffs had claimed the Big Eight Conference title in back-to-back years.

Colorado had flirted with the national championship just one season earlier, owning an 11-0 regular season record and entering the Orange Bowl ranked as the nation’s No. 1 team. A 21-6 loss to Notre Dame, however, ended CU’s dream season and the Buffs finished No. 4 in the national polls. Little did anyone know at the time that the Buffaloes would have the chance to redeem themselves.

Questions prior to the start of the 1990 season included, “What do you do for an encore?” and “Is Colorado for real or was last season a fluke?” Coach Bill McCartney didn’t set winning the national championship as the team goal; winning back-to-back Big Eight titles was what he wanted his men to aim for. Shooting for all the marbles includes too many variables that are out of a team’s control, while one holds its own destiny in pursuit of a league title. McCartney was not the kind to set a national title as a goal, anyway.

Joe Garten

In the Associated Press preseason poll, the Buffs were ranked No. 5; its first opponent, Tennessee in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic, was ranked No. 8.

Colorado overcame three first-quarter turnovers against the Volunteers (that was almost one-fourth of the entire turnover total of the season before) to lead 24-10 early in the fourth quarter. The Buffs couldn’t sustain the lead, and Tennessee caught CU with the game ending in a 31-31 tie.

In game two, Eric Bieniemy scored on fourth-and-goal from the one with 12 seconds remaining to give CU a 21-17 win over Stanford. This was alarming in that Stanford had the worst record in 1989 of the five non-league teams on CU’s schedule, along with the fact that the Cardinal led 14-0 at halftime and had stifled the high-powered CU offense.

Illinois dealt CU what proved to be its only loss of the season on Sept. 15, as the 23-22 defeat to the Illini sent the Buffs reeling to No. 20 in the polls. A game that Colorado should have won (CU led, 17-3, in the second quarter) turned into a loss and gave CU a 1-1-1 start. Talk of 1989 being a fluke started to surface, that CU had won only because of emotion in response to the death of quarterback Sal Aunese.

The next two games put the Buffaloes back on track, and ended talk that Colorado was not for real. A 29-22 win at No. 22 Texas, with CU rallying from a 22-14 deficit early in the fourth quarter, was the game that McCartney and the team pointed to as the turning point of the season. Then a 20-14 win over No. 12 Washington a week later reinforced the national opinion of the Buffaloes, as CU took over the No. 12 spot in the polls after its defeat of the Huskies.

Colorado came through the fierce non-league portion of its schedule with a 3-1-1 record and prepared to defend its Big Eight crown earned the season before. The Buffs topped Missouri, 33-31, in their league opener amid controversy of the now famous “fifth down.” CU’s Charles Johnson scored the game-winning touchdown as time expired on what turned out to be fifth down. The play, created through an incredible mistake by the officiating crew, and unnoticed by Missouri game administration and virtually everyone in the stadium, tainted the CU win and hurt the Buffs' image. Even though the Buffs defeated Iowa State, 28-12, the following week, Colorado had dropped back to No. 14 in the rankings though it sported a 5-1-1 record.

Still, the Buffaloes were off to a 2-0 start in league play, and improved to 3-0 with a 41-10 drubbing of Kansas at Lawrence in week three of the Big Eight season. The win pushed CU back into the top 10 (No. 10), with the "Big Reds" next up on the schedule.

Colorado knocked off Oklahoma, ranked No. 22 nationally, 32-23 to deal the one-time fourth-ranked Sooners their third straight defeat. The Buffs trailed, 14-6, late in the first half, with OU in position to kick a field goal. Greg Thomas skied to block the attempt, and quarterback Darian Hagan took over to lead the Buffs to a touchdown right before the halftime gun. Bieniemy broke free for a 69-yard TD run in the third quarter, and the Buffs pulled away in the final 15 minutes to dispose of the first of the Big Reds.

A week later, Colorado, now No. 9, traveled to Lincoln and defeated No. 3 Nebraska, 27-12, in rainy, cold and windy conditions. Bieniemy overcame five fumbles to score four touchdowns in the fourth quarter to rally the Buffaloes to the win. The end result was that Colorado had defeated both Oklahoma and Nebraska for the second straight year, and in back-to-back weeks, no less. The Buffs, with an 8-1-1 record, zoomed to No. 4 in the nation in the polls, and needed just one win in their last two games to get back to the Orange Bowl.

The Buffs steamrolled both Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) to finish the regular season at 10-1-1. The wins also marked the second straight year that CU took the Big Eight title with an undefeated 7-0 record in league play.

When Penn State knocked off Notre Dame hours after CU's win over K-State, the Buffs became the nation's new No. 1 team. Thus, as was the case in 1989, the Buffaloes entered the Orange Bowl to defend the nation's top ranking against Notre Dame, the team that lost to hand CU the No. 1 claim.

Colorado had the rare chance to play for the national championship a second straight year, and this time around, the Buffs made the most of their opportunity. Colorado overcame the loss of Hagan and Kanavis McGhee to injuries in the first half, taking the lead for good in the third quarter in defeating the Irish, 10-9. The win kicked off a wild celebration by some 20,000-plus CU fans in Miami and hundreds of thousands back home in Colorado.

McCartney's ninth Colorado team attained its goals of claiming the Big Eight title in back-to-back years, and surpassed it by winning the national championship. In the process, CU established itself among the elite in college football.

CU IN THE BIG 12 CHAMPIONSHIP

2001 COLORADO 39, Texas 37 December 1, 2001 (Irving, Texas)

IRVING, Texas — Texas Stadium just north of Dallas was supposed to be a neutral site for the sixth annual Big 12 Championship game, but it was the 7,000 or so Colorado fans who left happy as the No. 9 Buffaloes claimed their first Big 12 crown with a 39-37 win over the No. 3 Texas Longhorns.

A hostile environment was taken up a notch before the game when it was announced that No. 2 Florida had lost to Tennessee, paving the way to the national championship game in the Rose Bowl for the 10-1 Longhorns if they could beat the Buffs. And UT came out inspired, stifling the CU offense on the game's first possession and then scoring on its first drive, marching 85 yards in just six plays to take a 7-0 lead with 9:56 left in the first quarter.

Two series later, Texas was again driving and had reached the CU 22, but linebacker Aaron Killion picked off a Chris Simms pass and raced 73 yards to the UT 12. Chris Brown scored on a 10-yard run three plays later, and it ignited a 29-3 scoring spree for the Buffaloes over the next 15 minutes as the Buffs used four Longhorn turnovers to take control of the game.

On CU's next possession, Brown got things going with a 24-yard run to get the Buffs into field goal range, enabling Jeremy Flores to make good on a 39-yard kick on the second play of the second quarter. The Buffs took a 10-7 lead, one it would never relinquish, and following a Joey Johnson interception of Simms, CU was back in business at its own 36. Bobby Purify's 51-yard run to the UT 3 set up Brown's second touchdown, but Flores' PAT kick sailed left to leave CU up, 16-7. Dusty Mangum answered for the Longhorns on the very next drive with a 50-yard field goal, but on the first play of UT's next possession, DeAndre Fluellen sacked Simms and forced a fumble that Matt McChesney recovered at the Texas 22.

Bobby Pesavento hit tight end Daniel Graham on the very next play to pad the lead to 22-10, but the two point try failed. CU finished the scoring blitz when Medford Moorer picked off his first career pass three plays later and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown and a 29-10 Colorado advantage. Major Applewhite replaced Simms at quarterback for UT and hooked up with B.J. Johnson on a 79-yard scoring play on a busted coverage to slice the Buff lead to 29-17 at halftime.

Roman Hollowell, the nation's leading punt returner, brought a short UT punt back to the Texas 40 after the Buff defense forced the Longhorns into a three-and-out to open the second half. Derek McCoy made an acrobatic 33-yard catch of a Pesavento pass to get CU to the UT 13, and two plays later, Brown used an Andre Gurode block to spring free for an 11-yard touchdown run and a 36-17 score in favor of CU.

Texas added a couple of Mangum field goals to get to within 36-23 with 13:42 left in the game, and a CU fake punt that went awry saw Roderick Babers return an interception 54 yards for a touchdown to narrow the lead to 36-30 just four minutes later. But the Buffs came back with a 16-play, 51-yard drive that produced a 43-yard field goal by Flores to again make it a two-score game, but with only 1:58 remaining. Texas didn't give up the fight, as Applewhite and Johnson hooked up a 1-yard score with 31 seconds left, but Graham recovered the onside kick try to seal the Big 12 title for the Buffaloes.

Brown was the individual star with 182 yards and three TDs to lead CU, while Johnson caught four balls for 107 yards, including the two touchdowns. CU became the fifth different school in six years at the time to win the Big 12 crown, joining Nebraska (twice), Oklahoma, Texas and Texas A&M.

2002 Oklahoma 29, COLORADO 7 December 7, 2002 (Houston, Texas)

HOUSTON — Quentin Griffin rushed for 188 yards and two touchdowns and Nate Hybl passed for two more as No. 8 Oklahoma wrestled the crown away from defending champion Colorado, as the Sooners downed the No. 12 Buffaloes, 29-7, to win the 2002 Big 12 Conference title.

Some say it's hard to beat a team twice in the same season, but Oklahoma pulled it off in defeating CU for the second time in five weeks. The first time, turnovers helped do the Buffs in, but this time around, Colorado never got untracked offensively.

It looked good for CU out of the gate, as freshman running back sensation Brian Calhoun scooted around the right side for a 37-yard gain on the first play of the game. The Buffs drove to the Sooner 23 before the drive stalled, and it ended without points when Pat Brougham's 41-yard field goal try sailed wide right.

Oklahoma answered with a 13-play, 77-yard drive with Hybl throwing a touchdown pass to Trent Smith on a 3rd-and-goal from the CU 3. OU made it 13-0 after a 21-yard TD pass from Hybl to Mark Clayton five minutes into the second quarter; it culminated a 12-play, 80-yard drive, but Phil Jackson snuck through to block Trey DiCarlo's extra point kick.

Two series later, CU used runs of 25 and 23 yards by Calhoun to work to the OU 14, but again was stopped by a buckling down Sooner defense. Brougham's 32-yard field goal matched his first in missing wide right, and the half would end with Oklahoma up by 13.

Colorado got back in the game and had momentum on its side for the first half of the third quarter. The defense came out of the lockerroom and held the Sooners to three-and-out on their first series. Blake Ferguson hit a 51-yard punt, fielded by Jeremy Bloom at the Buff 20; the freshman slash Olympian raced up the gut and sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown, his second punt return score of the year, and Brougham's extra point cut the deficit to 13-7.

The Buffs held the Sooners again, and on their next possession, Brandon Drumm's 44-yard run on a third-and-2 set CU up in the red zone. But once again the drive sputtered, and Brougham's 33-yard field goal just missed wide right. The Buffs were a bit deflated after that point, and OU seized the opportunity to drive 80 yards in 11 plays, with Griffin scoring from 36 yards out. The Sooners missed the deuce and took a 19-7 lead into the fourth quarter.

Any hopes of a comeback were all but dashed when Oklahoma drove from its 5 to the CU 5 over the course of a 16-play, seven-plus minute drive. Though CU kept OU out of the end zone, DiCarlo made a 28-yard field goal to extend the Sooner lead to 22-7. Griffin's 27-yard touchdown run late in the game closed the night's scoring.

Calhoun finished with 122 yards, a sterling effort since CU was without the services of Doak Walker finalist Chris Brown and sidekick Bobby Purify, who played a few snaps in special third down situations. The Buffs managed only 67 passing yards and 193 overall, while OU piled up 401 in the turnover free game.

2004 Oklahoma 42, COLORADO 3

December 4, 2004 (Kansas City, Mo.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Colorado came into the 9th annual Big 12 Championship with no less intention than to win the game, but No. 2 Oklahoma came in on a mission to avenge its bad memories from the year before and in the end, the Sooners' will was overwhelming as OU defeated the Buffaloes in Arrowhead Stadium, 42-3.

The Buffs, who won their third North Division title in four years, were a surprise entrant in the game to many, though several also felt CU was the best team in the division despite claiming it with only a 4-4 mark. Oklahoma, on the other hand, was the No. 2 team in the nation from wire-to-wire and was out for redemption after losing 35-7 to Kansas State in the same venue in 2003.

The Sooners methodically dismantled the Buffaloes, using the run (15 plays) and pass (10) to score touchdowns on its first three possessions in taking a 21-0 lead just seven seconds into the second quarter. Fab freshman Adrian Peterson and senior quarterback Jason White, both Heisman candidates, were the stars of the Sooner Show but both had plenty of support.

Peterson had runs of 18 and 24 yards on OU's first drive, which featured three third down conversions, with White getting Oklahoma on the board with a 5-yard TD pass to Will Peoples, the fifth time CU allowed a touchdown on the game's first possession.

The Buffs' response to the opening score likely could dictate the way the game would play out. CU picked up a first down by penalty on its second play when quarterback Joel Klatt was the victim of a late hit, but two straight penalties against Colorado linemen (holding and a false start) set up a first-and-25 that the Buffs could not get out of. A 55-yard punt by John Torp, who was one of few bright spots on the night, got the Buffs out of trouble, or so it seemed.

The Sooners countered with a quick 6-play, 63-yard effort topped off by a 22-yard pass for a score from White to Mark Clayton. After the Buffs lost 10 yards on three plays when they got the ball back, the duo repeated the feat on OU's next drive in building a 21-0 lead. Peterson scored on a 1-yard after an Antonio Perkins interception of a Klatt pass put the Sooners in business at the CU 40. The 28-0 score held at intermission, and extended to 35-0 after Peterson scored on a 3-yard run to cap a 41-yard drive that ensued following a failed fourth down punt fake by the Buffaloes.

Late in the third quarter, Colorado enjoyed its best moments of the game. Lorenzo Sims picked off his fifth pass of the season and returned it 40 yards to the Oklahoma 32. The Sooner D stiffened, but the Buffs averted a shutout when Mason Crosby made good on a 34-yard field goal. Peterson added a 32-yard TD run early in the fourth to close the game's scoring.

Oklahoma gained 498 yards on offense, though CU had 10 tackles for loss, but the Sooners limited CU to its third fewest yards in history, as the Buffs netted 46 on just 44 plays from scrimmage.

2005 Texas 70, COLORADO 3

December 3, 2005 (Houston, Texas)

HOUSTON — Three turnovers and a blocked punt fueled a 56-point scoring spree in just over 19 minutes as No. 2 Texas ran away from Colorado in defeating the Buffaloes, 70-3, to win the Big 12 Conference championship game.

The Longhorns, on a mission to win their first league title since the conference's inaugural season in 1996, scored on nine of their first 10 possessions in finishing the regular season with a 12-0 record, earning a spot against USC for the national championship in the Rose Bowl.

Colorado came out of the gates decent enough, actually outgained Texas 120-101 in the first quarter, but saw two long drives end with a fumble and a blocked field goal. The 'Horns turned that first miscue, a Hugh Charles fumble, into a quick score, marching 65 yards in seven plays (and in just 116 seconds) to set the tone for the day after a -yard run by Henry Melton. UT scored again on its next possession, a 3-yard run by Jamaal Charles, to go up 14-0 just over nine minutes into the game.

Mason Crosby scored CU's only points on the afternoon with a 25-yard field goal to open the second quarter, pulling the Buffs to within 14-3. That's when Texas countered with eight unanswered touchdowns, which included three TD passes by Heisman Trophy runner-up Vince Young, with two more Jamaal Charles' scoring runs, one each by both Youngs, Vince and Selvin and a blocked punt return for a score. When the smoke cleared, the Longhorns turned an insurmountable 42-3 halftime lead into a 70-3 advantage with 7:36 left in the third quarter.

Leading by 67 and still blitzing, the Longhorns' Drew Nelson ended CU quarterback Joel Klatt's career with an illegal vicious cheap shot to the head in the third quarter. Klatt sustained a concussion, and spent the night in a Houston hospital for observation. He would miss CU's bowl game but still set 44 school records.

Five of the Texas scoring drives fell between 16 and 46 yards, as turnovers and other miscues set the Longhorns up with a short field much of the game. Texas finished with 486 total yards, including a season-high 268 yards rushing against CU's No. 2 ranked defense against the run. Colorado could not muster much offense after the first quarter, gaining just 71 yards in the final three quarters to finish with 191 on the day.

It was also the sixth straight bowl win for the CU, adding to its nation's best active streak.

Nov. 23, 2001—Colorado 62, Nebraska 36 (in Boulder)

Colorado's 62-36 win over No. 2 Nebraska sent shockwaves throughout the college football world. In scoring the most points ever against a Husker defense, the Buffaloes matched NU's 7-1 record in the Big 12 North Division with the win and earned the right to play Texas the following week in the league title game. Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and a school record six touchdowns, with Bobby Purify racing for 154 yards and one score.

Dec. 1, 2001—Colorado 39, Texas 37

(Big 12 Championship Game at Irving, Texas)

In July, when Coach Gary Barnett attended the Big 12's media day in Dallas, he asked Chris Theisen of the league office if the Buffaloes could stop by Texas Stadium on the way back to the airport. Barnett, along with seniors Andrew Gurode and Michael Lewis, who both hailed from Texas, had a mini-tour of the stadium after meeting with the press. Then as conference play began two months later, co-defensive coordinator Vince Okruch purchased a replica of the stadium, and the team soon placed the opposing team's helmet decal on it after each victory. But one was missing—Texas was the only team to defeat the Buffs during the regular season, but CU would exact its revenge and in defeating the No. 3 Longhorns, 39-37, claimed its first Big 12 title. Chris Brown followed up his stellar performance against Nebraska in rushing for 198 yards and three scores, while the Buff defense intercepted UT's Chris Simms three times in the first half.

Sept. 21, 2002—Colorado 31, UCLA 17 (at Los Angeles)

The Buffs, reeling with a 1-2 record, were coming off their worst home loss in 19 years and had a game at No. 20 UCLA. But thanks to 188 rushing yards and three touchdowns from Chris Brown, three Patrick Brougham field goals and a solid game from quarterback Robert Hodge (117 yards), CU's 31-17 win ignited the season and started an 8-1 run over the next nine games.

Sept. 4, 2004—Colorado 27, Colorado State 24 (in Boulder)

The entire program was in the midst of surviving a largely manufactured ordeal off the field, and when the season opener rolled around, the team had a lot of pent up frustration. Rival CSU was set on ruining the opener, rallying from 10 down in the final five minutes to close to within 27-24 and faced a first-and-goal from the CU 1 in the final minute of the game. But the Buffalo defense rose to the occasion, stuffing two running plays as time ran out to preserve the win.

Sept. 29, 2007—Colorado 27, Oklahoma 24 (in Boulder)

The win, which snapped a 14-game losing streak to ranked teams, was the first over a top 25 teams for second-year head coach Dan Hawkins as the Buffs rallied from a 24-7 deficit midway through the third quarter for a 27-24 win over the No. 3 Sooners. Kevin Eberhart's 45-yard field goal as time expired completed the fourth biggest comeback in school history and was only the fourth such instance in school history where the Buffs won on a score as time expired.

Nov. 23, 2007—Colorado 65, Nebraska 51 (in Boulder)

Colorado needed a win to become bowl-eligible, took a 17-7 lead over the rival Huskers only to fall behind 35-24 at halftime but scored 41 points after halftime to roll to the victory. The outburst tied the school record for the most points in a second half and prevented Nebraska from qualifying for the postseason for just the second time in four decades.

Nov. 25, 2011—Colorado 17, Utah 14 (at Salt Lake City)

In the resumption of the CU-Utah series which had been dormant since 1962, CU jumped up early on Utah, 10-0, and then held on for the win which would snap a school record 23-game road losing streak for the Buffs. It also eliminated the Utes from contention for the first Pac-12 South Division title, and was a little payback to the school which had ended CU's national championship hopes in 1961.

DID YOU KNOW?... That CU's records for rushing yards in a single game and season have a common link? In 1971, Charlie Davis rushed for 342 yards in a 40-6 win over Oklahoma State, and in 1994, Rashaan Salaam rushed for 2,055 yards en route to winning the Heisman Trophy. The link? Davis also went over the 1,000-yard mark for the season in the OSU game, doing so on a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end. Salaam went over the 2,000-yard mark in the finale against Iowa State—on a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end.

Often a play takes place which makes the difference between winning and losing, but it gets lost in the shuffle and then forgotten as time passes by. The following is a listing of some of these moments and the players who created them in the history of Colorado football:

Zack Jordan, 1952 vs. Oklahoma

CU tailback Zack Jordan's powerful right leg was the Buffs' best weapon in a 21-21 tie which was the Sooners' only blemish in what was to become a 47-game undefeated string. Jordan's 72-yard quick kick to the OU 3 set up CU's first TD. His 77-yarder put the Buffs in position for their second score. For good measure he added a 78-yard boot in the fourth period which quickly produced the setting for CU's final score. It was the finest exhibition of kicking in the nation that year and earned Jordan a spot in the NCAA record book. To make his day even more impressive, he scored all three CU touchdowns.

Frank Bernardi, 1954 vs. Missouri

It was a relatively meaningless game but Frank Bernardi played to the end as though it was for the Big Seven championship. CU's chances had faded a week earlier in Boulder with a bitter last quarter 13-6 loss to Oklahoma. The Buffs struggled to a 19-13 advantage over Missouri as time ran out in Columbia. When the Tigers scored with 1:06 left the winning PAT kick seemed a certainty. But Bernardi lined up wide at left end and used his sprinter speed to deflect the ball. The effort cost him two black eyes and a broken nose and a place in the CU record book for unlikely heroes.

John Bayuk, 1956 vs. Missouri

The forearm, not the pounding legs, of fullback John (The Beast) Bayuk provided the impetus for a 14-14 tie at Missouri which ultimately sent CU to its first Orange Bowl appearance. Beaten at the wire by Oklahoma in Boulder a week earlier, the Buffs could clinch a bowl bid with at least a tie with a Tiger team which had made a living annually by catching CU down after a tough battle with OU. Predictably, the Buffs struggled in this one, trailing 14-0 late in the third period. CU scored, then recovered a fumble at the Tiger 37. But Bob Stransky fumbled on first down. At the bottom of the pile, Bayuk was bitten by a Missouri lineman. Getting a reprieve with the 15-yard penalty, CU drove to a tying touchdown which was good enough to send the Buffs to Miami and a 27-21 win over Clemson on New Year's Day.

Chuck Weiss, 1959 vs. Oklahoma

A mighty effort by fullback Chuck Weiss preserved CU's 7-0 victory over Oklahoma, the first victory over the Sooners since the Buffs joined the Big Seven Conference. Colorado held a precarious one-touchdown lead late in the third quarter when OU quarterback Bennett Watts broke into the open from the Sooner 14. He headed for the end zone at full speed with Weiss, a power fullback not noted for his speed, in pursuit from his linebacker post on the far side of the field. Using his angle perfectly, Weiss caught Watts at the CU 17. The Buff defense held at the four and CU had a landmark triumph.

Hale Irwin, 1965 vs. Oklahoma

It was Eddie Crowder's third season at the helm and his CU team was on the way back from the depths of three straight 2-8 campaigns. A win over his alma mater's perennial Big Eight champions would be a big step forward for the Buffs. They led 10-0 nearing the half but the Sooners were rallying, driving to a first and goal with less than a minute left. The Oklahoma quarterback spotted the hole in the line and directed a play there. But CU safety Hale Irwin, better known for his golfing prowess, alertly jumped into the breach and helped jam up the play. The Sooners failed to score and CU went on to give Crowder a homecoming victory, 13-0.

Phil Irwin, 1969 vs. Oklahoma State

En route to a furious finish which saw CU annihilate Alabama in the Liberty Bowl, the Buffs needed a clutch last-second theft by linebacker Phil Irwin to preserve a 17-14 triumph over OSU in a game which CU had to win to keep its bowl hopes alive. After the Buffs seemingly had won the game with a touchdown with 1:22 left to play, the Cowboys launched an aerial attack which moved them to the CU five in less than a minute. There were 30 seconds remaining, and a Cowboy receiver was open in the end zone. The ball was headed for him when Irwin came from nowhere to intercept it. When he downed the ball there was time for one play and the Buffs had taken a big step to Memphis.

John Stearns, 1971 Bluebonnet Bowl vs. Houston

Your team is up by six, 23-17, with seven minutes remaining in the bowl game and it's fourth-and-9 from your own 10-yard line. Punt, right? Don't tell that to John "Bad Dude" Stearns. Moments earlier, Stearns had knocked the ball out of tight end Riley Odoms' hands on fourth down in the end zone to prevent Houston from taking the lead in its home stadium. So perhaps still fired up, Stearns, who doubled as CU's punter, scooped up a bad center snap, looked around, and took off downfield for the first down. He needed nine yards, and the 12 he earned were the impetus the Buffs needed to take the ball in for the clinching score. The win gave CU its best record ever at the time, 10-2, and secured the nation's No. 3 ranking (behind Big Eight rivals Nebraska and Oklahoma).

Steve Vogel & Derek Singleton, 1981 vs. Oklahoma State

Colorado is out of time outs, is faced with second-and-14 at its own 4, there's one minute left in the game, and Oklahoma State holds a 10-3 lead in Boulder. Quarterback Steve Vogel and tailback Derek Singleton would play key roles in one of the greatest comeback drives in CU history. Vogel hits Singleton on a 10-yard pass to get CU into and fourth-and-4 at its 14, and on fourth down, the two hooked up again on a 17-yard play for a first down. From there, it took CU just five plays to get into the end zone to pull to within 10-9. Vogel then found Singleton in the end zone for the two-point conversion and CU won, 11-10. There was sadness to this story, as it would be the last game ever for Singleton. He was struck with spinal meningitis the next Friday and was hospitalized in Ames, Iowa. He passed away on New Year's night in California.

Mickey Pruitt, 1985 vs. Oregon

It's year No. 4 of the Bill McCartney Era, and the second game of the season against Oregon in Boulder, while early, is important. A win would double CU's win total of the previous season and could provide momentum for CU's first winning team in six years. Oregon, trailing Colorado, 21-17, drives from its own 13 to the CU 3 and is faced with a fourth-and-goal with nine seconds left. The Buffs called for relentless pressure on Duck quarterback Chris Miller, the game obviously on the line. Miller was flushed out of the pocket, and before he could get the ball off, was sacked for a loss by sophomore safety Mickey Pruitt. The Buffs went on to finish the regular season with a 7-4 mark and earn their first bowl invitation since 1976.

Barry Helton, 1985 vs. Oklahoma State

On his way to an All-America season, punter Barry Helton might have become the first and only ambidextrous punter in Colorado, if not NCAA, history. Late in the first quarter and buried deep in their own territory, Helton came in to punt CU out of a hole at its own 18 in a scoreless tie with No. 12 Oklahoma State. A heavy Cowboy rush forced Helton, a "rightie," to his left. Instead of trying to punt the ball with his natural foot or take a loss and give OSU prime field position, to the surprise of all, he got the punt off with his left foot. It was a low line drive, but it carried and rolled for a combined 51 yards. OSU failed to move the ball and CU eventually took a 3-0 lead midway in the second quarter, but the 'Pokes rallied for a 14-11 victory. Though CU didn't win this game, Helton's "feat" won't soon be forgotten as a special record was created in the CU record books: "Longest Punt (with non-kicking foot)."

Dan McMillen, 1985 vs. Kansas

On his way to setting the Colorado school record for most quarterback sacks in a game, Dan McMillen could have lost his head. Actually, it was just his helmet. As he chased down Kansas quarterback Mike Norseth for his fifth and record-setting sack, McMillen's helmet was knocked free. But that didn't stop the Buff senior outside linebacker from running down Norseth and making the tackle. CU won the game, 14-3, and went on to post its first winning season in seven years.

Darian Hagan, 1989 vs. Texas

The season opener against Texas in Boulder was filled with anticipation, as the Buffs were nationally ranked in the preseason for the first time in 12 years, and ESPN was in town to televise the game to the entire nation. On the second play of the game, quarterback Darian Hagan set all the butterflies free as he scampered 75 yards around the left side to the Texas 2, setting up CU's first touchdown as well as the tone for the game and CU's 11-0 regular season. The Buffs went on to build a 14-0 first quarter lead and a 27-6 win.

Deon Figures, 1990 vs. Washington

Colorado, at 2-1-1 on the season and riding high after an emotional 29-22 comeback win at Texas, leads No. 12 Washington, 20-14 in the final moments. The Huskies are faced with a fourth-and-goal at the CU 7 with 1:04 left, and quarterback Mark Brunell throws a lob pass in the direction of Mario Bailey in the end zone. However, CU sophomore Deon Figures is in the way, making the game-saving interception to preserve CU's victory. Later in the same season, Figures also made an interception at the end of CU's 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, a play which prevented Notre Dame from getting into field goal range. Figures picked off the Rick Mirer pass and ran out the clock, helping CU cinch the national championship.

David Gibbs, 1990 vs. Nebraska

This game on a cold and rainy day in Lincoln had both Big Eight title and national championship implications riding on the outcome. Colorado had just taken a 13-12 lead over Nebraska, rallying from a 12-0 deficit, but the Huskers were trying to mount a comeback. Faced with a fourth-and-3 on their own 28 and seven minutes remaining, Nebraska called for a fake punt, the snap going to the upback, Tim Johnk. But the play was sniffed out by David Gibbs, who stopped Johnk for only a two-yard gain, giving possession back to the Buffs. CU scored in just five plays to take a 20-12 lead, and went on to win, 27-12, its first win in Lincoln since 1967. CU jumped from No. 9 to No. 4 in the polls, eventually going on to win the national championship.

Ron Bradford, 1991 Orange Bowl vs. Notre Dame

Bradford, a sophomore who eventually would go on to play in the National Football League, saw action in 1990 mostly in nickel situations and on special teams. However, on this New Year's night, Bradford made one of the biggest plays in CU history. Midway through the second quarter, after Notre Dame scored a touchdown to take a 6-3 lead over the Buffs, Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Colorado rallied to win the game, 10-9, with that one-point margin, courtesy of Bradford, giving CU's its first national championship in football.

Jeff Brunner & Greg Thomas, 1991 vs. Nebraska

On a frosty night in Boulder before an ESPN national television audience, two plays stand out from a game that ended in a 19-19 tie, which would lead to Colorado and Nebraska sharing the 1991 Big Eight Conference championship. The first one is best remembered because it seemed to take five minutes for Greg Biekert to return a blocked extra point 85 yards for a defensive two-point conversion; however, the play was made possible because of Jeff Brunner's block. Then later, on the game's final play and after three CU timeouts, Greg Thomas skied high to block a Byron Bennett 41-yard field goal try to preserve the tie and CU's share of the title.

Blake Anderson, 1994 vs. Michigan

Anderson, the son of CU great and college football Hall-of-Fame member Dick Anderson, made his mark at CU primarily on special teams. In fact, he was so committed to special teams play that he earned an invitation to the Hula Bowl based on that commitment. But on Sept. 24 in Ann Arbor, and Colorado trailing Michigan 26-21 with only six seconds to go, Anderson played a huge role in what would become college football's play of the decade. As time expired, Kordell Stewart threw the ball over 70 yards downfield in the direction of a quartet of CU receivers: Anderson, Michael Westbrook, Rae Carruth and James Kidd. The play, "Rocket Jet," called for Anderson to be in position for a deflection, with the other three a few yards back to make the catch. The play, so improbable it rarely worked in practice, worked to perfection. Anderson tipped the ball to Westbrook, who landed in the end zone with 0:00 on the clock to give CU a 27-26 win.

Kory Mossoni, 2001 vs. Texas A&M

The scoring line simply reads "Johnson 52 fumble return" at the tail end of the boxscore in CU's 31-21 win over the Aggies. But a closer look at the score that came with 58 seconds left in the game shows that A&M had moved from its own 9 to the CU35 in just over a minute and was already in position to possibly tie the game. Aggie quarterback Mark Farris dropped back to pass, but was rocked by a charging Kory Mossoni, with the ball literally bouncing right into Johnson's hands to set up the easy return for six. The win was the second in as many weeks over a ranked team and helped propel the Buffs to the conference championship.

Aaron Killion, 2001 vs. Texas

Under interceptions for this game, the line does read: Killion 1-73; but the implications of this one entry were huge. In the first quarter of the Big 12 Championship game, CU was dealing with a raucous Texas crowd in Irving and a 7-0 deficit. The Longhorns drove 85 yards in six plays to open the scoring, and had the ball in position for another score at the Buff 22. But Aaron Killion snared a Chris Simms pass in the flat and took it back 73 yards to the UT12. Chris Brown scored three plays later to tie the score, the first points in a 29-3 run that put the Buffs in control of the game and on their way to their first Big 12 title.

Jordon Dizon & J.J. Billingsley, 2004 vs. Colorado State

Ahead 27-24, CSU had a first-and-goal at the CU 1-yard line with 30 seconds remaining, but had no timeouts remaining. Surprisingly, former Buff Marcus Houston tried to win the game for his new team but was shellacked for no gain by freshman linebacker Jordon Dizon. Even more surprising was that CSU went for the win without spiking the ball to stop the clock, as a pitch to Tristan Walker was sniffed out by safety J.J. Billingsley, who stopped him at the CU 3 with corner Lorenzo Sims coming over to help finish the tackle and preserve the win for the Buffs.

Chase McBride, 2007 vs. Colorado State & Oklahoma

The diminutive 5-6 return man played a key role in two come-from-behind wins that opened and closed September 2007. In the season opener, with CU down 28-25 to the rival Rams, he returned a punt 43 yards to the Ram 34-yard line with 2:08 remaining, setting up a tying field goal by Kevin Eberhart that forced overtime (the Buffs won in OT on another Eberhart kick). Against OU, he returned a punt 31 yards to mid-field with 2:51 to play, which set the stage for Eberhart's 45-yard winning field goal as time ran out that gave CU a 27-24 win over the No. 3 Sooners.

B.J. Beatty & Jon Major, 2010 vs. Georgia

Just as Georgia appeared ready to spoil CU's 20th anniversary celebration of its 1990 national championship with a last-minute win, Colorado linebackers B.J. Beatty and Jon Major stepped forward and changed the script. After UGA drove to the CU 27, Beatty's strip of quarterback Aaron Murray and Major's recovery with 1:55 remaining allowed the Buffaloes to exit Folsom Field with a 29-27 victory and head into their final Big 12 Conference season with a 3-1 record.

Bill Harris finds a hole in the Air Force defense in the 1962 game.

Throughout its history, University of Colorado football fans have been treated to some special moments the last time a player or coach took the field for the Buffaloes, either in the final game of the regular season or in a bowl game. Here's a look at a few of these that stand out:

Byron White, 1937

Not a farewell game as much as it was a farewell tour for the man who would go on to become a U.S. Supreme Court Justice. In the final home game of the year, Byron White scored three second half touchdowns to defeat Colorado College, 35-6. In the final regular season game at Denver, he accounted for every CU point in a 34-7 win over the Pioneers, scoring three touchdowns, passing for two and making four extra points. Then, in the first bowl game ever for CU, he passed for one touchdown and scored another on a 47-yard interception return in a 28-14 loss to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Frank Bernardi & Carroll Hardy, 1954 vs. Kansas State

The final game of the 1954 season didn't really have anything riding on it as far as Colorado was concerned, except that it was the final game in a CU uniform for five Buffalo seniors. Kansas State, however, could have earned an Orange Bowl berth with a win and a Nebraska loss. Coach Dal Ward told the underclassmen to dedicate the final game to the quintet, and in particular, to four-year lettermen Carroll Hardy and Frank Bernardi, who had carried the team to a 6-2-1 record at that point. The Buffs would easily defeat the Wildcats, 38-14, but when Hardy and Bernardi carried the ball, they must have thought they were playing against just the clean Rocky Mountain air. The CU offensive line dominated from start to finish, as Hardy rushed for 238 yards and three touchdowns on just 10 carries, while Bernardi picked up 113 and a score on only nine tries.

John Bayuk, 1957 Orange Bowl

Known as "The Beast," John Bayuk rallied Colorado to its first-ever bowl win, a 27-21 verdict over Clemson in the Orange Bowl. He rushed for 121 yards on 23 carries and scored two touchdowns, including the game winner with 7:13 left to play.

Coach Bud Davis, 1962 vs. Air Force

Though he coached only the one season in Boulder, the transitional year between Sonny Grandelius and Eddie Crowder, the season finale in 1962 was special for Bud Davis. Heading into the rivalry game against Air Force with just a 1-8 record, CU was a Rashaan Salaam on his way to 2,000-plus yards versus Iowa State in 1994.

21-point underdog to the Falcons. But the Buffaloes gave Davis, who resigned the day of the game, a tremendous sendoff, convincingly defeating the "Zoomies," 34-10. Bill Harris rushed for 108 yards and Bill Symons scored twice to lead the Buffs.

Bobby Anderson, 1969 Liberty Bowl

He placed 11th in the Heisman Trophy balloting, but who knows where he would have finished had the voting taken place after the Liberty Bowl. Bobby Anderson led a ground game to an explosive offensive attack, as CU defeated Bear Bryant's Alabama Crimson Tide, 47-33. Anderson rushed 254 yards on 35 carries and scored three touchdowns, including a pair in the fourth quarter to seal the win for Coach Eddie Crowder's Buffaloes. And for good measure, he completed 3-of-4 passes for another 41 yards, giving him 295 yards of total offense (over half of CU's 563 on the afternoon).

Bill Roe, 1979 vs. Kansas State

The game meant nothing, except that it would signal the end of a very disappointing season for first year coach Chuck Fairbanks. But nobody told that to Bill Roe, who was a one-man wrecking crew on defense in CU's 21-6 win. He had 24 tackles in the game, the second most at the time in a game by a Buffalo, along with two interceptions.

Mike Pritchard & Others, 1990 vs. Kansas State

Colorado had already clinched the Orange Bowl, but needed to stay sharp as the Buffs moved to No. 1 in the polls after a 64-3 pasting of Kansas State in Boulder. In the final game for some 21 seniors, Mike Pritchard gained 152 yards on just four touches, scoring two touchdowns. Eric Bieniemy rushed for 115 yards in his final home game, but would lose out on the NCAA rushing title by 12 yards when he didn't play in the second half. O.C. Oliver scored for the first time since he was a freshman in 1986, and outside linebacker Alfred Williams got his wish, playing a few snaps at tight end and catching a pass for 17 yards.

Rashaan Salaam, 1994 vs. Iowa State

Only three others had accomplished what Rashaan Salaam had in front of him this November afternoon. Salaam, who went on to win Colorado's first Heisman Trophy, came into the game needing 204 yards to become the fourth player in NCAA history at the time to rush for 2,000 yards in a single season. With CU ahead, 27-13, and just under 11 minutes left in the game, Salaam had 192 in the game and 1,988 for the season, and Colorado had a first-and-10 at its own 33. He took the hand-off from Kordell Stewart and sprinted around the right side, heading 67 yards down the Colorado sidelines for a touchdown and 2,055 yards. One of the most single exciting plays in CU history, with the fans jumping up-and-down holding onto yellow placards with a simple "2,000" printed on them in black. Also in this game, Kordell Stewart became the Big Eight's all-time total offense leader with 7,770 yards, as he passed for 196 and ran for 89, also eclipsing the mark in the fourth quarter. And to cap off the day's events, head coach Bill McCartney, announced after the game that he would retire following CU's bowl game.

Coach Bill McCartney & Kordell Stewart, 1995 Fiesta Bowl

It was the rubber game in the postseason between Colorado and Notre Dame in the 1990s, as the two split a pair of Orange Bowls to start the decade, both with national championship implications for the Buffs. CU built up a 31-3 lead over an outmatched Fighting Irish team and cruised to a 41-24 victory in Bill McCartney's final game as head coach. He would exit as CU's all-time winningest head coach with a 93-55-5 record. With all eyes on Heisman winner Rashaan Salaam, who scored three touchdowns and rushed for 85 yards, Kordell Stewart had a field day against the Irish. He rushed for 143 yards and a touchdown on just seven carries, and completed 11-of-20 passes for 205 yards and another score in being named the game's most valuable player.

Bill McCartney

Koy Detmer & Rae Carruth, 1996 Holiday Bowl

The senior duo, which hooked up for 54 completions and eight touchdowns in the regular season, obliterated almost every passing and receiving record in Colorado bowl history. Detmer completed 25 of 45 passes for 371 yards and three touchdowns, while Carruth caught seven of those for 162 yards, including two touchdowns. Their first touchdown, a 76-yard bomb that got CU on the scoreboard, was the longest play from scrimmage in the Buff postseason. Colorado rallied from a 14-0 deficit to defeat Washington, 33-21.

The Class of '01, 2001 vs. Nebraska

Twenty-nine seniors suited up for the final time in their CU careers at Folsom Field. Three-and-a-half hours and nine touchdowns later, this group put a 62-36 win on the scoreboard over Nebraska, ending a nine-game losing streak to their fiercest rival.

Hugh Charles & Jordon Dizon, 2007 vs. Nebraska

Colorado needed a win to become bowl eligible, and everyone came to play, including senior tailback Hugh Charles and senior linebacker Jordon Dizon. Charles rushed 33 times for 169 yards and three touchdowns, caught one pass for 33 more, and returned five kickoffs for 125 yards; the 327 all-purpose yards were the most in 13 years and the sixth highest total in school history. Dizon closed his career at Folsom with 16 tackles, 12 solo, a third down stop and a pass deflection as CU won 65-51 and earned an invitation to the Independence Bowl.

GREAT INTRODUCTIONS—The starting lineups on ABC for the game were produced by CU alums Trey Parker, Matt Stone and Eric Stough, the creators of the Comedy Central hit South Park. An instant YouTube hit, the intros were popular and selected as the best of the year for the entire ABC/ESPN series of games.

SPRING FOOTBALL HISTORY

For 40 years, spring practice traditionally ended with a game between the Colorado Varsity and Alumni. Back at the turn of the century, an Alumni team usually served as the season opener for the varsity (13 times all told, with the Varsity owning an 11-0-2 edge in those games). The Varsity held a 20-3 edge in the old format of the spring series, which started back in 1953 under then head coach Dal Ward. After a pair of games, the series became dormant until 1963 when it was revived by Eddie Crowder. There was no game between 1974 and 1976, and the 1978 game was cancelled due to a blizzard.

A new format for the Varsity-Alumni game (implemented in 1988) had the alumni playing in the first and third quarters, with the first team of the varsity playing the second and fourth quarters. They were pitted against the second- and third-team members of the varsity, resulting in a competitive and fun game. The alumni and first-team varsity always wore black. This format was discontinued following 1992 for competitive reasons.

The all-time results of the Varsity-Alumni game:

The format for the game in 1993 and 1994 was to pit the first-team offense and defense against the remainder of the squad. The results of this series:

Year	Score	Attend.	Year	Score	Attend.
1993 — White, 24-13		2,500	1994 — Black, 45-3		1,650

An intrasquad game was started in 1987 and was dubbed the “Black & White” game (which evolved into the “Black & Gold” game). The format for this has varied through the years, depending on the health of the team; most years, the team is divided by the coaching staff into two units of comparable strength. Injuries in the 2001-03 and 2005 seasons forced an offense-defense formatted game with its own unique scoring system, and in 2006-07 the team scrimmaged due to a lack of offensive linemen. In 2008, the Black team was the first-team offense, the Gold team the second and third-teamers; that year, in response to a challenge by former head coach Bill McCartney, a CU spring record crowd of 17,800 turned out for the game. In 2010, the players drafted the teams themselves. A look at this series:

Year	Score	Attend.	Year	Score	Attend.
1987 — Black, 6-3		—	2000 — Black, 15-6		2,000

One of the most emotional moments in CU football history came at half-time of the 1989 spring game, when the varsity and alumni saluted cancer-stricken quarterback Sal Aunese (center). Aunese passed away on Sept. 23 later that same year.

Stations such as KBOL, KLZ and KHOW and personalities like Jim Kithcart, Mark Schreiber, John Henry, Starr Yelland, Pete Hansen, Bob Martin, Dick Carlson, Don Cole, Mike Wolfe, Fred Casotti, Glenn Perkins, Irv Brown and many more have called the action of CU football.

ALL-TIME LETTERMEN

Throughout the years, various standards have been used to determine who has been awarded letters at CU (as well as at every school in the nation, as all set their own criteria). From the 1930s until the late 1970s, letters were awarded based on a player seeing action in at least half of the quarters played by CU in a particular season. In recent times, criteria have ranged from a minimum of 100 plays in a season or possessing a special skill (the Bill McCartney Era) to playing at least one snap in at least one game (Rick Neuheisel Era). Under Gary Barnett, and the head coaches since, the Buffs returned to the criteria that McCartney first instituted. In addition, it has been a standing policy since 1982 to award letters to all seniors in the program, regardless of playing time.

Jersey numbers, heights and weights are generally those listed in CU publications (or other sources) in the player's final letter-winning year. Positions are listed in the terminology of the era in which the letterman played; if more than one position is listed, then that player saw substantial game time at those positions. Hometowns are usually the place from which the player came to CU, followed by the high school and any previous institution, be it a junior or senior college.

There are 1,922 known football lettermen at the University of Colorado, but information prior to 1940 is limited at best and thus some holes do exist. The list below was researched and expanded with the help of the late CU athletic historian Fred Casotti in 1999; if you have additional information on yourself or someone on this list, please call the Sports Information Office at 303/492-5626.

Victor Scott

Two Freshman Starters, Same Position, Same Game

Nov. 21, 1987 at Kansas State

Kanavis McGhee (Fr.) and Alfred Williams (Fr.), both recruits out of Houston, are the bookend outside linebackers for the first of many times in their CU careers.

Sept. 21, 1991 vs. Minnesota

Clint Moore (Fr.) and Dolyn Jackson (Fr.) are the starting offensive guards in the third game of the season; the pair also started the following week at Stanford.

Sept. 26, 1998 vs. Baylor

Victor Rogers (Fr.-RS) and Erin Huizingh (Fr.-RS) are the starting offensive tackles in the fourth game of the season.

Oct. 4, 2003 at Baylor

Sammy Joseph (Fr.-RS) and Terrence Wheatley (Fr.) started opposite one another at cornerback; two different freshmen had never started at corner at any point in the same season before in CU history, much less in the same game.

Sept. 29, 2007 vs. Oklahoma

Kevin Celestine (Fr.) and Josh Smith (Fr.) were two of four receivers that started against Oklahoma in the fifth game of the season.

RETIRED NUMBERS

#24 BYRON "WHIZZER" WHITE

Colorado's first All-American and one of the greatest students in the history of the school, Byron (Whizzer) White, retired as a justice of the Supreme Court in March, 1993, after serving 31 years on the nation's high court.

White made all the All-America teams after a brilliant 1937 season in which he led CU to an 8-0 record and Cotton Bowl bid as he set national records with 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points. Those marks, erased nationally only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules, set CU records.

White was a Phi Beta Kappa, Rhodes Scholar, two-time All-Pro halfback with Pittsburgh and Detroit, leading graduate of the Yale Law School in 1946, decorated naval intelligence officer in World War II, leading Denver attorney, and deputy attorney general for the United States. White is a member of the NFL Hall-of-Fame, the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall-of-Fame, the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame, and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team." In 1998, he was the first inductee into CU's Athletic Hall-of-Fame. He passed away at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

#67 JOE ROMIG

Romig, a two-time All-American selection, is a member of the Big Eight Hall-of-Fame and the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame. Now a senior research associate in radio physics in Boulder, Romig was the Buffs' 1961 team captain and the United Press International Lineman of the year. Romig had no peers as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle linebacker position behind a four-man line. Fast and strong, he was consistently in on most of CU's tackles.

Offensively, Romig developed into an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Like White, he was an inspirational leader gifted with extraordinary physical and mental abilities.

Romig was a tremendous student, logging straight A's in his last six semesters and building a 3.9 grade-point average. He was also a Danforth and Woodrow Wilson Scholar. A Rhodes Scholar, Joe received his master's degree in physics at Oxford University in England and a doctorate in physics at Colorado in 1975. He is a member of the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team." In 1999, he was part of the second class to be inducted into CU's Athletic Hall-of-Fame.

#11 BOBBY ANDERSON

Anderson set 18 single-game, single-season and career marks during his three-season career with the Buffs along with earning All-Big Eight and All-American honors.

A professional player with Denver (the team's No. 1 draft choice), Washington and New England, Anderson started his CU career as a quarterback but switched to tailback for the third game of his senior season (1969). In his career, he rushed for 2,729 yards and had over 5,000 yards in total offense.

Anderson concluded his Colorado career with a 254-yard rushing effort in the 1969 Liberty Bowl as the Buffs beat Alabama 47-33. He currently is a Denver-area businessman, and has worked over two decades for KOA-Radio handling pre- and post-game shows as well as sideline reporting on the CU Football Network. He is a member of CU's "All-Century Team." In 1999, he received the prestigious University Medal, awarded to those who have performed outstanding service to or for the University. In December 2006, he became the fourth Buffalo to be inducted into the College Football Hall-of-Fame.

THE NATIONAL PLAY-OF-THE-YEAR

In 1992, Nu Skin International and CoSIDA started sponsorship of "The National Play-of-the-Year," honoring the most outstanding play annually in college football. Notre Dame won the inaugural honor in 1992, but the University of Colorado won for both the 1993 and 1994 seasons. Here's a closer look at CU's winning plays:

1993 (October 16; Colorado 27, Oklahoma 10)—Lamont Warren throws a 34-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson on the halfback option play. What made it special? Warren slipped on the slick artificial surface as he threw the ball, and some 40 yards later in the end zone, Johnson made the catch on the ground after he was interfered with. The play defied imagination, and is truly appreciated when looked at in slow motion.

1994 (September 24; Colorado 27, Michigan 26)—College football's play of the decade, this effort also won an "Espy" from ESPN for the play of the year in all of sports for 1994. As time expired, Kordell Stewart throws a 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, who made the catch after a Blake Anderson deflection. CU had trailed, 26-14, with under four minutes remaining, and trailed by five with 15 seconds left on its own 15-yard line after stopping Michigan on defense.

Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College for two years where he had a brilliant career (he had to sit out the '54 season after transferring)... He was joined by John Wooten the following year, and what the pair often had to endure outside of Boulder before the civil rights movement was deplorable, but they had the full support of the university... He was so popular on campus that he was elected "King" of the annual CU Days festival... Also was one of the first blacks to play in the old Big 7 Conference... An honorable mention All-Big 7 performer as a junior, when he was second in the league in receiving... Colorado ran the single-wing during his career, so passing downfield was rare, but he led the team both years in receiving and averaged 26.6 yards for 20 catches in his career, seven of which went for touchdowns... He had one 100-yard receiving game, and it was a beauty, as he caught two passes for exactly 100, both for touchdowns, against Utah as a junior... Ended his career fifth at the time in receiving yards at Colorado... He also blocked two kicks in his career, of which he also handled most of the kickoff chores... He had one catch for 18 yards in CU's win over Clemson in the '57 Orange Bowl, and he played in the Copper Bowl All-Star game following his senior year... He was selected by Cleveland in the fifth round of the '56 NFL Draft (61st pick overall, he was eligible due to his age), and joined the Browns after his senior year at CU; he played three seasons in Cleveland and then eight (1960-67) with the Dallas Cowboys. He caught 291 passes for 5,426 yards and 50 touchdowns in 140 NFL games... His final game was in the '67 NFL Championship game against Green Bay and former teammate Boyd Dowler in what is known as the "Ice Bowl," won by the Packers, 21-17.

He became just the seventh two-time, first-team All-American in CU history, as well as only the seventh three-time, first-team All-Conference performer... Set 33 single-game, season and career records at Colorado, most notably becoming the school's all-time leading scorer with 307 points... He set or tied 19 of the school's 38 placekicking records, including all of the major marks: field goals made (66), field goals attempted (88), extra points made (109), extra point attempts (117), field goal percentage (75.0) and longest field goal made (60 yards)... He made 12 career kicks of 50 yards or longer (the previous record had been three), as he owned nine of the 14 longest kicks in CU history at the end of his career... He excelled in late game heroics, making a name for himself in the clutch: he was 14-of-18 in the fourth quarter, including 12-of-14 in the final 9½ minutes with nine kicks of 41 yards or longer and seven of them with the score of the game within six points; his only misses came his senior year: a 63-yard try against Montana State as CU tried to rally in the waning minutes (2 yards short) and a 65-yard try in a bid to tie the NCAA record without a tee against Iowa State (27-inches short)... He made 32-of-43 field goals outside of the state of Colorado, the average make from 36.8 yards and the average miss from 43.4 yards (included three blocked; 47.0 otherwise)... His 58-yard kick at Miami, Fla., in 2005 was the longest at sea level in NCAA history... In addition, he kicked off 203 times, with 138 going for touchbacks (88 through the end zone), all school records, with the average starting yardline of the opponent its 22 after his kicks; 20 of 61 returned against him were not brought out beyond the 20... In the postseason, he finished fourth all-time in scoring with 19 points in bowls (5-of-7 FG, 4-of-4 PAT), the second in kick scoring, trailing only Aldrich, one of the few records of his that he did not break... He also exited as the Big 12 Conference all-time leader in field goals made, attempted and percentage; he was selected the special teams player of the week by the conference nine times, a school record... He won a Super Bowl ring with the Green Bay Packers (for the 2010 season).

An honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1996 by the Football News, as he was the unanimous first-team All-Big 12 quarterback in the conference's inaugural season... That same year, he was a finalist for the Johnny Unitas Award and a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award... Set numerous passing records as a senior, when he passed for 3,156 yards and 22 touchdowns... Was off to a terrific start in '95 until he was sidelined with a torn ACL (he was such a gamer that after missing a game, he tried to comeback but a specially fitted brace couldn't supply enough support)... At the time of the injury, he was the nation's leading passer with a 189.4 rating... Redshirted in 1993... Started his career as a true freshman in 1992, playing in seven games including two starts (Oklahoma, Nebraska); he threw for 418 yards and five touchdowns against the Sooners, both highs in a debut for a CU starting quarterback; he also threw a 92-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson, which stood for 10 years as the longest pass play in school history... In 18 career starts, including bowls, he led CU to a 14-3-1 record... Second all-time at Colorado with 14 games of 200-plus yards passing; his five of 400 or more and seven 300-plus are school bests... Ended his career by being named the MVP of the '96 Holiday Bowl, when he completed 25 of 45 passes for 371 yards and three touchdowns in Colorado's 33-21 win over Washington... Older brother, Ty, won the Heisman Trophy as a junior at Brigham Young in 1990... A seventh round selection by Philadelphia in the 1997 NFL Draft, he spent his 10 years with the Eagles (1997-2006) and finished up at Minnesota. Though basically the back-up signal caller, he spot-started on occasion.

As a senior in 2001, he earned first-team All-America honors from the Associated Press, ABC Sports Online, CNN-SI.com, NEA and The Sporting News (the Football News tabbed him an honorable mention selection)... He was also on the watch lists for both the Outland and Lombardi awards, but did not advance to semifinalist status, which was done only eight games into the season; that was a shame as two of his most dominant performances, against Nebraska and Texas, were nationally televised games after the awards were pared down... He was a unanimous first-team All-Big 12 selection and one of the reasons Colorado averaged over 200 yards both rushing and passing for the season for only the third time in school history... He led the Buffs in domination blocks with 112, and also topped the team in touchdown blocks (21), great pass protection plays (14) and downfield blocks (48), while allowing but one-half a quarterback sack and one pressure on passing calls... He was presented with the Derek Singleton Award by the coaches for spirit, dedication and enthusiasm... sophomore and senior and both at Nebraska... A second round pick by New England in the 1995 NFL Draft (57th overall)... He spent his entire pro career with the Patriots (1995-2004).

He was a consensus first-team All-America as a senior in 2002, earning honors from the Associated Press, AFCA, Walter Camp, and The Sporting News, and was the unanimous All-Big 12 punter... He enjoyed quite a senior year, leading the nation in punting for the regular season with a 48.2 gross average and was second after the bowls (47.4); his 43.0 net average was also second nationally... Those two figures paved the way for him to win the third annual Ray Guy Award, presented to the nation's top punter... Received the team's Bill McCartney Award for outstanding special teams play as a senior... He led the NCAA in punting for three months, since the second week of the season, and averaged over 50 yards per kick well into October... Of his 61 punts overall, 16 were inside-the-20 (nine inside-the-10), with a school record 29 for 50-plus yards (10 carried 60 or more yards)... He averaged 51.5 yards per punt on CU's side of the 50, and on kicks inside the Buff 25, he averaged a gaudy 52.6 yards per punt... He set CU records for career gross (46.8) and net (41.9) average, as his season average of 48.21 bested a 52-year old school record for a single year, as he edged out Zack Jordan's 48.16 back in 1950... He earned only honorable mention all-Big 12 honors as a junior, despite the fact that he led the conference with a 44.5 average... Undrafted by the NFL (kickers rarely are in the modern 7-round draft), he signed as a free agent with New Orleans.

SS, 6-1, 205, 4L, Chicago, Ill. (Paul Robeson)

He is one of just six players in Colorado history to be afforded three-time first-team all-conference honors, as he was an All-Big Eight cornerback in 1985-86-87... His 332 career tackles set a school record for the most by a defensive back, a record that would stand for 14 years, and his 30 career pass deflections was the Buff standard for 12 seasons... He had nine career forced fumbles, the third most at CU... He led all Big Eight defensive backs in tackles as a junior (106) and senior (108)... Was a finalist for the inaugural Jim Thorpe Award in 1986... His sack of Oregon quarterback Chris Miller as time expired preserved a 21-17 Colorado win 1985, the impetus for CU's first winning season in seven years (see Big Plays Not In The Boxscore for more)... CU's most valuable player his senior year, as selected by his teammates... A member of CU's All-Century team, selected in 1989, and a first-team Big Eight All-Decade selection (1980-89)... Undrafted out of college, he signed as a free agent and played 62 games in the NFL with Chicago (1988-90) and Dallas (1991-92).

TB, 6-0, 215, 5L, Colorado Springs, Colo. (Palmer)

He battled through separations to both shoulders, along with other assorted maladies, to post the 13th 1,000-yard season in school history in 2004 as he finished the year as the conference's sixth-leading running back with 1,017 yards (43rd in the NCAA) in earning honorable mention All-Big 12 honors... He finally led the team in rushing (he entered his senior year tied for the second most career yards without doing so), and his 3,016 career total placed him third on CU's all-time list. He had 10 career 100-yard games, tying him for seventh most, and his 3,524 all-purpose yards were the fourth most ever at Colorado... With 508 receiving yards, he became the first player in school history to record 2,500 and 3,000 yards rushing and 500 yards receiving, and was only the 11th to do the 3,000/500 double at a Big 12 school... All-time at Colorado, he tied for 30th in receptions (50), was 52nd in receiving yards (508) and tied for 26th in scoring (126 points) and 16th in rushing touchdowns (20)... He had five 100-yard games as a senior, including 189 in the opener against Colorado State; he had his career high of 191 against the Rams as a sophomore in 2001... Due to injuries, one of the few in school history to earn letters in five different seasons.

An Associated Press honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1986, when he was also a unanimous all-Big Eight performer... Colorado's all-time leading tackler with 493 total stops, including 245 solo stops... Second leading tackler in the conference behind Oklahoma's Brian Bosworth his senior season... One of his two career interceptions came late in CU's 20-10 upset of No. 3 Nebraska in '86, thwarting the last Cornhusker rally... Posted three straight 100-plus tackle seasons, the first player in CU history to do so... Had five games of 20 or more tackles, the most by any Buff in school history (his career high was 23 at Oklahoma State in 1984)... Overcame several injuries in his career, ranging from knee surgery as a sophomore (he received an extra year of eligibility as the injury was in the second game), a pinched nerve in his neck and stepping on a bottle that sprayed acid into an eye... Did not play professionally, and has been an executive with Clearchannel (KOA-Radio) in Denver for several years.

OG/LB, 5-10, 199, 3L, Lakewood, Colo. (Lakewood)

The first two-time, first-team All-America in CU history, a consensus selection both times, as he made nine teams as a junior in 1960 and 11 as a senior in '61 (just missing unanimous honors by one team—the Associated Press squad; it pegged him honorable mention)... As a junior, he was a second-team choice by the AP and The Sporting News (1960)... A Playboy Preseason All-American team member prior to his senior season... He finished sixth overall in the 1961 Heisman Trophy voting, when he was the UPI Lineman-of-the-Year... He had no peer in his day as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle position behind a four-man front, consistently in on most of the stops before tackles were recorded as a statistic. On offense, he developed into an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Three-time All-Big Eight team member (1959-60-61), as was CU's team captain as a senior... One of three Buffs to have his jersey number retired (#67)... Owned a grade point average in excess of 3.9 at Colorado, and earned the prestigious Rhodes scholarship (he posted straight A's his last six semesters)... He received masters in physics from Oxford University in England... Earned his doctorate in physics from CU in 1975... The second Buffalo, joining Byron White, to be inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame (enshrined in 1984)... One of the top vote-getters in being named to CU's All-Century team, and was inducted in 1999 into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame... Also in the Big Eight Hall of Fame (inducted 1976)... Member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted in 1973) and the GTE Academic Hall of Fame (enshrined in 1989)... Has worked life-long in Boulder in the field of physics, and has also taught astronomy on UCB campus.

A consensus first-team All-American as a junior in 1989 (Associated Press, United Press International, Walter Camp and FWAA... He was an honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1990 (UPI)... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... A first-team All-Big Eight performer as a junior with gaudy averages of 45.9 per punt and a 43.8 net figure; both numbers were first in the nation... He was the only unanimous player on the all-league team at any position... He slipped to honorable mention all-Big Eight status as a senior after encountering a series of bad breaks (of his 54 punts, 15 were into breezes and 17 came in opponent territory on the other side of the 50, all while nursing a pulled groin muscle for about a third of the season)... Started his career up the road at Colorado State but transferred to CU after two seasons there... Signed as a free agent with the Denver Broncos in 1993 after having a solid '92 campaign with Ohio in the World League of American Football (WLAF)... He played in 144 games with the Denver Broncos over 10 seasons (1993-2002; punting 612 times for a 44.0 yard average)... Earned two Super Bowl rings with the Broncos in 1997 and 1998... Latched on with the New York Giants and then the Pittsburgh Steelers the second half of the 2002 season after the Broncos released him, and played with Seattle from 2003-05... Married to Olympic gold medalist swimmer, Amy Van Dyken.

The first offensive tackle at Colorado to earn All-America honors since 1979 (Stan Brock), he became the first-ever to garner consensus All-America honors at the position, afforded the honor from four of the five major outlets for that status: Associated Press, Football magazine, The Sporting News and Walter Football. He was also a finalist for the Outland Trophy as a senior, starting off being named to the prestigious All-America team... A unanimous first-team All-American as a junior and senior seasons, he earned him as the league's Offensive Lineman of the Year, when he was named the Male College Football Player of the Year.

Athlete of the Year by the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame... One of 16 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes for 2010 and the recipient of an $18,000 postgraduate scholarship, he was a finalist for the William V. Campbell Trophy (considered the “Academic” Heisman)... A four-time Academic All-Big 12 team member and two-time CoSIDA Academic All-District honoree ... He played 2,540 out of a possible 2,542 plays on offense his sophomore through senior seasons; of those, exactly 1,400 were called passing plays, and he allowed just five sacks those three years... He allowed 21 pressures overall (14 as a sophomore), so the man he was blocking influenced a pass play 26 times in those 1,400 plays, or just 1.8 percent of his career... Drafted in the first round by the New England Patriots in the 2011 draft (the 17th overall pick).

A first-team All-Big Eight performer as a senior in 1972, Stearns was the team's most valuable player that same season... Known as "Bad Dude," he was one of the fiercest hitters in the old Big Eight and made a name for himself as one of the more colorful players in CU history... He set the career record for interceptions at Colorado with 16, a number that still stood some 30 years later, with his 18 pass deflections good for third at the time of his graduation... Pulled off perhaps the "gutsiest" play in school history, when he ran for a 12-yard game out of the punt formation, from the Buff 10-yard line no less, on a 4th-and-9 play with CU nursing a 23-17 lead... In baseball at CU, he was the 1972 Big Eight batting champion (.492), the 1973 NCAA home run leader (15) and an All-American as a senior in '73... Career numbers: batting (.366), hits (169), runs scored (137), home runs (26), runs batted in (101), steals (48)... He was drafted in two sports: Buffalo snared him in the 17th round of 1973 NFL Draft, late on purpose because he was going to go the baseball route; two months later, Philadelphia selected him as the second overall pick, behind David Clyde, in the June baseball draft (catcher; Oakland had drafted him in the first round and ninth overall out of high school)... He spent less than two years in the minor leagues and ascended to the majors by the end of the '74 season, playing for the first time on Sept. 22, 1974... Traded to the New York Mets during the off-season, he would spend the next 10 seasons with the Mets in becoming one of their most popular players of all-time... In 810 career big league games, he batted .260 (696 of 2,681), with 46 home runs and 312 runs batted in... He had 91 career steals and a .984 fielding percentage... After he retired from baseball, he spent time as a coach and scout in the majors, working for the Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies and the Washington Nationals, managing several years on the triple-A level. In 2008, he managed the Nationals' AA affiliate in Harrisburg, Pa.

A second-team Associated Press All-American, the highest honor ever afforded a Colorado quarterback from the wire service (along with Darian Hagan in 1989)... The Big Eight Conference's all-time total offense leader with 7,770 yards... First-team All-Big Eight as a senior... CU's career leader in both total offense and passing yards (6,481)... First-team all-Big Eight as a senior in 1994, when he was the Buffs' most valuable player... The MVP of the '95 Fiesta Bowl, as he rushed for 143 yards and a touchdown while throwing for 205 and a TD in CU's 41-24 rout of Notre Dame... That was the first and remains the only game in school history where a player threw for 200 yards and rushed for 100... Finished 13th in the Heisman balloting that year, when teammate Rashaan Salaam won... Only player in CU history to have three 2,000-yard passing seasons... His 1,289 rushing yards were the second most by a quarterback in school history... Had 19 200-yard passing games and seven 300-yard total offense games in his career... At the time, he posted the most prolific first start at quarterback in school history, throwing for 409 yards and four touchdowns in a 37-17 win over Colorado State to open his sophomore year... Key player in college football's play of the century, when he heaved a 64-yard pass to Michael Westbrook that rallied CU to a 27-26 win as time expired at Michigan in 1994 (the game became known as "The Catch")... A second round pick by Pittsburgh in the '95 NFL Draft (61st overall)... Though nicknamed "Slash" early in his professional career because he played some wide receiver (thus a QB/WR listing on the roster), he never went out for a pass in his college career... Played eight seasons with the Steelers (1995-2002) before moving on to Chicago in 2003 and Baltimore in 2004-05... Now a sports personality on ESPN.

RODNEY STEWART

He finished his career with 3,598 rushing yards, good for second on CU's all-time list, likely winding up shy of the top spot due to missing the better part of four games with knee and ankle injuries that prevented him from catching Eric Bieniemy, his position coach as a senior... He still set nine season or career marks his senior year: most career rushing attempts (809), most career all-purpose plays (919), most career all-purpose yards (4,828—3,598 rushing, 969 receiving, 261 returns), most career yards gained from scrimmage, both overall and minimum of at least 500 yards rushing and receiving (4,567), most career receptions by a running back (93), including the mark for a single season (45), and the most season (571) and career (969) receiving yards by a running back... He also finished 10th in rushing touchdowns (25), 11th in total offense (3,635 yards) and tied for 18th in scoring (150 points)... He just missed out on becoming the 28th player in NCAA history to record 3,000 rushing and 1,000 receiving yards in a career, as he was approaching the mark before he went down with an ankle sprain early in the third quarter in the season finale at Utah... He became the first player to lead the Buffaloes in rushing for four seasons, and was just the ninth to have done it for three years in a row, one of five to have done that with at least 600 yards all three seasons.... Both career passing attempts went for touchdowns (covering 37 yards, giving him a 584.5 passer rating)... He and Lamont Warren (1991-93) are the only two players to lead the team in rushing as a freshman, sophomore and junior (Warren left after the '93 season for the NFL)... His 16 career 100-yard rushing games (season best of six in 2010) were the second most in school history (Bieniemy had 22) and were among the top six by active players in the NCAA throughout his entire senior season... His 2,744 career yards were the second most to Rashaan Salaam (3,057) through a junior year at CU... He became the first player to start a game at running back in four different seasons since Bieniemy did so from 1987-90... He was selected by his teammates as the Zack Jordan Award winner as the team's most valuable player for 2011 when he became the first player in CU history to lead the team in rushing (854 yards) and receptions (45), while finishing second with 571 receiving yards... Early in his senior year, he became just the 12th player in school history to record at least 500 yards both rushing and receiving for a career, and in 2011, was the first player at Colorado who accomplished that feat in a single season (he was the first player in the NCAA to accumulate at least 500 of each in 2011; only three other players did so for the entire year)... He signed as a free agent with his home-state Cincinnati Bengals after his CU career.

A two-time first-team All American, as he made the AFCA and Walter Camp teams as a senior in 1994 and the NEA squad as a sophomore in 1992 (the Associated Press tabbed him a second-teamer in '92; United Press International selected him honorable mention both years)... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight performer as a sophomore and a senior, he became only the third Buffalo receiver to earn all-league honors and was the first to be named twice... Exited his career as CU's all-time leader in both receptions (167) and receiving yards (2,548)... On the receiving end, via a Blake Anderson tip, of college football's play of the decade if not the century when he hauled down a 64-yard pass from Kordell Stewart after time expired to rally CU to a 27-26 win at Michigan in 1994... That play won an ESPY as the national play of the year in all sports (he's got the actual ESPY since he caught the ball)... BYRON WHITE

HB, 6-1, 185, 3L, Wellington, Colo. (Wellington)

Equally as known by his nickname ("Whizzer") and more so as Justice White... Colorado's first All-American in football, as he was a consensus selection in 1937, including from Associated Press, UPI, International News Service, NEA, LIB, Colliers Magazine (Grantland Rice) and The Sporting News... Led the nation in several categories in 1937: rushing (1,121 yards), total offense (1,596), all-purpose yards (1,970) and scoring (122 points)... Finished second in the 1937 Heisman Trophy voting... The 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points were also NCAA records, and were not broken until colleges went to a 10-game schedule in 1949... Rushed for over 100 yards seven times in that '37 season, almost unheard of in those days... As the record book evolved through the years, it is estimated that at one time, he held as many as 50 individual school marks; in fact, at the time of his death in 2002, he still held 15 records some 65 years after his graduation... One that has stood the test of time is the longest punt in Buff annals, as his 83-yard kick against Missouri on Oct. 2, 1937, often carried the footnote, "without roll"... He participated in six plays of 75 yards or longer (nine 63-plus) in his CU career (runs, returns and the mammoth punt)... The first and one of three Buffs to have his jersey number retired (#24)... He was also a .400 hitter on the baseball team, and a standout on CU's basketball squad that made the N.I.T. in 1938... The fourth overall pick in the first round by Pittsburgh in the 1938 NFL Draft, he was a two-time all-pro halfback with both the Steelers (1939) and Detroit (1940-41); in-between, he studied at Oxford... He led the NFL in rushing twice (567 yards in 1938, 514 in 1940), the first player ever to lead the NFL in rushing his first two seasons... The only player in NFL history to lead the league in rushing as a rookie (1938) for a last place team (Pittsburgh was 2-9)... Awarded the prestigious Rhodes scholarship (in 1938) after an academic career at CU where he had 180 hours of A and 6 hours of B... Hall of Fame Gold Medal Award winner in 1962... One of three inaugural members of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (1965 induction)... Presented the Theodore Roosevelt Award at the 1969 NCAA Honors luncheon... Named to CU's All-Century Team in 1989, as he received more votes than anyone else... GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame (inducted 1996)... The first inductee into the University of Colorado Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998... Awarded the Bronze Star for service in Europe during WWII... Named deputy U.S. Attorney General by President John Kennedy in 1960... Named to U.S. Supreme Court by Kennedy in 1962 and served 31 years, stepping down in 1993... Died at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

choice)... A Playboy Preseason All-American at tackle prior to his original senior year in 1976, but after he went down with a season-ending knee injury one game into the season, the Big Eight granted him an extra year of eligibility; he moved to center for the following season... Won CU's John Mack Award as the outstanding offensive lineman as selected by his teammates as a senior... He lettered at three different positions on the offensive line: guard (1973-75), tackle (1975-76) and center (1977), and is believed to be the only player in Big Eight history to have done so... He started at least one game in each season, the only known player in CU history to start games in five different years...

Owned a 465-pound bench press in college, one of the top efforts in CU history at the time; he also possessed 5.1 speed in the 40-yard dash... Played in three All-Star games after his senior campaign: the Japan Bowl, East-West Shrine Game and the Hula Bowl... A third round pick by the Los Angeles Rams in 1978 NFL Draft (80th overall), and played for the Rams as a rookie that season... basketball team for a brief stint between his junior and senior seasons; he played in one game, but didn't want to risk his football future (he had a rebound and a steal in a loss at Kansas)... A first round selection by Cincinnati in the 1991 NFL Draft (18th overall)... He played his first four years with the Bengals (1991-94; he was in on 161 tackles including 26½ quarterback sacks)... One of the first two African-American football players at CU (with Frank Clarke)... He lettered three years at guards (1956-57-58), earning AFCA All-America honors as a senior in 1958 and was a first-team all-Big Seven performer as a junior the previous year... He was described as a quick, agile tackle who provided bone-crushing lead blocks in helping to make Colorado one of the top offensive teams of his day (and also played tackle on defense)... In 1989, he was selected as a first-team member of CU's All-Century Team... A fifth round draft pick by Cleveland in the 1959 NFL Draft, he had a stellar NFL career as he played nine seasons (136 games) with the Browns and one with Washington, attaining All-Pro status in his Cleveland days... He went on to have a long career in NFL administration with Dallas, Philadelphia and Baltimore; he was in player personnel from 1975 to 1989, and was named director of pro personnel in 1989, a position he held for three years... After one year in the NFL office, where he created player programs in continuing education and financial planning among several innovations, he returned to the front office with Philadelphia (1992-97) and the Baltimore (1998-2003) as a personnel executive; with the Eagles, he was one of the first to hold the title of Vice President of Player Personnel... He retired from the NFL in 2003, and is now president of Wooten Printing, Inc., as well as Chairman of the Fritz Pollard Alliance, which works with the NFL to increase job opportunities for minorities in the league... In 2012, he became the sixth Colorado Buffalo to be selected for induction into the College Football Hall of Fame... He currently resides in Arlington, Texas.

DID YOU KNOW...

That several others also earn letters who are associated with the University of Colorado football program, even though they never dressed for a game? Student equipment managers and trainers who put in as many hours as the players also earn varsity letters for their efforts. Perhaps the most famous letterman at CU in this category is Steve Hatchell, the former commissioner of the Big 12 Conference and current president of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. Hatchell earned four letters as a student manager in the 1960s, which back then included duties such as scout team quarterback, film coordinator and caring for the grass fields. After graduating from CU with a journalism degree, he went on to work full-time in the athletic department, first in the equipment office and then as co-sports information director. His travels took him to Colorado State (SID), the Big Eight Conference (assistant commissioner) and the Orange Bowl (executive director). Prior to his service as Big 12 commissioner, he was the commissioner of the Southwest Athletic Conference.

ALL-CENTURY TEAM

The University of Colorado selected an "All-Century Football Team," as public balloting in 1989 tabbed 11 All-Americans among the top 25 selected to the 100-year squad.

Over 6,200 ballots were received in the public selection process, with over 150,000 votes cast from those ballots. Former CU players pared a list of 881 lettermen down to 118, which were in turn presented to the public for the final team selection.

Byron "Whizzer" White, the U.S. Supreme Court Justice who was CU's first All-American (1937), received 5,812 of a possible 6,265 votes. Bobby Anderson, who starred at both quarterback and tailback between 1967 and 1969, was the second leading vote-getter with 5,636, and two-way-star Joe Romig, who led CU to its first outright Big Eight Championship in 1961, was third with 5,145. White (#24), Anderson (#11) and Romig (#67) are the only Buffs to ever have their numbers retired.

One other player topped the 5,000 vote mark, as flashy Cliff Branch, whose name still frequently appears in the CU record book and who played a big part in the Buffs' No. 3 national ranking of 1971, captured 5,111 votes. The player with the fifth most votes, 3,989, was the only active Buff at the time to make the top 25, tailback Eric Bieniemy (a junior in 1989).

Joining White, Anderson and Romig as All-Americans on the century squad were Dick Anderson ('67), Pete Brock ('75), Mark Haynes ('79), Dave Logan ('75), Herb Orvis ('71) and Bob Stransky ('57).

Four players in the early years of CU football made the team, led by Walt Franklin, who played center and end between 1917 and 1921. Back Lee Willard ('21), Judge Hatfield Chilson ('25) and guard Bill McGlone ('26) round out the quartet which represents the formative seasons of CU football, when the team was known as the "Silver and Gold."

Other familiar names on the team include Hale Irwin, who starred at defensive back in the mid-60's but gained his fame on the PGA Tour; John Stearns, another pivotal player of the 1971 team who went on to be a star catcher with the New York Mets; Dave Logan, a veteran of 10-plus NFL seasons and current sportstalk celebrity in Denver; Carroll

John Wooten

John Stearns

Hardy, who played in the early 1950's and is the only man ever to pinch-hit for Ted Williams; and John Wooten, one of the first African-American players at CU who has spent several years in the scouting departments of the NFL Dallas Cowboys and Philadelphia Eagles.

The University of Colorado started an Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998, initiating the process by inducting one member, the late Justice Byron R. "Whizzer" White. Sixteen members have been presented for induction overall.

In conjunction with the Hall of Fame, CU also honors athletes who have been standout performers. So far, 36 such athletes have had their jerseys, and thus careers, honored and recognized. Twenty met the automatic criteria to be honored in 1998 (three-time all-conference selection, two-time All American, trophy winner and/or previously retired jersey).

All Hall of Fame members and those athletes who have been honored are recognized with a display case in the Dal Ward Athletic Center on the CU-Boulder campus.

1938 COTTON BOWL

Jan. 1, 1938 at Dallas, Texas

Colorado 14

In Colorado's first bowl appearance ever, the Buffaloes fell short to Rice 28-14, in the second annual Cotton Bowl. Other than the Rose Bowl, which began in 1902, bowls were relatively new in college football, as the Orange and Sugar came on the scene in 1935 and then the Cotton in 1937, with those four games considered the cream of the crop for the next 50 years.

The Buffs, champions of the Rocky Mountain Conference with an 8-0 overall record, were heavy underdogs ("4 to 1" according to newspaper articles at the time) to the Southwest Conference champion Owls, who entered the game with a 5-3-2 mark, but 5-1-1 down the stretch of the season.

It was a one-man show for both teams, as All-Americans Byron "Whizzer" White (Colorado) and Ernie Lain (Rice) dominated for their respective squads. White was involved in both Colorado scores and Lain in all four Owl touchdowns.

CU sprinted to a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter, when White threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio for the first TD, and then returned an interception 47 yards for a score five minutes later. Rice battled back and scored 21 second-quarter points to take a 21-14 lead at the half. Lain threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score.

The Owls, also called the "Feathered Flock" at the time, added the game's final score in the middle of the third quarter when Frank Steen caught an 11-yard pass from Lain. One of the major differences in the game came down to offensive style, as the passing game was much further along in the southwest and it showed in the statistics, as Rice had 158 yards passing as compared to just eight for Colorado.

Still, accounts at the time in the newspapers in both Colorado and Texas praised the CU effort, and Buff coach Bunnie Oakes blamed the outcome on CU's quick start. He told the team and reporters that things might have turned out differently had CU not gone up 14-0 and then relaxed, figuring it was easy to score. But Rice's only two turnovers had set up both Colorado scores, and the Owls didn't punt until their first series of the second half.

Lain and White were both named the outstanding players of the game.

1957 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1957 at Miami, Fla.

Clemson 21

Big Seven runner-up Colorado stormed out of the chute and had Atlantic Coast champion Clemson down 20-0 at the half as 72,552 fans yawned and went for refreshments at the 23rd Orange Bowl Classic.

But a lot of those drinks were spilled in the second half as Clemson rallied to take a 21-20 lead in the final period before the resurgent Buffs buckled up and drove for the winning score to take their first bowl triumph in history by a 27-21 score.

Fumbles, eight of them, three lost to Clemson, were a nemesis Colorado managed to overcome in the school's first national television appearance in history. One at the goal line at the end of the first half perhaps prevented CU being able to put the game away, and one on its own 27 with three minutes remaining in the game gave the Tigers one last shot to pull out the win.

Dal Ward's Buffaloes got first half touchdowns from John Bayuk, Howard Cook and Boyd Dowler to take the seemingly safe 20-point halftime lead. But Frank Howard's Tigers roared back to go ahead by 21-20 with 11:12 left in the game on a one-yard run by fullback Bob Spooner.

But the Buffs sucked it up and drove 53 yards for the winning score after a Clemson onside kick attempt following the score had failed. Eddie Dove carried four times and Bayuk three in the drive, with Bayuk getting the TD from the one-yard line with 7:13 left to play. Ellwin Indorf's kick gave CU what proved to be the winning margin.

With less than three minutes to go and facing a 2nd-and-9 on the Buff 26, Clemson's Charlie Bussey was intercepted at the 17 by Bob Stransky, nailing down the decision for the Buffs.

1962 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1962 at Miami, Fla.

Louisiana State 25

Jittery Big Eight champion Colorado was outclassed by Louisiana State's smooth football hordes, and the Buffaloes lost a 25-7 decision in the 28th Orange Bowl Classic before 62,391 onlookers.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Southeast Conference champions built up a 5-0 first quarter lead on field goal and a safety scored when Gary Kinchen blocked a Charlie McBride punt out of the end zone. Colorado came back to grab a 7-5 lead on Buff defender Loren Schweninger's 59-yard pass interception return for a score early in the second quarter.

But the Tigers then methodically dismantled the Buffaloes, and though down by only four at halftime, one had the feeling that the struggling CU offense might not be able to get going in the second half. Colorado had only three plays, for as many yards, in the first quarter, and ran just 17 for 48 in the first half.

LSU took the lead for good in the second quarter, marching 82 yards for the score with Chuck Crawford going in from the one with 8:57 left in the first half to give the Tigers an 11-7 margin that held until the half.

The Tigers scored twice quickly in the third quarter to put the game away, going 43 yards after a poor 18-yard punt and blocking another McBride punt for a touchdown just as the period ended.

Sonny Grandelius' Buffs managed only 129 yards in total offense against the LSU "Chinese Bandit" defense, while the Tigers earned 315 yards. CU had come into the game with a 9-1 mark, losing only to Utah and winning all seven Big Eight games to claim its first league crown.

1967 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1967 at Houston, Texas

Colorado 31

Miami, Fla. 21

Sophomore quarterback Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle injury and ignited Colorado's 31-21 victory over Miami, Fla. at Rice Stadium in the 9th annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

One of the more entertaining games of the '67 bowl season, there were five lead changes and neither team had a two-score lead until Wilmer Cooks put the game away with a 2-yard touchdown run with just 62 seconds to play.

Anderson, the 19-year-old Boulder-bred signal caller, led the Buffaloes on an 80-yard TD march in the third period to give the Herd a 17-14 lead. Then, after the Hurricanes recaptured the lead on the first play of the fourth quarter, Anderson sped 38 yards for a touchdown with 6:55 left in the game to put CU back ahead by 24-21. Anderson then took the Buffs 34 yards for the clinching score with 1:02 to play (Cooks' run) after Isaac Howard had picked off a Miami pass at the Hurricane 43-yard line and returned it nine yards.

The Buffs opened the scoring on a 7-yard run by Larry Plantz with just under five minutes left in the first quarter, as it took CU just two plays to capitalize on a Miami fumble. The Hurricanes answered that score on their next possession, and then took a 14-7 lead on a 77-yard interception return for a touchdown by Jimmy Dye.

Anderson was the complete player in winning game MVP honors, running for 108 yards on 17 carries, scoring two touchdowns, and completing 5-of-10 passes for 49 yards. Oddly, Anderson did not start the game, giving way to fleet Dan Kelly because of his bothersome ankle. Bobby entered the game in the second period after Miami went in front.

1969 LIBERTY BOWL

Dec. 13, 1969 at Memphis, Tenn.

Colorado 47
Alabama 33

All-American tailback Bobby Anderson and his herd of Bison stampeded into Memphis and outslugged Alabama, 47-33, before 50,042 fans and a nationwide television audience in the 11th annual Liberty Bowl.

The 80 combined points by the teams marked the most ever scored in a major bowl game, and the second most at the time in any NCAA postseason game, surpassed only by the 91 points scored in the 1968 Tangerine Bowl (a 49-42 Richmond win over Ohio U.).

Anderson, a bullish 6-0, 208-pounder, capped his All-America campaign by rushing for a Liberty Bowl record 254 yards and scoring three touchdowns. It gave him a total of 5,017 yards in total offense for his career and enabled him to become the first Big Eight player ever to hit the 5,000-yard mark for a career, including bowl games.

Fullback Ward Walsh scored twice on short runs, Dave Haney kicked a 30-yard field goal, Anderson scored from the two, and Steve Engel and Bob Masten collaborated on a 91-yard kickoff return as CU stormed to a 31-19 halftime lead. The Crimson Tide rallied to take a 33-31 lead with two third quarter touchdowns, but CU blitzed 'Bama for 16 unanswered points in the final stanza to post the win.

Defensively, the Buffaloes harassed two Tide quarterbacks all afternoon, posting eight sacks, several knock-downs and seven pass deflections. End Bill Brundige was in on five sacks for 41 yards in losses.

It was the only match up between college coaching legends, as Eddie Crowder's Buffaloes prevailed over Paul "Bear" Bryant's Crimson Tide. It was a classic, as 'Bama stormed back from 17- and 12-point deficits, but CU's resiliency won out.

A total of 16 new Liberty bowl records were set in the long and exciting afternoon in Memphis Memorial Stadium before the ABC-TV cameras.

1970 LIBERTY BOWL

Dec. 12, 1970 at Memphis, Tenn.

Tulane 17
Colorado 3

Hungry Tulane ruined Colorado's return to the Liberty Bowl and the Green Wave walked off with a stunning 17-3 upset of the Buffs as 44,640 fans shivered in the cold at the 12th annual event at Memphis Memorial Stadium.

Colorado, playing without injured quarterback Jim Bratten, and going with sophomore Paul Arendt, mounted little offense and fell to the emotional Tulane effort. CU had come into the game with just a 6-4 record, but had upset powers Penn State and Sugar Bowl-bound Air Force during the season. Tulane used the win to improve to 8-4 on the year and added CU to the list of impressive teams it had beaten, including Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina and Miami, Fla.

CU's only points came on a 32-yard second quarter field goal from Dave Haney as the Buffs managed only 175 yards in total offense after leading the Big Eight with a per-game average of almost 425 yards. Tulane's David Abercrombie returned a second half kickoff 66 yards and scored himself on runs of two and four yards to cap drives that broke a 3-3 half-time tie and sent Tulane to its eighth win of the year. Linebacker Rick Kingrea set up the second tally with a 44-yard interception return off Arendt in the final period.

The game was a total contrast to the '69 Liberty Bowl, where CU and Alabama combined for 80 points and 930 yards. This affair saw just 20 points make it to the scoreboard on just 416 yards of offense.

1971 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1971 at Houston, Texas

Houston 17

Colorado sophomore tailback Charlie Davis returned to his hometown and ripped host Houston for a whopping 202 yards on 37 carries as the Buffs whipped the Cougars, 29-17, in the 13th annual Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl Classic at the Astrodome.

Davis scored twice and was a one-man show in the first half. CU took a 23-14 lead into the dressing rooms. CU marched 70 yards in nine plays on the games first possession, and thanks to a 27-yard run by Davis, took a 7-0 lead less than four minutes into the game. After a pair of Robert Newhouse runs spotted Houston a 14-7 after the first quarter, but CU answered with a 16-point second quarter. A touchdown pass of five yards from Ken Johnson to Larry Brunson, a 32-yard field goal by J. B. Dean, and another TD run by Davis enabled the Buffs to take the nine-point halftime lead.

Houston, behind the running of Newhouse, roared back to narrow the margin to 23-17 with 2:16 left in the third quarter as Mike Terrell kicked a 29-yard field goal. Newhouse, who lost out to Davis for the game's MVP Award, had 168 yards on 35 carries and also scored twice.

Safety John Stearns was a Colorado hero in the fourth period, making the gutsiest fourth down play in school history. On a fourth-and-9 from the Buff 10, he surprised everyone, including the Buff coaching staff, by sprinting 12 yards for a crucial first down after Houston had turned the momentum around and narrowed the margin to just a touchdown on the Terrell field goal. Stearns then knocked down a sure TD pass on fourth down with the Cougars at the CU nine. The Buffs turned that one around and marched for the clinching tally with 3:48 left in the game.

CU finished the season with a 10-2 mark, its only setbacks coming at the hands of national champion Nebraska and to No. 2 Oklahoma. In the Associated Press poll, the Buffs rose to No. 3 in the final balloting with the victory over No. 15 Houston (9-3), marking the first and only time one conference had three schools finish 1-2-3.

1972 GATOR BOWL

Dec. 30, 1972 at Jacksonville, Fla.

Auburn 24
Colorado 3

Auburn, an 11-point underdog to Colorado, took command in the second period and went on to beat the Buffs, 24-3, in the 28th Gator Bowl Classic before 71,114 fans.

It was 17-0 in favor of the Tigers before CU got on the board with just 7:31 left in the game on a Freddie Lima field goal. Auburn shut off the fearsome Colorado rushing attack, limiting the Buffs to just 63 yards in 29 attempts and forced CU quarterback Ken Johnson to the air.

Auburn, sixth-ranked in the nation, took it to Colorado by capitalizing on two CU fumbles and two pass thefts. Johnson, who had directed No. 13 Colorado to an 8-3 regular season coming into the game, hit on 17 of 29 passes for 169 yards, but the Buff running game was shut down.

Garner Jett's 27-yard field goal and a fumble recovery at the Colorado 16-yard line a minute later led to the 10-0 halftime lead for Auburn. Then, in the second half, wing-back Mike Fuller hit tight end Rob Spivey with a 22-yard TD pass late in the third quarter. Holder Dave Beck threw a 16-yard TD pass off a fake field goal to Dan Nugent with just 1:10 left in the game to ice the win.

The Tigers managed only 233 yards on the afternoon, including only 153 on 58 rushing attempts, or just 2.6 per attempt, as the CU defense had 11 tackles for losses totaling 36 yards. But largely due to the turnovers, Auburn's four scoring drives consumed a grand total of only 116 yards.

Auburn finished 10-1 and moved up to a number five ranking for the season.

1975 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 27, 1975 at Houston, Texas

Texas 38
Colorado 21

Colorado rolled up a commanding 21-7 halftime lead over Texas, then kicked it away as the Longhorns rallied to a 38-21 win in the 17th Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in the Houston Astrodome before 52,748.

In the first half, Colorado built up sizeable advantages in first downs (16-5), total yards (225-89), total plays (48-20) and time of possession (20:50-9:10) in building the 21-7 edge. After overcoming Texas returning the opening kickoff to the CU 14, when Russell Erxleben's 25-yard field goal was low into the line, CU fullback Terry Kunz scored on a one-yard dive with 2:29 left in the first quarter for a 7-0 lead. Quarterback David Williams threw a four-yard TD pass to Dave Logan with 12:42 left in the second period, then added a 25-yard scoring aerial to huge end Don Hasselbeck with 0:24 left in the half to provide the two touchdown margin.

But Kunz opened the second half with a costly fumble at the Buff 34 and Texas halfback Jimmy Walker scored eight plays later to make it 21-13, though CU blocked the extra point. UT end Tim Campbell blocked a CU punt a minute later and roared 25 yards for the touchdown, with a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Marty Akins to fullback Earl Campbell tying the game at 21-21 with 10:56 left in the third quarter.

Erxleben booted an NCAA bowl record 55-yard field goal with 6:25 left in the third period to give the Longhorns a 24-21 lead. Fleet Johnny Jones scored from four yards out with 3:15 left in the third period that put the Horns a 31-21, and then added an insurance score on a 7-yard run with 5:05 left in the game.

Despite 59 points being put on the scoreboard, the game really wasn't an offensive showcase. The Buffs outgained Texas by 294-237, but CU struggled on offense in the second half, gaining only 69 yards.

1977 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1977 at Miami, Fla.

Colorado returned to the Orange Bowl as Big Eight tri-champions for the first time since 1961, but Ohio State's defense and an injury to CU middle guard Charlie Johnson in the first half killed CU's chances in a 27-10 Buckeye win before 65,537.

The Buffs got the Orange Bowl nod over Oklahoma and Oklahoma State by virtue of their wins over both schools as all finished with 5-2 league records. CU came into the game ranked No.12, while Ohio State, the Big 10 runner-up, was 8-2-1 and ranked No. 11.

Colorado opened with a bang, getting ahead 10-0 in the first quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Mark Zetterberg with 5:56 elapsed, then a touchdown pass of 11 yards from sophomore quarterback Jeff Knapple to wingback Emery Moorehead with 3:43 left. At that point, CU held a 114-to-minus 7 edge in total offense and had run 19 plays to just 6 for OSU. But Johnson, who had a quarterback sack and a pass pressure in those six plays, went down with a broken ankle. Ohio State coach Woody Hayes substituted fleet Rod Gerald at quarterback for a harassed Tom Pacenta and the Buckeye offense came alive in the second quarter.

OSU tailback Jeff Logan rambled for a 36-yard touchdown up the middle as the first period came to an end, then the Buckeyes tied it on a 28-yard field goal by Tom Skladany with 9:29 left in the half.

Ohio State engineered a 99-yard drive, capped by fullback Pete Johnson's three-yard run, with 0:20 left in the half to take a 17-10 lead into intermission. That advantage stood up until Skladany added another 20-yard field goal with 2:30 left in the third quarter to make it 20-10 in favor of OSU.

The Buffs could not do anything offensively in the second half, and a pass interception at the Colorado 28 with 3:08 left led to the final Ohio State touchdown and the winning margin of 27-10.

1985 FREEDOM BOWL

Dec. 30, 1985 at Anaheim, Calif.

Washington 20

Washington staved off a pair of late Colorado rallies and held on to defeat the Buffaloes, 20-17, in the second annual Freedom Bowl at Anaheim Stadium.

It was a close game throughout, as neither team ever held a two-score advantage. Washington took a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter on a 30-yard field goal by Jeff Jaeger. The Buffs came back to take what would be their only lead of the night early in the second quarter. Fullback Anthony Weatherspoon scored from a yard out and Larry Eckel added the point after to give CU a 7-3 edge with 5:59 remaining in the first half. The Huskies' David Toy scored on a three-yard run with only 30 seconds left in the first half to put Washington up 10-7 at intermission, capping a 14-play, 80 yard drive engineering by quarterback Chris Chandler.

Eckel tied the score at 10-10 with a 33-yard field goal with 8:41 left in the third quarter, but Washington countered three minutes later with a one-yard scoring run by Tony Covington for a 17-10 lead. Jaeger added an 18-yard field goal three seconds into the fourth quarter to make it 20-10.

All-American punter Barry Helton threw out of punt formation to Jon Embree for a dazzling 31-yard touchdown pass and Eckel added the extra point with 11:05 to go to pull CU to within three. The Buffs would get no closer, but had the ball at inside the Husky 10 in the final five minutes. Halfback Mike Marquez fumbled the ball at the two ending the drive, although television replays indicated the ground may have caused the fumble.

The game capped CU's turnaround season, as the Buffs went from 1-10 the previous year to 7-5 and captured the NCAA's most-improved team honor.

Marquez led the Buffs with 80 yards on 10 carries, while Chandler led the Huskies with 72 yards on seven tries. It was a defensive game, with each team committing just a single turnover, but Washington was penalized 13 times for 88 yards on the evening.

1986 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1986 at Houston, Texas

Baylor 21

Colorado 9

Baylor turned two Colorado turnovers into touchdowns and then thwarted two Buff scoring threats in the fourth quarter as the Bears defeated CU, 21-9, before 40,470 in attendance at Rice Stadium in the 28th Bluebonnet Bowl.

It was CU's fourth appearance in the Houston-based game, with its last two games here played indoors in the Astrodome (1971 and 1975). As in 1967, this one was played outdoors on natural grass.

Baylor drew first blood with 3:34 left in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge by Derrick McAdoo on a fourth-and-goal play. Colorado countered two drives later with a 36-yard field goal by Dave DeLine to slice the lead to 7-3 early in the second stanza. But the Buffs turned the ball over on their own eight and it took Baylor three plays to score to extend the lead to 14-3, which stood at intermission. Cody Carlson hooked up with Darnell Chase on a 2-yard pass play for the score.

CU turned the ball over on its second play from scrimmage in the second half and McAdoo scored again from a yard out to put Baylor up 21-3. The Buffs finally put six on the board late in the quarter on a 31-yard touchdown run by Mark Hatcher, but CU couldn't convert the two and score remained 21-9 in favor of the Bears.

The Buffs twice had the ball deep in Baylor territory in the fourth quarter, but the Bear defense held, as CU couldn't convert either time on fourth down. In a game dominated by defense, Baylor outgained Colorado 279-194. Each team had 12 first downs, and the Buff defense held the Bears to over 200 yards under its per-game average for the season.

The running game, CU's bread-and-butter the last two seasons, was held in check by a ferocious Bear defense. Baylor had 14 tackles for loss in holding Colorado to just 83 rushing yards on 47 attempts. CU's running defense wasn't too shabby either, as Baylor netted just 114 yards on 43 tries.

1988 FREEDOM BOWL

Dec. 29, 1988 at Anaheim, Calif.

Brigham Young 20
Colorado 17

Brigham Young's only lead of the game came when it counted the most, as Jason Chaffetz' 35-yard field goal with 2:33 remaining in the fourth quarter rallied the Cougars to a 20-17 win over Colorado in the fifth annual Freedom Bowl.

The Buffs turned a BYU turnover into seven points just two-and-one-half minutes into the game, as Eric Bieniemy scored from one yard out to cap a six-play, 49-yard drive. Pat Blottiaux's PAT kick put CU up 7-0, but the Cougars tied the score some seven minutes later on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Sean Covey to Mike Salido.

Bieniemy's second touchdown of the game, also from a yard out, enabled CU to forge ahead 14-7 with 1:04 left in the half, with the margin standing at half-time.

The Buffs couldn't convert on several scoring opportunities in the second half, and twice penetrated the BYU 20 and came away with just three points. In the meantime, Ty Detmer's 14-yard scoring strike to Chuck Cutler knotted the score at 14 with 4:46 left in the third quarter. Blottiaux made good on a 19-yard field goal early in the fourth to give CU its last lead (17-14), but Chaffetz countered with a 31-yarder before nailing the game winner in the final minutes.

Colorado outgained the Cougars, 337-320, on the evening, but its on mistakes and penalties (nine, the most in CU bowl history), added up to the fifth straight bowl loss by the Buffaloes. Detmer, a sophomore and future Heisman Trophy winner (1990), came off the bench to complete 11 of 17 passes for 129 yards and a touchdown.

Bieniemy rushed for 144 yards and two scores on 33 carries, the second highest rushing performance to date in CU bowl history, and he also led the team in receiving yards in the game with 30. Alfred Williams posted three sacks for 25 yards in losses for the Buffs on defense.

1990 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1990 at Miami, Fla.

Notre Dame 21

Fullback Anthony Johnson's second touchdown run of the game late in the fourth quarter put an end to Colorado's undefeated season and national championship hopes as Notre Dame defeated the Buffaloes, 21-6, before a record 81,191 in the 56th annual Orange Bowl Classic.

Colorado came into the game with an 11-0 record and its first-ever No. 1 national ranking. The Buffs appeared headed to the national championship in the first half, as CU dominated the line of scrimmage in gaining 186 yards, but couldn't convert on three golden scoring opportunities. Instead of leading 17-0 or 21-0 at halftime, the Buffs found themselves in a scoreless deadlock and that thanks to Gary Howe's block of a Notre Dame field goal attempt at the intermission gun.

The Irish took control of the game in the third quarter, using a two-yard scoring run by Johnson and a 35-yard touchdown run on a reverse by Raghib Ismail to take a 14-0 lead midway through the period. Colorado sliced the lead to 14-6 on a spectacular 39-yard run by Darian Hagan to close the quarter, but the PAT kick sailed wide by Ken Culbertson, leaving the Buffs eight points back.

The CU defense held Notre Dame on its next possession, and then the Buffs drove to the Irish 44 where its own stalled. With 10:27 remaining, there was still plenty of time remaining for the Buffs. But Johnson's second touchdown, a seven-yard effort, culminated a mammoth 17-play, 82-yard drive that ate up almost nine minutes on the clock. The Buffs got the ball back with 1:32 left in the game, and after Mike Pritchard returned the Irish kickoff 28 yards to the CU 41, could not get anything going prior to time running out and Hagan was intercepted on the game's final play.

The win enabled Notre Dame to end the year with a 12-1 record and a No. 2 ranking, while CU ended up No. 4 in the polls, as the 11-1 Buffs were inexplicably jumped by a 10-2 Florida State that finished No. 3. Miami, Fla., was selected the national champion.

Jan. 1, 1991 at Miami, Fla.

Notre Dame 9

In an Orange Bowl where there was no shortage of heroes for Colorado, the No. 1 Buffaloes toppled No. 5 Notre Dame, 10-9, enabling the school to claim its first-ever national championship in football. CU overcame two key injuries in rallying in the second half for the victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Buffaloes drew first blood on a 22-yard field goal by Jim Harper three minutes into the second quarter. Notre Dame came right back, marching 62 yards in nine plays, with Ricky Watters scoring from two yards out. The score remained at 6-3, however, as CU's Ronnie Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Just prior to halftime, CU lost the services of quarterback Darian Hagan (knee injury) and outside linebacker Kanavis McGhee (shoulder). Both missed the remainder of the game.

Hentrich booted a 24-yard field goal early in the second half to extend the Irish lead to 9-3. Charles S. Johnson took over at quarterback for the Buffs, with Notre Dame stopping CU cold on its first possession of the second half. On the first play of the next Notre Dame drive, Chad Brown forced Watters to fumble, with Paul Rose, subbing for McGhee, making the recovery.

Johnson, his feet now wet, coolly directed the Buffaloes to the go-ahead touchdown. Eric Bieniemy's one-yard touchdown run and Jim Harper's extra point kick late in the third quarter rallied CU into the lead. The Buffalo defense then held Notre Dame in check, as the Irish held on to the ball for only less than four minutes the rest of the game, mustering only 35 yards of total offense after CU went on top.

Colorado's road to the national championship wasn't without a couple of late scares. Notre Dame's Raghib Ismail broke loose on a punt return with less than a minute remaining, appearing to run 91 yards for a score, but CU's Tim James was clipped on the play, nullifying the gain. And with 13 seconds left in the game, the Irish still had a chance, especially with Hentrich's leg. On its own 38, a completion in the 20-25 yard range would have set up a winning field goal attempt, but Deon Figures intercepted the Rick Mirer pass at the Buff 36 and ran out the clock with a 27-yard return.

Bieniemy rushed for a game-high 86 yards on 28 carries, with Johnson earning the MVP honor, completing five of six passes for 80 yards. Defensively, the Buffs limited the "Golden Domers" to just 264 yards, and Greg Thomas picked off a pair of Mirer passes in Colorado territory. The win, which gave CU an 11-1-1 record for the season, also snapped a seven-game CU bowl-losing streak. Notre Dame finished the year with a 9-3 mark, and finished No. 6 in the nation.

Dec. 28, 1991 at Miami, Fla.

Jay Barker threw three touchdown passes and David Palmer scored twice to lead No. 8 and SEC runner-up Alabama to a 30-25 victory over No. 15 and co-Big Eight champion Colorado in the second annual Blockbuster Bowl.

Palmer scored the game's first points on a 52-yard punt return six minutes into the first quarter. The Buffaloes tied the score at 7-7 late in the quarter on a one-yard run by Scott Phillips, which was set up a Ron Woolfork blocked punt. Ted Johnson tackled Martin Houston in the endzone for a safety early in the second quarter, and then the teams traded field goals to enable CU to take a 12-10 lead at halftime.

Barker hooked up with Siran Stacy for a 13-yard touchdown play in the third quarter, only to see the Buffs come back 18 seconds later on a 62-yard scoring strike from Darian Hagan to Michael Westbrook. Barker added a 12-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Lee later in the quarter to give the Crimson Tide a 23-19 lead after three quarters. Barker and Palmer connected on a five-yard TD pass with 8:10 left in the game to put Alabama ahead 30-19, but the Buffs cut the lead to five on a 13-yard pass from Hagan to Charles Johnson with 3:30 left.

Colorado got the ball back with 1:49 left and drove to the 'Bama 33-yard line before being stopped on a fourth-and-one play with 40 seconds left. Alabama outgained CU, 307-199, running more plays (81-60) and holding on to the ball for 38:10. The game marked the debut of CU's new one-back, pass-oriented offense, which had some success. The change took place in CU's bowl practices and was surprise for the game, but at times it appeared that Alabama had found out somehow in advance because of the Crimson Tide's uncanny success on defense.

Alabama finished the season with an 11-1 mark, along with a final No. 5 ranking, while Colorado followed its first national championship season in 1990 with an 8-3-1 record and a No. 20 final ranking.

1993 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 1, 1993 at Tempe, Ariz.

Syracuse 26
Colorado 22

Kirby Dar Dar's 100-yard kickoff return at the end of the third quarter proved to be the winning points as the No. 6 Syracuse Orangemen defeated the No. 10 Colorado Buffaloes, 26-22, in the 22nd annual Fiesta Bowl.

A defensive battle in the first half saw Colorado go into intermission with a 7-6 lead, as the teams combined for just 226 total yards. A pair of John Biskup field goals saw the Orangemen take a 6-0 lead, but with 10 seconds left in the half, Kordell Stewart threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to Sean Embree on fourth down, with Mitch Berger's PAT kick giving CU the slim one-point lead at the half.

The third quarter proved to be both pivotal and wild, with 29 points scored in just over a six-minute span. David Walker's 13-yard run with 6:22 left in the quarter put Syracuse back on top, 12-7, with a two-point conversion pass falling incomplete.

Berger nailed a 38-yard field goal on CU's next possession to cut the lead to 12-10, but the 'Cuse went back up 19-10 on a spectacular 28-yard run by quarterback Marvin Graves. Stewart led the Buffs on an 82-yard drive in just over a minute, completing the march with a 16-yard TD pass to Charles Johnson, but Berger missed the point after on the slick Arizona State Stadium surface and the score stood at 19-16. The stadium floor had problems due to too many games being played on it, between the home school, ASU, the NFL Phoenix Cardinals and high school playoffs.

Dar Dar performed his heroics on the next kickoff, rambling 100 yards as time expired in the quarter. Lamont Warren scored the day's final points on a six-yard run late in the game, with Berger again missing the PAT try. The Buffs got the ball back in the final minute, but could not muster a scoring drive.

The Buffaloes outgained the Orangemen, 370-265, including a 217-64 edge in the passing game. Syracuse neutralized the CU offensive attack by netting 178 yards on kickoff returns.

1993 ALOHA BOWL

Dec. 25, 1993 at Honolulu, Hawai'i

Fresno State 30

Rashaan Salaam rushed for 135 yards and three touchdowns to lead the No. 17 Colorado Buffaloes to a convincing 41-30 victory over the No. 24 Fresno State Bulldogs in the 12th annual Aloha Bowl.

The Buffs zoomed to a 17-0 lead, scoring on their first three possessions of the game. Salaam and James Hill scored on short touchdown runs, sandwiched around a Mitch Berger field goal, as CU went up 17-0 with 9:18 left in the half. After trading field goals, Fresno State pulled as close as it would get at intermission on a fluke play. Berger's squib kickoff was first fumbled by the Bulldogs' Jamie Christian, then recovered by Malcolm Seabron and returned 68 yards for a touchdown. The play pulled FSU to within 20-10 at halftime.

Salaam sprinted into the endzone from 40 yards out early in the second half, putting the daylight back into the CU lead (27-10). Fresno never got closer than 10 the remainder of the game, as Colorado was seemingly always in control, but could never put the game fully out of reach, either. CU ran the ball at will, averaging 6.4 yards per rushing attempt, minus two quarterback sacks. Lamont Warren had 68 yards on just 10 carries, and quarterback Kordell Stewart 50 on only eight tries.

The Buffs held Fresno State to just three rushing yards on the day, but the Bulldogs did put an all-time best of 523 passing yards on the board against CU (though 333 came after CU took the 27-10 lead). Salaam was named Colorado's Most Valuable Player for the game, while Chris Hudson was the game's MVP on defense. Hudson had seven tackles, two forced fumbles, two recoveries, a quarterback sack and a pass deflection.

CU, the Big Eight runner-up, climbed to 8-3-1 with the win, while Fresno State, co-champions on the Western Athletic Conference, finished 8-4.

1995 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 2, 1995 at Tempe, Ariz.

Notre Dame 24

Kordell Stewart amassed 348 yards of total offense and he received plenty of help on both offense and defense as the Colorado Buffaloes easily defeated Notre Dame, 41-24, in the 24th annual Fiesta Bowl.

The game was Bill McCartney's "swan song" as CU head coach, with the win giving him a final record over 13 seasons of 93-55-5, the winningest in Colorado history.

Stewart, named the game's most valuable player, had 268 total yards in the first half alone, when the Buffs built a commanding 31-3 lead with 1:05 remaining. For the game, he rushed seven times for 143 yards and a touchdown and completed 11 of 20 passes for 205 yards and another score.

Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam rushed for 83 yards and three touchdowns, including back-to-back scores in the final five minutes of the first half that helped break the game open.

On defense, the Buffs switched from the 3-4 to the 4-3 for the game, and the result yielded relentless pressure on Irish freshman quarterback Ron Powlus. CU had seven sacks, including three by the defensive MVP in the game, Shannon Clavelle, along with 12 pressures. Butkus Award runner-up Ted Johnson led all players with 20 tackles, with two for losses and an interception.

The Buffs scored on five of their first six possessions, with Stewart the key fixture on each. He had a 29-yard run on CU's first touchdown drive, a 35-yard dash on the second, a 16-yard run and 46-yard pass to James Kidd on the third, and a 12-yard run to the 1-yard line on the fourth. And after Notre Dame had closed to within 31-17 late in the third quarter, Stewart sprinted 41 yards to set up a field goal, and threw a 37-yard pass to Kidd en route to CU's final score.

The Buffs amassed 472 yards on offense in just 23:43 of possession time, playing nearly the perfect game. CU did not commit a turnover and averaged just under eight yards per play in finishing the season with an 11-1 record and No. 3 national ranking. Notre Dame, unranked coming into the game, ended the year at 6-6.

Following the game, Salaam announced that he would forego his senior year and declared himself eligible for the NFL draft. McCartney handed the reins of the program over to new head coach Rick Neuheisel the following morning.

Jan. 1, 1996 at Dallas, Texas

Oregon 6

John Hessler threw for two touchdowns and ran for another and Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score as the No. 7 Colorado Buffaloes rallied from a sluggish start in easily defeating the No. 12 Oregon Ducks, 38-6, in the 60th annual Cotton Bowl.

The Buffs overcame two early turnovers and a long kickoff return, holding the Ducks to just two field goals. The defense clamped down all afternoon on the potent Oregon attack, especially when the Ducks worked into CU territory; Oregon had just the six points in nine penetrations across midfield.

Trailing 6-0, Hessler directed CU on a six-play, 80-yard drive in just 97 seconds, with Hessler running the ball in himself from a yard out on the first play of the second quarter. After the teams exchanged possessions, the Ducks drove to the CU 9, where a Tony Graziani pass was intercepted by freshman Marcus Washington, who then returned the ball 95 yards for the longest interception return for a touchdown in CU bowl history.

Washington's heroics enabled the Buffs to take a 13-6 lead into the lockerroom, as the weather continued to get worse. A light rainfall increased as the game went on, with winds gusting to 20 miles per hour, making the field conditions worsen.

Though the weather was more Oregon-like, it didn't appear to bother Colorado. The Buffaloes broke open the close game in the third quarter with three touchdowns, with a six-yard run by Troutman sandwiched in the middle of two Hessler touchdown passes to Matt Lepsis and Phil Savoy. Troutman ran over right tackle for a 55-yard gain, the longest run ever by a Buff in the postseason, to set up CU's first second-half score.

Troutman was named the game's most valuable player on offense, with Washington garnering the same honor on defense, making six tackles in addition to his interception return.

Colorado owned a 313-258 edge in total offense, but the day belonged to the defense, and Oregon averaged just 3.5 yards per play and was forced into five turnovers. The win enabled Rick Neuheisel's Buffs to finish 10-2 on the season and No. 4 in the nation (USA Today/ CNN poll; No. 5 in the Associated Press).

1996 HOLIDAY BOWL

Dec. 30, 1996 at San Diego, Calif.

Colorado 33
Washington 21

Koy Detmer and Rae Carruth completed their careers in style, rallying No. 8 Colorado from an early two touchdown deficit to defeat No. 13 Washington, 33-21, in the 19th annual Holiday Bowl.

Detmer, who was named the game's offensive most valuable player, hooked up with Carruth on a 76-yard touchdown pass with 2:25 left in the first quarter to get the Buffaloes on the scoreboard. Until that play, the Huskies used a pair of Corey Dillon touchdown runs to build a 14-0 lead, threatening CU's three-game bowl winning streak and a chance at a third straight 10-win season.

Colorado pulled even four minutes into the second quarter, when defensive MVP Nick Ziegler intercepted a Brock Huard pass and returned it 31 yards for the first touchdown of his collegiate career. Washington answered with a Jerome Pathon 86-yard kickoff return for a 21-14 lead, but those would be the last points CU would allow on the night. Darrin Chiaverini tied the score at 21 with a seven-yard TD pass from Detmer, and Jeremy Aldrich's 42-yard field goal gave CU its first lead at 24-21 with 1:50 left in the first half.

CU added nine second half points on a 36-yard Aldrich field goal and a four-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Carruth. The Buff defense held the Huskies to just 129 yards and seven first downs in the second half, and Washington's only scoring chance resulted in a blocked field goal attempt by Mike Phillips.

Detmer and Carruth respectively set CU bowl records for passing yards (371) and receiving yards (162). The Buffs had a 414-341 edge in total offense in the game, but a 373-204 edge after UW took its 14-0 lead. It was the largest deficit in CU bowl game history in which the Buffs rallied to win, and the fifth largest comeback in NCAA bowl annals.

CU finished 10-2 for second straight season, and earned a final ranking of No. 8 in the nation.

1998 ALOHA BOWL

Dec. 25, 1998 at Honolulu, Hawai'i

Oregon 43

Ben Kelly set the tone for the day by returning the opening kickoff for a touchdown, as the Colorado Buffaloes built a 30-point third quarter lead and then held off the No. 21 Oregon Ducks, 51-43, in the 17th annual Aloha Bowl.

Kelly raced 93 yards for a score to start a busy day at Aloha Stadium, as 164 points would be tallied in college football's first-ever bowl doubleheader (Air Force beat Washington, 45-25, in the Oahu Bowl later that afternoon).

Mike Moschetti set a CU bowl record by throwing four touchdown passes in the game, the first coming late in the first quarter after Jeremy Aldrich's 48-yard field goal had given CU a 10-0 lead. Javon Green caught the five-yard toss and the Buffs were up 17-0.

Moschetti, CU's most valuable player in the game, threw scoring passes of 58 yards to Marcus Stiggers and 72 yards to Darrin Chiaverini in the second quarter, as the Buffaloes built a 37-14 halftime edge. Aldrich added a pair of field goals in the quarter, and his three in the game also established a new CU postseason best.

Damen Wheeler gave CU its biggest lead of the day at 44-14 after he raced into the backfield and plucked off an Akili Smith pass and ran 52 yards for a touchdown; he actually swiped the ball while it was traveling backwards, so the play was classified an intercepted pitch. Oregon chipped away at the CU advantage and had cut it to 44-28 early in the fourth quarter, but a 57-yard drive ended by a 20-yard TD pass from Moschetti to Daniel Graham worked the lead back up to 51-28. The Ducks wouldn't give up, adding two more scores to pull to within the final score of 51-43, as the CU defense rose to the occasion the one time Oregon had the ball with a chance to tie the game. The Buff defense forced three incompletions and Hannibal Navies added a 13-yard sack to keep the Ducks at bay.

Oregon outgained CU, 535-397, but the Buffs averaged more yards per play (6.7-6.6), basically scoring at will, and forced the Ducks into six turnovers that led to 23 Colorado points. The win was Colorado's fifth straight in the bowls, giving the Buffs the nation's longest active streak. It would also be the final game for CU head coach Rick Neuheisel, who resigned two weeks later to take over as head coach at Washington.

1999 INSIGHT.COM BOWL

Dec. 31, 1999 at Tucson, Ariz.

Boston College 28

Colorado scored six first half touchdowns from its offense, defense as well as special teams in building an insurmountable 45-7 lead en route to a 62-28 thrashing of Boston College in the 11th annual Insight.com Bowl, CU's nation-best sixth bowl win in a row.

The Buffaloes took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards in 13 plays, with Cortlen Johnson's 10-yard run capping the drive to give CU a 7-0 lead. Boston College drove to the CU 26 on its first possession, but a 43-yard field goal sailed wide to take some steam out of the Eagles. Quarterback Mike Moschetti then engineered a 12-play, 74-yard drive, and called his own number to score on a 2-yard run and CU led, 14-0, with just 1:47 left in the period.

Then a barrage of returns for touchdowns sealed BC's fate. Thirty seconds and three plays after the Moschetti score, Jashon Sykes intercepted a Tim Hasselbeck pass and returned it 29 yards for a 21-0 lead. A little over four minutes into the second quarter, Rashidi Barnes did the same, stealing a Brian St. Pierre pass and rambling 21 yards into the end zone to make it 28-0. The Buffalo defense stopped the Eagles cold on their next possession, but the elation of a Kevin McMyler 55-yard punt to the CU 12 was short-lived as Ben Kelly raced 88 yards with the ball for a touchdown, the longest in NCAA bowl history, and a 35-0 Colorado lead. After George White intercepted a Moschetti pass and ran it back for a 78-yard score, Johnson added his second touchdown on the day and Jeremy Aldrich the first of two field goals for the 45-7 lead at intermission.

There were a couple of more quirky scores in the second half, as BC recovered its own fumble in the end zone for a score and got its last touchdown on a blocked punt return, but the game was over at halftime.

Johnson ran for 201 yards on just 15 carries, and was named to Sports Illustrated's All-Bowl team. CU set numerous school records and the 62 points were the third most ever scored in any bowl. And by scoring in all four quarters, the Buffs extended another amazing streak, as CU ended the 20th century scoring in 15 consecutive bowl quarters and in 26 of its last 27.

The win also gave CU a final record of 7-5 under first-year coach Gary Barnett, and it was Barnett's first win as a head coach in a bowl in three games (he was 0-2 at Northwestern before coming to Colorado).

2002 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 1, 2002 at Tempe, Ariz.

Oregon 38
Colorado 16

It was only the sixth postseason meeting ever between Nos. 2 and 3, but second-ranked Oregon proved to be too much for third-ranked Colorado as the Ducks defeated the Buffaloes, 38-16. The loss snapped CU's nation-best six game bowl winning streak.

The Buffs scored first—and last—but it was in-between when Oregon flashed the muscle of its powerful passing attack when it outscored CU 38-0 from late in the first quarter to early in the fourth.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead after Brandon Drumm's 1-yard plunge capped an 11-play, 65-yard drive at the 6:26 mark of the first quarter. But the complexion of the game changed over the course of remainder of the first half. UO's star quarterback, Heisman finalist Joey Harrington, threw three touchdown passes, including a 28-yard strike to Keenan Howry to tie the score late in the first. Two drives later, early in the second stanza, Harrington and Samie Parker hooked up on a 79-yard strike that put the Ducks up for good. He combined with Onterio Smith for a 6-yard score with 2:29 left before the half that gave the Ducks a 21-7 lead.

Two bad breaks did in the Buffs in the third quarter. With Oregon getting ball first, CU needed a defensive stop, but Maurice Morris broke at least half a dozen tackles in rambling 49 yards for a touchdown and a 28-7 UO lead less than three minutes into the half. Colorado then came back and drove to the Duck 26, where Bobby Pesavento scrambled free and hit Derek McCoy for an apparent touchdown. But the SEC official, some 20 yards behind the play, ruled Pesavento had crossed the line of scrimmage, negating the play. Television replays showed Pesavento was not over, but the call stood and took what little wind was left in CU's sails at the time.

Oregon extended the lead to 38-7, with Harrington throwing a fourth scoring pass, with 9:38 left. Colorado did get back on the board with a 39-yard field goal from Jeremy Flores and ended the game's scoring with a Craig Ochs to Daniel Graham 4-yard touchdown pass in the final seconds.

Graham set a CU bowl record with 10 receptions, but Oregon allowed CU only 49 net rushing yards after a potent Buff ground game ran up 603 in their final two regular season games. Oregon finished the season with an 11-1 record but couldn't overtake Miami in the final polls; CU closed at 10-3, ending at No. 9 in both major polls.

2002 ALAMO BOWL

Dec. 28, 2002 at San Antonio, Texas

Wisconsin 31
Colorado 28 (OT)

No. 14 Colorado didn't have much luck in the Lone Star state three weeks earlier in its 29-7 loss to Oklahoma in the Big12 Championship game in Houston, and the return to Texas just after Christmas proved just as disappointing as the Buffaloes fell in overtime to Wisconsin, 31-28, in the Alamo Bowl presented by MasterCard.

Mike Allen's 37-yard field goal in overtime, after CU failed to score to open the extra session, completed a wild rally for the Badgers. Wisconsin tied the game with 51 seconds left in regulation when quarterback Brooks Bollinger scored from a yard out, which concluded a frantic 10-play, 80-yard march in 94 seconds.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead four minutes into the contest when Donald Strickland ended an early UW threat when he picked off a Bollinger pass at the CU 9 and raced 91 yards for the game's first points. The Badgers tied the game two possessions later, capitalizing on an interception of their own with Anthony Davis scoring on a 4-yard run to top off a short 19-yard drive. CU grabbed the lead back on the final play of the quarter, going up 14-7 after quarterback Robert Hodge hooked up with D.J. Hackett on a 10-yard touchdown pass that finished off an 11-play, 83-yard drive.

But Wisconsin owned the second quarter, scoring two more touchdowns on the heels of Hodge's second and third interceptions. Bollinger hit Brandon Williams with a 10-yard TD pass and Darrin Charles with a 7-yard toss, both on third down plays as the Badgers scored their three first half scores on combined drives of just 93 yards.

San Antonio native Zac Colvin replaced Hodge for the final first half series and led the Buffs to two scores in the third quarter. As Wisconsin did in converting CU interceptions, the Buffs did the same in converting Badger fumbles into third down touchdowns. Chris Brown scored on a 4-yard run midway into the period after the Badgers fumbled a Mark Mariscal punt. Davis fumbled on the first play of Wisconsin's next drive, with Kory Mossoni recovering at the UW17. Colvin found Hackett in the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown play that put CU up for the final time, 28-21. CU managed to tie the game and take the lead on two drives that totaled all of 42 yards.

A stalemate then ensued until UW took over on its own 20 with just 2:25 remaining. The game-tying drive included two conversions on fourth downs, the first on a 4th-and-18 (a 27 yards pass from Bollinger to Williams) and the next on a 4th-and-10 (Bollinger to Charles for 28 yards).

CU ran out the clock and couldn't gain any yards on three plays in the overtime; Patrick Brougham's 45-yard field goal try sailed wide right, setting the stage for Wisconsin to grab the victory on Allen's kick.

The only other overtime game in the 2002-03 bowl season was the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, where Ohio State topped Miami, Fla., in two overtimes to win the national championship.

2004 HOUSTON BOWL

Dec. 29, 2004 at Houston, Texas

UTEP 28

HOUSTON — Joel Klatt passed for 333 yards and two touchdowns, both coming in the fourth quarter, and Tom Hubbard had two interceptions in leading Colorado to a 33-28 come-from-behind victory over the Texas-El Paso Miners in the second annual EV1.Net Houston Bowl.

The Buffaloes spotted UTEP a 14-3 first quarter lead, but held the Miners to just 191 yards while outscoring them 30-14 over the last three periods. Klatt and Hubbard were respectively named the game's offensive and defensive most valuable players, though there were many stars for the Buffaloes on this afternoon.

Mason Crosby made good on 4-of-6 field goal tries, tight end Joe Klopfenstein had a record day, punter John Torp neutralized UTEP's return game and linebackers Thaddeus Washington and Akarika Dawn combined for 16 tackles with five for losses and two quarterback sacks.

Trailing 21-19 to open the fourth quarter, UTEP answered a Buff field goal on the previous possession with a 4-play, 80-yard drive capped by a 3-yard touchdown pass from Jordan Palmer to Johnnie Higgins. That was the end of the fireworks for UTEP and it lit a fuse for the Buffaloes.

Colorado came right back on the first play of its next possession. Klatt hit a streaking Klopfenstein across the middle, with the junior breaking two tackles and outrunning a safety for a 78-yard touchdown reception. It was the longest play by a tight end in Colorado history, some 21 yards longer than the previous best. Crosby's PAT kick brought CU back to within 28-26.

The Miners then worked the ball to midfield, and on a 2nd-and-13, Palmer was intercepted by Hubbard at the Buff 28 to end the threat with 11:10 on the clock. CU immediately countered with a six play drive that covered 72 yards that had a little bit of everything.

Klatt hit Ron Monteilh for a short seven-yard gain on first down, but the next two plays yielded a zero yard rush by Bobby Purify and then an incomplete pass. On 4th-and-3, Torp faked a punt and scrambled 22 yards around the left side to give the Buffs a first down at the UTEP 43. Lawrence Vickers then rushed for four yards, and from there, Klatt hit a wide open Evan Judge on a 39-yard touchdown reception to give Colorado its first advantage since the first quarter.

UTEP went three-and-out on its next two possessions, the first of which included a sack by Washington and the second a key pass deflection by Hubbard on third down to deny the Miners a long gain. On their last drive of the game, after Torp pinned them at their own 18, the Miners earned one first down and drove the ball out to their 40, where Palmer threw four straight incompletions to turn the ball back over to CU, which ran out the clock.

CU struck first on a 26-yard Crosby field goal, with the Miners taking an 11-point edge after two touchdown runs. The Buffs pulled to within 14-13 after a Hugh Charles 1-yard run and a 54-yard field goal from Crosby. The latter was a CU postseason record, topping the old long of 49 yards set by Mitch Berger in the 1993 Aloha Bowl. Palmer threw a TD pass that covered 17 yards to Jayson Boyd to put UTEP back up, 21-13, at halftime, but two Crosby field goals, the only third quarter scoring, pulled CU back to within two after the third.

Purify led all runners in the game with 80 yards on 22 carries, while Charles added 51 on just seven tries. Klopfenstein caught five passes for 134 yards and the score.

2005 CHAMPS SPORTS BOWL

Dec. 27, 2005 at Orlando, Fla.

Clemson 19

ORLANDO — James Davis became the first player to rush for over hundred yards against Colorado for the season as the Clemson freshman ran for 150 yards and a touchdown in the No. 23 Tigers' 19-10 win over the Buffaloes in the 16th annual Champs Sports Bowl.

The game was a defensive battle, with the two schools combining for just 489 yards of total offense, with the Buffs netting just 124 against a stifling Clemson unit. Colorado had just three first downs and 38 yards of offense in the first three periods and went three plays and out in six of its first nine possessions before getting untracked in the fourth quarter.

Despite CU's struggles on offense, the game wasn't decided until 1:38 remained, when Davis scored from 6 yards out to answer the Buffs lone touchdown of the evening. Backup quarterback Brian White had replaced starter James Cox in the fourth quarter and piloted the Buffaloes on a 69-yard drive that cut the "other" CU's lead to 13-10. White rolled right on third and goal and found tight end Quinn Sypniewski for a 2-yard touchdown pass, temporarily getting the Buffaloes back in the game.

But a worn out Colorado defense couldn't muster enough energy to stop the Tigers on their next possession, who clinched the game on the Davis score after marching 61 yards in seven plays in knocking just over four minutes off the clock. James Garee blocked the extra point attempt, and the Buffs did scoop up the ball and try to return it for a defensive two points, but the Tigers were on top of it and thwarted CU on its last-ditch attempt to remain down by a single score.

Cox and White were playing because three-year starter Joel Klatt was ruled out of the game, still suffering from the effects of a concussion in the Big 12 Championship game (he suffered the injury on a vicious illegal hit by UT linebacker Drew Kelson with the Longhorns up by nine scores).

The first half produced a two-to-one lead in field goals by the runner-ups for the Lou Groza Award, as Clemson's Jad Daen opened the scoring with a 26-yard field goal in the first quarter, which was matched by Mason Crosby with a 36-yard boot on the first play of the second stanza. Dean added an 18-yard make with less than six minutes left in the half and the 6-3 Clemson lead stood at half-time.

Tiger quarterback Charlie Whitehurst capped a 67-yard drive with a 5-yard scoring run to open the second half, with the key play on the drive a 40-yard run by Davis, a bowl record and the longest against CU in two years. That put Clemson up 13-3, a score that would hold until White supplanted Cox and drove CU into the end zone for its first touchdown in 14 quarters.

White completed 7-of-12 passes for 81 yards, with Sypniewski on leading all players in the game with 50 receiving yards, including CU's longest play of the game, a 28-yard catch from White on CU's scoring drive. CU's other individual highlight came from punter John Torp, as the Ray Guy Award runner-up averaged 49.7 yards on nine kicks, including a CU bowl record long of 68, four kicks of 60-plus yards and four inside-the-20.

The only other meeting between the schools came some 49 years earlier in the 1957 Orange Bowl, with the Buffs claiming that one by 27-21.

Colorado was coached by Mike Hankwitz, who was named interim head coach after Gary Barnett stepped down on December 8 after six seasons at the reins of the program.

2007 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

Dec. 30, 2007 at Shreveport, La.

SHREVEPORT, La. — It was a game of two halves, or rather a game of fifths. Alabama owned a commanding 27-0 lead after the first 24 minutes of play, and though Colorado dominated the last three-fifths of the game, the Buffaloes fell short in their comeback, succumbing 30-24 to the Crimson Tide in the 32nd Annual PetroSun Independence Bowl.

A pair of Leigh Tiffin field goals and three touchdown passes to three different receivers by John Parker Wilson built a 27-0 lead for Alabama with 12:20 to play in the second quarter. At that juncture, the Crimson Tide also owned staggering edges in total yards (235-27), first downs (12-1) and total plays (27-12). CU picked up one first down on its next possession but then had to punt, followed by 'Bama moving from its 20 to the CU 44 in five plays with six minutes left in the half.

Then the play that would swing momentum to CU for the first time all game occurred. Wilson had completed 13-of-15 passes to that point, but Ryan Walters intercepted his next throw at the Buff 22 and returned it to the Alabama 43. From there, the offense finally exuded some confidence and marched into the end zone in eight plays, capped by a 4-yard pass from Cody Hawkins to Tyson DeVree.

The Buffs forced Alabama to punt and took over on their own 45 with 1:11 to play in the half. Hawkins and DeVree hooked up on three straight pass plays that picked up 29 yards and had CU in field goal range at the Tide 26-yard line. Hawkins spiked the ball to stop the clock and after a 1-yard pass to Patrick Williams, CU had a 3rd-and-9 at the 25 but the clock was running under 10 seconds. The Buffs took a chance for the end zone, and it paid off when Hawkins hit a streaking Dusty Sprague for the score with just four seconds on the clock. When the smoke cleared, Hawkins completed 8-of-9 passes on the two touchdown drives that brought the Buffs to within 27-14 at halftime.

Walters' interception and increased pressure on Wilson (one sack, four hurries) threw the Tide's offense off track. UA ran just six plays in the third quarter, but the Buffs couldn't capitalize. CU drove to the 'Bama 29 to open the half, but Kevin Eberhart missed a 48-yard field goal. He came back and made a 39-yard field goal that cut the lead to 10, though it was a bit of a letdown for the Buffs who had started the drive on their own 3 and had marched to the Tide 24 before a holding penalty helped stall the drive.

CU drove to the Alabama 30 on its next possession before a sack of Hawkins by Wallace Gilberry, the defensive player of the game, disrupted the drive. The teams wound up trading punts, and after CU regained possession, Hawkins was intercepted at the CU 22 by Darren Mustin. CU's defense stiffened and forced a third Tiffin field goal, but it put Alabama up 30-17 with 4:36 remaining.

The game was not over, however, as Colorado drove 69 yards in five plays in just 45 seconds. Hawkins hit DeVree for 27 yards to the 'Bama 42, and then Williams for 28 more to the 14. After two incomplete throws, he found DeVree in the back of the end zone for the touchdown, with Eberhart's PAT kick pulling CU to within one score, 30-24.

The Tide earned two first downs after CU kicked off deep, eventually punting into the end zone with one second left. From its own 20, the Buffs tried the 'ol "pass it and lateral it to whoever you can," picking up 25 yards in the process from Hawkins to Scotty McKnight, who pitched it to Daniel Sanders and he to Cody Crawford. But time ran out on CU.

Colorado rallied to outgain the Tide, 397-388, as Hawkins (322 yards, 3 TDs) and DeVree (9-94 receiving) were CU's offensive stars, while Walters (8 tackles, an interception, one sack and one PBU) and Butkus Award runner-up Jordon Dizon (14 tackles) led the Buff defense.

COLORADO PERSONNEL HISTORY

The University of Colorado has been blessed with a fiercely loyal athletic staff through the years, starting right at the top. CU has had only six faculty representatives since the end of World War II and has had but five athletic directors in its history. Not including coaches, 21 people have worked at least 15 years for the athletic department in various capacities. Five have worked over three decades: athletic director Harry Carlson (38 years), senior associate AD Jon Burianek (38), sports information director and assistant/associate athletic director Fred Casotti (35), equipment manager Silver Akins (34), and business manager/assistant AD Kayo Lam (31). The most famous all-time short stint at CU? That could be Wayne Duke, who was SID for a year (1950) before eventually becoming commissioner of the Big Ten Conference. Here's a look at who's held some of the more notable managerial and support positions in the history of CU athletics:

- Nov. 17, 1898—Colorado plays first opponent from outside the state boundaries, losing to Nebraska in Boulder, 23-10.

The same year Colorado officially became a state, 1876, the University of Colorado was founded and opened with 44 students and a faculty of two, one of whom was the president.

Baseball was the first varsity sport at the U. of C. as it was then called. Football in its earlier form soon followed, though it was more like soccer when the program was born in the 1880s. But it soon evolved into a more popular form of the sport, referred to as rugby football, one which offered more physical contact and much more scoring.

In the fall of 1890, intercollegiate varsity football was born at the U. of C., in concert with the sport spreading west as many programs began that same year. Only 12 schools currently playing Division I-A football (now the Football Bowl Subdivision) started their programs before Colorado.

Football in 1890 was nothing like today's game. It used a rugby-type ball on a 110-yard long field and there were three downs instead of four. A touchdown was worth four points, a placement kick after a TD two and a field goal good for five. The games had two 45-minute halves with a running clock, just like today's soccer.

In the early 1890s, only the U. of C., the Colorado School of Mines and Denver University fielded football programs. The schedule often included Athletic Clubs, Athletic Associations, other local clubs and high schools. While playing opponents from neighboring or distant states was common back east, Colorado did not play a team from outside the state's borders until the ninth year of its existence.

The 1890 team was memorable only for its being the school's first. Tom Edmundson was the quarterback and the team captain, and for all intensive purposes, was the coach as well; it wouldn't be until the fifth year of the program a full-time coach was hired to run the program.

The first game was played in the afternoon on Saturday, November 15, 1890, in Denver against the Denver Athletic Club. The DAC scored five touchdowns and won 20-0, but it was a costly loss for Colorado as Edmundson was injured and lost for the season while four other players were also hurt. CU had used only 12 men in that first game, so by its end, almost half were banged up pretty bad.

It showed the next Saturday in the program's first home game against a veteran Colorado Mines team, considered by many to be the top team in the west. Pat Carney took over at quarterback, but he was inexperienced, and with CU practicing more like a soccer team than a rugby team, Mines had its way and won 103-0. The game was played on a campus field, more dirt than grass; only five buildings comprised the university at the time, including two which still stand today, Old Main and Woodbury.

Game three was scheduled the next Saturday (Nov. 29) against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association, but was delayed a week when the train which was to take CU to the Springs was two hours late, forcing its postponement. The delay didn't help CU, as it made it to the game on time the following Saturday but lost, 44-0.

The final game of that first season was a rematch with Colorado Mines, again in Boulder. The Blasters (now called the Orediggers) won this time by a 50-4 margin, but the U. of C. scored its first touchdown. It was by the defense, however, as George Darley recovered a Mines fumble and returned it 65 yards for the score. It was still the fifth longest fumble return and seventh longest miscellaneous return in school history through the 2007 season.

Game One: The Starting Lineup

Here were the 11 starters on the field when CU lined up across from the Denver Athletic Club team on November 15, 1890:

End	Ed Ingram, Boulder
End	John Nixon, Greeley
Tackle	George Darley, Alamosa
Tackle	Delos Holden, Boulder
Guard	Howell Givens, Denver
Guard	Harry Layton, New York, N.Y.
Center	Charles McConnell, Unknown
Quarterback	Tom Edmundson, Bisbee, Ariz.
Halfback	Homer James, Estes Park
Halfback	Wesley Putman, Denver
Fullback	Bert Kennedy, Denver

So the first season in the books came to an end. Colorado has never gone winless since, and the 103-point loss to Mines still stands as the worst loss in program history. Two memories no one wants now, as well as most likely then.

Colorado was much more competitive in its second season, but still stood 0-4 and had scored just six points going into the 1891 finale on the road against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association, a club team comprised mostly of Colorado College students. Carney, now seasoned at quarterback, played brilliantly according to accounts of the game and led the way in the school's first-ever win, returning to Boulder with a 24-4 victory and a 1-4 record.

The foundation had been set. Over the next 23 years, the U. of C. would enjoy 20 winning seasons, including the school's first in 1892. Opening with a pair of wins over Denver, either both by 46-0 scores or 26-0 on the road and then 46-0 at home (historical accounts differ), Colorado dropped November games to Colorado Mines and the Denver Athletic Club to finish the "fall" season at 2-2. But there would be one more game.

Colorado A&M challenged the state's flagship university to a game, and two would meet on February 10, 1893, in Fort Collins. It was the birth of a rivalry that has seen 79 games through 2007, but the initial encounter remains one of the most lopsided in the series, as Colorado poured it on in a 70-6 win over the Aggies. The game counted on the 1892 record and officially gave the U. of C. a 3-2 mark.

Prior to the 1893 season, the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association was formed, as the state's first conference included five schools: Colorado, Colorado A&M, Colorado College, Colorado Mines and Denver (it was also referred to as the Colorado Football Association). The team was still primarily coached by the captains, Edmundson and John Nixon in 1890 and Carney the next three seasons. But with football becoming more prominent and conference championships now to be competed for, it was time for Colorado to get serious about the sport and hire a coach. Club sports of today are much more organized than were CU's first four football teams.

The first coach in program history was Harry Heller, who would be paid by donations from the players themselves and some of the fans. Recommended to the administration by Harry Gamble, the '94 captain, Heller did some coaching at Baker University and in fact was a still a student himself.

Heller would coach just one season, but perhaps as memorable as the team's 8-1 overall record and a 5-0 mark in conference play for the school's first title would be what he accomplished off the field. CU made improvements in facilities, mainly a new home field about a mile north of campus (carved out of an area formerly known as "Lover's Hill" and later as Panorama Heights). In addition to teaching and coaching, Heller also instituted policies on team diet, working with the cooks at the campus dining halls, and encouraged more students to join the team, expanding the roster for the first time have a full second unit.

Heller and Gamble are also credited with keeping football alive as a sport at CU, as a little-known incident almost brought an end to the program in its fifth year. In Colorado's first game of the 1894 season, a 46-0 win against East Denver High School, on the last play of the game a CU player suffered a severe head injury (in a melee, not from scrimmage). He was unconscious for quite some time but was not seriously injured. But at a time when stories across the nation detailed not only serious injury but many deaths in the sport, it spooked many members of the CU team, including most of the new second string.

The Monday following the game, only a dozen players showed up for practice, and Heller and Gamble spent the next few days tracking down the others and convinced them to rejoin the team. Colorado regrouped and in the next game, finally defeated the Denver Athletic Club for the first time in seven meetings. Though the DAC would exact some revenge with a 20-6 win in the next to last week of the season, CU outscored the opponent 198-4 in its five conference games en route to the championship.

Heller had become quite popular, but he stepped down after that one season, opting to concentrate on earning his degree. He remained on as a player, though would participate only minimally.

So the U. of C. found itself in the same situation, looking for a leader of a sport rapidly growing in popularity nationwide. Little did anyone know at the time that the resulting hire would eventually become known as "the father of CU football."

Fred Folsom arrived in Boulder after the 1895 season was underway, as CU had already easily defeated Denver's Manual

TIMEOUT / FRED FOLSOM

Fred Gorham Folsom was a 21-year old pre-law graduate from Dartmouth College, where he was an outstanding football and baseball player. Considered the finest end to play at Dartmouth to that point, he had led the Big Green to two straight league championships as a player-coach, a position which was common prior to the 20th century.

CU's 1895 captain, William Caley, formed a group to find CU's second coach and quickly zeroed in on Folsom. One problem, though, was the fact that Folsom was ticketed for the University of Michigan, where he planned on enrolling in law school. CU assured him that he do both, attend law school and coach the Silver & Gold (one of CU's early nicknames, though the football teams of that era actually wore red jerseys and stockings). His love for the game of football won out and he headed west.

It was one of the first turning points in CU history, as landing Folsom immediately led to the program becoming a regional power. And Folsom would put permanent roots in Colorado, sans a short time when he returned to coach his alma mater, as he became a leader in athletic, university, legal, civic and state affairs until his death in 1944. That same year, Colorado Stadium, which had been built to replace Gamble Field in 1924, was named for him.

Accounts referred to him as being a stern disciplinarian when it came to football, one who could install his schemes quickly and constantly tweaked them with innovative plays from his creative football mind. Away from football, one of his trademarks was possessing a keen sense of humor.

Folsom coached CU for 15 seasons (still a school record), and his 77 wins stood as the most in school history for 78 years, until Bill McCartney surpassed the total in his next to last season (1993). He did earn his law degree from Colorado and eventually taught at the school (earning a chair on CU's faculty), and had a distinguished career as a jurist.

High School 36-0 in its opener. His first two games produced wins over the Denver Wheel Club (32-0) and the University of Denver (28-0); his first loss was considered slightly controversial, as a 22-10 loss to the Denver Athletic Club came in a poorly officiated contest by a former DAC fullback and club member, Frank Spalding. Newspaper stories pointed to most of the calls going against CU. But the team rebounded to soundly defeat Colorado College (38-10) and Mines (14-0) to win a second straight CFA title.

Gamble would again be elected captain for the 1896 season, his sixth on the team (there were few eligibility rules in his day). A fan favorite and perhaps the one person who provided the most continuity in the early years of the program, when the first football field on campus property was built and dedicated in 1898, it was named Gamble Field in his honor.

It was only fitting that the '96 team was the first to go undefeated in school history, going 5-0 and outscoring all opponents by 171-6.

Folsom's tenure at Colorado actually covered three stints; the first was a five year run between 1895 and 1899, in which his teams went 28-8. He had won three conference titles, and oversaw the first intersectional game in school history, a 23-10 loss to Nebraska in 1898. But he had come west for two reasons, and after earning his law degree, he wanted to enter private practice, doing so in Denver. With the new century at hand, he resigned shortly after the 1899 season, not knowing at the time he'd return just a year later.

1900s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

July 27, 1900—T.W. Mortimer named third head coach in Colorado history, as Fred Folsom opens a law practice in Denver. Folsom returned as coach for the 1901 and 1902 seasons.

July 10, 1903—Dave Cropp named fourth head coach in Colorado history.

Oct. 8, 1904—Colorado's 6-0 win over Nebraska is the school's first intersectional win in its history.

June 26, 1905—Willis Keinholtz named fifth head coach in Colorado history.

June 19, 1906—Frank Castleman named sixth head coach in Colorado history.

May 11, 1908—Fred Folsom, who returned to Colorado the previous year, once again named head coach.

T.C. Mortimer coached CU to a 6-4 record in 1900, one of the losses to the Denver Wheel Club, which was coached by Folsom, who could not get it out of his blood. Mortimer, who played at both Simpson College in Iowa and Chicago University, did have a significant contribution in his one year in Boulder. He initiated the establishing of letter sweaters, even though at the time the players had to buy them. The concession was that they could select the colors of their choice, and most opted for maroon with a white "C" instead of using the official school colors, silver and gold.

Mortimer was set to return in 1901, but Folsom found life practically chained to a desk not for him, and he let CU know he'd be interested in returning. Mortimer gracefully stepped aside and Folsom was reunited with many of his former players. His teams went 10-2-1 over the next two seasons, claiming the CFA title both years.

In 1903, he was beckoned by his alma mater to return to the northeast, to serve as Dartmouth's head coach with an appointment on the law faculty. He would go 29-5-4 in four seasons there before returning to Colorado, which would have three different coaches over the next five years.

Dave Cropp took over and coached CU to an 8-2 mark and the conference crown his first season, in which he also served as the school's first athletic director. His second team went 6-2-1, with highlights like a 6-0 win over Nebraska, CU's first inter-sectional win, and a season-ending 33-0 blowout loss at Stanford which didn't sit well with all those associated with the program. He would move on after just two years.

Next up to lead the Silver and Gold was Willis Kleinholz, a University of Minnesota man who led CU to an 8-1 record in 1905. But the school had several disputes with the conference (mostly concerning loose academic requirements) and left the organization, reworking the schedule to include two high schools, the alumni and six regional teams. Nebraska avenged its loss to Colorado, but CU picked up wins against Wyoming, Kansas, Utah, Washburn and Haskell, using the opportunity to branch out a bit.

Kleinholz departed after just one season, and in came Frank Castleman, who would take over the duties of coaching both the football and basketball teams. The game drastically changed in 1906, as offensive rule changes required a lot of adjustments, which affected many teams. Forward passing was legalized to open up the offense, and while teams still had three downs to earn a first down, the requirement now called for the offense to make 10 yards on those three tries instead of just five. CU did iron out its differences with the CFA and rejoined the conference, but mustered just a 2-3-4 record that year, with all four ties of the scoreless variety.

Castleman's last CU team went 5-3 in 1907, as he was aided by a familiar face as an assistant coach—Folsom. He returned as a member of the law faculty at the school, this time staying on permanent until retiring in 1942. The conference title came down to the last game of the season, but Colorado lost to Mines by the odd score of 5-4.

With Folsom back on board, Castleman stepped aside from his football duties, remaining on as coach of the basketball, baseball and track teams in addition to serving as athletic director. Folsom signed a contract, valued at $1,000, for a dual coaching position for the teams at the university and the State Prep School (now Boulder High School). That was big money back then.

Folsom coached the next eight seasons, earning five conference titles as CU moved into the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference for the 1909 season, with the league expanding geographically the following year, becoming the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, of which it would remain a member through 1937.

1910s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 8, 1910—Colorado's 11-0 triumph over the Alumni is the 100th win in CU history.

Spring 1912—The value of a touchdown becomes six points, and the sport now has most of the modern point values: three for a field goal, two for a safety and one for an extra point. The two-point conversion by run or pass won't appear until 1958.

Oct. 5, 1912—Colorado tops Utah State in Boulder, 16-3, extending CU's winning streak to 21 games, the school record to this day. Colorado A&M ended the streak the following week with a 21-0 win in Fort Collins.

Jan. 10, 1916—Bob Evans named seventh head coach in Colorado history.

Jan. 17, 1918—Joe Mills named eighth head coach in Colorado history.

Folsom's 1909, 1910 and 1911 teams all went 6-0, and a 21-game winning streak from the last game of 1908 through the first two of 1912 still stands as the all-time school record. The 1909 squad was not scored on; and all three did not allow a single touchdown; Wyoming scored a field goal for the only points against CU in '10 and CU allowed a field goal and a safety in '11. In the 21-game streak, CU allowed just 11 points.

Rival Colorado A&M ended the winning streak, and the 1912 team finished 6-3 including a season-ending win over Oklahoma. But it did no better than tying for third in the RMAC to end a run of four straight championship years.

The 1913 team posted a 5-1-1 record and earned Folsom his last title, his ninth in 13 seasons, and the 1914 Silver and Gold's only loss in a 5-1 campaign came at the hands of Mines, which used a 6-2 win to steal the crown from CU. Folsom was now 40 years old and those close to him could tell he was a bit worn down physically by his long playing and coaching careers in addition to all his responsibilities outside of football.

Assorted illnesses sidelined Folsom for much of the 1915 campaign, one in which CU would finish 1-6 with all going on his record despite his coaching in less than half the games. At the end of the season, he announced his retirement, thus ending CU's first real golden period in the sport as many at the time referred. He went on to teach law, serve as acting dean of the college of law, and always remained active in athletics. He chaired the drive for a new football stadium on campus and drafted the financial plan which enabled the school to build it; he had worked closely with CU president George Norlin to accomplish the project, as Colorado Stadium opened in 1924 (it was also called Norlin Field at times).

The RMAC had many more teams than the old CFA, so winning a title had become a bit harder with more contenders. Bob Evans was named head coach, and the 1916 team, now having to deal with many young men in the service preparing to fight in World War I, did little better than the year before with a 1-5-1 record. Evans did a masterful job in 1917 though, as Colorado went 6-2; in fact, he did such a good job that he moved west to become Stanford's head coach.

Joe Mills, who had been hired as basketball coach, took over in football as well in 1918, when the war really hit home. CU's quarterback in 1915-16, Eddie Evans, was killed in France and it cast a pall over the program. Mills coached football just two seasons, his teams going 2-3 and 2-3-1, as he stepped down after 1919 to concentrate on his basketball duties.

The first 30 seasons of Colorado football were now in the books, with Folsom coaching 15 of those teams. But seven men coached a collective 11 of those other squads, not including team captains that had managed the first four. The program was in need of some stability, and with the help of Folsom who was now the chairman of the athletic board, it would find its man for the next decade and more.

1920s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

- Feb. 4, 1920—Myron Witham named ninth head coach in Colorado history.
- Nov. 28, 1923—Colorado's 6-3 win at Colorado State gives Colorado a 9-0-0 mark for the 1923 season, its best ever at the time.
- Oct. 11, 1924—Colorado defeated Regis College 39-0 in the first game at Folsom Field (then known as Colorado Stadium).
- Dec. 25, 1924—The Silver & Gold play the first postseason game in school history, defeating the Hawaii-Navy All-Stars in Honolulu, 43-0.
- Oct. 13, 1928—Bill Smith records the first known 100-yard rushing game ever by a CU player, running for 132 yards and a touchdown in a 21-6 win at Northern Colorado.

With World War I over and colleges again stocked with young men, football took that next step in the 1920s. The emergence of the National Football League by the end of the decade would eventually lead the sport to become the nation's most popular a few decades later. But closer to home in Boulder, CU was looking to make that next great hire to return its football program to the stability and success it had enjoyed under Fred Folsom.

There was no one more qualified than Folsom to find CU's next coach, and he turned to a former player of his when he coached at Dartmouth. Myron Witham, like Folsom his mentor, was quiet, intelligent and intense. Those attributes were effective for Folsom, and they would be for Witham, despite the fact his hiring turned a few heads. He was an All-American performer for Folsom at Dartmouth his senior season in 1904, and was an assistant coach for him the following year before taking over as head coach for a single season at Purdue in 1906. He then went to work in engineering, so when the call came to lead the CU program, he had been out of coaching for 13 years. But Folsom had his man, and any reservations about his abilities would fade quickly.

History paints a very good picture of Witham. In addition to coaching 96 games, a figure that still ranks fifth most all-time through 2007, Witham's 63-26-7 record remains third best for those who coached a minimum three years at the school. But he would make many marks off the field as well.

Witham's first Colorado unit was talented, with junior center Walt Franklin the nucleus of the team. The Silver and Gold had an impressive season, rolling up a 4-1-2 record and tied for third in the conference. The lone loss was a 7-0 setback to Utah in Boulder, setting the only negative tone for what would be 12 years at the helm of the CU team for Witham.

After his first season, Witham moved to organize support in several areas. He established the first training table at CU for the varsity players, though the players were themselves responsible for serving and cleaning up. He formed a campus booster club of five dozen underclassmen that helped in areas as high school relations (eventually morphed into today's recruiting), scholarship (academics and tutoring), publicity and ways and means (or anything the first three didn't cover). He would also see it that all CU home games were filmed.

In scheduling CU's biggest intersectional game ever, the 1921 opener at the University of Chicago, he installed the first preseason training camp for the team. The booster club raised the funds to cover expenses at a facility near Eldora, a mountain community about 25 miles west of Boulder. The team practiced and held meetings there for two weeks before transitioning onto campus. Upon their arrival, they moved into CU's first "athletic dorm," again with the help of the booster club. Raising $10,500, a 14-room house at 1016 14th Street featured eating, sleeping and study facilities for 30 players.

CU lost that game at Chicago, falling to legendary head coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's team 35-0. A special train brought 300 fans and the school band to the game, easily the longest such trek coordinated by the school at the time (trips by train to Denver and Colorado Springs had been the occasional norm up to that point). Colorado rebounded from the defeat, did not lose again and improved to second place in the conference, finishing the '21 season with a 4-1-1 mark.

It was in this decade that CU's first true out-of-state rivalry came to bloom, as Utah emerged as the perennial conference favorite between 1922 and 1933, claiming eight RMAC titles in that span. The Salt Lake City school would become the nemesis for Witham and his Silver and Gold squads, as CU would go just 2-9-1 against their rivals to the west during his tenure. Three of those losses and the tie cost Colorado four titles, though Witham's 1923 and 1924 teams did win back-to-back conference crowns.

CU's 1922 team was 4-4 overall and generally had a mediocre season, opening with two wins but then dropped four of its next five, starting with a 3-0 loss to... Utah. But good news was just around the corner, especially with an outstanding freshman team that regularly gave the varsity fits, often outplaying them in practice.

The season of 1923 produced one of the most dominant teams in school history, though the roster included more sophomores than from any other class. Quarterback and team captain Art Quinlan was one of the few returning veterans the single-wing offense was built around, along with fullback Earl Loser, tackle Don McLean and halfback Fred Hartshorn. Several underclassmen emerged as key players, including guard Bill McGlone, ends Dick Handy and Jack Healy, fullback Bill Bohn and quarterback Hatfield Chilson.

In compiling a 9-0 record, CU outscored its opponents by a combined 280-27, with four wins of 41 points or greater (all shutouts). In the first 100 years of Colorado football (1890-1989), only the 1971 (10-2) and 1989 (11-1) teams won more games, with only three others attaining nine wins.

Colorado rolled over its first three opponents, BYU, Western State and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) by a combined 152-0. Game four was a rematch with Denver, which had won 16-0 the previous year, and it was the first solid test of the '23 campaign. The first three opponents did not have great teams, and CU fans wanted to know if their team was for real. The week leading up to the game was filled with miserable weather, with rain and/or snow falling on a daily basis.

After a scoreless first quarter, CU came to life behind Quinlan, who passed for 206 yards in leading CU to what was termed a "statistical slaughter." Colorado held advantages of 356-41 in total offense and 23-3 in first downs and returned to Boulder with a solid 21-7 win that made CU and Witham the "toast of the Rockies."

The following week, CU toppled Colorado College 17-7 behind the crisp passing of Quinlan (13-of-16, 162 yards). Colorado improved to 5-0, but was faced with the last four games all on the road, the second and last time that happened in school history. CU started the run with a 47-0 win at Colorado Mines, but lost Quinlan's quarterbacking services for the season with a broken right hand; he would handle placekicking and a few returns. In his place came Chilson, who would make his first career start the following week... at Utah.

Chilson was a 5-8, 130-pound sophomore from Pueblo, and had little game experience at quarterback. Despite his small stature, he had great ability to slip through the smallest of holes and had developed a vertical leap in which he would jump over onrushing defenders. Chilson called a perfect game and directed the Silver and Gold to a 17-7 win over the Red Devils. The following week, CU scored an easy 20-3 win at Wyoming, with reserves playing most of the game against the winless Cowboys.

Only the rival Aggies from Fort Collins stood in-between CU and a perfect season. A&M led 3-0 in the second half before Quinlan tied it with a field goal. He then returned a punt 63 yards to the Aggie 25-yard line with time running down, and CU worked the ball to the 3-yard line with under a minute to play. Witham called for a field goal on third down, and it turned out to save the undefeated season; the Aggies blocked the kick, but Quinlan himself recovered the ball and gave his team another chance to win fourth down. This time he split he uprights and Colorado had perfection.

While 1924 yielded another fine record (8-1-1), its best remembered for two significant firsts in program history. After the perfect '23 campaign, a movement quickly began for the team to have a stadium for its home as opposed to Gamble Field, which had served the team well since 1898. But with the program growing in stature and stadiums being built around the country, it was only logical that CU take that next step.

An attendance record of 42,480 was set in 1923 for the four home games, which was over five times the capacity of the field's bleacher seating. So with the need so obvious for new digs, it was easy to reach a unanimous agreement and the plan took off quickly.

Whitney Huntington, a professor in engineering, surveyed campus lands and came up with a location on the northeast end, a ravine near the site of the new men's gymnasium and home to the basketball team. There was good drainage and the land provided the opportunity for deep bleacher seating on both sides of the field, which would provide for a new stadium to be built both quickly and economically.

Folsom was now a full-time professor in CU's Law School and the chairman of the athletic board, which approved Huntington's location. President George Norlin asked Folsom to develop a financing plan, and in eight short months at a cost of $70,000, Colorado Stadium was completed and was state-of-the-art for its time.

The playing field wasn't quite ready for the first game, but that turned out to be okay as everyone associated with the program said goodbye to Gamble Field with a 31-0 win over Western State. A week later, on Oct. 11, 1924, the stadium was christened against Regis with Colorado easily rolling to a 39-0 win. The structure was officially dedicated Nov. 1, with a 3-0 homecoming win over Utah. Loser's 35-yard field goal was the only scoring in the game.

CU seemed to be in a bit of a slump, but came back in the next game against Colorado Mines to post a 38-0 win, the 16th in a row for the Silver and Gold. But that's where the run ended, as six lost fumbles, all in Denver territory, proved costly in a 0-0 tie with the Pioneers. Colorado was now 4-0-1 in conference play and hosted Colorado A&M (4-1) in the regular season finale, with the winner to claim sole rights to the RMAC title. It wasn't even close, as Loser scored 24 points in a variety of ways to lead CU to an easy 36-0 win.

Colorado's season turned out not to be over; an unexpected addition of two postseason games in "paradise" were added when several enthusiastic fans in Hawai'i raised the funds necessary to send an 18-man squad plus coaches to the islands for Christmas and New Year's. It marked the first postseason play in school history, and was a well-deserved reward for Witham's men, who had a 17-0-1 record over the '23 and '24 seasons.

The group left December 19, practiced a few days and handled the Hawai'i-Navy All-Stars with ease, 43-0. CU had won over several fans on Oahu and was dubbed the "Mountaineers" by a local sportswriter. But Colorado may have basked too long in the glory of the big win, not to mention the tropical sun, as an unheralded Hawai'i University team defeated the Silver and Gold on New Year's Day, 13-0. It was CU's first loss since late in the '22 season.

The 1925 team went 6-3, though opened with an embarrassing 3-0 loss to Chadron State, a small school in the Nebraska panhandle. CU tried a new offense, basically an early version of the "T-formation" and it proved disastrous. Witham returned to the single wing the following week for the remainder of the year and won six of eight games, the losses coming to CU's two main rivals, Utah and Colorado State.

That was the theme the next two years, both losing seasons with setbacks to both rivals, including two of the worst losses in Witham's tenure, a 37-3 homecoming loss at home to Utah in 1926 and a 39-7 loss at Colorado State in '27. The latter came after a 4-2 start to the season and was sandwiched in the middle of the two of the Witham's three biggest margins of defeat, a 46-7 clubbing at Southern California and a 48-0 loss Thanksgiving Day in Denver. Fans were getting restless, after all this was just three years removed from the two most glorious seasons in school history.

Amid the descent, in 1927 the university hired its first full-time director of athletics, Harry Carlson, a quiet, reserved yet wise leader who would lead the CU program for the next 38 years. His persona was one that could deliver a cool, calming influence, and he did just that after the tumultuous events that ended the '27 football season.

The '28 team avenged the losses to the Aggies and Pioneers, being on the good side of hard fought 13-7 and 7-0 wins, respectively. The record was 5-1, but the one defeat was again at the hands of Utah, and by a decisive 25-6 margin. The 1929 team would go 5-1-1, which included another close win over A&M (6-0) and a scoreless tie with Denver. The loss was a crushing 40-0 mauling at Utah, perhaps fitting in history as it was CU's last game before the stock market crash in late October of '29. One bright spot was the brilliant play of sophomore tackle Paul Sawyer, who would be selected to CU's honorable mention All-Century team decades later. A season-ending 27-7 romp at Denver on Thanksgiving Day did nothing to quell the fan's thirst for Witham's head.

The 1930 season opened with a bang, as Colorado went on the road and upset Big Six school Missouri, 9-0. CU then traveled in the other direction a week later and battled Utah State to a scoreless tie, but would then reel off four straight wins to enter a Nov. 15 matchup with Utah that would decide the RMAC title. However, the result was the same, with Utah using a 34-0 whipping to claim its sixth straight league crown. As for Colorado, the Silver and Gold had gone 16-3-2 the last three seasons, 16-0-2 against all others, but 0-3 versus Utah. The sole measuring stick of CU's success had been reduced to what its outcome was against its rivals to the west, and Colorado was on the short end of the score six straight year, the last three by a combined 99-6 count. Yet Witham survived, but not for long.

After the season, the first major national honor was bestowed on the program, when end George Carlson was awarded the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship.

Colorado won three of its first five games in 1931, a roller-coaster ride that featured another upset of Missouri, this time 9-7 in Boulder, and a 25-6 throttling of DU, but included a loss at Colorado A&M. Up next was Utah, and Witham's job was likely riding on the result. A 32-0 loss, a third straight shutout by the Utes in the series, sealed his fate, despite two closing wins over Colorado College and Arizona. In January ('32), the school's Board of Regents opted not to renew his contract.

Paraphrasing what was written at the time, "winning seasons do not necessarily create longevity, they simply raise the standards." Witham's 63-26-7 record couldn't overcome the old coach's desire to not be overly engaged in recruiting, which was becoming more and more a key part of the job, and his record against Utah was the fatal blow.

Carlson was faced with hiring his first football coach, and one of the top requirements included the person being a good recruiter. It was in the late 1920s when coaches started to woo young men to pick their school over others, and a good personality was often the difference. He didn't have to look far to find his man, the popular William "Navy Bill" Saunders, who spent six years as line coach at Colorado A&M before taking over as head coach at Colorado Teachers in 1928. Carlson was impressed with how his Greeley teams, despite being winless in three tries against CU, always played tough and from start to finish.

Saunders' first team went 2-4, typical of a transition year where the upperclassmen weren't overly thrilled with the dismissal of their head coach. While the team had some good players, including backs Al Oviatt, George Grosvenor and Jim Counter along with end Clayton White, and CU won its first two games, a 7-6 home loss to Colorado A&M triggered four straight losses to end the season. It was followed by another shutout defeat (14-0) at Utah, the first of three straight games CU would record goose eggs on the scoreboard as CC and DU also whitewashed the Silver and Gold.

The 1933 team sprinted to a 5-1 start, including a 6-0 upset victory at Oklahoma State. A small sophomore rookie from Glenrock, Wyo., William "Kay" Lam was making a name for himself in the backfield, and CU started to understand the schemes Saunders had installed. Things were looking up for the annual battle with Utah, but alas, while playing the Utes tough for the first time in several years, the result was the same. Colorado finally scored in losing 13-6, and though having advantages in offense (288-200) and first downs (16-9), three fumbled punts in the first half led to all of Utah's points. Wins over Colorado Teachers and Denver closed a very successful 7-2 season, as observers felt CU had turned the corner.

Off the field, good news included White being named a Rhodes Scholar and that the final payment of $2,491.75 was made on the stadium, completing paying off all obligations in less than 10 years. The bad news was that the season ticket price in '33 was raised to $5.50 for the five-game schedule, and during the depression years, few had that kind of money for luxuries like sporting events.

TIME OUT / THE "BUFFALOES" ARE BORN

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. During the summer of 1934, Colorado's 45th season of intercollegiate athletic competition, the Silver & Gold, the student newspaper at the time, decided to sponsor a national contest to select a permanent nickname and mascot. A $5 prize would go to the author of the winning selection; remember, this was during the Great Depression, and five dollars was a good amount of money to most people. Over 1,000 entries arrived from almost every state in the union. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy from the newspaper were the judges.

Local articles first reported that Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted "Buffaloes" as their entry. But 10 days later, the newspaper declared Boulder resident Andrew Dickson the winner, after a follow-up revealed his submission of "Buffaloes" had actually arrived several days before those of originally deemed to be the winners. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Bufs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

The live buffalo mascot also first appeared in 1934, three weeks after the contest that declared Buffaloes the new nickname. For the final game of the season, a group of students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf along with a real cowboy as his keeper. The calf was the son of Killer, a famed bison at Trails End Ranch in Fort Collins. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines during the 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Live buffaloes would make appearances at CU games on and off over the next 30 years, usually in a pen on the field or sometimes driven around in a cage. In the 1940s, the school kept a baby buffalo in a special pen at the now-defunct University Riding Academy. The first named buffalo was "Mr. Chips," who appeared for the first time at the 1957 CU Days kickoff rally, as supporter Mahlon White donated him to the school, and it was cared for by a men's honorary. Mr. Chips wasn't around for all that long, and several years would pass before one of college football's most entertaining and thrilling traditions would be born.

CU had opened the year with scoreless ties against Kansas and Missouri, and dropped to 0-1-2 with a 13-7 loss to CTC in Greeley. The latter was the first night game in Colorado history, and accounts of the game mentioned that the Teacher's team had a few tricks up their sleeve, one of which was wearing "dark gold uniforms that perfectly blended with the ball."

The new nickname, "Buffaloes," was officially bestowed on the entire athletic program at a ceremony during Homecoming on Nov. 10, when CU hosted Utah, with the newly named CU team searching for its first win since 1924 over its arch-rivals. The football Gods smiled on Colorado that day, as the "Bufs" made an early 7-0 lead stand up for a 7-6 win, with the Utes missing a point-blank field goal try at the end of the game to preserve the CU victory.

Colorado went on to win its final six games of the season to finish 6-1-2, and tied Teacher's for the league title as both had 6-1 marks. But CTC owned the head-to-head win to lay more claim to the crown.

Soon after the end of the season, Saunders abruptly resigned as head coach. He decided to return to his native Mississippi where his family had numerous land holdings and a management position for him. That's what it appeared publicly; privately, rumors had it he had asked the CU administration for more support, and when none was forthcoming, he pulled up stakes. He returned to coaching just two years after leaving CU, and would do so with bitter rival Denver.

Once again, CU was in the market for a new football coach.

Carlson had success staying in the region for his last hire, so he went to the well again. Now entrenched in his ninth year as athletic director, he had a knack for finding good coaches. Despite staying just one year before moving on to Oklahoma State where he would become a legend, Carlson had hired Hank Iba as CU's basketball coach for the 1933-34 season; his next basketball hire, Forrest "Frosty" Cox, who was also an assistant football coach, would make Colorado a western basketball power over his 13 seasons in Boulder. In short, Carlson could spot coaching talent.

Enter Bernard "Bunny" Oakes, who had been head coach at Montana University for the four previous years after serving a pair of two-year stints as an assistant at Tennessee and Nebraska. An Illinois graduate, he played his college ball with Red Grange under Bob Zuppke, one of the most innovative coaches of his day.

Oakes had the pedigree and flawless credentials, and while he led CU to new heights during his five-year tenure, his approach to coaching, deemed fanatical by many, would be the reason for his eventual demise. He had a one track mind and was totally dedicated to driving his teams to their limit. But that wore thin on his players, and following his third year in Boulder, the players reached the point where the price paid wasn't worth the results. He was fired after five seasons and a 25-15-1 record and four winning seasons, thought it included one that put the Buffaloes on the national map.

In Oakes' first season at Colorado, he inherited one of the most talented backfields in school history, with the senior Lam and a sophomore by the name of Byron White. In the '35 opener, CU dominated an Oklahoma team in Norman though losing, 3-0. The Buffs had a chance to win late, taking over at midfield in the final minutes with White and Lam leading the charge down to the 7-yard line, but the Sooner defense stopped CU cold to hang on.

Colorado went on to win the RMAC title with a 5-1 record, suffering three losses to future conference foes (OU, Missouri and Kansas). White was lost for the season with a knee injury early in league play, but Lam rushed for a then-national record 1,043 yards, had over 2,000 all-purpose yards and was the first Buffalo player ever chosen to play in a postseason All-Star game, earning an invitation to the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

The 1936 season served as an appetizer for what lay ahead; a modest 4-3 overall record included another tough opening loss to Oklahoma (8-0 in Boulder), but also featured a third straight win over Utah. White, who this season was nicknamed "Whizzer" by Denver Post sportswriter Leonard Cahn, accounted for every single point in a 31-7 win over the Utes. CU was 4-0 in league play at that point and appeared headed for another title, but two one-point road defeats derailed the bid: a 14-13 setback at Utah State, the eventual league champ, and then a 7-6 Thanksgiving Day defeat to former CU coach Saunders and DU before a state record crowd of 27,700.

The 1937 season would be Colorado's last in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. A gap between the larger and smaller institutions had been widening for some time, from the caliber of play and squad size to home attendance. The RMAC also had grown to 12 schools over the year, and scheduling was way off balance.

The seven biggest schools officially formed the Mountain States Conference, though it was also referred to at times as the Skyline League and even the Big Seven. BYU, CU, Colorado A&M, Denver, Utah, Utah State and Wyoming made the break and would begin league play in 1938; the other five remained in the RMAC which still thrives to this day in the NCAA's Division II.

The "fourth" time proved to be the charm to open the '37 season; from 1934-36, CU opened against a Big Six Conference opponent and was winless with two losses and a tie. This time around, Missouri visited Boulder and the tone was set for the entire year with a 14-6 win over Don Faurot's charges.

The Buffs would not allow a point the next four games, as CU steamrolled Utah State (33-0), Brigham Young (14-0), Colorado A&M (47-0) and Colorado Mines (54-0). Along the way, White was rolling up impressive numbers and garnering national attention, though the Buffaloes were hardly a one-man show. Fullback Erv Cheney and halfback Orville "O.T." Nuttall were dangerous runners in their own right, and when White dropped back to pass, ends Leon Lavington and Lex Quarnberg were popular targets. And it was said that center Gene Moore could play for any team in the country.

TIMEOUT / BYRON WHITE

Byron Raymond “Whizzer” White first made a name for himself while playing for the University of Colorado’s undefeated 1937 football team.

The first All-American at Colorado in football and the second in any sport, he led the nation in rushing that season with a record-breaking total of 1,121 yards (in eight games) and amassed 122 points. Those marks were erased only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules. He was known as a “60-minute performer,” excelling on defense as well as offense.

White led that 1937 team to Colorado’s first-ever bowl appearance, facing Rice in the ’38 Cotton Bowl on New Year’s Day in Dallas. Though Rice won, 28-14, “Whizzer” left them talking. He threw an 8-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio and then returned an interception 47 yards for a touchdown to put Colorado up 14-0 in the first quarter before the Owls battled back. He rushed 23 times for 54 yards in the game, and had 166 all-purpose yards including returns.

Denver sports writer, Leonard Kahn, gave White’s nickname to him. Kahn labeled White with this name because “he seemed to whiz by people.”

White was also a .400 hitter on the baseball team, and a standout on CU’s basketball squad that made the N.I.T. in 1938. His off the field performances were just as impressive as the ones on it. In 186 hours of undergraduate work, White earned 180 hours of A, and 6 hours of B. He was the student body president, a Rhodes Scholar, and Phi Beta Kappa.

After his time at Colorado, the Wellington native went on to play professional football for the Pittsburgh Pirates (now known as the Steelers). White was Pittsburgh’s first pick in the 1938 draft, and would lead the league in rushing with 567 yards that year and was named All-Pro. White left professional football to attend post-graduate school at Oxford College in England. After Oxford, White played one more season of football with Detroit, and again led the league in rushing with 514 yards and was again All-Pro. In the off-season, White attended Yale Law School.

During World War II, White was an officer in naval intelligence, serving most of his duty in the South Pacific. During his time of service, White earned a Bronze Star, and formed a friendship with John F. Kennedy.

Following the war, White returned to Yale Law School where he graduated first in his class in 1946. After a successful career as a corporation lawyer, White entered the political sphere in 1960, heading a pre-convention Kennedy movement that helped the soon-to-be president win the state of Colorado. White later served as deputy attorney general under Kennedy.

On March 30, 1962, White was appointed an associated justice of the U.S. Supreme Court at age 44. He served for 31 years, and retired in March, 1993.

The honorable Byron R. White was the first athlete inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall-Of-Fame in 1965. He was also inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame, the National Football Foundation’s College Football Hall of Fame, the GTE Academic Hall of Fame, the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Hall of Fame, and was the inaugural inductee into CU’s Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998. He was selected to CU’s All-Century Team in 1989, marking the school’s first 100 years of football, and his football number, 24, was the first retired by the university.

White left an indelible mark on the field and in the classroom at the University of Colorado. Born June 8, 1917 in Fort Collins, Colo., he died from complications of pneumonia in Denver at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

Next loomed the annual test with Utah, the first of two November contests that would determine the league champion. White scored all of CU’s points in a 17-7 win on the road as the Buffs won their sixth in a row. The following week, CU trailed Colorado College 6-0 at halftime in the home finale, but Whizzer scored three times in the first 10 minutes of the second half and the Buffs cruised to a 35-6 win.

The final RMAC game of the season was set for Thanksgiving Day in Denver, pitting CU against DU, with the Buffs 6-0 in league play with the Pioneers 5-1. While CU was guaranteed a share of the title, it wanted it outright, and behind several long plays from White, the Buffs earned it with a 34-7 win.

White was named to every All-America team, becoming the school’s first in football to earn the distinction and just the third CU athlete bestowed the honor in any sport (his good friends Gil Cruter and Claude Walton were track All-Americans in 1936). He also earned one of two regional Rhodes scholarships the same month, the third CU football player in less than 10 years to do so.

As for the team, and largely thanks to America’s captivation with White, the Buffaloes were invited to their first bowl game. CU lined up across from No. 18 Rice, its first ever game against a nationally ranked opponent, in the Cotton Bowl on New Year’s Day in Dallas. Oakes would put his team through two practices a day in Dallas, often in heavy rains. The practice gear never had a chance to dry between sessions and the players became disillusioned with the experience.

Still, behind White, CU stormed to a 14-0 lead, but the Owls rallied behind their star, Ernie Lain, for a 28-14 win. To outsiders, the season was still a huge success, but inside the program, seeds of discontent had been planted. The train ride back to Boulder was no fun.

With the '37 team laden with seniors, CU's first season in the new conference was a rebuilding project. The Buffs opened 0-3, including non-league losses to Missouri and George Washington, but after three wins and a tie the over the next month, a winning year could be salvaged with a Thanksgiving win over Denver. But the Pioneers ended that hope with a 19-12 win.

Two key players, Nuttall and Marty Brill, quit prior to the 1939 season, and a third, Lou Liley, soon joined them. They did not want to play for Oakes. After a second straight 0-3 start, and aware of the players' displeasure and the coaches demeanor, the CU athletic committee recommended he be fired immediately. Oakes was only saved by the Board of Regents, which basically gave him an unenthusiastic vote of confidence.

Sophomores dominated the '39 roster, and they pulled it together to win the last five games of the year. Players like Paul McClung, Leo Stasica and Ray Jenkins put feelings aside and played for the school, and thanks to a 27-17 win over DU in Boulder, Thanksgiving Day also brought what would be CU's only real legitimate Mountain States title.

Oakes final team posted a 5-3 record, and though he had three years remaining on a five-year contract he signed following the '37 season. Many thought the strong finish would save him, but the players delivered a 13-page complaint and petition for Oakes' removal to the Regents at the board's February meeting. Thirty-five of the 40 players signed it, and as the month neared its end, he was fired and received a severance check believed to be $10,000.

1940s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

June 11, 1940—Cross Country & Track Coach Frank Potts named the 12th head coach in Colorado history.

Mar. 3, 1941—Jim Yeager named the 13th head coach in Colorado history.

Mar. 11, 1944—Frank Potts takes over once again as head coach while Jim Yeager is serving his country in World War II.

Jan. 10, 1945—Jim Yeager returns to coach Buffs.

Nov. 27, 1947—A 26-20 loss at Denver is significant in several ways: it was CU's final game in the Mountain States Conference; it was the last game in CU-Denver series; it was CU's last on Thanksgiving Day; and it was the first game in 58 seasons of Colorado football where both teams scored at least 20 points.

Feb. 3, 1948—Dallas Ward named the 14th head coach in Colorado history, as it is athletic director Harry Carlson's most important hire as Ward will lead CU into the tough Big Seven Conference.

Oct. 2, 1948—Colorado's first game as a member of the Big Seven. The Buffs lost 40-7 at Kansas.

Oct. 9, 1948—Buffs' dramatic 19-6 upset of Nebraska in Boulder was Dallas Ward's first win as coach, and Colorado's first win in the Big Seven.

Track coach Frank Potts took over coaching the gridders, as the payment to Oakes depleted the salary budget for the 1940 staff. Potts had been a football assistant since he arrived at CU in 1927, was popular among the players, and knew the system. It would give Carlson time to search for a successor if Potts didn't take on the role permanently.

The '40 Buffaloes logged a 5-3-1 record, tying for second in the conference, and Carlson offered the job to Potts, who declined. In came Jim Yeager, who had been head coach at Iowa State for four years. His first CU team was 3-4-1, though opened league play with three straight wins.

Now familiar with the program and the surroundings, Yeager's 1942 Buffs stormed to a 7-2 mark, sharing the league title with Utah, but the Utes had won the head-to-head battle 13-0. The future seemed bright, but football was soon to take a back seat to the events of the world.

The United States was fully involved in World War II by the end of that season, and athletes from all schools were now members of the various armed services. Those left on campus were players too young to be drafted or were rejected for one reason or another. Yeager remained the head coach for the '43 season, but would rejoin the Navy after the season.

It was common for colleges not to travel far during the war years of 1943 through 1945, often supplementing the schedule with teams from area service bases. Quite often, schools would square off against their former players who were assigned nearby.

The conference schedule was reduced to just two games in 1943 and 1944, with CU defeating Utah twice to claim the '43 title and posted wins over the Utes and Denver to win the '44 crown. But no one really celebrated these fairly undistinguished seasons or titles. Potts took over the team in Yeager's absence for the '44 and '45 seasons, with CU denied a third straight league championship with a season-ending 14-8 loss at Denver to the eventual champ Pioneers.

Yeager returned as did many of the players for the 1946 season, as CU regained the services of such heralded players as tackle Paul Briggs and ends Ed Pudlik and John Zisch. After opening with a 13-7 win over Yeager's old team, Iowa State, CU traveled to Texas where it was dealt a 76-0 thrashing to the Longhorns. Some say the team didn't recover for two full seasons. Inconsistent play marred the last two years of Yeager's reign, often with the Buffs struggling to put two good performances back-to-back. The '46 and '47 teams combined to go 9-9-1, and Yeager had lost his love for coaching. He resigned shortly after the '47 campaign and would become one of Boulder's leading businessmen until his death in 1971.

It also signaled the end of an era on several fronts: the war was fully behind the country, a new breed of younger coaches who embraced recruiting challenges had taken over, and locally, CU's days in the Mountain States Conference had come to and end. Colorado had been accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, also known as the Big Six. It was now the Big Seven.

Carlson was now faced with making the most important hire of his two decade career as athletic director. He needed someone to both lead Colorado into its new conference waters as well as to stem the tide of quick coaching regimes; four different men had piloted the football team over the previous 16 seasons, not including the Potts-Yeager multiple terms due to World War II. CU needed consistency.

Carlson had long lobbied for CU to make the move into a tougher conference, with eyes specifically on the Big Six to the east, and the move was met with quite a bit of controversy. While there was eager anticipation of CU's impending move to the highest level of college athletics, many had doubts that the school could pull it off, particularly in football. They pointed to CU's 2-8-2 record against Big Six teams in the years leading up to the move, though all but two of the defeats had been closely contested.

Thus it was a surprise that the search for the Buffs' new football coach didn't generate that much excitement, likely due to CU's nine losses over the '46 and '47 seasons, its most in a two-year span in 20 years. Two candidates for the position were head coaches in the east, Dudley DeRoot at West Virginia and Bill Glassford at New Hampshire. Both eventually headed west, DeRooy to New Mexico and Glassford to Nebraska, but neither was Colorado's man.

Carlson settled on a 42-year old assistant from the University of Minnesota who had an impressive pedigree. Dallas Ward, who played end at Oregon State in the 1920s and coached for nine seasons in the Minneapolis high school ranks, had learned under one of the best in Bernie Bierman, and when Minnesota was a national powerhouse. He had a reputation of having a great offensive mind, was extremely well organized, and was considered a great recruiter. Though possessing a gruff exterior, Ward also had one quality Carlson appreciated: those who played for him generated a lasting devotion and loyalty to the man. After nine years as an assistant under Bierman, helping contribute to the Gophers powerful single-wing offense, he was ready to run his own program.

His first game was on Sept. 25, 1948, at home against a New Mexico team coming off a 4-5-1 season with few expectations of doing much, if any better. Backs Harry Narcisian, Malcolm Miller and Don Hagin all showed some promise, but CU never really got untracked in losing 9-6 to a Lobo team that would win just once more the rest of the season.

Colorado had officially become a member of the Big Seven Conference on Dec. 1, 1947, and its winter and spring sports teams would participate in their new league before the football team. The basketball squad had an inauspicious start, losing its first six conference games, and CU's first football game as a league member was no different, as the Buffs traveled to Kansas and returned to Boulder on the wrong side of a 40-7 score.

Two games, two losses. But the Buffaloes were starting to fully understand the intricacies of the single wing offense. Once mastered, ball control would become CU's trait, so much so that in the 10-plus seasons that followed under Ward, the Buffs would lose just four games by a bigger margin than the 33-point setback at KU, two at the hands of mighty Oklahoma.

Fortunately, Colorado fans didn't have to wait any longer for Ward's first win, and it came against a future nemesis and eventual rival in Nebraska. The Cornhuskers came to Boulder a heavy favorite, but Narcisian, also nicknamed "Roaring Twenty" as that as his uniform number, threw two touchdown passes and had 195 yards of total offense to lead CU to a 19-6 win. The Buffaloes had amassed 374 yards on offense, its most in two seasons, while holding Nebraska to just 150.

The following week, the Buffs scored their quickest ever in a game (15 seconds in), a mark that would stand for 22 seasons, when Ed Pudlik recovered an Iowa State fumble in the end zone for a 7-0 CU lead. But the Cyclones stormed back for an 18-7 verdict, and the euphoria from the Nebraska win subsided and was replaced by a rollercoaster ride the rest of the year. CU bounced back with an impressive 51-7 win over Kansas State, rushing for 267 yards and six touchdowns, then split two games with old rivals from the Mountain States Conference, losing 14-12 at Utah and besting Utah State, 28-14. CU led No. 20 Missouri 7-0 at halftime in Columbia, but would succumb 27-13, and Ward's first season came to a close with a 29-25 loss to Colorado A&M.

Though CU couldn't string two wins together at any point in what amounted to a 3-6 season, the dominance over Nebraska made the rest of the conference take notice. CU won two of five league games and finished a respectable fourth in the league standings, but due to scheduling issues, CU did not play Oklahoma in its first two years of Big Seven play. That was no doubt likely a good omen at the time.

The 1948 season was a transitory one, and a senior-dominated team at that, with the '49 Buffaloes a mixture of Ward recruits and inexperienced upperclassmen trying more or less to survive the season. CU opened by exacting some revenge against Kansas, toppling the Jayhawks 13-12 in Boulder in what would be the Buffs' lone league win of the year. CU finished 1949 with a 3-7 mark, its two other wins coming against old RMAC and MSC pals Utah and Utah State. CU was in every loss but one until the end, with Colorado A&M once again polishing off the Buffs' year on a sour note with a second straight win in Boulder, this time by a 14-7 score.

Colorado had now suffered three straight losing seasons for the first time in its football history.

There was reason for optimism heading into 1950, as the team now spouted several savvy veterans and some ready-to-blossom underclassmen like backs Merwin Hodel, Tom Brookshier and Zack Jordan, the latter also a fine punting specialist, ends Chuck Mosher and Don Branby, tackle Dick Punches and guard Jack Swigert. But a season-opening 14-7 loss at Iowa State, in which the Cyclones scored two touchdowns late to steal the win, and a 27-21 setback at Kansas sandwiched a 34-6 triumph in the home opener over Kansas State had CU off to a 1-2 start.

What was alarming to followers is that CU was piling up losses in near-miss fashion, mostly due to the team fading in the second half and down the stretch in particular. The loss at KU epitomized that, as CU led 21-0 midway through the third quarter before watching the Jayhawks score four touchdowns in the game's final 20 minutes, the winning TD coming with 1:30 remaining.

So when Colorado led Nebraska 14-0 at halftime in the fourth game of the year, fans were still holding their breath. This time around, Punches recovered a fumble in the end zone for a touchdown that sealed a 28-19 Buff win. A week later against Arizona, CU again jumped to a 14-0 lead but needed a 77-yard Hodel scoring run in the fourth quarter to ice a 28-25 win. Colorado was now 3-2, the first time it had climbed over .500 more than one game into the season during Ward's brief tenure.

CU remained one game above even with a 20-20 tie on the road at Utah, having rallied to tie the game on a 45-yard interception return by Branby. The Buffs had a chance at winning, but Lee Venzke's 32-yard field goal sailed wide and Colorado returned home from Salt Lake City with the task of preparing to face the nation's No. 3 ranked team.

Oklahoma had long been considered one of the nation's top programs, and the Buffs and Sooners had a limited history, playing four times previous to being members of the same conference. OU had won three, but all were hard-fought battles.

The Sooners came riding high into Boulder, not only as the third-ranked team in the land, but also riding a 26-game winning streak. Ward's teams would go 0-8-1 against Oklahoma during his tenure, an era where most teams would do the same (more likely 0-9), with Bud Wilkinson's Sooners the team of the decade. But CU was a thorn in the side to the Sooner almost every one of those games, and the first encounter in 1950 was no exception.

Jordan pinned Oklahoma deep in its own territory in the opening minutes, punting the ball dead on the Sooner 2. That eventually led to CU winning the early field position battle and a Hodel run had CU ahead, 6-0, though Venzke missed the extra point (he'd miss all three on the day). Oklahoma grabbed the halftime lead, 13-6, led 20-12 after three and held off the Buffaloes in winning, 27-18. The Sooners' option game rolled up 351 yards on the ground, one of the highest totals ever against CU at the time. Still, it was the closest league game of the season for the Sooners, which won the 1950 national championship.

Missouri dealt CU a 21-19 setback in the final conference contest of the season, the first of several times in the 1950s the Tigers would face the Buffs the week following the emotional Oklahoma game. And Missouri took full advantage of that fact, going 4-0-2 versus CU on those occasions, three of the wins by eight points or less. In the first of such instances, Colorado had dominated Missouri most of the game, had a 17-2 edge in first downs at one point on the way to a season-high 405 yards of total offense, but a late TD after a questionable pass interference call on Brookshier set Mizzou up for the winning touchdown.

Now 3-4-1, with a 2-4 record in Big Seven play for a second straight sixth place league finish, CU had non-league games Oregon and Colorado A&M left to play. Wins would give Ward his first winning season at Colorado, and the school's first in four years.

Jordan led the nation in punting with a record 48.2 average, bolstered by a 55.0 average on four punts in a 21-7 win over Oregon in Boulder. Jordan, a talented halfback who threw the majority of passes in CU's single-wing offensive attack, was never honored as an All-American for his punting accomplishments, though he would make first-team All-Big Seven as a senior in 1952.

Last up was the rivalry game with the Aggies, and two years of frustration on the Buffaloes' part was obvious as CU thumped A&M, 31-6. The Buffs had 401 yards on offense, 271 on the ground, holding A&M to just 139 yards in the process. Jim Dalthorp intercepted a pitch and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown in the second half to put an exclamation point on the win, scoring in one of the more unusual ways that can be done in the sport.

Year three of the Dal Ward era was now in the books as was his first winning campaign. CU was just 11-17-1 at this point under him, but a foundation had been built. The Buffaloes had 1,162 yards on offense including just under 800 rushing yards in the final three weeks of the '50 season, both school all-time highs over a three-game span. The offense was now fully understood by the players, and improvement on defense was evident.

Starting in 1951, Colorado began an eight-year run under Ward where it would post a collective 52-24-5 record. While the Big Seven was often referred to as "Oklahoma and the six dwarfs," the Buffaloes were a tough second banana to the Sooners and were generally considered as the conference's next best team the entire decade.

It is often said that you can't judge a football coach until his fourth season, when his first recruiting class comes into full bloom. The '51 Buffaloes, Ward's fourth team, went 7-3, the most wins in almost a decade, going back to the '42 squad and its 7-2 mark. More important was the second place finish in the Big Seven, the first of seven second or third place conference finishes the remainder of Ward's tenure.

The entire starting offensive backfield returned in 1951, and by season's end, Hodel (597 yards), Ron Johnson (455), Carroll Hardy (423), Woody Shelton (417) and Ralph Curtis (233) were the main weapons in leading the Buffs to a school record 2,516 rushing yards (a figure that two other Ward teams down the road would obliterate). Players like sophomores Dick Knowlton (guard) and Gary Knafelc (end) would become entrenched as three-year starters.

But there were still concerns about the defense, and the first two games proved those valid. CU built a 14-0 lead in the opener over Colorado A&M, only to see the Aggies pull to within one in the fourth quarter before two late scores fueled a 28-13 win. Northwestern then used two long pass plays to jump to a quick 14-0 lead in the first four minutes of the next game, cruising to a 35-14 win. CU had split its first two games of the season for third straight year, and the result in all three previous game threes was a loss ... and No. 20 ranked Kansas was headed into town for the first conference game of the year.

It marked just the fifth ranked opponent CU had ever played at the time, but the Buffaloes held their own in the first four, owning leads at one time in all. This time, CU would lead from start to finish. Jordan's 2-yard touchdown run just six minutes in got the Buffs on the scoreboard first, and the lead grew to 14-0 on a nifty 65-yard punt return, one which featured a reverse from Shelton to Brookshier. KU clawed back to 14-13 by halftime, but TD runs from Johnson and Venzke upped the lead to 28-20 with four minutes left in the game. Venke scored again less than minute later following a KU turnover, and CU went on to a 35-27 victory.

TIMEOUT / FRED CASOTTI

In 1952, one of the school's all-time great personalities arrived on the CU scene. Fred "The Count" Casotti was hired as sports information director, and he would begin a five-decade love affair with his alma mater. A '49 graduate in journalism, the SID job opened up in the summer and athletic director Harry Carlson took a chance on the sports editor with CU ties from a small newspaper in Iowa.

Casotti served 16 years as SID, another 20 as associate athletic director, and then 14 more as the school's historian until his death in 2001. As creative as they came, he penned poems and limericks in his weekly news releases that helped garner CU national attention; the press couldn't wait to see what prose he included in his latest mailing. Casotti wrote three books on Colorado football, including the classic Football CU Style*, the asterisk defining CU as "Casotti Uncensored."

He was inducted into the CoSIDA Hall of Fame in 1996 and posthumously into the state of Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2002 and CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2006.

He passed away the night before a big game against Texas A&M in CU's 2001 Big 12 title run, and a mysterious Aggie fumble and subsequent CU recovery and return for a score saved a 31-21 win. It prompted assistant coach John Wristen to say postgame, "You know that fumble at the end ... (glances upward) ... Thank you, Fred."

The KU win sparked the Buffs in their next two games. Curtis rushed for 121 yards and three touchdowns on just 14 carries, leading CU to a 34-13 romp over Missouri. The defense then played one of its finest games of the season, holding Kansas State to just 41 plays in a 20-7 win in Manhattan, Colorado's first Big Seven conference road win after eight losses.

And with a 3-0 league record, the Buffaloes were atop the standings and squarely in the title picture. An unranked, 2-2 Oklahoma team was next, though the Sooners had won their only Big Seven game.

CU was confident but not cocky heading in, though the fans were optimistic, but what transpired could have set the program back. Sooner quarterback (and future CU coach and athletic director) Eddie Crowder, an option master not known for his throwing prowess, threw three first quarter touchdown passes that covered 27, 67 and 38 yards to build a 27-0 lead. Oklahoma went on to win, 55-14, with Crowder passing for 189 yards and four scores.

A key point in Ward's career, a lesser team could have folded the tent. However, the Buffs reeled off three straight wins, one of which was a 54-0 demolishing of Utah where CU set school records for rushing yards (452) and total offense (627). The seventh win of the year came in the league finale at Nebraska, the first televised game in school history. The Buffs did not disappoint, and with 2,000 fans making the trip from Colorado, Hardy and Hodel both rushed for over 100 yards in a 36-14 win, which gave CU sole possession of second place in the conference, behind Oklahoma.

A season-ending 45-7 loss at No. 2 Michigan State didn't damper the overall optimism. Most of the '51 team was back for 1952, and Colorado had established itself as a legitimate conference contender.

A lackluster 20-14 win over San Jose State opened the '52 campaign, though the Buff ground game was as advertised, piling up 350 yards. But it was hardly the kind of game CU wanted with No. 4 Oklahoma coming to town the following week, with the Sooners riding a 26-game conference winning streak.

Jordan played one of his finest games, as the 5-11, 180-pound senior scored all three CU touchdowns as he went toe-to-toe with OU's Billy Vessels, the 1952 Heisman Trophy winner. But his real weapon was his right leg, as he averaged 56.0 yards on seven punts, including quick-kick boomers of 72, 77 and 78 yards which enabled CU to control field position.

It was a see-saw battle from the start, and neither team led by more than a single score. Oklahoma tied it at 21 with 1:51 to play. Colorado drove into OU territory in the waning seconds, but time ran out after Frank Bernardi's 22-yard run to the Sooner 21, before the Buffs could run another play or try a game winning field goal.

OU went on to win its next 45 league games, and in the 10-year history of the Big Seven (it became the Big Eight in 1958), the Sooners were 57-0-1 in conference play with just that one blemish, courtesy of Colorado.

CU then hit the road for a game at ninth-ranked Kansas. In a statistically even game it came down to defense, and the Jayhawks not once but twice stopped CU at their 1-yard line in a 21-12 win. The 1-1-1 start could have been so much more, which could have given the Buffs their first-ever national ranking. Despite a 5-1-1 finish for a 6-2-2 overall record, CU had to wait two more years for that milestone to occur.

Frustrated by a 2-2-2 mark and fourth place finish in the Big Seven, CU took out its frustration on Colorado A&M in the season finale. A 61-0 rout of the Aggies saw the Buffs rush for 422 yards and six touchdowns on offense, while the defense intercepted six passes and held A&M to just 86 total yards.

Colorado slipped to 6-4 in 1953, which included a tumble to sixth in the league with a 2-4 record, though it marked the first time under Ward that the Buffs won their first two games. Sitting at 0-3 in the conference prior to its game at ninth-ranked Oklahoma, many expected some serious OU payback for the '52 tie. The Buffs battled and with the single-wing offense producing 277 yards and three touchdowns on the ground, CU tied the game with 90 seconds remaining. But Merrill Green's 51-yard TD run with 36 seconds on the clock rallied the Sooners for a 27-20 win.

Though coming close again against OU, the Buffs became motivated for the remainder of the year, pocketing four straight wins to polish off the season. Included on the back end were road wins at Nebraska (14-10) and Colorado A&M (13-7).

That carried into 1954, as the Buffs opened with five straight wins to extend the win streak to nine, the longest since a 15-game run over the 1923-24 seasons, and opened 5-0 for the first time since 1937. Colorado did not allow a point in its first three wins (61-0 over Drake, 46-0 versus Colorado A&M and 27-0 at Kansas), and following a 40-18 win at Arizona, CU achieved a new pinnacle in program history.

Going into the next game at Iowa State, Colorado was a ranked team, appearing at No. 17, and the Buffs responded with their fourth shutout in five games, blanking the Cyclones, 20-0. CU climbed to No. 11, and had Nebraska and Oklahoma at Folsom Field up next.

But it all derailed the following week, when the Cornhuskers shocked CU, 20-6. Bowl hopes were dashed seven days later when the Sooners scored twice in the fourth quarter in rallying to a 13-6 win. CU salvaged a 19-19 tie at Missouri in the next game, the Buffs saved from a loss when Bernardi blocked a game winning extra point try literally with his face. He suffered a broken nose. Wins at Utah and versus Kansas State produced a 7-2-1 season record, but Nebraska edged the Buffs for second in the league and earned an invitation over the Buffs to the Orange Bowl with Oklahoma ineligible to return (teams could not go two seasons in a row to a bowl in the 1950s).

Behind sophomore John “The Beast” Bayuk, CU rushed for a school record 3,160 yards, topping 400 in four games. Bayuk had 824 of the yards, the most by a Buff since Byron White led the nation in 1937. In his final game, Hardy set a national record with 238 yards on just 10 attempts in CU’s 38-14 thumping of Kansas State; CU as a team had 493 on 36 tries, or 13.7 yards per carry, in the rout.

Hardy would go on to the play professional football and baseball, becoming famous when he became the only player to pinch-hit for Ted Williams.

The ’55 season was a near carbon copy. Colorado won its first four games, appeared in the rankings at No. 20 after the third win, and zoomed to No. 14 following the fourth. Next on the calendar, a date at No. 3 Oklahoma. CU stormed to a 14-0 lead, only to see the Sooners rally for a 21-14 halftime lead en route to a 56-21 thrashing. All told, CU lost four of its last six and finished 6-4, and once again placed third in the league.

A 35-0 loss to Oregon in the ’56 season opener, on the heels of a 10-0 setback to Colorado A&M that ended the ’55 campaign had Ward feeling the heat. A five-game winning streak quelled the critics, and CU was poised to enter the rankings again, but was staring No. 1 Oklahoma in the face ... and coming off a 40-0 win at Notre Dame.

CU was ready and sprinted to a 19-6 halftime lead, but as often was the case, Oklahoma rallied. The Sooners scored two third quarter touchdowns, the first aided by a fourth down conversion from their own 28, and then tacked on a clinching score with 5:29 left to win 27-19. The pollsters were still impressed with the Buffaloes and ranked them No. 18. Oklahoma went on to win the national championship.

Also as usual, Missouri was CU’s next foe after Oklahoma and the Tigers seized on the Buffs’ OU hangover and forged a 14-0 lead. With OU ineligible again for the Orange Bowl, the winner of the CU-MU game would earn the invitation.

In 1955, CU had its first black football player make the varsity, a transfer from Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College, end Frank Clarke. He made his presence felt, leading CU in receiving in his junior and senior seasons, but especially this day against the Tigers. His 17-yard touchdown reception from Boyd Dowler shaved the Mizzou lead to 14-7 in the third quarter. Then aided by a personal foul call against Missouri for punching Bayuk, who had bit the forearm of the player after it drove inside his faceguard, a fourth quarter drive was kept alive and Dowler found Clarke again on an 18-yard TD play, with Ellwin Indorf’s PAT kick giving CU a 14-14 tie.

CU earned the league’s Orange Bowl bid by virtue of the tie, as CU finished 4-1-1 and Missouri 3-2-1. The Buffs tuned up for the bowl with wins over Utah and Arizona, an re-entered the polls at No. 20. A see-saw Orange Bowl against Clemson, starting with CU taking a 20-0 lead only to see the “other” CU go ahead 21-20 early in the fourth quarter, did end on a good note for the Buffs as a 1-yard TD run by Bayuk with 7:13 to go paved the way for a 27-21 win and an 8-2-1 record.

Expectations were at an all-time high, but a 6-3-1 record in 1957, with a 14-13 loss at Oklahoma thanks to a blocked PAT, and subsequent 9-6 loss to Missouri put a damper on a season which CU led the nation in rushing with 3,224 yards. Senior Bob Stransky was the school’s third thousand yard rusher, finishing with 1,097 and earning All-America honors, while junior Eddie Dove was the master of the long play, with a 90-yard run and 80-yard reception for touchdowns.

Different season, same story inasmuch as 1958 was concerned. A 5-0 start, which featured a 65-12 throttling of Arizona in Tucson, had CU ranked No. 9 in the nation. The game six opponent ... No. 7 Oklahoma ... CU took a 7-0 lead ... OU rallied to win, 23-7.

Colorado lost four of its last five games, save for only a 7-0 win at Utah. But it was the last two that sealed Ward’s fate. CU led rival Colorado State (the Aggies were no longer A&M) 14-7 in the fourth quarter, but lost 15-14 when CSU scored a touchdown with 4:29 left, and then used the new two-point PAT to take the lead. Then in the finale against Air Force, in just its third year of varsity football, the Buffs thoroughly dominated the 7-0-1 Falcons. CU outgained them 420-160, but fumbled 12 times, losing seven, and a late AFA score on an intercepted pitch gave the Zoomies a 20-14 victory.

One highlight of the year was guard John Wooten earning All-America accolades, the first black CU football player to earn the distinction.

On January 23, 1959 the Regents voted 5-1 to dismiss Ward, saying only that it was “in the best interests of the university.” The anti-Ward people in the minority rejoiced, but the pro-Ward faction was furious.

The Regents refused to reconsider the move and the process set forth to hire the school’s 15th head football coach. The wish list includes a few head coaches and some notable assistants, with Michigan State aide Everett “Sonny” Grandelius quickly rising to the top. The 29-year old was officially named the new CU boss on February 9.

There weren’t many expectations for the ’59 season; the ’58 team was peppered with seniors, and while CU had a solid sophomore class, the Buffs were largely inexperienced.

Grandelius brought change, jettisoning the single-wing for the T-Formation, in addition to one of the most distinctive moves in school history: the Buffaloes scrapped their old gold jerseys for black and silver uniforms. The black has remained since, sans a five year period from 1980-84 when the Regents meddled and forced all athletic teams to wear “Colorado sky blue at 9,000 feet.” Whatever that meant; no move before or since had upset the alumni so.

The Buffs lost their first three games under Grandelius, a grueling opening run of Washington, Baylor and Oklahoma. As with any new coach, it takes time to figure out the new schemes and game action is the best way to learn. Colorado broke through in his fourth game with a 20-17 win over Kansas State, but took a step back the next week with a 27-0 loss to Iowa State; the irony being that the Cyclones were one of the last teams to run the single-wing.

CU won four of its final five, including a 21-20 win over Missouri. The Tigers had gone 15-1-2 against the Buffaloes since 1938 but with a reworked schedule, didn't get CU the week after the Buffs battled Oklahoma (though that format returned one year later for the next seven years). A 15-7 win over Air Force capped the season, with Colorado finishing 5-5. The Buffs finished third in the conference with a 3-3 mark, and also developed a solid quarterback in sophomore Gale Weidner, who had made the transition from 6-man football as a high schooler.

The 1960 season started with a 26-0 loss at Baylor, but CU bounced back to win the next five, topped off by a 7-0 win over Oklahoma, finally its' first over the Sooners since becoming a fellow conference member. CU, 5-1 overall and 4-0 in the Big Eight, had set up a showdown at No. 2 ranked Missouri.

Colorado scored first, taking an early 6-0 lead on a 38-yard pass from Weidner to Gary Henson, and then drove to the Tiger 4-yard line after a turnover but could not punch it in. From that point on, Missouri showed why it was the second best team in the nation, grinding out a physical 16-6 win. The contest was a defensive battle (neither team gained 200 yards), and CU suffered several injuries in the game, most notably to All-America guard Joe Romig. Mizzou won the Big Eight, while CU finished second with a 5-

2 league record, splitting its last two encounters. The banged-up Buffs were outmanned at Kansas, dropping a 34-6 decision, but rallied for a 13-6 win over Oklahoma State, playing a league schedule in football for the first time. The final mark for the year was 6-4, as Air Force bested CU in the finale, also by a 16-6 score.

CU, Missouri and Kansas were the cream of the conference crop in 1961. Colorado had some offensive weapons to contend with, starting with Weidner, ends Jerry Hillebrand and Ken Blair, and halfbacks Teddy Woods and Bill Harris.

The Buffs got the first leg up on the other two when they rallied from a 19-0 deficit early in the fourth quarter for a 20-19 win. CU won its next three, climbing to 4-0 in league play and to No. 8 in the nation. Missouri opened 5-0-1, including three league wins, rising to No. 10; the two met in Boulder on Nov. 4, with the league title on the line.

Colorado was hungry and had been playing good defense, and an early score paved the way for a 7-6 win over the Tigers. But any chance of moving substantially higher in the rankings were dashed the following week with a 21-12 loss at old rival Utah, though the Buffs came back and won its final three games and earned a spot opposite Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl. CU had won its first Big Eight title, going undefeated in league play and finishing the year with as the sixth-ranked team in the land. Romig repeated as an All-American and earned a Rhodes Scholarship, with Hillenbrand also garnering All-American accolades.

No. 4 LSU got the best of the Buffaloes in the bowl game, dominating the trenches in a 25-7 win. The New Year's Day loss was just the first in a wave of bad news over a three month stretch. NCAA sanctions rocked the school after the '61 season; the organization had began its probe into Grandelius' program the summer prior to the season, and the school was placed on two years probation and had 21 players declared ineligible.

Grandelius had been dismissed prior to the penalties, on March 17, 1962, in hopes that the NCAA would take some mercy. It did not. In a surprise hire for his replacement, alumni director William "Bud" Davis was named the new coach 10 days later. He had been a very good high school coach in South Dakota, and had been a backup quarterback on Dal Ward's first three CU teams. He immediately named Ward, who had remained at the school as a teacher, one of his assistants.

The '62 season was one of the ugliest in school history. With a depleted roster, the Buffs managed only a 2-8 record, six of the losses by 20 or more points that included horrifying defeats at Iowa State (57-19) and Missouri (57-0) and the worst home loss ever, 62-0 to Oklahoma. Only a 6-0 win over Kansas State the second week of the season, and a 34-10 romp over Air Force in the finale had CU on the good side of the scoreboard. In the latter, Davis announced his resignation to his team the night before the game and the players were fired up to send him out a winner.

Eddie Crowder

But CU was left looking to for the fourth man to lead its program over a six-year period. Carlson once again would look east, though a little more to the south this time. It was quite a task in selecting Colorado's new coach, especially with three-ex head coaches still on the payroll, two in non-athletic capacities in Dal Ward and Davis, who had become dean of men, and Grandelius, terminated due to the NCAA violations. All had different-sized factions allegiant to them; had there been such a thing as 'Buff Nation' in the day, it was divided into three.

Carlson was allowed to make the decision on his own without Board of Regents interference, and the choice was easy. Eddie Crowder, of Oklahoma pedigree and a candidate for the position in 1959 until he withdrew, was hired on Jan. 2, 1963. There was no way to know at the time that the selection of the 31-year old Crowder would shape CU athletics over the next four decades.

Crowder now had the responsibility of healing the fan base, rebuilding morale and most important, rebuilding the program. Seldom had Colorado ever been in a rebuilding mode, it was fortunate enough to always more or less reload. That was not the case now, with a depleted roster and the Big Eight Conference growing in stature.

Crowder, wise beyond his years, "promised no miracles and delivered none," SID Fred Casotti used to say. Rather, he methodically assessed all aspects of the program, and improved those needing so brick by brick.

Perhaps it was only fitting that his first game as CU's coach was against defending national champion Southern California, which also opened the '63 season ranked as the nation's No. 1 team. A muddy field, one that could not be moved, aided the Buffaloes with the Trojans leaving Boulder with just a 14-0 victory.

After a 41-6 beating by Oregon State in Portland, Crowder's Buffs got him his first win at Kansas State, and then a 25-0 verdict over Oklahoma State in Boulder evened CU's mark at 2-2. But that would be it for victories his rookie season. Colorado dropped its last six, including a season-ending 17-14 loss at Air Force that was delayed two weeks following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The 1964 season yielded a third straight 2-8 record for Colorado, and the losing streak reached 10 games with an 0-4 start, but winds of change were prevalent. Unlike Crowder's first season, which featured five losses by three or more touchdowns, this time around six of the defeats were by a touchdown or less. Just one was in decisive fashion, a 21-0 loss in the opener at USC, but the Trojans ran away from the Buffs late.

CU was competitive for the first time in three years, and ended '64 on a high note with a 28-23 win over Air Force. Also ending that season was the era of platoon football; starting in 1965, free substitution was permitted, leading to different starters on both offense and defense. Colorado's most notable player to stay on the defensive side of the ball was quarterback Hale Irwin, a future professional golfing legend. He became an all-conference safety but golf was his first love. In his last college performance, he won the NCAA championship.

Recruiting had gone well for Crowder, and coupled with CU's return to respectability on the field, things were buzzing again in Boulder. His 1965 Buffaloes featured one of the most talented groups of sophomores in school history, and they proved to be the backbone in a 6-2-2 season, which included a 4-2-1 record in the Big Eight, vaulting Colorado back into the league's first division. In Crowder's third year, CU was third, ending three years of narrowly escaping the conference basement with one sixth and two seventh place finishes.

Carlson, with the football program and the department back on solid footing, announced his retirement in 1965, and Crowder was the popular choice to replace him. Even though AD-football coach dual roles were disappearing, Eddie had learned under one of the best in Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, and he eagerly accepted the offer to become just CU's second full-time athletic director.

The '65 team opened at Wisconsin with one of the last scoreless ties in college football history, then won three and tied another in starting the year 3-0-2. The first real test in Crowder's tenure came at Nebraska, but the No. 3 Huskers used a 95-yard pass play to break open a 10-6 game in the first half en route to a 38-13 win. Irwin had two interceptions and a goal-line tackle the next game as CU rebounded, winning 13-0 over Oklahoma giving Crowder his first win over his alma mater.

No. 9 Missouri toppled the Buffs, which closed the year with wins over KU and Air Force, with only Nebraska and the Tigers ahead of CU in the conference standings. Colorado wasn't all the way back, but was well on the road to creating some memorable moments as well as team history over the next seven seasons.

Thirty lettermen returned in 1966, and Crowder's recruiting had gone so well that only three sophomores would make the starting lineup. The prospects for a banner season all seemed to line up in Colorado's favor, but Miami, Fla., socked the Buffs in the mouth in the opener, coming into Boulder and shutting down the CU offense and exiting with a 24-3 win.

CU righted things in game two, bouncing No. 10 Baylor in Waco 13-7 after the Bears had knocked off seventh-ranked Syracuse in their opener. Reserve linebacker Steve Graves' diving interception in the end zone in the final minute of play preserved the win. Several black players on the CU team (Baylor had none) were subject to racist taunts, and insults were even piped into the Colorado lockerroom over a speaker, infuriating the team and making this victory extra special for the Buffaloes.

The conference season produced some great moments and would confirm CU was all the way back as a school to be reckoned with. The Buffs posted four decisive wins over Kansas State, Iowa State, Missouri and Kansas, and rallied to beat Oklahoma (24-21), their second straight win over the Sooners. The two losses hurt, as CU wound up on the losing end by a combined three points. After the KSU win, even though Colorado was now 2-1 on the year, it has scored just 26 points in the three games.

Those troubles continued against Oklahoma State, though CU led 10-3 late in the game. The Cowboys drove 69 yards against a prevent defense, scored a touchdown and then won it with a 2-point conversion, 11-10. Crowder's staff decided to tinker with the offense, and the infusion of Dan Kelly was the answer. He ran the option to perfection in a 41-21 win at Iowa State, rushing for 156 yards and three scores and passing for 86 more. CU had two confident quarterbacks with distinct differences that caused opponents trouble the rest of the year.

CU returned home and had Nebraska on the ropes and owned a 19-6 lead with 13 minutes remaining, but the "prevent" did the Buffs in again, the Cornhuskers rallying for a 21-19 win. Colorado didn't tank it, however, won the last three league games convincingly to finish 5-2 for second place in the league, and then polished off a 7-3 season with a 10-9 win over Air Force. Junior Dick Anderson, who led the Buffs in interceptions (five) and was also the team's punter, aided the win by blocking a Falcon field goal try midway through the fourth quarter, which led to John Farler's 34-yard kick for the winning points.

TIMEOUT / RALPHIE

A live buffalo mascot, Ralphie, leads the Colorado football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exist anywhere in college or professional sports, and is oft recognized as such. Its beginning is traced to 1966, when John Lowery, the father of a CU freshman from Lubbock, Texas, donated to the school a six-month old buffalo calf.

For a while, she was billed as "Rraalph," but the origin of the name remains in doubt. Some say it was given by the student body after sounds she allegedly made while running and snorting; others say it was named for Ralph Jay Wallace, the junior class president at the time; and the original handlers will tell a third version. Regardless, an astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

The initial tradition was for CU's five sophomore class officers to run the buffalo around the stadium in a full loop. They would run her for two hours to tire her a bit to help keep her under control by the time the game started. At the conclusion of the run, the fans would break into the "Buffalo Stomp," which would literally shake the stadium in deafening fashion as the team took the field. But CU officials soon had the tradition stopped because of the actual physical damage it was causing.

Around that same time, head coach Eddie Crowder was approached with the idea the charging buffalo running out on the field before the game with the team behind right her. Crowder thought it was a great idea, and the debut of this great tradition took place on October 28, 1967, CU's homecoming game against Oklahoma State. Though OSU won the game, 10-7, the tradition was here to stay, though those who had some training in such an endeavor as working with a wild animal eventually replaced the sophomores.

Ralphie achieved nationally celebrity status, and was even kidnapped in 1970 by some Air Force Academy students as well as being named the school's 1971 Homecoming Queen at the height of the anti-establishment era.

Ralphie II replaced the original Ralphie following the 1978 season, and Ralphies III and IV served the school well; Ralphie V is CU's current live buffalo, debuting in 2008 at the annual spring game.

Colorado had come "oh so close" to returning to the top of the conference mountain, and with all those '65 sophomores set to be seniors and a great freshman team graduating a new batch of rookies, 1967 shaped up to be a season to remember.

Something always foiled the Buffaloes from getting to the top, though. From 1965 through 1972, CU posted eight straight first division finishes in the Big Eight, finishing second twice, third four times and fourth on two occasions.

Nebraska had established itself as a national power, after a slight lull, Oklahoma returned to prominence, and both Kansas and Missouri ended the decade with good, if not great teams. Colorado was always in the mix, but never won or shared the title between its last in 1961 or its next in 1976. Other than KU and Mizzou sharing one title each, the top rung was owned exclusively by the Sooners or Huskers.

In '67, CU was so well thought of that it was the only Big Eight school in the Associated Press preseason poll, opening the year at No. 10. And the Buffs would live up to the billing, blitzing to a 5-0 start and zooming up to No. 3, trailing only Pacific 8 powers USC and UCLA. Colorado had never sniffed the top five before, so climbing to number three was a feather in Crowder's cap.

The Andersons, Dick and younger brother, sophomore quarterback Bobby, were just two of many stellar performers on the team; both would eventually be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. Monte Huber blossomed at receiver, emerging as the favorite target of Anderson. William Harris, William Cooks and Larry Plantz were able ball carriers. Mike Montler, Bart Bortles, Bruce Heath, Kirk Tracy, Bill Csikos and Kile Morgan formed a great offensive line. Mike Schnitker, Ron Scott, Bill Brundige, Rocky Martin, Frank Bosch, Mike Veeder, Dave Bartelt and Kerry Mottl formed the defensive front. Charles Greer, Isaac Howard and Mike Bynum teamed with Anderson that produced a secondary that allowed 113 or fewer yards passing seven times.

Riding into Boulder for homecoming was Oklahoma State, essentially the same team that derailed the Buffs in '66. The Cowboys did it again (and would complete the hat trick in 1972). CU never got untracked, spotted OSU a 10-0 lead, and could only carve out a single score after Boulder's notorious winds picked up. The 'Pokes left town with a 10-7 win, and the Buffs dropped to ninth in the polls.

CU still had title aspirations, but those were wiped away in Norman when the Sooners shut down and shut out the Buffs, 23-0. Oklahoma used the win as a springboard to a final No. 3 ranking, while CU regrouped and had to rally to beat heavy underdog Kansas, 12-8. Colorado was 6-2, and this was the "hey day" of bowls extending invitations whenever they pleased after the November came around.

The Buffs accepted a bid to the Bluebonnet Bowl, opposite the same Miami team that upset them in Boulder in the '66 opener. Colorado steamrolled its final two opponents in the regular season, Kansas State (40-6) and Air Force (33-0), setting out to match the 1923 for the most wins in a single year in school history.

In the bowl, Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle injury and ignited a 31-21 win over the Hurricanes. He had missed the team bus to the stadium and had to hail a cab, with Crowder inserting him in place of Kelly to start the second half; he rushed for 108 yards and two scores. A see-saw affair with four lead changes, Anderson provided the go-ahead score on a 38-yard run with 6:55 remaining. But the win wasn't secure until Howard picked off a Miami pass at the UM 43, with Anderson then directing a 34-yard drive that ended with a Cooks 2-yard run with 1:02 left to play.

Despite the graduation of 24 seniors, good things were still expected in 1968. Colorado opened 4-2, capped off by a wild 41-27 win over Oklahoma; CU sprinted to a 34-6 halftime lead then held on for dear life after the Sooners scored three quick touchdowns in 10 minutes to make a game of it.

Unfortunately, the Buffs didn't grace the win column again the remainder of the season, losing the final four games starting with a 27-14 setback at third-ranked Kansas, the eventual conference champ. The year came to an end with a humiliating 58-35 loss to Air Force, as the Falcons dropped the Buffs to 4-6 for the season in rushing for 381 yards and amassing 530 overall. The two ceased playing following the 1974 season, and this would be the last win by AFA in the series.

CU opened 1969 with a resounding 35-14 win over Tulsa, with Bobby Anderson, now a senior and considered to be the best quarterback in the Big Eight, accounting for four touchdowns. But the Buffs were humbled the next game, falling at No. 2 Penn State, 27-3, though not a total shame since the Nittany Lions went on to have an undefeated season and held the second spot in the polls.

Big changes were in store for game three; with juniors Paul Arendt and Jimmy Bratten primed to play quarterback, and Anderson also being one of the nation's top runners, Crowder moved him to tailback. The move was unannounced until game time, and Anderson responded with 161 yards and three touchdowns in a 30-7 drubbing of Indiana. The Buffs then shutout Iowa State, getting great defensive efforts from Brundige and sophomore Herb Orvis. The pair combined for 36 tackles for loss with 22 quarterback sacks for the season, and was making a habit of living in opponent backfields.

A tough stretch of games loomed against Oklahoma, Missouri and Nebraska. The 12th-ranked Sooners won a shootout in Norman, 42-30, but the Buffs returned home and got the best of No. 5 Missouri, 31-24. Anderson scored three touchdowns and a timely interception by Phil Irwin thwarted the Tigers, but the win was costly with Anderson suffering a hip-pointer. The injury limited him in a 20-7 loss at Nebraska, paving the way for Missouri and Nebraska to be league co-champs.

Colorado won its last three league games to take third, and the Buffs accepted an invitation to play Alabama and its legendary coach, Bear Bryant, in the Liberty Bowl.

Anderson rushed for 954 yards during the regular season, and finished 11th in the Heisman Trophy race. He polished off his career by running for 254 more and three scores in leading CU to a 47-33 win over the Crimson Tide, with the Liberty one of the most exciting bowl games of the decade. Colorado sprinted to a 17-0 lead, but fell behind 33-31 before Anderson scored twice in the fourth quarter, sandwiched around a Brundige and Orvis sack of 'Bama QB Ned Hayden for a safety. CU finished the season 8-3 and ranked No. 16.

With 40 lettermen returning for 1970 plus the addition of one of the nation's top junior college players, Cliff Branch, now eligible, optimism was high and CU was a legitimate challenger for the Big Eight title. The Buff s opened on the road with a 16-9 win at Indiana, setting the stage for a nationally televised rematch on ABC with Penn State.

The Buff s entered the polls after the Indiana win at No. 18; Penn State was a top 10 regular, coming in at No. 4 and riding a 23-game winning streak and a 31-game unbeaten run. Pat Murphy made an interception for CU on the first play of the game, and the Buff s were off and running. Branch returned the second half kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown, and when the smoke cleared, Colorado had routed the Nittany Lions, 41-13, and had shocked the football world.

Linebacker Phil Irwin's battered helmet graced the cover of Sports Illustrated, the first time any Colorado Buffalo in any sport graced the front page. And in a span of three games, Crowder defeated two future Hall of Fame coaches in Alabama's Bear Bryant and Penn State's Joe Paterno.

CU jumped 10 spots in the polls to No. 8, its largest gain in a single week in school history, but the celebration was short lived. Kansas State dealt the Buff s a 21-20 setback, with a solid Wildcat effort combined with some freak plays did the Buff s in, the last coming after CU pulled to within one late in the game only to have its reliable placekicker miss the game-tying PAT. Iowa State paid the price the next week, as Branch returned two punts for touchdowns (and had a third one called back) in a 61-10 rout.

The next three games frustration sank in, as an unranked Oklahoma team came into Boulder and won 23-15, with Missouri then knocking CU out of the top 20 with a 30-16 win. No. 4 Nebraska scored twice late and escaped Folsom with a 29-13 win, leaving CU 3-4 on the year and 1-4 in the league.

The Buff s came back to smack Kansas and Oklahoma State to finish fourth in the league standings, and smashed Air Force 49-19. The Falcons, bound for the Sugar Bowl, took an early 7-0 lead but the Buffaloes answered with the next 35, piling up an astonishing 438 yards ... by halftime.

The finish earned CU a return invitation to the Liberty Bowl, but the Buff s accepted the bid on the assumption the opponent would be Arkansas or Mississippi. Instead, Tulane bartered its way into the game with a promise to buy 10,000 tickets, but the problem was that the Buff s took the Green Wave lightly. When that happens, the result usually isn't good and Tulane came away with a 17-3 win. Colorado ended the season with a 6-5 record, but Crowder had another fine crop of sophomores ready for their debut in '71.

And what a debut it would be. Veterans like Branch, Orvis, John Stearns, Cullen Bryant, Billie Drake, Carl Taibi and John Stavelly were joined by sophomore stars-to-be Charlie Davis, Ken Johnson, J.V. Cain, Bo Matthews and Randy Geist among others. Nineteen seniors were the nucleus, 49 sophomores filled in the gaps. They had to meld quickly, because in CU's first three games of 1971, road contests lurked at No. 9 Louisiana State and No. 6 Ohio State.

Colorado started the season unranked; but after a 31-21 win at LSU and a 20-14 stunner in Columbus, sandwiched around the first game ever at Folsom Field on AstroTurf, a 56-13 drubbing of Wyoming, the Buffs were 3-0 and ranked No. 6.

The Buffs improved to 5-0, with road games against No. 2 Oklahoma and No. 1 Nebraska ahead, and an always tough Missouri team in-between. The Sooners and Huskers got the best of the Buffs, but CU snared a win against The Tigers. Blowout wins over Kansas, Oklahoma State and Air Force improved the Buffs to 9-2, tying the school's season record for wins, and slotted CU at No. 7 in the polls.

How dominate was Colorado down the stretch? CU had 1,592 yards of offense, including 512 in the first half against Oklahoma State in a game where Davis rushed for a school record 342 yards, and allowed a paltry 637. The finish earned CU a berth in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl against hometown and No. 15 Houston.

CU kept rolling, overpowering the Cougars 29-17 to post the school's first 10-win season. When the final votes were tabulated, a first in college football occurred that hasn't come close to being matched: the same conference produced the nation's top three teams: Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado. Davis finished seventh in the nation in rushing, Taibi led a defense that made 37 sacks, and Branch electrified all with 11 touchdowns, four via punt return.

All that returning talent had Colorado open the '72 season with its highest ranking ever: No. 2. Boulder was in the throes of a football frenzy. The question was if the old saying would rear its ugly head again, that being, "Colorado is most dangerous when it is underestimated and most likely to fail when rated highly." Unfortunately for CU, over the years it had panned out ... and would again in 1972.

CU opened strong enough, steamrolling its first three opponents before opening Big 8 play at Oklahoma State. The stars were anything but aligned, as CU was without an injured Johnson while fullback Jon Keyworth went out early and the Buffs fumbled 10 times in a 31-6 loss. OSU had once again sidetracked Colorado's season, repeating its feat from 1967.

The Buffs went on to an 8-4 record in '72, far below expectations, though defeating second-ranked Oklahoma along the way, the highest rated team CU has ever beaten in its 118-year football history (matched a few times later on). CU was lackluster in a 24-3 Gator Bowl loss to Auburn, and those close to the program felt the overtime put in by Crowder as both football coach and athletic director was taking its toll.

The Buffs still had a deep team in 1973, the sophomore stars of two years prior were now seniors, and with freshman now eligible to play again, current sophs like Dave Logan had seen some playing time in '72 and a true freshman star named Billy Waddy could excite fans almost to a Cliff Branch like level. Colorado was still respected nationally, opening the year ranked 10th, and would again open the season at No. 15 LSU.

But the magic of '71 wasn't there, as LSU captured this one, 17-6. CU reeled off four straight wins before succumbing at No. 3 Oklahoma, but returned home to beat No. 7 Missouri. Despite coming off two straight third place finishes, the 5-2 Buffaloes were still in position to contend for the league title if OU slipped up as well as a prestigious bowl bid. But four straight losses, including close setbacks to Kansas and Kansas State dropped CU to 5-6.

Crowder had coached the Buffaloes for 11 seasons, and when omitting his first two years with identical 2-8 records when CU was rebuilding after the NCAA decimation, he owned a stellar 63-33-2 record which he had compiled against all-comers. He took time off and went on a quiet mountain retreat, and upon his return, announced his resignation as coach in mid-December. He would remain as athletic director for the next 11 years.

The program was in good shape, well stocked with talent and players like Logan, Williams, Don Hasselbeck, Pete Brock, Leon White and Emery Moorehead ready to blossom. The CU job was both a plumb and a concern. Whoever took the job might fear Crowder would be constantly looking over his shoulder, a concern that never materialized. Several names were bandied about, but Crowder settled on a man from the "Cradle of Coaches," Miami of Ohio. Bill Mallory had led the Redskins to an undefeated season and a win over Florida in the Tangerine Bowl, and his next destination was Boulder.

Mallory's first team in '74 finished the same as Crowder's last, 5-6, though posted a couple of nice wins over No. 11 Wisconsin and No. 18 Oklahoma State. And in the last game to date played between CU and Air Force, the Buffs escaped with a 28-27 win, its sixth straight over the Falcons.

Mallory's recruiting couldn't match Crowder's, though he did bring in some talented junior college players in Terry Kunz, Troy Archer and Tony Reed. He also landed a talented prep running back in James Mayberry.

The 1975 season was another one of those that could have been. After opening with three straight wins, Colorado reappeared in the national rankings (No. 19). The opponent first up with CU back on the national scene was top ranked Oklahoma in Norman. The Buffs went toe-to-toe with the superior Sooners, featuring the Selmon brothers, and a 68-yard march in the game's waning minutes pulled CU to within 21-20. The players wanted to go for two and the win, but Mallory knew a tie could mean the league title and the Orange Bowl berth down the road. CU went for the tie, but Tom Mackenzie's kick hooked it far to the left.

To CU's credit, it went on to win five of the next six games, close the regular season at 9-2 with another third place finish in the conference, and enter the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl ranked No. 10. CU faced No. 9 Texas, which more or less was playing a home game, and the Longhorns used a dominant second half to topple the Buffs, 38-21.

The 1976 season was one of the wackiest ever in Big 8 history, with five schools in the hunt for the title down to the last weekend. CU won three of its four non-conference games, but dropped the league opener to No. 6 Nebraska. Undaunted, the Buffs picked themselves up off the ground, won a wacky one with two late touchdowns at Oklahoma State the next week, a key victory it would turn out later on. Wins over Iowa State and Oklahoma at home, the latter also proving to be important, improved CU to 6-2, 3-1 in the league and to No. 14 in the nation. Colorado was in control of its own destiny at that point, but it was short-lived after losing at No. 16 Missouri in week nine.

A big win over Kansas in the Folsom finale, coupled with other events, had the Buffs facing a must win situation at Kansas State to close the regular season. Colorado won a shootout, 35-28, and was tied atop the standings with OSU at 5-2. But Oklahoma and Nebraska were both 4-2 and played several days later on Thanksgiving; CU would sweat it out, but an OU win gave the Buffs the edge with head-to-head wins over both the Sooners and Cowboys. The share of the league title earned Colorado the Orange Bowl berth.

No one knew at the time it would be CU's last bowl appearance for nine seasons, and after taking a 10-0 lead over Ohio State, the Buckeyes scored the game's final 27 points. The season was still deemed a success.

Mallory didn't know it at the time, but he had two years left in Boulder. Both his '77 and '78 teams opened 5-0, one climbing to No. 3 and the other to No. 13. But poor finishes led to 7-3-1 and 6-5 marks, and he was fired days after the '78 season came to a close.

Crowder wanted a big name this time, and Nebraska's Tom Osborne took a courtesy visit to Boulder, likely to better his own situation back in Lincoln. Names were thrown around, but no one had the inside word on who was Crowder's next man.

On Dec. 18, during the NFL's Monday Night Football game featuring New England at Miami, the legendary Howard Cosell broke in with an announcement that Patriot coach Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma's old boss from 1967-72, had accepted CU's offer to be its next head coach. Miami went on to rout the Patriots, tying New England for the division crown, and the Pats lost in the first round of the playoffs. The owners were furious, and took Fairbanks and CU to court, claiming breach of contract. After New England won some preliminary hearings, an out of court settlement was reached, with Fairbanks giving up deferred income to the tune of $100,000, while CU had to pay the Patriots twice that amount.

Fairbanks finally was cleared to take over the program on April 4, 1979, after Bob Cortese did a masterful job of coordinating recruiting and keeping things intact while CU awaited the court's ruling. Trying to instill pro schemes on the college kids never clicked, however, and CU lost eight of its first nine en route to a 3-8 season. Somehow, Mark Haynes and Stan Brock were still able to be recognized as All-Americans, a credit to their talents. And though hardly a big deal at the time, the season opener against Oregon was the first college football game televised on an all sports cable network called ESPN.

The debts were piling up; season ticket sales never came close to what was expected, as CU was in a $1 million hole after capital improvements were made based on income that never materialized, combined with the new debt from a $7.7 million basketball arena. Many in CU's constituency were offended, some lost forever, when on June 11, 1980, Crowder was forced by President Arnold Weber and the Board of Regents to cut seven sports, including the traditional long-time programs of baseball, swimming and wrestling.

A 1-10 record in 1980, the lone win over Iowa State, followed the disastrous '79 campaign but featured a change considered even worse by fans and alumni. The Regents imposed CU's athletic teams to do away with the popular black uniform color and replace it with "Colorado Sky Blue at 9,000 feet." Down through years, people blamed Fairbanks for this, but he had nothing to do with it.

The school also adopted a new logo in the summer of 1981, not overly accepted at first but one that in due time won most everyone over. Some staffers dubbed it the "piggalo" after Fairbanks saw the design, took one of his famous long drags on a cigarette and uttered, "That thing looks like a ----- pig."

A 3-8 season lay ahead in '81, though the Buffs won the games many want most, the season opener (45-27 over Texas Tech), homecoming (11-10 over Oklahoma State) and the finale (24-21 over Kansas State). But the story of the year was a sad one. In late October, tailback Derek Singleton, who had caught the 2-point conversion pass the previous Saturday to beat OSU, fell ill in his Ames hotel room. Spinal meningitis was the diagnosis, and on New Year's Day '82, the Buff sophomore passed away.

On June 1, 1982, Fairbanks informed Crowder that he was resigning to take the head coaching job with the New Jersey Generals of the fledgling United States Football League. His era thus came to an end after just three seasons and a 7-26 record, though CU did escape finishing in the conference cellar all three years.

Things would eventually change, and a novelty t-shirt later would confirm it, but not for several years.

Crowder needed to act quickly to fill the vacant head coaching role; fall camp was only two months away. But the program was deep in debt, after paying off Mallory, settling with the New England Patriots to secure Fairbanks, and the cost of women's sports under Title IX guidelines, programs that provided practically no revenue, among other capital expenses accrued.

Crowder had vowed to get the department financially viable again, so this would be the most important hire of his 20-year career as athletic director. CU had to invigorate the season ticket base, but could not afford a exasperating strung out, or messy, search.

Drake coach Chuck Shelton surfaced as a top candidate; after all, his Bulldogs had beaten the Buffaloes not once but twice, the second time being a good old fashion whooping. He interviewed two days after Fairbanks resigned and was generally well received, though there were doubters because of his lack of big-time football experience, one of those being President Weber.

Long-time BYU head coach LaVelle Edwards was flown to Boulder for a day-long interview, but he generally wasn't interested in leaving Provo, where he would win a national championship two years later.

Legendary Michigan coach Bo Schembechler phoned Crowder and gave a glowing recommendation of his defensive coordinator, Bill McCartney. It was June 7 when McCartney came in for his interview, and Crowder assigned Fred Casotti to usher him about.

The story on how McCartney surfaced to the top and was named CU's 20th head coach is best told by, well, McCartney.

"There were about 15 people representing all kind of factions on campus and the alumni," McCartney recalled in a 2007 interview for CUBuffs.com. "About 15 minutes before I was going to go before them for the interview, I said to Fred, 'What do you think my chances are?' He said, 'Coach, it's third and long. You'd better make a big play.'"

"That was the best thing he could have said, otherwise I might have tip-toed into the interview. After Fred told me that, I threw caution to the wind, decided to get aggressive and put my best foot forward. The format was for them to ask me questions, or that's what they had in mind. But I stood up, and I said before I take any questions, I want to make a statement. I spoke for about 15, 20 minutes and told them who I was, my background, what I had done at the University of Michigan, my philosophies and values, and what I would bring to the University of Colorado if I was to get the job. I was the only one talking, and after I was done speaking, nobody asked me a question."

"I went from there to meet the president, and he had already gotten a phone call following the first interview. He was energized and anxious to see me, and was warm and welcoming. Later that night, they took me to meet the Board of Regents, as by chance they were having their monthly meeting in Denver. I was waiting with Casotti in the car, waiting for a break in their meeting to be introduced, and I asked Fred again, 'What do you think my chances are?' And Fred said, 'Coach, fourth and short. You just need to make a first down.' So I just needed to move the chains. That Tuesday night, Eddie offered me the job. It all happened so fast."

McCartney was officially named head coach on June 9. In less than eight weeks, he had to assemble a staff and prepare for the season, and do some of the obligatory head coach things around town with the fans and public. And he would not have a chance to meet his team until they reported in August.

In looking back at his first interviews, one would have thought the media was interviewing a prophet. A sampling of Mac's comments:

"I promise you a program based on integrity and honesty, with the top priority on graduating students. That's how we're going to measure success."

"I see Colorado as being a lot like Michigan in being able to attract the superior student-athlete. Our standards are better here than most, but that has to be looked at as an advantage."

"You achieve what you emphasize. Until you set specific goals, you're liable to miss opportunities that come up along the way."

"I can only predict how Colorado will play, with enthusiasm, togetherness and tenacity. Every single squad that I coach here will be team-oriented."

"We need to enhance our reputation here (in Colorado). You make your living at home first. We want the high school players and coaches to develop their loyalties to us, not out of state schools."

"My family and I want to sink roots in this place. We plan on being here as long as you want us."

He said all seven of those statements in the first few days after being hired, and all seven eventually came true: over 80 percent of his seniors graduated; many goals were reached if not surpassed, as evidenced by a national title and three Big 8 crowns; his CU squads were team-first, individuals second; Buff football returned to prominence in the state, largely due to his first recruiting class snaring most of the top local preps; and once the McCartney's arrived in Colorado, they were here for good.

The road was rocky at first, to be expected when one takes over a depleted program 94 days before the season opener. His opening day roster had 77 players total, 73 on scholarship, some 22 under the maximum at the time; Fairbanks' last recruiting class included 15 junior college transfers, but only four who ever made it to campus due to a variety of reasons, though it did at least have 10 state high schoolers, many of which played key roles early in Mac's tenure, most notably linebacker Barry Remington.

What most remember about his 1982 season is not the 2-8-1 record, but Mac's designation of Nebraska as Colorado's rival. Now the Huskers had won 14 straight in the series, the last four by an average of 41 points. The Buffs gave Nebraska a brief scare in the first encounter under McCartney, trailing 20-14 entering the fourth quarter before losing by 40-14, but a tone had been set for the future.

There were many ups and downs the next two seasons. There was modest improvement in 1983, with CU finishing with a 4-7 record. The signature win was a 31-3 drubbing of Colorado State in the resumption of the in-state rivalry that had been dormant for 25 years. Off the field, he landed 11 high school players from the state in his first recruiting class, including Eric McCarty, the local kid from Boulder High who many considered the prize of the class, and signed 32 players from Colorado high schools in his first three classes.

The 1984 season was filled with anger, sadness and disappointment. Colorado designed a two-tight end scheme on offense and had two stellar players at the position in Jon Embree and Ed Reinhardt. The new offense was not made public until the Denver Post beat writer revealed it days before the season opener against Michigan State, using the typical over-used media line of it was the public's right to know. The disclosure of what CU planned to do infuriated McCartney, saying his team lost its edge for the opener (MSU won, 24-21).

Wins and losses became academic the following week, when Reinhardt, who caught 10 passes for 142 yards in the opener, suffered a life-threatening head injury in a 27-20 loss at Oregon. He spent a month in a coma after having a blood clot removed from the surface of his brain. The burden of a teammate battling against death was a lot for a young Buffalo team to bear, and was a factor in CU's 1-10 record. Redshirt freshmen were also all over the two-deep, and their inexperience showed as they simply were not ready for the grind of the Big 8. Four of the losses were by 10 points or less.

Reinhardt did not fully recover from the injury. He suffered some partial paralysis that also affected his speech and his cranial functions, but has some remarkable accomplishments thanks to the support of his family, particularly his parents, Ed Sr., and Pat.

Regardless, fans were getting restless. To compound the issue, Crowder achieved his goal of making the department financially sound again and retired as athletic director, effective Sept. 1, with former CU ski coach Bill Marolt, who had coached the U.S. Ski Team to its best performance ever in the '84 Winter Olympics, taking over. Five games into the season, Marolt had seen enough of how McCartney was running his program and extended his contract, not an overly popular move at the time, but it was something that stabilized the program. That despite the slightest possible improvement in the schools' record over Mac's first three years, 7-25-1, compared to that of the Fairbanks Era (7-26). The extension allowed him to "work with a net" of sorts.

Mac had won the fans over on one controversial issue. In home games against Nebraska and Oklahoma, CU donned the old, favorite black jerseys in lieu of the blue it had worn since 1980. There was widespread approval, and CU would junk the blue the next season. Besides, the team definitely played better in black, evidenced by leading No. 5 Nebraska 7-3 entering the fourth quarter, the first time CU held a lead that late in a game against the Huskers in 17 years, before losing 24-7. CU was tied with No. 9 Sooners at halftime before succumbing as well.

"A lot of the alums had told me they hated the powder blue ... they wanted the black jerseys back," McCartney said. "We timed it up so we could get the maximum impact from it. So that really came from guys who had played there who had worn the black and gold. We had warmed up in blue, and then came out in black, and the players were ecstatic. It jacked them up."

His first three teams had passed for over 6,700 yards, but the running game was non-existent and CU was soft on defense, nowhere near Mac's standards in defending the run.

In March 1985, McCartney announced perhaps the boldest move in Colorado football history: the Buffaloes were switching to the wishbone formation on offense. Reaction was mixed. Was McCartney doing the right thing, or was this a desperate move of a crazed coach out of options?

It was the former. CU was the nation's most improved team in '85, its 7-5 record the first winning mark at the school since 1978, and the Buffs earned their first bowl invitation in nine years. The team produced two of the most staggering statistical turnarounds in NCAA history, going from last to ninth in rushing and from last to first in net punting, the latter largely due to the leg of All-American Barry Helton. CU also moved up from 102nd to 37th against the run. CU's 4-3 mark in league play helped McCartney earn Coach of the Year honors in the Big 8.

The wishbone was the reason for the turnaround, but not so much on offense, though quarterback Mark Hatcher usually ran it to perfection. As the running game improved, the defense saw it every day in practice and that was the area where CU made its greatest strides.

CU posted big non-league wins over Oregon and Arizona, and beat up everyone but the big three of the day in league play, though CU battled Nebraska, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State as well as anyone. The season ended with a disappointing 20-17 loss to Washington in the Freedom Bowl, though if instant replay was in existence at the time, a Mike Marquez fumble near the goal line would have showed he was down and the ground caused it instead of the Huskies gaining possession.

The Buffs were 6-6 in 1986, rebounding after an 0-4 start that included three losses by a combined 10 points. CU began to roll in league play, gaining momentum with a 20-10 win over No. 3 Nebraska, its first win over the Huskers in 19 years. There were several stars in the game, and CU thoroughly dominated; when Remington made an interception with six seconds remaining, the stands emptied and what many referred to as "The Turning Point" in Mac's tenure, had occurred. School officials did not turn off the scoreboard until Monday afternoon.

"It was our ability to defense them is what won that game," McCartney noted of holding the Huskers to just 123 rushing yards. "The wishbone toughened up our defense. Guys were pounding off the line of scrimmage because it's an attack offense that creates a new line of scrimmage. The achievement that day was not how prolific on offense we were, but how we controlled the game on defense."

Lo and behold, in the next to last game of the season, Colorado and Oklahoma, both 5-0 in the conference, played for the title and the Orange Bowl berth that came with it. Now the Sooners were experts at the wishbone, and had dismantled CU in '85 by 31-0; this game was a bit more competitive, but OU never threw a single pass in pulling away for a 28-0 win. The Buffs routed Kansas State in Manhattan in the finale, and earned a bid to the Bluebonnet Bowl, where Baylor got the best of CU, 21-9.

The Buffaloes went 7-4 in 1987, but were surprisingly shutout of the bowls. A new tradition was born this season, the team donning all black uniforms for games the players thought were special; the first time occurred in the season-ending loss to Nebraska.

CU opened 1988 with an easy 45-3 win over Fresno State, a tune-up for one of the first real non-conference road tests in the McCartney Era, No. 19 Iowa in Iowa City. It was a typical hot, humid Midwestern Saturday, but Colorado's offense clicked and after a great defensive stand late, CU rallied for a 24-21 win.

"That Iowa game was key, they had an outstanding team, so for us to go in there and beat them, it was one of those milestone games," Mac recalled. "It put us in another category, it identified us as a team that could go on the road and beat a great team. I look back on that with great fondness."

Nail-biters against Oregon State and Colorado State followed, the Buffs rallying in the fourth quarter to win both, completing the four-game non-conference sweep for the first time since 1978. The winning streak came to an end the following Saturday, when eventual Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders led Oklahoma State to a 41-21 win in Boulder. The Buff "D" did a decent job containing him at first, but a 65-yard run in the third quarter broke open a 24-14 game and the diminutive back would finish with 174 yards.

Colorado went on to win four of its next six, finish fourth in the conference a second straight year and post an 8-4 record after dropping a 20-17 decision to BYU in the Freedom Bowl. Wins were coming more frequently for the program, but the Buffs couldn't crack the conference nut, secure a bowl victory or earn a final poll ranking. CU did crack the AP poll once, at No. 19, but fell out after a 7-0 loss at Nebraska (the last time anyone had shut out the Buffs through 2007, as CU started the next week what would grow into the ninth longest scoring streak, and counting, of all-time).

Tragedy struck the program again when it was announced in late March that quarterback Sal Aunese was diagnosed with stomach cancer. Aunese battled the disease for six months before succumbing on Sept. 23, 1989. A team player to the end, he passed away on CU's bye date after attending CU's first three games, all at home, with an emotional reception from the Folsom Field crowd for him as he watched from the press box as his Buffs dismantled No. 10 Illinois, 38-7, a week before he died. His replacement/protégé, Darian Hagan, led the Buffs in his absence to wins in those first three; in fact, his first play of the season was a 75-yard run to the Texas 2-yard line, igniting a 27-6 win.

The team had dedicated the season to Sal, and it was a very emotional week leading up to the fourth game at Washington. There was a memorial service Monday afternoon at Macky Auditorium on the Boulder campus, and prior to the game in Seattle, the team knelt, pointed skyward, and went on to whip the Huskies. Afterwards, it was revealed that Sal had written a letter to the team, closing with the phrase, "Bring Home The Orange Bowl."

This very talented team was now on a mission, and rolled to easy victories in the first three league games by scores national powerhouses regularly won with, 49-3 (over Missouri), 52-17 (at Iowa State) and 49-17 (versus Kansas). The offense had evolved into the “I-Bone” from its wishbone roots, with over 400 rushing yards in each of the games as CU raised its record to 7-0 with the “Big Reds” up next.

The first test was at Oklahoma on Oct. 28; the Sooners had won 12 straight in the series, and the Buffs had come as close to beating OU in '88 as they had in seven meetings under McCartney. Known for inspiring his team with T-shirt slogans, Mac's most notable ever was produced for this game, which the players wore on the team plane to Oklahoma. “Things Have Changed,” they broadly declared, and the slogan would gain national acclaim after the Buffs left Norman with a 20-3 win.

“That was a milestone victory,” McCartney said. “That was a big, big thing to do, to go to Norman and win. That came within a two-year window where we won at Iowa, at Oklahoma, at Washington, at Texas, at Nebraska. Those established us as a national power, because those were hard things to do. From there, we were able to sustain things for a while. Oklahoma wasn’t able to beat CU for 11 years; they had put 82 points on the board when Fairbanks was here. So for them not to beat us between 1989 and 1999 was a phenomenal achievement by this program.”

The atmosphere in Boulder on Nov. 4, 1989, was like nothing that had preceded it, or has been since. It was that rare confluence where both teams were undefeated (each 8-0), with CU ranked No. 2 and Nebraska No. 3 in the Associated Press poll, with the positions reversed on the UPI ballot. Colorado was the national darling, with interest high as people watched how this team was reacting after the death of one of its leaders. Over 600 media credentials were issued for the game, and at halftime, CU honored its “All Century” team, recognizing the top players in the school’s first 100 years of football.

The Huskers tried to take the crowd right out of it. After holding CU to a quick three plays and out and returning a punt to its 49-yard line, NU scored on its first offensive play with Gerry Gdowski throwing a 51-yard touchdown pass to Bryan Carpenter for a 7-0 lead just 90 seconds in.

But CU settled down and tied the game on what many consider one of the program’s signature plays in the McCartney Era. Running he option to perfection, Hagan sprinted some 30-plus yards downfield, with J.J. Flannigan in his sights to his left the entire way. When an NU defender committed to Hagan, he delivered one of his classic pitches to Flannigan who took it the rest of the way, the play covering 70 yards. The crowd was back into it, if they were ever really out of it, and the Buffs worked to an eventual 27-21 win.

A desperation pass by Gdowski to the end zone as time ran out was batted down by Dave McCloughan, and the fans rushed the Folsom Field floor for just the second time ever. As with the '86 Nebraska game, the scoreboard remained on all weekend with the final score and “Things Have Changed” scrolled atop it.

The Buffs finished off an 11-0 regular season with blowout wins over Oklahoma State (41-17) and Kansas State (59-11), rushing for 518 yards against the Wildcats. After things shook out nationally, the Buffs entered the Orange Bowl and a date with No. 4 Notre Dame ranked as the No. 1 team in country, playing for its first national championship in the sport (CU had 12 in skiing at the time).

But the dream of an undefeated season ended with a 21-6 loss to the Fighting Irish. CU had its chances in the first half and could have led by 17-0 or 21-0, but instead were in a scoreless tie. Notre Dame scored twice quick in the third quarter, and salted the game away with a nine-minute, 17-play drive in the fourth.

Guard Joe Garten, linebacker Alfred Williams (27 tackles for loss, 11 sacks) and punter Tom Rouen (43.8 net average) all were named consensus first-team All-Americans, with 10 players All-Big 8 performers.

McCartney, the unanimous choice for national coach of the year honors for 1989, viewed that season as a “magical year. When we discovered Sal was terminally ill, that brought our team together in a way that nobody could orchestrate or facilitate. It happened in a way that all of us who were a part of that saw a group of players and coaches that put the team before being an individual. It was a team that was together, motivated, bonded together, driven and hitting on all cylinders most of the time. It was just unfortunate we couldn’t bookend it with a win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl.”

- Nov. 26, 1999—The Buffs play their second overtime game ever, losing to Nebraska, 33-30 in Boulder. However, CU rallies from its largest deficit ever to tie the game, coming back after trailing 27-3 with a 24-point, 284-yard fourth quarter against the No. 3

Jay Leeuwenburg and Darian Hagan, 1990

Cornhuskers.

Dec. 31, 1999—CU defeats Boston College, 62-28, in the 11th annual Insight.com Bowl at Tucson. The Buffs race to a 45-7 halftime lead and set numerous records in their sixth straight bowl win, adding to the nation's longest active streak.

The 1990 team, with 44 lettermen overall and 13 starters returning quite naturally was the favorite to win the Big 8 and be among the contenders for the national championship. But a 1-1-1 start had knocked CU from No. 5 to No. 20 in the polls, and CU was staring a road trip to Austin right in the face. Texas led 19-14 when the third quarter came to a close, in position to score a touchdown, as the teams switched to the other end of the field. McCartney:

"Eric Bieniemy, this fireball, all five-foot-six of him, had huddled the offense together on the sidelines, and he has these huge linemen around him he's trying to fire up and challenge. We got a break and the quarter ended. Texas took off running to the other end of the field. And then something happened that I had never seen before and never since. Our defensive guys starting walking slowly to the other end, but our offense walked on to the field and intercepted them at our own 20. So there were 22 guys on the field, and the offense, at Bieniemy's urging, was challenging the defense to hold them. The defense then charged down to the other end of the stadium and held them to a field goal. The offense got the ball, marched down and scored right away, and we held them on defense to three plays and out for the first time in the game. We then drove for the go-ahead and winning score. The significance of this is that one guy can make a difference. The morale is to the physical as is four is to one; one guy like that can change things, and our entire season turned around because of this one kid being ignited and sparking and inspiring the others."

The 29-22 win was the first of 10 in a row, but there was some controversy along the way. Charles S. Johnson, subbing for an injured Hagan at quarterback, scored from a yard out as time ran out to give CU a 33-31 win at Missouri. However, the officials erred and had given CU five downs. Though no one knew it, not the teams, the scoreboard operators or Missouri's chain crew at Faurot Field, all the ill will was aimed at Colorado, even though Johnson had spiked the ball on fourth down.

If anyone cheated that day, it was Missouri. Faurot had a terrible Omni-Turf field that required a different sort of cleat, and the Tigers made zero effort to tell the opponent about it. CU coaches documented 92 slips in the open field, otherwise Colorado would have won over an inferior Tiger team in a cakewalk. The voters didn't penalized CU until a week later after a win over Iowa State, dropping the Buffs two notches to No. 14.

Missouri fans have never seemed to grasp the fact that if CU had known it was fourth down, which MU didn't either, Johnson never would have spiked the ball to stop the clock; he would have run a play. And in the years since, any borderline calls in Columbia, and on occasion in Boulder, have always gone Missouri's way.

The Buffs used a lot of the frustration building up to whip Kansas (41-10) and Oklahoma (32-23), setting up a rematch with Nebraska for the inside track to the Big 8 title. CU was now No. 9 and the Huskers No. 2; there were a lot of key games in the top 10 that Saturday, Nov. 3, and leading up to the game, Nebraska AD Bob Devaney issued a plea to the league coaches who voted in the UPI poll to stick together and support the conference in their polls. Of course, he meant just Nebraska.

CU throttled the Huskers, 27-12, on a cold, wet and generally nasty day in Lincoln. Four others in the top 10 lost, and the Buffs zoomed to No. 4. And just as in '89, Colorado demolished Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) and after other results Thanksgiving weekend, CU again was headed to the Orange Bowl as the nation's No. 1 team. The opponent would be Notre Dame ... again.

Eric Bieniemy, who the previous year was the only active Buff voted on CU's All-Century team (Williams was honorable mention), finished second in the nation in rushing. Bienemy, Garten and Williams were unanimous All-America selections, while a record 12 Buffaloes garnered first-team All-Big 8 honors. Williams won CU's first postseason individual honor when he received the Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker, while Garten was the runner-up for the Outland Trophy and Bieniemy third in the Heisman race.

There was no shortage of heroes for Colorado in the Orange Bowl. The No. 1 Buffaloes got the best of No. 5 Notre Dame, 10-9, and CU claimed its first-ever national championship in football. Those included Johnson, who played the entire second half after Hagan suffered a torn ACL late in the first; Paul Rose, who subbed for an injured Kanavis McGhee (shoulder) at outside linebacker; Ronnie Bradford, who charged through the line and blocked the Irish's extra point try, which would turn out to be the margin of victory; Chad Brown, who forced the fumble that Rose recovered that led to CU's go-ahead touchdown by Bieniemy; Jim Harper, who had a field goal and the game winning PAT kick; and Deon Figures, who made an interception in the final seconds, ending any chance for a Notre Dame win as he ran out the clock.

CU, 11-1-1 for the season, was the consensus national champion, but lost to Georgia Tech by a single point. Remember Devaney's pitch? Nebraska coach Tom Osborne voted Georgia Tech first and Colorado second, or as some have said, even as low as fourth.

Colorado repeated as co-champs of the Big 8 in 1991, as the Buffaloes were reloading but it's never easy replacing nine players drafted into the NFL and 14 starters. CU opened the season against Wyoming, dedicating the just-completed Dal Ward Athletic Center at the north end of Folsom Field. A $14.3 million, 92,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility, it houses primarily the football program and the support departments for all of CU's athletic programs. CU won the game as well, 30-13, adding to the nation's best 11-game winning streak, also the 15th consecutive win at home.

But Baylor ended both streaks the following weekend, and the Buffs would go 2-2 in non-league play ahead of a 6-0-1 record in the conference. The tie came against Nebraska, a 19-19 affair to this day the coldest known game in CU history. It was 12 degrees at kickoff, down to zero by game's end, with the wind chill minus-8 at the start and well below that by the time Greg Thomas blocked a game winning field goal try by the Huskers as time ran out.

Two victories CU did take great satisfaction of this season were against Missouri and Oklahoma. Tired of all the Fifth Down talk perpetuated by a whining Tiger fan base and their homer media, the Buffs donned all black and did their talking on the field, smothering Mizzou 55-7 in a game that just as easily could have been 91-7. CU coaches joked that they should punt on a third down to give the extra down back. And against the Sooners, OU had climbed to No. 12 in the nation, but the Buffs won for a second straight time in Norman, and convincingly, 34-17.

Hagan ended his career undefeated in Big 8 play, leading CU to a 18-0-1 mark in his three years as starting quarterback; the Buffs won the other two games he couldn't start due to injury. Center Jay Leeuwenburg, a three-year starter, was a unanimous All-America choice, and was joined by five defensive players on the All-Big 8 team.

Opponents had started to figure out the "I-Bone," and in the Blockbuster Bowl game against Alabama, CU made its initial move to a multiple offense featuring much more passing. 'Bama won, 30-25, but not without controversy: rumors that the Crimson Tide had spied on CU's practices were later confirmed. Still, an 8-3-1 year was considered a success.

The 1992 season was a transitional year of sorts, as CU shifted away from its two- and three-back I-bone on offense to a one-back set. Kordell Stewart took over at starting quarterback, and his favorite targets were Michael Westbrook (76 catches, 1,060 yards) and Charles E. Johnson (57 and 1,149). CU had never had a 1,000-yard receiver in a single season, and now it had two. Stewart also became the first to pass for 2,000 yards.

Colorado opened the year 5-0, though Stewart would suffer an ankle injury in a win at Baylor, and it led to playing freshman Koy Detmer, who sparkled in rallying CU to a 21-20 win at Minnesota. Stewart reinjured the ankle and couldn't play against Oklahoma, with Detmer getting the nod. It was an inauspicious start for the lanky lad from Mission, Texas, whose brother, Ty, was the 1990 Heisman Trophy winner. He threw for a school record 418 yards, including a record 92-yard TD pass to Johnson, but was intercepted five times. Only a line drive, 53-yard field goal by Mitch Berger as time expired salvaged a 24-24 tie, keeping CU's 24-game unbeaten streak in Big 8 play alive.

That run grew to 23-0-2 with a 54-7 pasting of Kansas State in the next game, but that's where it was halted, as Nebraska ended the streak by dealing CU a 52-7 loss in Lincoln, another game where the young Detmer had to start in place of an injured Stewart. The Huskers took back the league title, though CU won out to finish 5-1-1 in league play and earn a Fiesta Bowl berth opposite No. 6 Syracuse. The Orangemen were only the second team to beat CU all year with a 26-22 verdict in the bowl, as CU ended '92 with a 9-2-1 mark.

Figures was a consensus All-American cornerback and was the recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. CU's talented linebackers, Brown and Greg Biekert, probably kept one another from garnered similar honors, though both earned All-Big 8 status. Offensive tackle Jim Hansen, another all-conference performer, earned the "academic" Heisman in winning the Draddy Award, in addition to being named a Rhodes Scholar and Academic All-American.

The Buffs went 8-3-1 in 1993, finishing second in the Big 8 again with a 5-1-1 mark, again. While Lamont Warren had an outstanding year with 900 rushing yards, another CU tailback was asserting himself. His name was Rashaan Salaam.

CU spent the entire 1994 season in the top 10 (actually the top eight to be exact). After warming up with a win over Northeast Louisiana, Colorado plastered the defending Big 10 Conference and Rose Bowl champion Wisconsin Badgers, 55-17. The Buffs were then faced with one the more grueling three-game sequences on the road in school history, as they headed to Michigan, Texas and Missouri.

Quieting the 106,000-plus fans at Michigan Stadium is never easy, but the Buffs drove a stake through the heart of all with a 27-26 victory. "The Miracle in Michigan," one of many names for the game or play, came down to six seconds remaining and CU on its own 36. The Buffs had dominated Michigan all game, sans a third quarter lapse, and it appeared the Wolverines would get off the hook. Stewart took the snap, drifted back and heaved the ball some 72 yards in the air, where Blake Anderson tipped it into the waiting grasp of Westbrook. Game over.

"This is another game I point to, because I personally knew how hard I was to go in there and win, and this is easily among the great victories in the history of Colorado," McCartney recalled in 2006. "There are many things that went into that. Kordell (Stewart) was special. Not that many guys can throw the ball that high or that far, plus you have to have the trajectory on it to buy the receivers time to get under the ball. (Assistant coach) Rick Neuheisel deserves a lot of credit for that play because he had the wherewithal and understanding of the play to make it have a chance. It really came from him more than anybody else. That was another thing about Rick that I liked so much. He coached that game all the way, because he really believed we could win it. He communicated that. Even though the clock was against us, he never gave up. I credit his attitude and perspective as much as anything in keeping us going right to the buzzer."

The euphoria did not get to the Buffs, who went down to Austin and in searing 100 degree heat, beat the Longhorns, 34-31. Salaam rushed for 317 yards and had a school record 362 all-purpose to lead CU, which won on a 24-yard Neil Voskeritchian field goal with one second left on the clock. A 38-23 win followed at Missouri, a relative breather compared to what CU had been through.

CU mauled Oklahoma, 45-7, and beat an ever-improving Kansas State team 35-21, setting up a showdown with Nebraska in Lincoln. As was the case in '89, CU was No. 2, NU was No. 3, but the Buffs offensive game plan left a little to be desired that day, with Nebraska snaring a 24-7 win. CU, with all its talented receivers, never threw more than 15 yards downfield, playing into the Huskers' defense strong suit. The Buffs picked themselves up off the floor and beat Oklahoma State, Kansas and Iowa State to finish the regular season at 10-1, accepting a bid to face Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl.

But no one could have scripted the events of Nov. 19, though nothing stands out at first glance at the 41-20 win over Iowa State. Salaam went over 2,000 yards for the season, just the fourth player in NCAA history at the time to do so, doing it in style with a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end and down the CU sideline in the fourth quarter. On the next series, Stewart became the all-time total offense leader in the Big 8. And postgame, practically trumping both, McCartney announced to his team and then the world that he was retiring.

"I didn't do that without a lot of forethought, without a lot of prayer and without a lot of counsel," he said later on. "I did not want or mean to steal Rashaan's or Kordell's thunder, but I had to do it then due to recruiting. If I had waited, it would have compromised the integrity of the recruiting season, of which the whole process was still in front of us."

Salaam won the Heisman Trophy and the Doak Walker Award and was a unanimous All-American; cornerback Chris Hudson earned consensus honors and was the Thorpe Award winner, with linebacker Ted Johnson the runner-up for the Butkus Award.

The Buffs sent McCartney out a winner with a resounding 41-24 win over Notre Dame, basically calling off the dogs after building a 31-3 second quarter lead. Mac was carried off the field, and the program was turned over to Rick Neuheisel, who Marolt hired in late November to succeed him.

McCartney cited what his teams did in 1989 and 1990 as the biggest accomplishment during his tenure, if not since. "I'll tell you this, to beat Nebraska and Oklahoma in back-to-back weeks, both home and away in consecutive years, established us. That had never happened before ... by anyone."

Neuheisel was the surprise choice by Marolt to replace McCartney. The search was internal; four candidates emerged from Mac's last staff. In addition to Neuheisel, who coached the quarterbacks and receivers, offensive coordinator Elliot Uzelac, defensive coordinator Mike Hankwitz and assistant head coach Bob Simmons were all interviewed and considered.

Rashaan Salaam and the late Doak Walker, 1994

When it came down to it, Neuheisel simply interviewed the best and had a great vision for the program, though the others were certainly qualified. Some felt he was too young at 33, but Eddie Crowder had been handed the keys to the program at 31, and Marolt himself took over the CU ski team when he was 26. But Neuheisel had a solid pedigree, serving as an assistant for six years at his alma mater, UCLA, under Terry Donahue, his college coach, and one year under McCartney in Boulder.

The transition was the perfect scenario. McCartney's last game was the Fiesta Bowl, and he worried about most of the game planning without having to be concerned with recruiting; Neuheisel could concentrate on organizing recruiting and help when needed with the game plan as part of his duties as quarterbacks and receivers coach. His first class was ranked anywhere from seventh to 12th by the major prep services.

No one knew what to expect in 1995, the cupboard certainly wasn't bare with 37 lettermen and 12 starters back, but the 10 starters lost were all drafted into the NFL. Seven of those players were selected among the first 71 picks, meaning the Buffs were losing some serious talent. There were but seven seniors on the team.

CU opened on the road for the first time in 12 seasons, traveling to No. 21 Wisconsin. No Colorado coach had won his first game since William Saunders in 1932, but the Buffaloes said to heck with that fact and blitzed the Badgers, 43-7. Detmer had a successful game as the heir apparent to Stewart, the defense had several players shine and all was generally good. CU added two more blowouts over Colorado State and Northeast Louisiana and had the first big test of the Neuheisel Era ahead, No. 3 Texas A&M.

Detmer went down with a torn ACL early in the game with an inexperienced John Hessler summoned to rally the Buffs from a 7-0 deficit. Hessler answered the challenge, threw the winning TD pass to Tennyson McCarty, and with great support from the defense, CU gave Neuheisel his first signature win. Detmer would try and make a gallant comeback two weeks later against Kansas, but the knee just wouldn't hold up and he underwent surgery to end his season. Hessler, who led CU to a 38-17 win at Oklahoma in his first career start in the interim, took over for the remainder of the year.

Only Kansas and Nebraska defeated the Buffs on the way to a 9-2 record, with CU tying for second in the Big 8. Colorado drew No. 12 Oregon for the Cotton Bowl, and it was a miserable day weather-wise in Dallas with light-to-heavy rain, gusting winds and temperatures in the 40s. The Buffs weren't phased; Hessler threw two touchdown passes, Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score and Marcus Washington had an NCAA-record 95 yard interception return for a TD in CU's 38-6 rout of the Ducks. Oregon fans were upset at a fake punt CU ran in the fourth quarter ahead by 25, but they had no way of knowing the Buffs had found out the niece of one of the Duck coaches took pictures at a CU practice. Sometimes, payback is sweet.

Safe to say, a 10-2 mark in Neuheisel's first season was quite the accomplishment after what had graduated into the NFL and losing the starting quarterback. Perhaps too good of one as it turned out; it may have raised expectations too high, especially after his second team posted an identical mark.

It was CU's swan song in the Big 8 Conference; all eight schools merged with four from the dying Southwest Conference, Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech to form the Big 12 Conference. It was considered a brand new league, not an expansion of the old Big 8, and was set up with two divisions. The Buffs were assigned to the North with old rivals Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri and Nebraska; Oklahoma and Oklahoma State joined the four old SWC schools in the South.

CU opened 2-0 in 1996, setting up a rematch of "The Miracle in Michigan" from two years earlier in Boulder. Michigan, ranked No. 11, got the best of the No. 5 Buffs 20-13. Terrible clock management by the Wolverines actually gave the ball back to CU at the Michigan 37 with five seconds left, and a Detmer pass tipped by Darrin Chiaverini fell harmlessly to the ground, about two feet away from a diving Rae Carruth ... or just 24 inches from miracle number two.

Colorado bounced back to win the next seven, including the Big 12 opener at Texas A&M. The Buffs dominated most of the games, though the running game was not what it used to be. Against tougher defenses, the Buffs couldn't pound the ball when it needed to. That was evident in the finale at Nebraska, which with the new league was now the signature North match-up and moved to the Friday after Thanksgiving.

ABC was happy with the first match-up, as both were 7-0 in league play and ranked in the top five (CU at No.5, NU No. 4). The Huskers were the better team this rotten day in Lincoln, as freezing rain fell throughout in their 17-12 conquest. The weather exposed CU's inability to run the ball, with the Buffs netting 51 yards on 32 tries; and Detmer was able to complete just 12-of-38 throws. Jeremy Aldrich was "activated" for the game and kicked four field goals to account for all of CU's points.

Guard Chris Naeole and linebacker Matt Russell were consensus All-Americans, with Russell the second Buffalo to win the Butkus Award. The Buffs led the way on the inaugural All-Big 12 team with six first-team performers.

A come-from-behind 33-21 win over Washington in the Holiday Bowl polished off a 10-2 season, as Detmer went out in style, throwing for 371 yards and three touchdowns. Carruth hauled in seven of those passes for a CU-bowl record 162 yards and two scores, and the pair hooked up on a 76-yard TD play, the longest in school bowl history.

The Colorado program was in uncharted waters, having won 31 games over the three previous seasons, a claim only Florida, Florida State and Nebraska could also make. Neuheisel's first two teams had gone 20-4, the fifth most wins in the first two years by a Division I-A coach. He was also just the fourth to guide his team to a pair of top 10 finishes in his first two seasons (No. 5 in '95, No. 8 in '96).

CU had 53 lettermen, with 13 starters, back for 1997, and there was no reason to think it couldn't continue, especially since Neuheisel landed what many considered to be the fifth best recruiting class in the nation.

But a 5-6 record in '97 brought an end to an incredible eight-season run where the Buffs had posted the fourth best record overall in the nation at 78-15-4. A loss at Michigan in the second game started the downward spiral, and CU had to defeat Wyoming the next week on a late field goal. Two close losses against Texas A&M and Oklahoma State got CU off on the wrong foot in league play, and the 2-3 start also ended CU's consecutive weeks ranked streak at 143, the 10th longest of all time.

The Buffaloes had also been to nine consecutive bowls, but at 5-5, needed a win to become bowl eligible against No. 2 Nebraska. The Huskers stormed to a 27-3 lead and then held off a Hessler-charged comeback to win 27-24, and CU stayed at home for the postseason for the first time since 1987.

No one knew it at the time, but the 1998 season would be Neuheisel's last at Colorado. Marolt had stepped down as AD in the summer of 1996, and was replaced by long-time university counsel Dick Tharp, who was thisclose at one time to being named commissioner of the Big Ten. While the two got along, Neuheisel never felt he had the same kind of support from his new boss.

The year opened with the Colorado State game, except that the contest had been moved to Denver's Mile High Stadium, a popular move for some but not for many of CU's season ticket holders, four times in size to CSU's, and many Buff fans were displaced. That didn't matter come postgame after a 42-14 Colorado rout, led by new quarterback Mike Moschetti, a fiery junior college transfer from Mount San Antonio. He passed for 257 yards and three touchdowns as the unranked Buffs used the win over the No. 15 Rams to enter the polls themselves. It was the impetus for a 5-0 start and a No. 14 national ranking.

A 16-9 loss to No. 5 Kansas State was the first of four setbacks in the last six regular season games, sending the Buffs to a second straight fourth place finish in the North Division. But a wild 51-43 win over No. 21 Oregon in the Aloha Bowl ended the year on a good note.

The afternoon after CU played Oregon in the Aloha Bowl, Washington and Air Force squared off in the Oahu Bowl in the same stadium (the only bowl doubleheader in history). Washington AD Barbara Hedges fired coach Jim Lambright after the game and started to pursue Neuheisel. She liked what she had seen of CU both on and off the field in Honolulu. Despite media reports to the contrary, the two never talked until after she fired Lambright days after the bowl.

Neuheisel at first rebuffed the offer, but told her that the Washington job was a plumb and what kind of package a school of that caliber should offer. She came up with exactly what he designed, including a $1 million salary, and called to offer him a second time. With Tharp apparently unwilling to give Neuheisel one of three contracts the state of Colorado allowed CU to give its coaches, the move was a no-brainer for Rick and his family.

But the timing outright stunk, and decimated what would have been a fifth straight top 20 recruiting class for the Buffs. After flirting with Denver Bronco offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak, Tharp turned to former CU assistant Gary Barnett, who had performed one of the miracle turnarounds of all-time in college football at Northwestern. He led the Wildcats to their first bowl game in 47 years when his '95 team came out of nowhere to win the Big Ten Conference, named the national coach of the year in the process. He had spent eight years as a McCartney assistant (1984-91) and knew the CU program and Boulder inside and out.

His opener was nothing short of a nightmare, as CSU paid back the Buffs for the '98 blowout at Mile High with a 41-14 win. It was a complete reversal, as the Rams were unranked and knocked No. 14 Colorado out of the polls for what would be two seasons. The Buffs never won more than two games in a row all season, but there were memorable moments along the way during the 7-5 campaign. Cornerback Ben Kelly electrified the fans with his returns, twice returning kickoffs for touchdowns as well as two fumbles, including a 96-yard jaunt for six against Kansas, the longest in CU history.

A 62-28 blasting of Boston College in the Insight.com Bowl capped the year and the millennium. In one of the most dominant performances in postseason history, CU led 45-7 at half-time, had 523 total yards and 29 first downs, and had three return TDs, including an 88-yard punt return by Kelly, the longest in NCAA bowl annals.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 28, 2000—Craig Ochs joins an elite group in college football history as he becomes the first Buffalo to score touchdowns via rushing and receiving while also throwing one in the same game in CU's 37-21 win over Oklahoma State. In the second quarter, Javon Green had become the first Buff to ever throw and catch a touchdown pass in the same game, and was later joined by Ochs in the fourth quarter. It was Green who threw the TD pass to Ochs; Ochs threw his to Roman Hollowell, Green caught his from Zac Colvin.

Aug. 26, 2001—Colorado had the honor of hosting and playing in the inaugural Jim Thorpe Association Football Classic, but the Buffaloes fall, 24-22, to Fresno State.

Sept. 13, 2001—Due to the terrorist attacks two days earlier on the east coast, CU's game at Washington State on Sept. 15 is cancelled. It was the first time in school history an out-of-state game is not played as Colorado joined the rest of the nation in honoring those who died doing their every day jobs.

Nov. 23, 2001—Sophomore Chris Brown scores a school record six touchdowns in leading Colorado to a 62-36 win over Nebraska in Boulder, earning CU its first North Division title since the Big 12 started play in 1996. A record setting day on many fronts, it was also the most points ever allowed by a Nebraska team at the time as CU sprinted out to a 35-3 lead over the BCS No. 1-ranked Huskers.

Dec. 1, 2001—The Buffaloes win their first Big 12 Conference title with a 39-37 win over Texas at Irving, basically coming in a road game environment. Despite UT knowing a win would put it into the national title game against Miami, CU spotted the Longhorns a 7-0 lead before scoring 29 points in less than a 15-minute span to take the lead for good. Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and three touchdowns with the Buffs also coming up big on defense and special teams.

Dec. 12, 2001—Daniel Graham is named the recipient of the second annual John Mackey Award, presented to the nation's best tight end.

Jan. 1, 2002—In only the sixth-ever match-up in the postseason of the Nos. 2 and 3 teams in the country, second-ranked Oregon toppled No. 3 Colorado, 38-16, in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. CU led 7-0 early but the Ducks used a late second quarter score to take a 21-7 lead into halftime and held the Buffs at bay the rest of the game.

Dec. 7, 2002—After winning its second straight Big 12 North Division title outright the previous week with a win at Nebraska, CU fell short in its bid to become the first back-to-back champion in Big 12 history when it fell 29-7 to Oklahoma in Houston in the league's title game.

Dec. 12, 2002—Mark Mariscal is named the recipient of the Ray Guy Award as the nation's best punter.

Dec. 28, 2002—Wisconsin rallies to defeat the Buffaloes in overtime, 31-28, in the Alamo Bowl presented by MasterCard.

Oct. 16, 2004—Mason Crosby connects on a school record 60-yard field goal, the first made from that distance in the NCAA in five seasons.

Dec. 4, 2004—CU won its third Big 12 North Division title the previous week when it defeated Nebraska and Iowa State lost to Missouri, but the Buffs lost to Oklahoma 42-3 in the league championship game in Kansas City.

Dec. 29, 2004—Colorado defeated Texas-El Paso, 33-28, in the Houston Bowl behind the passing of Joel Klatt, who was named the offensive MVP in the game with 333 yards passing.

Dec. 3, 2005—After the Buffs win their fourth division title in five seasons, CU drops the Big 12 championship game to Texas, 70-3. Gary Barnett steps down as head coach five days later.

Dec. 16, 2005—Dan Hawkins named the 23rd head coach in Colorado history.

Dec. 27, 2005—Mike Hankwitz, named interim head coach for the bowl game, leads CU into the Champs Sports Bowl in Orlando. The Buffs, nursing several injuries on offense, including quarterback Joel Klatt who missed the game, have a gritty effort but fall to No. 23 Clemson, 19-10.

Dec. 7, 2006—Mason Crosby named first-team All-American, becoming the fifth Buff to earn the distinction in back-to-back seasons.

Sept. 1, 2007—CU and Colorado State play the first overtime game in series history, with Kevin Eberhart tying the game with a 22-yard field goal with 13 seconds left in regulation and then winning it with a 35-yard effort in OT as CU won, 31-28.

Sept. 29, 2007—Kevin Eberhart makes just the second game winning field goal as time expired in school history, with his 45-yard kick propelling CU to a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma.

Dec. 30, 2007—Alabama sprinted to a 27-0 lead over Colorado and then held off a furious Buff rally, as the Crimson Tide tops CU, 30-24, in the 32nd Annual PetroSun Independence Bowl.

The Buffs got off to a rough start in the 21st Century, losing their first three games in 2000 by a combined 10 points. The last of the trio was a nail-biting setback to Neuheisel and Washington for a second straight year. The Buffs rallied to win three league games, including a 26-19 win at Texas A&M where Craig Ochs became just the second true freshman quarterback in his first start to lead CU to victory and a 28-18 triumph at Missouri, where CU had a school-record 14 quarterback sacks.

CU's 2001 squad was a senior dominated team, led by tight end Daniel Graham and center Andre Gurode, both All-Americans, with eight first-team All-Big 12 performers, including Thorpe Award semifinalist Michael Lewis at safety. Graham also won the Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end. These guys blended perfectly with several others to create the best season in the Barnett Era, notably a "three-headed monster" at tailback in senior Cortlen Johnson, junior Chris Brown and sophomore Bobby Purify.

In short, the team was loaded, all the more reason a 24-22 season opening loss to Fresno State was one of the early season shockers in college football, though FSU would eventually crack the top 10 by midseason. Still, the Buffs were mad, and after a players-only meeting regrouped to take it out on Colorado State in Denver to start a five-game winning streak. In the midst of this run came the events of September 11, which forced the cancellation of a game at Washington State that was never made up.

Texas ended the streak in Austin by hammering the Buffs, 41-7, but CU picked itself right up and reeled off five in a row again. It started with a 22-19 come-from-behind triumph at Oklahoma State where Bobby Pesavento came off the bench to replace Ochs, who suffered a nasty ankle sprain. Ochs never returned to the lineup and Pesavento led CU to easy wins over Missouri and Iowa State. In the latter, a 40-27 win, Johnson became the first Colorado player to have at least 100 yards both rushing and receiving in the same game.

CU was now 8-2 on the season and was set to host No. 2 Nebraska, with the Huskers actually the top team in the BCS Standings. The Buffs unleashed a running attack that day Nebraska was used to inflicting, not accepting. Brown had 198 yards and six touchdowns, Purify added 154 and a score to pace a 380-yard, eight-touchdown ground assault that helped Colorado build a 35-3 second quarter en route to a 62-36 win, which earned the Buffs their first North Division title and a rematch with Texas in the championship game.

Perhaps it was overconfidence from the earlier rout of CU, or the fact that the game was in the Dallas suburbs and it was essentially a home game, or an early score had them up 7-0, but the No. 2 Longhorns, third in the BCS Standings but guaranteed a spot in the BCS title game with a win after Florida had lost earlier in the day, were in for a long evening. Brown ran for 182 yards and three scores, and three interceptions of UT's Chris Simms paved the way for a 36-10 run over a 22-minute span that put CU in command on its way to a 39-37 win and its first conference title since 1991.

The Buffs missed qualifying for the national championship game by .05 in the BCS Standings, Nebraska still getting the nod over CU and three other schools who could have supplanted the Huskers, including No. 2 Oregon, Colorado's opponent in the Fiesta Bowl. The Ducks played with a bigger chip on their shoulder than CU did, scoring 38 straight points after the Buffs took an early 7-0 lead and walked away with a 38-16 win.

Colorado finished 2001 with a 10-3 record and a No. 9 ranking, so the year was still a success. But a tumultuous four years lied ahead in the Barnett Era, though three of those four teams still captured division titles.

The Buffs were 9-5 in 2002 as after a 1-2 start, CU won eight of the next nine. Ochs quit the team early in the season, and inexperienced Robert Hodge stepped in and did an admirable job in taking over the offense. He wasn't flashy, but he made very few mistakes. Brown was in the Heisman hunt until a late season ankle injury forced him to the sidelines, but still finished third in the nation in rushing. Jeremy Bloom excited all with his knack for the long play, returning a punt 75 yards for a touchdown against CSU the first time he touched the ball, and Mark Mariscal won the Ray Guy Award as the nation's best punter. CU closed the year with losses to Oklahoma in the Big 12 title game and to Wisconsin in overtime in the Alamo Bowl.

Colorado suffered through a 5-7 season in 2003, though opened with two down-to-the-wire wins over Colorado State and UCLA and rose to No. 17 in the rankings. Joel Klatt, a walk-on and former minor league baseball infielder, made his debut as starting quarterback, and had a monster game, throwing for 402 yards and four touchdowns against CSU, earning national player of the week honors. However, the Buffs dropped six of the next seven, any hopes for the post-season seemed lost. But a win over No. 22 Missouri followed by a blowout at Iowa State had CU needing just one more victory to become bowl eligible, and the Buffs had an average Nebraska team at home. The Huskers, just like in '97, ended CU's season, this time with a 31-22 verdict.

There were a lot of off the field distractions in 2004, resulting from an off-campus party that involved a handful of players on the team and some visiting high school recruits in 2001. This ordeal, centered on a lawsuit, perpetuated several untruths about the football program, many manufactured and accelerated by the news-side media and a hired public relations firm by the plaintiffs. At one point, CU president Betsy Hoffman suspended Barnett for three months, with assistant head coach Brian Cabral taking over the team for spring ball. It also led to audits of the athletic department and the CU Foundation, and another casualty was the forced resignation of AD Tharp in November.

If there ever was an “us versus the world” mentality, the 2004 Colorado Buffaloes epitomized it. An emotional 27-24 win over Colorado State in Boulder led to a 3-0 start, but eight weeks later, the Buffs found themselves at 4-4, 1-4 in league play. The one win would be an important tiebreaker later on, a 19-14 conquest of Iowa State that included Mason Crosby making a school record 60-yard field goal, the first of that distance in college football in six seasons.

If no less than five things happened, first and foremost CU winning out, the Buffs still could win the division. And all did, including a season-ending 26-20 win at Nebraska that ended the Huskers’ run of 35 consecutive bowl appearances. The Buffs were back in the Big 12 title game; that was the good news. The not-so-good was that No. 2 Oklahoma lit up the Buffs, 42-3, outgaining CU 498-46 in the game.

Mike Bohn was named the new AD in April 2005, and was open to evaluating the football situation. Recruiting had suffered due to the bad publicity the program had received, but CU opened with seven wins in the first nine games, including five by lopsided margins. Barnett was offered an extension in early November, but declined it at the time. When the Buffs dropped their next four, the last two of which came by a combined score of 100-6 to Nebraska and Texas in the Big 12 title game, Barnett was dismissed in early December.

It took less than 10 days for Bohn to find his man. Dan Hawkins had compiled a 53-11 record in five seasons at Boise State, the fourth most wins by a Division I-A coach in his first five years, and had won or shared four Western Athletic Conference titles. Long-time observers of the program likened him part Bill McCartney and part Eddie Crowder, two former coaches he immediately turned to for some counsel and history of the program. Bohn and most others thought him to be the perfect fit for Colorado, as he was the hot national coach at the time of his hire.

His first Buffalo team mustered just a 2-10 record, with four near-misses, the most frustrating when the Buffs squandered a late 13-0 lead at ninth-ranked Georgia in losing 14-13. He got his first win against Texas Tech in convincing fashion (30-6).

CU fans storm the Folsom Field floor after the 27-24 win over Oklahoma in 2007

The improvement was substantial his second year, with CU posting a 6-6 record in the regular season, becoming bowl-eligible in the finale with a 65-51 win over Nebraska. Along the way, Hawkins earned his first signature win of his Colorado tenure, defeating No. 3 Oklahoma 27-24 on a Kevin Eberhart field goal as time ran out. Jordan Dizon earned consensus All-America honors and was the Big 12’s defensive player of the year in finishing as the runner-up for the Butkus Award. In the Independence Bowl against Alabama, CU couldn’t recover from an early 27-0 deficit, but once the Buffs settled down, they pulled to within 30-24 but time ran out before the season could end on a good note.

Unfortunately, things never took off from there as expected; despite some other exciting wins, including a 29-17 win over Georgia in 2010 when the Buffs hosted the 1990 team in a 20th anniversary celebration of their national championship, Hawkins was 19-39 and was let go with three games left in the season. Long-time assistant Brian Cabral was named interim head coach, and CU responded with two straight wins, but a loss at Nebraska ended the season and the Buffs would stay home for the holidays a third straight year.

On December 6, 2010, Bohn brought former CU standout Jon Embree back to Boulder as the school’s 24th full-time head coach. Embree is just the third alum to be named to the position; the first was Harry Heller way back in 1895, with the second Bud Davis, who took the position for the 1962 season as CU righted its ship after NCAA issues. Embree is also the school’s first African-American head coach for football, and brings an impressive pedigree in addition to his performance as a tight end for the Buffaloes from 1983-86; he also coached as an assistant under three different CU head coaches and then added four years of NFL experience to his resume before returning to his alma mater.

Embree helped to usher in the Pac-12 Conference Era in CU football annals, as after 15 years in the Big 12, the Buffaloes bolted west and joined the 10 members of the old Pac-12, along with former long-time rival Utah. He got his first win over Colorado State in Denver, a 28-14 verdict, but had to wait until November to pick up his first conference win, a 48-29 rout of Arizona in Boulder on Senior Day. The season finale gave the program so long awaited revenge against Utah, as the schools had not met in nearly half a century; not only did the 17-14 win snap a school record 23-game losing streak on the road, it came 50 years after the Utes knocked CU out of the 1961 national championship chase.

LOGO & UNIFORM EVOLUTION

Logo & Color Scheme Evolution

1921—A student newspaper editorial decries CU's uniform colors of silver and gold as, "unsatisfactory. Our teams always look poorer than the other conference schools." But no changes are made until 1946 (for one game) and then until 1959.

1934—The school nickname and mascot is officially designated "Buffaloes." The Silver & Gold newspaper sponsored a contest, as the school had no steadfast nickname or symbol; other newspapers at the time picked up the story and entries were coming in from all over the nation. Teams were often called the Silver and Gold, Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. Boulder resident Andrew Dickson submitted the winning entry. Golden Buffaloes also emerges as a reference, along with the Thundering Herd.

1940s—The logo that appeared more than anything else was quite detailed, and virtually disappeared from most publications by the early 1950s. However, the logo was a popular automobile decal sold by the campus bookstore up until the introduction of a standard campus-wide logo adopted in 1981 (see next column).

1946—The football team opens the year with navy blue jerseys; they last one game (a 76-0 loss at Texas) and CU returns to silver and gold uniforms, often sometimes wearing an all-solid gold look.

1950s—With no real standard mark, logos often changed annually if not by season depending on the artwork for media guides and game programs. Basketball teams wore white tops with silver or gold shorts at home.

1959—Football coach Sonny Grandelius changes the prominent jersey color to black with silver numbers from old gold with black or white numbers that had been prevalent since the 1930s. Silver helmets with black horns completed the look to match the school's official silver and gold colors.

1962—Bud Davis, to try and distance the program from NCAA sanctions levied against the previous coaching regime, does away with the black jerseys for those with a silverish hue.

1963—Eddie Crowder takes over as coach of the football team and changed the jerseys back to black and the numbers to gold. The helmets remained silver but eventually switched to gold in 1967.

Mid-1960s—The most common logo that emerged was that of an artist's conception of a running buffalo, one that resembled a painting and was next-to-impossible to reproduce for clothing. This emblem was the standard for department stationery and note cards and hung around until 1979.

1966—Though live buffaloes made appearances on and off through the years, usually calves, CU's fully grown, live buffalo mascot, Ralphie, made its first appearance at all home games during the 1966 season.

October 28, 1967—Crowder is approached with the idea of his team taking the field behind a charging buffalo. Thus, this day in the annual homecoming game against Oklahoma State, one of college football's most awesome traditions begins as the team takes the field behind Ralphie and five handlers. All subsequent live buffaloes are also named Ralphie.

1968—Horns once again adorn the football helmet, replacing player numbers that had appeared annually since 1962.

1969—The first appearance of an interlocking CU on gold helmets (replacing player numbers) with the logo spreading to basketball pants as well as popping up on other sport uniforms. This particular mark proved to have staying power and would be incorporated into future logo artwork, both for athletics and the university overall. It was a solid block CU, reminiscent of the one that appeared under the logo born in the 1940s.

1970s—With women's athletics attaining varsity status, other logos appear for women's teams, including more feminine looking buffaloes. All women's teams are referred to as the Lady Buffs.

1979—A futuristic buffalo design is used sparingly in football for the '79 and '80 seasons, commissioned (at a cost of $1,600) by football coach Chuck Fairbanks who liked the Seattle Seahawks helmet logo. It brings the total to six different logos/symbols, facing in different directions, in use by various departments and sports. The block CU is the most recognizable of the lot.

May 28, 1981—Blue officially adopted as the primary uniform color in place of black after a Board of Regents mandate at its January meeting. Originally suggested to be "the deep blue Colorado of Colorado's sky at 9,000 feet" by then-Regent Jack Anderson, jerseys were officially an "Air Force Blue" though different than the blue the Air Force Academy's sports teams wore. Numerals were silver or yellow-gold, depending on the sport, and outlined in white. The football pant remained gold, but with a blue stripe, for both home and road. Football helmets remained gold but with blue logos. Other programs switched to blue, ranging from road basketball jerseys to golf bags. CU's trademark south end zone is painted blue, the first color change since it was created after the track was removed in 1966.

July 1, 1981—What would become the longest running logo in school history (24 years) is officially registered as CU's primary mark. Keystone Resort vice president Jerry Jones helped arrange the design, at a bargain cost of $1,000, by Terry Heckler Associates in Seattle (Craig Marocco was the artist). Heckler's firm did the Keystone logo, along with many others; because Heckler and Jones are friends, CU gets the $12,000 project for just one grand. Athletic director Eddie Crowder and associate AD Fred Casotti make the final decision on the logo from several mock-ups; CU insiders dub it the "pigalo" after Fairbanks said publicly, "It looks like a pig." The logo catches on and eventually turns into one of the most recognizable logos in college athletics, if not sports, that incorporated the school/team ID (CU) and the mascot/nickname all in one.

1984—The colors are altered slightly, as the blue is enhanced to a darker hue; football goes with gold, borderless numbers and complaints rain in from many, as players can't be identified from stands. Black and white photos and game films appear as if players wore no numbers at all. Bill McCartney had the football team twice wear black jerseys (against Oklahoma and Nebraska) in a similar way that Notre Dame broke out its green jersey for big games.

April 24, 1985—"Black is Back" read the release announcing that athletic director Bill Marolt would allow head coaches of all CU sports teams (then 14 in number) the option of returning to black as the primary jersey color. McCartney's throwback efforts the previous season were the impetus for the change; the football jersey had a blue stripe on the arm for the 1985, 1986 and 1987 seasons before it was dropped altogether in 1988.

December 30, 1985—A standard in basketball, the football jersey has COLORADO emblazoned across the front for the first time for the Freedom Bowl versus Washington.

November 28, 1987—Football wears all black for the first time in a 24-7 loss to Nebraska.

1988—Football switches to the black pant for road games. It remains standard for well over a decade, until the 2000 team wears white for a road game at Southern California.

1993—All university teams are now known solely as the Buffaloes, as women's teams drop the "Lady" moniker. Use of Golden Buffaloes becomes rare though still officially accepted.

May 10, 2005—The first change of any kind to the logo in a quarter century is made when the popular buffalo logo with the interlocking CU is tweaked. The buffalo is slightly tilted to the right to give it an "in-motion" appearance, and the interlocked letters are altered a bit for a cleaner look. Also included for the first time is a mark for bilingual use (Spanish). NIKE and CU work together on the changes, as NIKE design director Chris McClure updates the buffalo logo and CU licensing director Bruce Fletcher coordinates accompanying fonts for the first time.

Uniform Evolution

Here's a chronological look at the evolution of University of Colorado football uniforms:

1921—A student newspaper editorial decries CU's uniform colors of silver and gold as, "unsatisfactory. Our teams always look poorer than the other conference schools." CU wears what is tantamount to a gold sweater with black numbers at home and a white with black numerals on the road, as no real changes are made until 1946 (for one game) and then until 1959.

The one game? CU wore navy blue uniforms for a Sept. 28, 1946 game at Texas. The Longhorns won, 76-0, and those uniforms were never seen again.

During this period, number colors often changed, and as uniforms improved, there were naturally several modifications. But the color schemes for home and road remained consistent.

1959—The basic look for the next several decades is born, as CU wears black jerseys for the first time in its history, with white numbers and a gold pant at home; white jerseys with a black number are worn on the road. Over the next 10 seasons, the helmets go through changes from silver to gold and with horns to numbers.

1969—The first appearance of an interlocking CU on gold helmets (replacing player numbers). This particular mark proved to have staying power and would be incorporated into future logo artwork, both for athletics and the university overall. It was a solid block CU, reminiscent of the one that appeared under the logo born in the 1940s.

1979—The numbers at home are enlarged and are now in gold with a white border.

May 28, 1981—Blue officially adopted as the primary uniform color in place of black after a Board of Regents mandate at its January meeting and subsequent follow-up recommendation by a campus committee. Originally suggested to be "the deep blue Colorado of Colorado's sky at 9,000 feet" by then-Regent Jack Anderson, jerseys were officially an "Air Force Blue" though different than the blue the Air Force Academy's sports teams wore. Numerals are silver and outlined in white, and the pant remained gold, but with a blue stripe, for both home and road. Football helmets remained gold but with blue logos. CU's trademark south end zone is painted blue, the first color change since it was created after the track was removed in 1966. CU's coach at the time, Chuck Fairbanks, has been routinely, and falsely, credited for the color switch through the years, which was not overly popular with Buff fans.

1984—The colors are altered slightly, as the blue is enhanced to a darker hue, with the numbers in a yellow-gold, but borderless; complaints rain in from many, as players can't be identified from stands and in black and white photos and game films it appears as if players wore no numbers at all. The pant remained a similar yellow-gold with a blue stripe and white trim. Bill McCartney had the football team twice don black jerseys (against Oklahoma and Nebraska) in a similar way that Notre Dame broke out its green jersey for big games. There actually had been talk about CU doing it first for its 1983 home game against the Fighting Irish.

April 24, 1985—"Black is Back" read the release announcing that athletic director Bill Marolt would allow head coaches of all CU sports teams (then 14 in number) the option of returning to black as the primary jersey color. The pant moves toward a metallic gold with no stripes (though in 1991, the road black pant had a gold stripe). McCartney's throwback efforts the previous season were the impetus for the change; the football jersey had a blue stripe on the arm for the 1985, 1986 and 1987 seasons before it was dropped altogether in 1988. The Big 8 logo graced one sleeve. The south area behind the end zone with COLORADO is once again painted black (for '85).

December 30, 1985—A standard in basketball, the football jersey has COLORADO emblazoned across the front for the first time for the Freedom Bowl versus Washington. Other than switching to italics in the current machine style font in 1997, it becomes the signature look on the uniform for the next 21 seasons and one that several other schools also replicate.

November 28, 1987—Football wears all black (jersey and pant) for the first time in a 24-7 loss to Nebraska.

1988—Football switches to the black pant for road games. It remains standard for well over a decade, until the 2000 team wears all white for a road game at Southern California.

1996—The first real tweaking of the uniform since the blue stripe came off in 1988 as the font changes for the COLORADO as well as the numerals, with the stripes eliminated from the sleeves. Numbers are white with gold trim at home and black with gold trim on the road. In subsequent years (1997, 1998), some silver is utilized as trim within the number.

September 26, 1998—For the Baylor home game, the Buffaloes don a sort of "throw-back" jersey that is gold in color with black numbers (with silver trim), along with black helmets (silver logo) and a black pant. It's the only time any of the components of the look (other than the pant) are used.

November 1, 2003—Against Texas Tech, the Buffs don gold pants for a road game for the first time since 1987; the team proceeds to wear all three selections (black, white, gold) through 2006, though white disappeared following 2005.

September 18, 2004—A one-time look, thankfully to many, the Buffaloes wear the black jersey but with the white road pant against North Texas. The look is shelved pretty quick and not used again.

June 2, 2007—Silver is reintroduced into the color scheme, as both the jersey and pant are overhauled. The black home jersey has silver numbers and gold trim in a new design never before incorporated in CU's look, while the white road top has black numbers with silver trim and additional gold trim elsewhere. Pant colors are black and gold; the black pant has gold trim, the gold pant silver trim. New fabrics also improve issues from heat management and uniform weight to making it increasingly hard for the opponent to grab various points.
